'SHOOT TO KILL' STRIKE ORDER TOLD TO JURY

Witnesses Describe Gastonia Battle.

BULLETIN.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Charlotte Observer tomorrow will say that on three occasions suspicious persons have been seen mingling with or attempting to mingle with jurors in the case of sixteen strikers accused of the murder of O. F. Aderholt.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The picture of a self-governed stronghold patrolled by its own armed guards while its leaders sat in and directed a strike from an arsenal-like room was drawn here today by witnesses at the trial of sixteen communists and mill strikers charged with the murder of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt of Gastonia.

The union organizers and their followers from the Loray mills were described as men and women who "incited violence," threatened to go to the mill and drag the other workers out and ordered men to "shoot to kill."

Such a place was union headquarters at Gastonia on the night of June 7 when Chief Aderholt was slain, according to a deputy sheriff, a policeman and two women residents of the community.

A flash back to the burning of the first union headquarters in Gastonia, several weeks before the rioting in which the police chief was killed, two of his men shot and a striker wounded, revealed the union men were determined to hold their new base at any cost.

Tells of Headquarters Visit.

The same flash back also revealed that the destruction of the original headquarters was going to play an important part in the present trial. The flareup came when Deputy Sheriff W. P. Upton of Gastonia, a state's witness, was relating under cross-examination details of a visit he made to union headquarters on the night it was burned.

"I saw a crowd of fellows with white and black disguises on," said Upton, "but they hiballed me when they saw me coming. I chased them, but didn't catch anybody."

Defense attorneys at this point interrupted to ask the witness if he saw any National Guardsmen there. The guardsmen at that time were stationed a few blocks from strike headquarters.

"Not right at first," answered Upton.

"That is the reason these men had to patrol the present headquarters and were armed the night of June 7," said Tom Jimison, the defense attorney. "They were compelled to protect their own property."

The prosecution then revealed it would attempt to prove the strikers destroyed their own headquarters in an effort to win sympathy and followers from the mill workers.

Four Witnesses Are Heard.

Four witnesses—two men and two women—repeated vivid and at times half humorous accounts of the shooting of Chief Aderholt on the night of June 7 at union headquarters in Gastonia. To climax the half day session, counsel for the state revealed that the shrouded dummy of the slain officer was just outside the courtroom and that an effort would be made to make parade the wax figure before the jury. The figure first was produced in court two days ago, and so upset jury, defense lawyers, and spectators that Judge M. V. Barnhill ordered it removed.

Asks Dummy Be Destroyed.

Col. T. D. McCall, counsel for the sixteen mill strikers on trial for murder, asked the court to order the dummy destroyed.

"But it is locked in my room behind the judge's chambers and the curtains are drawn," retorted Solicitor John G. Carpenter for the state.

Judge Barnhill ruled the effigy might be kept by the state, but that it must not be produced in the courtroom without his consent. Judge Barnhill is a tanned, thin faced young fellow who appears almost lost when he settles back in his great chair. Today he chewed on a long, unlighted cigar, removing it only to quiet the chattering lawyers.

Only Slightly Interested.

The sixteen "red and pink" defendants, three of whom are women, this morning apparently were only

BRITONS SMASH ALL MARKS IN SCHNEIDER RACE

Pass Italian Planes Like Bullets.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RYDE, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 7.—Two human beings, appearing like specks in their tiny bulletlike machines, which sped through space as if they had been shot out of some giant long range gun, today traveled faster than man ever experienced.

One was Flying Lieutenant H. R. D. Waghorn, who started first in the classic Schneider cup race and piloted a British supermarine Rolls-Royce plane to victory at an average rate of 328.63 miles per hour over a course of which the distance was 218 land miles.

All Records Smashed.

The other was Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherley, who, although disqualified after he had completed the course at an average speed of 325 miles per hour, hung up a new world speed record of 332.49 miles per hour over the 50 kilometer closed circuit a half hour after Lieut. Waghorn had beaten his old mark by doing 331 miles per hour. It was officially announced that Atcherley's world speed record would stand. The British team tonight lodged a protest against his disqualification from the Schneider cup competition. His time over the course would have given him second place.

Both pilots smashed every existing speed record to smithereens. Lieut. Waghorn's average for seven laps broke by ten miles per hour Maj. Mario de Bernardi's world mark of 318 miles per hour over a straight course, while his course time bettered by 47 miles per hour the record made at Lido two years ago, when Great Britain copped the trophy at an averaged speed of 281 miles per hour.

Two Italians Forced Down.

Against the terrific speed of the British supermarine Rolls-Royce, Italy's entrants never had a chance today. Their two new Macchi 67 machines both made forced landings after completing one lap.

The only Italian to finish was Tomaso Dal Molin, who raced around in Maj. Bernardi's record breaking but year old Macchi 52. He negotiated the seven laps at an average speed of 284.2 miles per hour, three miles per hour better than the plane which won the 1927 race. He was awarded second place when Lieut. Atcherley was disqualified for cutting short at the pylon at Bembridge.

Passes Italian Like a Shot.

But his speed was almost ridiculously slow compared to that achieved by Lieut. Waghorn. Indeed, when the British speedster overtook his Italian opponent on the straightaway on the fifth lap he passed him like a shot, and though Sig. Dal Molin was probably doing around 300 miles per hour it appeared for a moment as if he was just floating along pleasure bound.

Lieut. d'Arcy Greig, flying the same machine in which he made the British record of 319 miles per hour last year, a supermarine S-5, did not place today. He was never in the contest, although he averaged 282 miles per hour, enough to win the contest two years ago, but hopelessly slow in this year's race.

Italian Sets High Pace.

It looked for a moment as if Italy's last machine to get off, a new Macchi 67 piloted by Lieut. Giovanni Monti, might seriously challenge the terrific pace set by the supermarine Rolls-Royces.

Flying but 75 feet over the water—so low, in fact, that it appeared to the officials as if he would hit the masts of the hundreds of yachts and cruising men-of-war which lay at Pithead—he flew around the thirty-one mile lap at a speed of 301 miles per hour.

Rounding the corner near Seaview, Isle of Wight, he suddenly swerved off and seemed to lose control of the plane and then made a difficult landing.

Escapes with Slight Injuries.

A speedboat with doctors, nurses and divers rushed to his side and he was taken out of the plane half unconscious, his face, arms and shoulder burned by scalding water. Later it was discovered that his condition was not serious and after receiving first aid he returned to the air base at Calshot.

Mechanics discovered the forced landing was due to a burst water pipe

DRIVES HIS CAR TWO DAYS WITH BOMB IN MOTOR

Mansfield, O., Sept. 7.—(AP)—A dynamite bomb 18 inches long was found today in an automobile of R. C. Hoiles, Mansfield publisher. The bomb, which was connected with the motor, was removed without an explosion.

Hoiles, who publishes the Mansfield News, Lorain Times-Herald and Bucyrus Telegram, experienced difficulty in starting his car when leaving the Westbrook Country club here Thursday night. The engine performed poorly on the run home. Hoiles neglected to have the car repaired yesterday, but today he took it to a garage. A mechanic discovered the bomb, containing ten sticks of dynamite, on the rear end of the motor. A nitroglycerine fuse connected it with two spark plugs through telephone wire.

The wire had either been grounded, the mechanic said, or else the motor had failed to heat the fuse enough to set off the charge.

Hoiles' home here was bombed last October. He attributed the placing of the bomb in his automobile to the same agencies, probably because of troubles arising in his publishing business.

Plane Strikes Coney Island Crowd; 2 Dead

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—A heavy cabin airplane, lost in the fog and out of gasoline, plunged down into the surf at Coney Island this evening and somersaulted into the crowd which packed the beach. Two children were killed and a dozen other persons were injured.

Thousands of holiday makers who packed the resort rushed to the scene of the accident and were kept in check only by mounted policemen while doctors worked over the airplane's victims.

Pilot Slightly Injured.

The pilot of the plane, W. H. Alexander, 2029 Hendrickson street, Jamaica Bay, suffered only minor lacerations of the scalp and was detained at the Coney Island police station for questioning after he had had hospital treatment. The plane, a Fairchild cabin monoplane owned by the Coastal Airways, Inc., apparently was little damaged.

Mildred Jakowsky, 8 years old, and Meyer Kessler, 14, both of Brooklyn, were those who were killed.

Both were killed instantly, crushed by the wing which lashed down on the beach as the plane whipped over.

Passengers Are Let Off.

The plane, a seaplane equipped with pontoons, had taken off from Albany at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon for its flight to the New York terminal of the Coastal line. The plane was carrying six passengers.

The plane stopped at North Beach, near Maspeth, L. I., and discharged the passengers. Alexander then flew along alone for Jamaica Bay. Then a fog closed in. He flew blind for a time, hunting a hole through which he could dive to a landing.

He was at an altitude of 2,500 feet. His engine began sputtering. His fuel tanks were entirely exhausted. Below him was Coney Island with a crowd of 250,000.

With his power completely gone Alexander tried to glide beyond the crowd. Two hundred feet above the beach he saw that he could not clear them and tried to steer so as to hit as few as possible. But the wing struck a sign post. The plane swerved, plowed into the water at 55 miles an hour, its pontoons hurling bathers to right and left, and crashed into the shore line. The broad right wing flailed into the crowd on the sand.

Questioned About Drinks.

The aviator was questioned by the police about an odor of liquor on his breath. He explained that he had nothing to drink before the accident, but that on the beach a physician who was binding up a youth's injuries had him take a drink to compose his nerves. At the end of the questioning he was locked up.

MYSTERY BLAST DESTROYS HOME IN LAKE BLUFF

Two mysterious explosions shook the north shore suburbs last night. One of the blasts blew part of the roof from the home of Joseph Kuharske at Sheridan place and Briar lane in Lake Bluff and started a fire that destroyed the dwelling.

Kuharske, his wife and a roomer, Ignace Salinski, were not at home when a sheet of flame ripped through the house and a detonation rocked the neighborhood. Scores of residents of Lake Bluff and Lake Forest ran to the scene as the fire swept through the building. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

The house was near the residence of Stanley Field, head of the Field museum, and only a few rods from the home of Field's son-in-law, T. Clifford Rodman.

Salinski, the roomer, told Police Chief Eugene Spaid of Lake Bluff that he did not know what could have caused the explosion.

The other explosion shook Hubbard Woods and Winnetka, and was heard from Evanston to Highland Park. Although the Winnetka police believed the blast was a bomb, no trace of it could be found. Spurred by scores of telephone calls, the police searched in vain for the scene of the explosion for three hours.

DEATH ENDS TWO WEEKS OF SLEEP; DOCTORS BAFFLED

After having been asleep for two weeks, Mrs. Emma B Williams, 48 years old, 4050 McVicker avenue, died late yesterday afternoon, bringing to an end a case of sleeping sickness that has baffled physicians.

Mrs. Williams, the wife of Fred Williams, a salesman, went to sleep the morning of Aug. 24. Only once since then—on Labor day—did she waken enough to speak. That was to ask for a cold drink of water. Her physician, Dr. John H. Hollison, 3434 Fullerton avenue, attributed her illness to an injury to her neck suffered several years ago, augmented by summer influenza about six weeks ago.

Link Assistant Prosecutor to Bucket Shop

A search of one of two bucket shops raided yesterday by Chief Investigator Pat Roche revealed a situation involving an assistant state's attorney, whose duty it is to hear and pass on complaints of such organizations, which will be taken before State's Attorney Swanson tomorrow morning for investigation and action.

A letter written on the stationery of Assistant State's Attorney Arthur Carlsten, until recently head of the blue sky division of the prosecutor's office, and signed by Attorney James A. Kealey was found in the files of Randolph Marshall & Co., 29 South La Salle street, one of the places raided. The letter was addressed to Herbert C. Hall, an associate in the company with Frank Randolph Marshall.

Law Partnership Revealed.

The letter brought forth a charge by Assistant State's Attorney L. P. Holt, now in charge of the blue sky division, and Carlsten's superior, that Carlsten and Kealey were law partners despite the fact that the former was at the same time a prosecutor.

Prosecutor Holt said that both Carlsten and Kealey admitted this partnership to him some time ago, but that recently Carlsten had told him it had been dissolved after a threat had been made to call it to the attention of Mr. Swanson. Holt said that after Carlsten had told him of the dissolution he again met Kealey and the latter said the arrangement still existed.

"When I discovered what was going on I told Carlsten that it would have to stop or I would resign and tell Mr. Swanson why I was resigning," Holt said last night.

Kealey Denies Charge.

Prosecutor Holt said that Attorney Kealey appeared several times to represent clients before the blue sky commission. Carlsten at one time, when head of the division, sat in the position of a judge, deciding whether criminal complaints should be issued, restitution made to the victims or nothing at all done. Holt now occupies that position.

Attorney Kealey vigorously denied that he ever had any partnership with Prosecutor Carlsten. He admitted representing some clients, but said that Carlsten did not participate in those cases.

"We never had any partnership," said Attorney Kealey. "I just took over Carlsten's private office when he decided to give it up. I may have used some of his stationery which was around the office."

Firm Listed in Phone Book.

The classified telephone directory shows a law firm of Castern & Kealey listed at 140 North Dearborn street, telephone Franklin 1395, the same number printed on the stationery on which the letter was written. The general telephone book gives the firm name of Carstein and Kealey, and the same telephone number and address. Attorney Kealey says this is a mistake by the telephone company; that instead of dropping Carlsten's name they made a firm out of the two names. No reason could be advanced for the changed way of spelling Carlsten's name in the directory.

Prosecutor Carlsten denied that Kealey had ever represented any of his clients or had ever asked him about any case.

"Not Exactly Partners."

"We were not exactly partners; well, you might say we were nominal partners from late fall until about Feb. 1, while I was deciding whether to stay on the prosecutor's staff," he said. "He was really working for me, taking care of some business I had, but never in connection with anything from the state's attorney's office."

Attorney Carlsten also denied that his associate, Holt, had ever threatened to expose the situation to Swan-

RESCUERS SURE EIGHT ON BOARD DIED IN FLAMES

Climbing 11,000 Foot Peak After Bodies.

Grants, N. Mex., Sept. 7.—(A.P.)—Its wings stripped from the fuselage and its eight occupants probably burned to death, the City of San Francisco, Transcontinental Air Transport liner, tonight was the object of a ground search in the wild, forbidding territory of western New Mexico.

Barely a few minutes had passed after the T. A. T. teletype had flashed the word from Pilot George Rice of the Western Air Express that he had found the remnants of the transport on the south slope of Mount Taylor before hundreds of searchers started converging on its rugged 11,000 foot peak.

With more than 100 members of a dozen searching parties camped on and near Mount Taylor, hope of reaching the wrecked air liner late tonight was deferred until daylight. Two groups were reported to be within a mile and half of the wreckage.

How Liner Was Found.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—Racing from a storm, the monoplane City of San Francisco crashed into the side of a high mountain and burned last Tuesday in the most desolate section of central New Mexico, with death to one woman and seven men, advices to the Transcontinental Air Transport company here today indicated.

The wreckage of the big trimotor all metal air liner, a twisted mass of metal, was discovered on the south slope of Mount Taylor at 11:03 o'clock this morning by Lieut. George K. Rice, pilot of a Western Air Express eastbound passenger plane.

Upon receipt of the news, all searching ships were ordered grounded by the T. A. T. officials, and three ships were dispatched immediately from Winslow, Ariz., the strategic center of the search, about a hundred miles from the scene.

No Chance of Life.

One of these, flown by Pilot Banks, reported later as follows:

"T. A. T. plane A-9, City of San Francisco, apparently burned and no signs of life thereabouts. Will try to land and if so, call again when leave."

A second message immediately followed:

"No chance of life in ship. Will take from twelve to twenty-four hours to reach it on horseback from Cubero, N. M., the nearest town."

Lieut. Rice, piloting the Western Air Express transport from Los Angeles to Albuquerque, first noticed what appeared to be a bit of snow on the side of the mountain. He swerved his big Fokker monoplane around and zoomed down to within a thousand feet.

Wing Torn Off.

There the appalling sight of twisted, burned metal and a circle of burned trees surrounding it was revealed to Lieut. Rice, his co-pilot, and the four passengers.

In a statement given out at Albuquerque tonight Lieut. Rice said:

"We circled the southern side of Mount Taylor and at about 1,000 feet above the ground we saw scattered bits of duralumin. These bits of duralumin stretched about one-eighth of a mile.

"Then we saw the left wing of the plane where it had been cut off by striking a tree. The wing was turned upside down and we could read the numbers, 9649.

"The balance of the plane we saw about 100 yards beyond this point. The plane had caught fire."

Tragedy Is Reconstructed.

The trained eyes of Lieut. Rice, who was a world war flyer, instantly revealed to him the tragedy. Knowing that the T. A. T. plane had circled Grants, N. M., Tuesday just about noon and this scene being to the northeast, it was apparent that Pilot J. B. Stone of the City of San Francisco was racing back towards Albuquerque to avoid the storms which held other air transports to the ground on that day.

Lieut. Rice turned his ship over to the co-pilot at Albuquerque to carry the four passengers on to their Kansas City destination. He immediately took off from Albuquerque for the scene of the wreck, accompanied by a T. A. T. pilot.

The rugged wilderness of the terrain surrounding the wreckage was being penetrated tonight by pack trains from the nearest settlements.

Reports from the land parties which were being outfitted indicated that it would take many hours before they could make their way to the point of the disaster.

Plans Inquest at Scene.

District Attorney Fred Nichols of the judicial district in which Mount Taylor is located, in Valencia county, left Los Lunas, N. M., this afternoon by automobile to go to the scene of the crash to conduct an inquest. He arranged to have a jury from the San Fernandez Cattle company ranch accompany him to the wrecked plane.

There were one woman and seven men aboard the City of San Francisco. It left Albuquerque on Tuesday morning in face of adverse weather, hoping to get through to Los Angeles that afternoon.

The passengers aboard were:

Mrs. Corina Raymond, wife of George B. Raymond of Glendale, Cal., a clerk of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., owners of the City of San Francisco.

Amasa B. McGaffey, wealthy lumberman of Albuquerque, N. M.

William Livermore, prominent shipping man of Boston, Mass.

M. M. Campbell of Cincinnati, paper concern sales manager.

William Henry Beers, New York, golf magazine editor.

Members of the crew were:

J. B. Stowe, 29, Clovis, N. M., chief pilot.

E. A. Dietel, 25, New Braunfels, Tex., co-pilot.

C. F. Canfield, New York, courier.

Search Was Spectacular.

When the disappearance of the plane became known Tuesday evening the most spectacular air search ever conducted got under way.

Scores of army, navy, marine corps, and civilian planes sailed through the cloudy and storm beset skies of the wildest section of the continental United States.

Thousands of others joined in the search by land. There were Indian runners, scouts of the Apache, Zuni, Hopi, and Navajo tribes, cowboys, prospectors and motorists.

More than fifty thousand miles of western New Mexico and eastern Arizona were combed from the sky and ground. Rumors of all sorts developed each day, which sent searchers into all sections of both states, and even into Mexico.

Lightning Theory Revived.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The City of San Francisco probably was struck by lightning before it crashed on Mount Taylor, eye witnesses of the wreckage riding in a Curtiss Flying Service plane said on their return from a trip to the vicinity, early tonight.

The wreckage of the machine, said the pilot of the Curtiss ship and his passenger, an Associated Press staff writer, lay about 500 feet from the top of the peak, which is entirely wooded except for its extreme tip. A swath about 100 feet long had been cut through the timber by the plane as it landed and branches of the trees had been burned.

This led the observers to the conviction that the machine had been afire while still in the air and apparently had been struck by lightning, which hurtled it against Mount Taylor.

Salvage Crew Ordered Out.

Instructions were sent tonight by telephone to the San Fernandez ranch, between Grants and San Mateo, to send men and pack horses to Mount Taylor to pick up the wreckage.

Instructions immediately were telephoned to the San Fernandez Cattle company, situated between Grant and San Mateo, to send a number of pack horses to Mount Taylor to pick up the wreckage.

Mount Taylor is one of the highest mountain peaks between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast. The mountain is an extinct volcano.

There are no roads in the immediate vicinity and it will be necessary to send pack horses. Wagons cannot get through from San Mateo.

It is possible that a base of operations for salvage parties may be established at Cubero, as there is a landing field one and one-half miles west of there.

Rice Can Claim $10,000 Rewards.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Western Air Express officials said tonight that their pilot, Lieut. George Rice, was apparently the first to sight and identify the wrecked T. A. T. plane City of San Francisco, and seemed to be entitled to the $10,000 in rewards offered.

The Western Air Express, they asserted, "will not lodge any claims on behalf of Rice, although if the pilot wishes to present a claim to reward money on his own behalf, the company regards this as perfectly permissible."

Lindy Reaches Winslow.

Winslow, Ariz., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made a dead stick landing here at 3:50 p. m. today, accompanied by his wife. The flyer brought his plane over the airport just as the motor sputtered and died for lack of gas. It had to be trundled from the runway.

Lindbergh immediately went into conference with other T. A. T. officials and announced plans for departure for the scene of the wrecked transport City of San Francisco.

MAN WHO FOUND LOST AIR LINER TELLS HIS STORY

Cabin Charred; No Hope for Those Inside.

BY. LIEUT. GEORGE K. RICE,

[Western Air Express pilot who discovered the lost T. A. T. air liner.]

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 7.—(AP)—We had figured that the T. A. T. pilot was north of his course, on account of a storm which he had seen over in the petrified forest on Tuesday, when he flew the route from Albuquerque to Los Angeles.

When we left Los Angeles this morning we went to the petrified forest, which is about 30 miles south and east of Holbrook, Ariz., and we then zigzagged through the mountains, keeping a constant lookout for the lost plane.

We circled the southern side of Mount Taylor, and at about 1,000 feet above the ground we saw scattered bits of duralumin. These bits of duralumin stretched about one-eighth of a mile.

Then we saw the left wing of the plane where it had been cut off by striking a tree. The wing was turned upside down and we could read the numbers, 9649.

The balance of the plane we saw about 100 yards beyond this point. The plane had caught fire.

Cabin in Ashes.

From our altitude we could see the initials T. A. T. but most of the rest of the cabin was in ashes. We could also see part of the elevators.

On last Tuesday, when we flew over this territory, the storm was lying over Mount Taylor and was blowing from the southwest.

We encountered the storm on Tuesday between Holbrook and Albuquerque.

It looked to me as if the T. A. T. plane got into that storm and that it closed down upon it.

There was a heavy side wind drifting against them and it probably threw them into the side of the mountain.

If it had had another 500 feet of clearance it would have been all right. But in the storm Pilot Stowe probably could not correctly judge the altitude.

Headed East When It Hit.

The plane had struck while it was going east, which shows that it was apparently returning to Albuquerque.

After we saw the plane today we came into Aubuquerque and reported our observations to the officials of Western Air Express by whom I am employed and to the Transcontinental Air Transport.

In company with Paul Scott, a T. A. A. pilot, I boarded a T. A. T. plane and with three other planes as escort guided them back to the spot on Mount Taylor where we had seen the wreck.

The plane is lying in a territory which will be extremely difficult to reach. From the circles that we made over the mountain this afternoon I believe that it will be necessary for the rescuers to go by foot or horseback up above the timber line and then down the mountain to where the plane now lies.

Above the timber line there is at the present time a sheep herder with a band of sheep, but there is apparently no trail or road leading to the immediate vicinity of the wrecked plane. The nearest towns or settlements are Laguna and Grants.

I do not believe anybody can reach the site of the disaster within less than 24 hours and it will probably take twice that long to bring out what they find. I do not like to say it, but I am convinced that all aboard were instantly killed and that their bodies have probably been cremated.

Rice a War Flyer.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Lieut. Rice is an officer in the army reserve and was in the air service during the world war. He was 31 years of age and married. The co-pilot on his ship was A. E. Beiber of Los Angeles, 20 years of age.

U.S. RECORDS DISCLOSE NO CASES OF PLANE WRECKED BY LIGHTNING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—If reports that the Transcontinental Air Transport passenger airplane City of San Francisco was hit by a bolt of lightning are true it is the first time that an airplane has been wrecked from such a cause.

Officials of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce stated here today that they have no official record of any plane having been wrecked by lightning. Maj. William P. MacCracken Jr., assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, stated that while there have been several reports of such accidents, records do not reveal any case where investigation established that lightning had been responsible.

The department has no official report on the crash of Maj. John Wood's racing plane near Needles, Cal., last Monday. Maj. Wood was killed in the crash. His mechanic, Ward Miller, who escaped in a parachute, stated that lightning hit the ship.

Poland Gets Back Ashes of Old King from Russia

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Warsaw Morning Express announced today that the ashes of King Stanislas Leszynski of Poland, who died in 1766, after abdicating his throne in 1735, had been secretly transported recently from Leningrad to Poland by four Polish emigres. The ashes were said to have been placed in the famous St. Catherine church next to those of King Stanislas Poniatowski, who ruled from 1764 to 1795.

Canadian Province Splits Liquor Profits with Charities

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Government officials announced today that British Columbia derived a profit of $2,306,054 from the sale of liquor during the six months ending March 31, 1929. Part of the money was divided as follows: General fund, $975,599; to municipalities, $628,919; to hospitals and charities, $292,679; mothers' pensions, $354,845.

AIR HERO VICTOR OVER RICHTHOFEN KILLED IN CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The City of Jerusalem, an Imperial airways liner on England to India air mail service, bound from Croydon to Karachi, crashed in flames at Jask in the Persian gulf last night and was totally destroyed. Three lives were lost.

Imperial airways gives the names of the victims as Capt. A. E. Woodbridge, pilot; V. G. Bell of London, a passenger, and J. Court, a member of the Imperial airways staff. Two others in the plane were injured, Wireless Operator Bourne and H. C. Amor, flight engineer. The exact manner in which the accident occurred is not clear. Reports state that the liner was making a night landing and that one of the flares used to illuminate the airdrome caught in a wing of the machine, the plane catching afire. Another report says the fire was caused by a magnesium flare on the bottom wing.

Capt. Woodbridge, the pilot, was a famous war ace, credited by some London papers with shooting down and wounding Baron Richthofen, the "Red Knight," a famous German ace during the war. Royal Brown, a Canadian, was credited with killing Richthofen. It is stated that Capt. Woodbridge's mother is in America at present but plans to leave for England Wednesday. The mail contained 25,000 letters, which were all destroyed with the machine.

DRINKS CLEANING FLUID; DIES.

Albert Wondrasek, 48 years old, 4235 22d street, a butcher, died at St. Anthony's hospital yesterday of poisoning resulting from a drink of cleaning fluid which he swallowed by mistake on Aug. 31.

PURSUER'S SHOT PUNCTURES TIRE; ROBBER CAUGHT

Frank Mancini, 18 years old, 2110 Washington boulevard, confessed bandit, was captured by a detective bureau squad yesterday after a two mile chase in which the police fired five shots at the fleeing car. Mancini's flight was stopped at Halsted street and Gilpin place when one of the bullets punctured a tire on the stolen automobile in which he was riding.

Sergt. Thomas Cooper and his squad took Mancini to the detective bureau where he admitted that he had committed fifty robberies of chain shoe stores, candy stores, and telephone collectors in the last four months. Sixty-five persons who had been robbed recently were notified to appear at the police showup today to see if they can identify him.

KILLS SELF IN ROOMING HOUSE.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Alice Fisher of Lancaster, Wis., committed suicide here early today by turning on the gas at her rooming house. Her mother, Mrs. William Fache of Lancaster, was notified and the body will be held pending instructions from her.

SLAYERS OF TAOS MAN OF MYSTERY LEAVE NO CLEWS

Baffling Maze Presented by Manby Murder.

Taos, N. M., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Is Taos face to face with the perfect crime? It would appear so from the progress that has been made in the Manby case since the discovery of the body of A. K. Manby, wealthy recluse, in his residence more than two months ago.

Until two days ago, the district attorney in charge of the investigation was not satisfied that Manby, former miner, prospector and man of mystery, was murdered. Conclusive evidence has developed, however, which makes it possible to reconstruct the crime, although no definite clews exist regarding the slayers. The crime is linked to at least four preceding murders, all of which remain unsolved. In every case the head was severed from the trunk.

Slain Away from Home.

There is every reason to believe that Manby met his death late on the night of June 30 and probably not in his home. Manby was last seen alive at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, when he was returning from the little settlement of Canyon near here. He had ridden there to visit Teresita Ferguson, daughter of his former partner in the old Mystic mine. The girl was Manby's associate in the Colonial Bond and Security company, of which she has been president since Manby's death.

After his return home, Manby made entries in his diary which may throw some light on the case. It is believed that after he had completed the entries in his diary Manby was called out of his house on some prextet, and that he was murdered away from the house. After he had been dead some time, the head was severed from the trunk and the body brought back to the residence.

The diary gives repeated evidence that he was in constant fear of death. Almost every page of the later years proves that he was in terror of plots against him and there is frequent reference to an enemy. An entry in May, 1929, shows that some one had tried to break into the house "again."

Tells of His Suffering.

Manby's conscience apparently troubled him greatly, and certain psalms are quoted. There are also many warnings to his "Princess Teresita" (Teresita Ferguson) and in a letter to her, copied into the diary, he mentioned the sufferings he had endured since the night of Sept. 28, 1921.

Most of the diary consists of copies of letters, many of them never mailed, in which Manby recorded the events of his daily life. In many cases the letters were addressed to two of those whom the police charge with his murder. Unwittingly he kept these people informed of all he did and thought. The final entries in the diary afford unmistakable evidence of a broken mind.

There are three entrances to the Manby place, one from the placita, or entrance garden—which opens on the street, one from the patio around which the house is built and a third some distance away from these two, opening out of the fields back of the house. From this entrance a path leads back toward a neighboring cemetery where a gate gives access to a street. It was through this gate that Manby always passed on his daily visits to Teresita Ferguson.

Head Placed In Another Room.

It is believed that the murderer or murderers brought the body in a car or truck to this gate and carried it along the path, a matter of two hundred yards, to the house. Inside the door, they removed leather puttees, stockings and shoes. In a second room, they removed the trousers and carried the corpse and severed head through the little hall and placed it on the couch where it was found. The head was probably placed at once in the neighboring room, for there is only one stain marking where it rested.

No one knows how Manby was killed. A charge of number four shot was fired into his left shoulder and probably his neck. There is also belief that poison had a part in his death.

A Man of Culture.

Manby's house is a low rambling structure built in the Spanish style. It is constructed of adobe, and between it and the street is the walled-in placita, or "little place," filled with lawn and flowers.

Evidences that Manby was a man of talent are found in some excellent architectural drawings and one sketch for a painting in the nude made by his hand. On his book shelves were found a complete Shakespeare, many of Meredith's works, studies of the scriptures, Justinian's "History of the Jews," and many volumes from moderns.

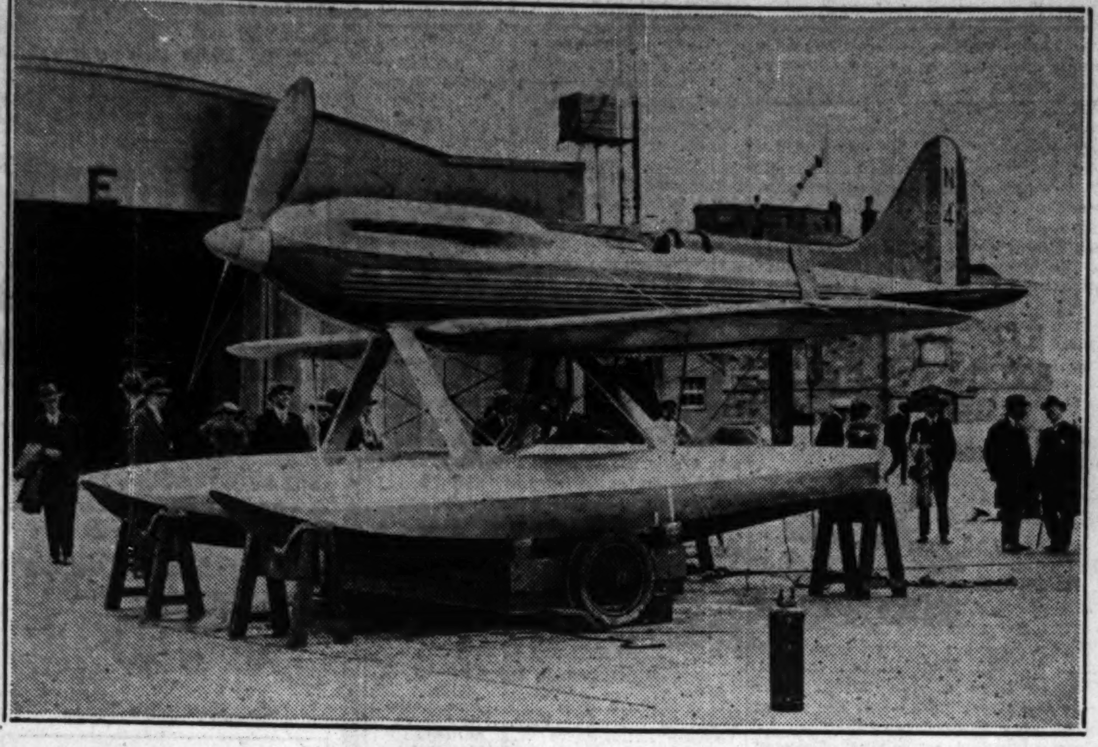
WORLD AIRPLANE SPEED RECORD FALLS AS BRITISH RETAIN SCHNEIDER CUP



Supermarine Rolls-Royce seaplane S-6 of type flown yesterday by Flying Officers H. R. D. Waghorn and R. L. R. Atcherley when they broke world's records in Schneider cup races. In this picture the pontoons of the plane are supported by wooden horses. The engine, which is entirely inclosed, is just behind the propeller. The pilot sits in the cockpit just behind the engine. BRITISH YOUTH FLIES 332 MI. AN HOUR, A RECORD which was unable to stand the strain of the tremendous vibration.

Italy Far Outclassed in Schneider Race.

Lieut. Remo Cadringher, who started fourth in his Macchi 67, was also forced down on the second lap due to motor trouble after circling the first lap of the course at an average speed of 284 miles per hour.

Breaks Record After Record.

Schneider cup experts and statisticians recruited from England and the whole continent to calculate the time had a merry afternoon. Six minutes after Lieut. Waghorn took off at 2 p. m. to inaugurate the race they were busy figuring how many records he had broken.

He made the first circuit in five minutes and forty-five seconds, an average speed of 324 miles per hour. That knocked the world's mark over a straight three kilometer course for a cocked hat by six miles. But before the experts had finished figuring, Lieut. Waghorn negotiated the course a second time at an average speed of 329 miles per hour. Five minutes later he did the lap in 331 miles per hour. At that rate he could have flown from here to Chicago in 12 hours.

Daredevil, 23, Sets New Mark.

That mark stood until late in the afternoon. Then Lieut. Atcherley, the 23 year old youth who is known to the Royal Air force as a daredevil acrobat, swung into action in a second supermarine Rolls-Royce machine. He did the first lap in 302 miles per hour, which was slow considering Lieut. Waghorn's previous performances.

But on each lap he increased his speed until he did 332 miles per hour on the fourth and also on the last lap for a new world record.

Tomorrow that mark probably will be smashed to pieces, for the British team announced that it would attack the record in a special three kilometer straight line course.

Hit 350 Miles at Times.

Engineers today calculated that both Rolls-Royces did better than 350 miles per hour on the straightaway, the lower average speed being due both to lack of space at the sharp turns and also to the fact that at such a rate of speed the aviators were unable to fly an exactly straight course. Thus, it is figured they flew at least three extra miles around the measured course of 31 land miles.

The Italians also plan to assault the speed record with their two freak machines—the tiny Fiat monoplane with 1,500 horse power motor and the larger twin engine Savoia Marchetti plane.

Today marked the fourth time Great Britain has won the contest since it was inaugurated in 1913, when France won at Monaco at a speed of 45 miles per hour, and is the second straight British victory. Flight Lieut. Webster won the last contest at Lido two years ago with a speed of 281 miles per hour.

Planes Cost Britain $2,000,000.

The British government has estimated that it spent at least $2,000,000 developing this year's machines.

As a spectacle, this year's race was awe inspiring, but evidently disappointing to the average spectator, for most of the 1,000,000 people who were expected to see it failed to turn up.

The prince of Wales viewed the race from Sir Henry Seagrave's speedboat, and Prime Minister MacDonald with his daughter, Ishbell, watched it from the top of the aircraft carier Argus. Many millionaires, both from England and the continent, sat on the decks of private yachts and scanned the horizon for the tiny streaks.

But few others turned out, and the 4,000 deck chairs placed at the starting point on the pier at Ryde remained empty. No one wanted to pay the $5 demanded for them.

Planes Hard to See.

You hardly got a glimpse of the planes which sped by so fast, looking like dots in the sky, followed by clouds of black smoke. Field glasses could not be manipulated quickly enough to keep the tiny planes in view, and hurtling through space at the rate of nearly six miles per minute they were out of sight of the naked eye in two seconds.

The midget winged shells appeared as if unguided by human hands, for the pilot fitted tightly amid the complicated controls, completely out of sight, and his helmet would have been ripped open by the air if his head protruded an inch above the tiny cockpit. Physicians attending doubted at first whether a human being could take a vertical bank at such tremendous speed, for it forces the blood from the head down to the feet and the doctors calculated it would render a pilot temporarily blind and probably unconscious.

Tells Thrill at Turns.

Lieut. Waghorn said afterwards that he felt slightly faint at the turns but never lost his sight for more than a fraction of a second.

The roar of his supermarine Rolls-Royce 1,000 horse power engine as the plane zoomed fifty feet above the judges' stand sounded like the thunderous roar of heavy artillery, with hundreds of guns firing simultaneously. Lieut. Waghorn, the only married man who risked his life in the race, took two acute angles in the course of his vertical banks. On his last laps he tried taking wider turns, figuring he would not lose so much speed, although traveling a greater distance, and all the pilots who followed him emulated his example.

U. S. Pilot Sends Congratulations.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Lieut. Al Williams, navy flyer, who was to have flown the entry of the United States in the Schneider cup races, tonight dispatched a congratulatory message to the victorious British aviators. The message read:

"Heartiest congratulations on your mravelous engineering achievement. Great contribution to aeronautics."

Lieut. Williams was forced to forego the competition when the American model, which had been built especially for the race, failed to take off from the water during a long series of trials.

ITALY, BEATEN IN AIR RACE, BOASTS "MORAL VICTORY"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 7.—Indulging in proud outbursts of affectinate defense of its beaten Schneider race pilots, the Italian press tonight alleges, in substance, that Italy nevertheless won a moral victory and showed the traditionally sportsmanlike England something about sportsmanship. The Lavoro Fascista sums up the general sentiment by saying:

"Having lost our best man, our team was not composed of aces, but nevertheless they are first class men and splendid soldiers, capable of fine and courageous behavior, and the Italian people regard them with jealous love. The British have won the 1929 Schneider cup, but have lost some of their reputation for sportsmanship. We asked them to postpone the race due to the sudden loss of our best pilot and best plane, but they proved that they have more respect for commercial consideration than for a dead pilot."

The press also aims several dirty remarks concerning the race course, which was, it is alleged, "dangerous, due to the defective and careless British arrangements and organization."

G. B. S. MAY LET PLAYS BE MADE INTO TALKIES

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—George Bernard Shaw, in an interview with the Sunday Observer, says that under certain conditions he would allow his plays to be produced as "talkies."

"I know it is possible to reproduce dialogue," said Mr. Shaw, "and it is now established that the action can be produced on the screen. When it is as certain that the actual performers have mastered technique, and there are some artistic producers who also understand technique, I shall consent to have my plays made into talkies.

"Possibly I may write a talkie myself, but I see no reason why, under the conditions I have mentioned, 'The Apple Cart' should not be reproduced exactly as written."

Concerning the serious political significance of his play, "The Apple Cart," Mr. Shaw says:

"It is so serious that I intend to tell Prime Minister MacDonald when he returns from Geneva that he must refuse to take any young man into his cabinet who has not seen 'The Apple Cart' at least six times. It is intended as a salutary lesson, as I feel it is a state of things into which we could drift."

LINK ASSISTANT STATE ATTORNEY TO BUCKET SHOP

Case Involving Carlsten Up to Swanson.

son. He said the subject was never discussed.

The letter written to Hall, the bucketeer now being sought, was as follows:

"Mr. Hall: Sign your name to the one with your name at the beginning, and have Mrs. Hall sign her name to the one with her name at the beginning, and I will see what can be done about stalling the matter along. I am enclosing an addressed envelope in which please return them as soon as they are signed and I will take care of the notary work."

The letter was signed James A. Kealey.

Kealey explained that this was in connection with some affidavits of merit in a suit by a coal company against the Halls.

Carlsten has been an assistant state's attorney for the last five years, receiving his appointment during the Crowe régime. He was held in his position by the present prosecutor.

Find Link Between Shops.

The two raids yesterday showed the close connection between bucket shops, according to Prosecutors Charles A. Bellows and Benjamin Feldman. Papers of Clifford Moore and company, 110 South Dearborn street, the second concern raided, were found in the Randolph Marshall place.

Both places are outgrowths of the D. D. Snedeker concern, the bucket shop originally raided some weeks ago. The crew in charge flitted between New York and Chicago, operating under various names, depending on the quickness with which complaints developed. The Moore concern did $50,000 worth of business in the last two months.

The books of the Moore company were moved out before the raiders appeared yesterday. Oliver C. Moore, the owner, could not be found, although his wife was discovered driving a high priced automobile. She was not molested. Marshall, however, is being kept in custody pending a general grand jury investigation of the bucket shop situation tomorrow.

A charge that a second lawyer, until recently an assistant prosecutor, is head of a bucket shop concern was contained in information given to Roche yesterday, but he was unable to find this company at the address given.

A bankruptcy petition was filed yesterday in the federal courts against Hamilton King and company, and J. F. Dowd and company. M. M. Martin was appointed receiver to try to find some assets to pay off the $250,000 taken from victims.

E. A. Kingston, coroner of Will county, who lives at Lockport, wrote yesterday to the prosecutor telling how he lost $6,500 through the high pressure salesmanship of the Hamilton King company. He said they promised to pay, but never did.

J. F. Dowd, head of the company bearing his name, which was an offshot of the Hamilton King company, who confessed when arrested on Thursday, will be one of the principal witnesses before the grand jury tomorrow. Prosecutor Bellows said he would be glad to receive complaints against any of the companies so far involved, as well as against others not yet touched in the investigation.

WARDEN'S CHAUFFEUR ESCAPES.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—James Spencer, 31 years old, negro chauffeur for Warden Walter H. Daly, of Indiana State prison, has escaped. Driving the wardens' buick sedan, he passed through the corn borer quarantine camp, on west Dunes highway, with two white men in the car, probably "hitch hikers." Spencer was sentenced at Indianapolis, in 1915, to serve a life term for murder.

Lucky Fisherman Lands 25 Lb. Mackinaw Trout

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—James B. Hendry, the author, held the season's Mackinaw trout record for nearly an hour today but shortly after he hooked an 18 pound Mackinaw while trolling in Grand Traverse bay off his Lees Point estate, Frank Sleder, Traverse City butcher, came in from Lake Michigan near North Port with a Mackinaw weighing 25½ pounds, the largest taken on a trolling line along the northwestern Michigan coast in several years. In nine hours Sleder, alone in his power boat, caught nine trout totaling 100 pounds.

Queen of Sweden Better, but Will Not Return Home

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 7.—(AP)—King Gustav of Sweden returned to Stockholm today from Mainau, the island in Lake Constance, where he spent the summer. There has been a slight improvement in Queen Victoria's health, but it is doubtful whether she will ever be able to return to Sweden as the climate disagrees with her. If able to travel, she will spend the winter in Rome.

'SHOOT TO KILL' STRIKE ORDER TOLD TO JURY

Four Witnesses Describe Gastonia Battle.

slightly interested in their trial. The men and boys were coatless and comfortable in a hot room in which almost everyone else was correctly garbed and uncomfortable.

Several of the older prisoners scowled and sneered at the state's witnesses but the boys succeeded in getting a laugh out of everything, from Juror No. 1 almost falling out of his chair in an effort to hear the testimony to a frightened housewife telling of hearing one of the strikers climb upon an icebox and "crow like a rooster." The death penalty already has been barred so far as the women defendants are concerned and the prosecution has intimated it will not seek to send the other prisoners to the electric chair.

Battle After "Pep" Meeting.

The shooting of Chief Aderholt took place after a communistic "pep" meeting at union headquarters a few blocks from the Loray mills where the strikers formerly had worked at making tire fabrics. Two other policemen were shot and one of the strikers was wounded.

Of the sixteen defendants, K. Y. Hendricks, Louis McLaughlin, Fred E. Beal, George Carter, Joseph Harrison, W. H. McGinnis and Vera Buch already have been implicated in the alleged conspiracy by the state. Today, two other women came into the picture. They were Sophie Melvin and Amy Schechter, both strike organizers from New York.

Those who testified today, in addition to Deputy Sheriff Upton, were A. C. Jackson, a police officer; Miss Grace Duffy, mill worker, now secretary to the mill purchasing agent, and Mrs. Tom Jenkins, a birdlike little woman who "used to live next door to strike headquarters" but since the night of the shooting has "moved away."

Questioned by A. J. Mangum of the prosecution staff, Jackson told of meeting a stranger on Gastonia's main street who "told me there was trouble at the mill." This was an hour or more before Chief Aderholdt and his four officers were called to strike headquarters.

"They was about 250 of 'em milling around, I reckon," Jackson testified, "and I heard that fellow Beal tell them to 'shoot and shoot to kill.' They was some others I now recognize among the prisoners there that night."

Jackson pointed to the prisoners and then left the stand and walked to where they sat.

"This here red headed fellow was there," he said, and "that white headed man and this man here."

Spotted by Striker.

Returning to the stand, he testified W. H. McGinnis, one of the strikers, now a prisoner, was first to spot him on the union grounds.

"Get that big —— —— ——," McGinnis shouted, declared the witness. "I could hear women cussin' over across the street, and I saw the picket line starting toward the mill."

Cross-examined by McCall, Jackson said he knew that McGinnis meant to "get him" because he was the "only policeman there at the time." Jackson was badly tangled by the defense lawyer, but managed to deny "blackjacking any one" or trying to "arrest any one."

"I jest left there," he explained.

Miss Duffy, a slender blonde of about 20, said she lived "right near the union headquarters" and was "pretty curious about what was going on there." According to her testimony, she was in and out of her home, across the street at a neighbor's, and hanging over the front gate, while the strikers and police were fighting. She heard the shots that killed Chief Aderholdt. First one, then two, and in a little while a "whole volley—maybe a hundred." She saw a car drive up, the lights in union headquarters flicker out, and the shooting begin, but she could not identify any of the participants.

Admits Rapid Promotion.

Under cross-examination she told of her rapid promotion at the Loray mills, admitting she had been secretary there but a week.

"I never told anybody what I had seen," she said, "until Roscoe Douglas asked me about it."

Douglas was described by defense counsel as a "special mill officer, member of the vigilante committee and committee of 100."

"I heard a man shout, 'Form the picket line and go into the mill. Don't stop at the gate'," testified the girl. "Then somebody shouted, 'Shoot him, shoot him,' and they began firing."

Mrs. Jenkins, a sharp faced little woman, was frightened as she took the stand. She frankly admitted peeping through the window at Beal and several of the other strikers as they talked in their office. Beal and his companions left the room, she said, and a few minutes later there was "a commotion, something awful."

"I cried, 'Get the children in, something is wrong,'" Mrs. Jenkins testified. "Then I heard Mr. Beal shout 'Go to the mill and drag them out'; then I saw Red Hendricks climb on an ice box and crow like a rooster. I ran in the house and a little while later the shooting began."

Franklin Conquers Pike's Peak!
Proves Power, Speed and Stamina of Air-Cooling in Labor Day Classic

Like a zooming airplane, the Franklin Special piloted by Cannon Ball Baker, flashed the 12.4 miles up Pike's Peak in 19 minutes, 12 4/5 seconds. In this dramatic exhibition, Franklin, the only air-cooled car of the twelve powerful entrants, won its place "in the money" and sped across the finish line within 50 seconds of the winner.

In this steady, steep climb are the most gruelling and fastest changing conditions that a motor car could encounter. From 9,150 feet to 14,109 feet, a difference of approximately a mile in altitude—203 dangerous hairpin curves and switchbacks, many bending back as much as 146 degrees—temperature changing from 85 degrees to nearly freezing—hill after hill of 10.5% grade. Such were the conditions which changed as rapidly as those encountered by airplanes. The Franklin with the same type engine that powers 80% of all airplanes, overcame all obstacles and reached the top as fresh and as lively as at the beginning.

This Franklin Special incorporated the same principles, the same six-cylinders and cubic capacity as are employed in the stock Franklin—an amazing performer, which holds all major road records, including the Coast-to-Coast round trip, the New York-to-Chicago, the New York-to-Miami, the Desert Derby, etc.

To know everything which air-cooling affords in masterful, reliable, confident, all-weather, all-road performance drive the Franklin. In traffic, on the open road, for all-day comfort, for easy, confident control, Franklin is incomparable. Let us place a car at your disposal for an evening or a day.

CITY COMMITTEE PUTS "L" VALUE AT $95,500,000

Named as Buying Price, Basis for Fares.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

"We find that the fair and reasonable value of these [elevated] properties at present is $95,500,000," reads the report of the committee—Col. A. A. Sprague, Joshua D'Esposito and George Woodruff—appointed to place a value upon the properties of the Chicago Rapid Transit company. The report was delivered to Ald. J. B. McDonough [13], chairman of the council local transportation committee yesterday.

"That sum is submitted," says the report, "both as a city purchase price and for the purpose of rate making. We indorse, without reservation, the previous recommendation of the citizens' committee that there should be but one valuation for both purposes, so as to permanently prevent future inflation of valuation and consequent increase in fares, as far as based on such possible inflation."

The valuators took as a base "the valuation of $86,250,000 placed upon these properties by the Illinois Public Utilities commission, as of June 30, 1919." From this $1,000,000 was eliminated, because it was an allowance for working capital.

The company's books show that improvements in operating property made since June 30, 1919 have cost $9,286,073.30, but the committee deducted $986,073.30, leaving this item at $8,300,000. These deductions were made because in the cost of additions and betterments were included general office charges, and also because the committee thought that the property replaced had been undervalued, which automatically increased the valuation of the betterments.

For the nonoperating property the committee allowed $2,300,000. Much of this is for real estate acquired in anticipation of extensions.

Increase Later Forestalled.

"It is unused at present for railway purposes," says the report, "but, in our opinion, should be included as part of the properties now, that it may not be added later at a higher valuation." The committee estimates that the sale value of this property would be much higher than $2,300,000. Those three items make a total of $95,850,000, from which the committee subtracted $350,000 as an extraordinary precaution on the side of conservative reckoning."

"This $95,500,000 value," reads the report, "is approximately $2,340,000 below the book value of the properties."

As a check on this valuation the committee applied "the chief method used by nearly every state public utility commission in the country in arriving at a valuation of public service properties." The report goes on: "This method consists of estimating the cost of reproducing the existing facilities as of the valuation date and then deducting estimated depreciation."

By that method the company made a claim for a valuation of $140,000,000. Commenting on that, the committee says:

"The company's figure, on its method of reckoning, is about $10,000,000 too high, because the allowance made by it for depreciation is insufficient, especially in depreciation of passenger equipment. It is our opinion that a value by this process is approximately $130,000,000. In private business, as distinguished from public utilities, that figure would probably be sustained as a present value."

The committee adopted another check on its suggested valuation of $95,500,000. They took the present elevated as a base for a high class elevated system. They revamped, changed, improved, equipped, and otherwise bettered the "L" lines for the mileage now in existence. Explaining this check, the report says:

Value of Modern System.

"It is our estimate that such a rapid transit system, fully up to date, completely elevated, modernly equipped and well kept in every particular would be worth not less than $155,000,000. This does not mean 100 per cent new, but changed and equipped for the highest degree of operating efficiency and for the greatest service benefit to the car riders. That kind of an elevated would have existed today had the company been financially able to obtain it; but the company has been allowed insufficient income and its credit is poor. The result is that the existing facilities fall short of meeting these ideal, but attainable, requirements in the following major points:

a—The tracks are not elevated over the entire system.

b—There are many sections of the lines where curves are too sharp for rapid transit service.

c—The tracks are not signaled nor interlocked in the most modern manner.

d—A large part of the passenger equipment does not meet modern requirements.

e—The physical condition of the elevated structure requires replacement of a large quantity of structural steel and a general rehabilitation throughout.

f—Escalators or elevators should be installed at the most important stations.

g—No preventive has been used to curb unnecessary noise.

"We estimate that the making of the improvements and adding facilities, as suggested above, would cost $58,500,000. This sum, deducted from the estimated value of the suggested system—$155,000,000—would leave a net value for the existing properties of $96,500,000. This figure checks, with remarkable accuracy, with our valuation of the properties at $95,500,000."

Deterioration of Steel.

Elaborate tests and studies, still in progress, have been made to obtain accurate information on the amount of deterioration in the steel. As a result of these tests, on which Robert W. Hunt & Co. are still at work, the committee reports that no evidence has been obtained of so-called crystallation, and that the only deterioration has been at such points as the bases of columns and at the top of chords of main trusses." The company is continually replacing worn parts as an operating charge.

"Probably one other criticism of the present elevated lines, listed above, needs a short explanation," reads the report. "The modern wooden cars now in service may have a physical life of fifteen or twenty years, but we are of the opinion that these wooden cars have little more than scrap value. They are out of place in a modern transportation system. They are surely unsuited and undesirable for subway operation.

"Ample deduction, from our viewpoint, has been made, not only for all the demerits listed above, but also for others, in arriving at our opinion that the properties are fairly and reasonably worth $95,500,000."

Steel Cars to Replace Wooden.

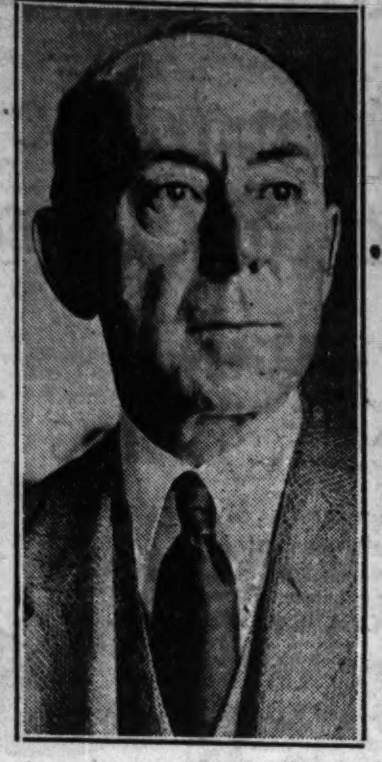
In verification of this claim is one of several exhibits, which says that new steel cars, to replace the wooden cars, will cost $39,551,589. The value of the present cars is placed in this exhibit at $13,660,387.65, so the cost to modernize the equipment is therefore placed at $25,891,201.35. This and like deductions have been taken into consideration in arriving at the $95,500,000 valuation, which the committee intimates they would be justified in making much higher.

"It may be argued with convincing logic that these properties will presently be worth much more than they are today, as part of a comprehensive transportation system," says the committee. "That is our deliberate judgment. In the proposed consolidated transportation system the Elevated lines will be the backbone of the system. They will supply the foundation lines for rapid transit.

"With more track capacity through the downtown area and a relatively small mileage added outside, they will have a 100 per cent greater capacity for service and their net earnings should be increased thereby. In a private corporation this prospective earning power would be capitalized and a substantial added value placed upon the properties."

Ald. McDonough said last night that his committee will consider this report at a meeting early this week.

Central Figures in Longley $2,000,000 Will Battle



George Adair Longley, who is contesting will.

Mary Caroline Longley, third wife of deceased.

Albert W. Longley, whose will is being contested.

LONGLEY BLAMES STEPMOTHER FOR LOSS OF LEGACY

Says She Excluded Him from Father's Funeral.

George Adair Longley, 54 years old, of Janesville, Wis., yesterday told the story that he is soon to recite from the witness stand in support of his claim that he is the son of Albert W. Longley and entitled to a share in the late Chicago manufacturer's $2,000,000 estate.

Mr. Longley, who says he is the son of Alice Ethel Adair Longley, first wife of the manufacturer, says he will attempt to break his father's will because Mary Caroline Longley, the third wife, refused to allow him to see his father when the latter cried out for him during his last days, and refused even to let him view his father's casket.

Given $600 a Year.

The late hatmaker's bequests included $600,000 to charitable institutions and left only a $600 annual income to the man who claims he is his son. The will referred to George Adair Longley as a brother of the first wife. The suit to break the will is brought by the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, and declared Mr. Longley was known as George Greene because he was in part reared by his grandparents of that name.

Mr. Longley was head of the Chicago firm of Longley, Low & Alexander, hat manufacturers. He died in Pasadena, Cal., on Oct. 29, 1928, and his will was probated in Cook county last February.

"I have a world of proof that I am Albert W. Longley's son," George Adair Longley said yesterday. "I lived with my father and mother until I was 20 years old. My mother divorced him then, but he continued supporting me until I was 25 because I was ill and had to go to the southwest at the time.

Lived on Farm as Boy.

"When I was a little boy my father's business was here in Chicago, but he had a farm and summer home in Janesville, Wis. I had nine Shetland ponies. My father had his own race course on the farm, and he owned a great race horse, a stallion known as Monroe Chief.

"My father sent me through Notre Dame university and then through Columbia institute in New York City.

"It was late in 1927, when my mother died in Los Angeles, that I tried to get in touch with my father, who was then already suffering from his last illness.

"I had not then been able to see my father with the knowledge of his third wife for some time. He was eighty, she less than forty. He had met her years before on a train between Los Angeles and San Francisco. She asked him the time and struck up an acquaintance. That was some years before his second wife died in the Augustana hospital in Chicago.

Objected to Visits, He Says.

"About the time my mother died, this third wife had begun to object to my seeing my father and we had to meet on the quiet away from his residence. When my mother passed away I needed some papers from him in connection with her $200,000 estate, which was left to me. I wrote several letters to him. They were not answered.

"I then got a reply from the third wife. She told me curtly my father was very ill with a bad heart and no one could see him. His doctor said the wife had not told the truth. He said he would try to arrange for me to see my father.

"When I called the doctor told me I could not see him because when he had mentioned my visit, the young wife had gone into a fit of hysterics and had carried on so it had almost killed my father.

Says Door Was Locked.

"I tried repeatedly after that to see him. Once I went there with three friends and a city detective. She locked my father's door and no threat nor entreaty would make her give up the key. I used to drive up to the house in my car, and I could hear my father through the open windows crying and sobbing and calling out for me.

"When he died she had me barred from the home by police on guard there. Only those with admittance cards were allowed at the funeral. At the cemetery, where his body was placed in a crypt in a mausoleum, she remained on guard until workmen had cemented the marble slab on the crypt."

ST. LOUIS MUNICIPAL BRIDGE MAY BE USED BY RAILROADS SOON

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—[U.P.]—When the St. Louis municipal free bridge is approved by the interstate commerce commisison and declared a route in interstate commerce, railroads may use the new thoroughfare across the Mississippi river, engineers of the project announced today.

Final inspection was completed yesterday and M. H. Doyne, consulting engineer, promised trains could operate over the bridge within 24 hours after the interstate commerce commission action.

The bridge is a two story affair, trains running beneath the highway level. It is one mile long, crooked like a question mark, and contains 7,800 tons of steel and 1,000,000 feet of lumber. The $1,500,000 invested in the railroad deck by bond issue will pay the city of St. Louis $1 for every car moved across the bridge.

Mrs. B. F. Ayer Leaves $500,000 to 4 Children

The will of Mrs. Janet Hopkins Ayer, widow of Benjamin F. Ayer, former general counsel of the Illinois Central railroad, filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, distributes her estate of $500,000 to four children. They are Walter Ayer, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, and Mrs. Cecil Barnes, all of Chicago. Mrs. Ayer died on Sept. 3 in her home at 1210 Astor street of a heart attack following an illness of three years. She was 81 years old.

IOWAN PINNED IN WELL 2 DAYS WILL RECOVER

Cave-In Victim Rescued by Mine Crew.

Ottumwa, Ia., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The viselike grip of a caved-in well yielded Wilkins Priest, 55 years old, its prisoner for 42 hours, at 6:07 today.

Workers had toiled incessantly since Thursday morning when Priest was buried under rocks and dirt when the walls of the well crumbled as he was cleaning it.

"Water," gasped Priest as he was carried on a cot through the 30 foot shaft which rescuers had spent 18 hours digging. Dr. D. L. Rater made a hasty examination and ordered him taken to a hospital.

No Bones Broken.

Although Priest was bruised and his chest was sore from the pressure of the rocks, an examination at the hospital showed that no bones were broken. Dr. Rater expressed the belief that he had an excellent change for recovery unless pneumonia should set in and every precaution is being taken to guard against it.

Priest said he never expected to be taken out alive and had abandoned hope of rescue. He said he was unable to express his gratitude to his rescuers.

A crew from the Rex mine near Albia, Ia., which took charge of the final operations was ready to bring Priest from the well at 5:20 a. m. today when new cave-ins hindered their work. Up to that time a crowd of nearly one thousand had waited patiently, almost grimly, throughout the night. Calm tenseness as word came from the shaft that rescuers were touching Priest was succeeded by an instant of excited bustle with the cry, "Quick, some more caved in."

Cot Lifted with Chain.

Horses which had been hauling dirt and rocks from the shaft at a rapid rate were driven even faster. Shudders ran through the watchers.

Forty-five minutes more and the cry "all clear" came from the depths of the shaft as the miners announced they had curbed the new cave-ins and once more were ready to attempt the exit.

A cot was lowered in the shaft, and into the long tunnel connecting with the well, and a row of burly men raised it to the surface with a log chain after Priest had been placed upon it.

EVANSTON'S NEW TRAFFIC BUREAU WINS FIRST CASE

The accident prevention department of the Evanston police force yesterday secured its first conviction in a traffic case when Harry Stein, 930 Chicago avenue, Evanston, was fined $25 and costs by Police Magistrate Charles G. Franklin for disregarding a stop sign. Stein was arrested on Tuesday after his car had collided with another driven by Mrs. S. M. Dodge, 816 Michigan avenue, Evanston, at Judson avenue and Main street.

Policemen George Bein and Elmer Egebrecht arrived at the scene a few minutes later and took pictures, making a detailed record of the accident. The principal exhibit against Stein was a photograph of skid marks proving that he had been driving fast and had not stopped at the intersection.

Richard Graf, 20 years old, of Chicago, was killed yesterday when he lost control of his car and it crashed into an embankment near Cedar Rapids, Ia. Henry Schoenfelder, a passenger in the car, also of Chicago, was seriously hurt.

Henry J. Tegtmeyer, 41 years old, of Arlington Heights, died in an Elgin hospital of injuries sustained on Friday when his automobile crashed into a truck near Elgin.

Richard Nielsen Jr., 19 months old, died of injuries received on Sept. 5 when an automobile driven by his father, Richard Nielsen, 7526 Prairie avenue, collided with a car driven by Daniel Prisana, 1110 Lytle street, at 73d street and Western avenue. This death raised Cook county's 1929 motor toll to 599.

Legion Women to Oppose Transfer of Headquarters

Members of the Cook County Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, meeting at the Congress hotel, yesterday made plans to oppose the proposed transfer of state headquarters from Chicago to Bloomington at the state convention in Rock Island on Sept. 16 and 17. The convention will be held in conjunction with that of the Legion and the Forty and Eight. The Chicago delegations of the three organizations will leave on a special train on Sept. 14.

MISS 1930 TO BE HOME GIRL, SAYS WOMAN EDITOR

The home girl who marks father's word as law and partakes of mother's counsel is the kind of a girl Miss 1930 will be if the signs of the times are to be taken as true indications, according to Marta K. Sionen, editor of Everygirl's magazine, publication of the Camp Fire Girls' organization. Miss Sironen arrived in Chicago yesterday on her nationwide tour of councils.

"The trend today is back to when father's word was respected and mother's advice well taken," Miss Sironen said. "The present day girl is more like the old Greek ideal than ever before in America's history. Healthful activities have brought today's girl to a state closer to physical perfection than was possible in the prim and proper past. Education has broadened her mind and done away with the artificial barriers that prevented naturalness.

However demure of face and manners tomorrow's girl will be, Miss Sironen added, she will cling to her love for vivid dress to satisfy youth's love of color.

Girl of 6 Falls Into Wading Pool and Drowns

Dolores Baranowski, 6 years old, of Lemont, was drowned in two and a half feet of water yesterday when she fell into a wading pool in the Lemont public school grounds. The child was walking with her sister, Lillian, 4 years old, when she slipped on the edge of the pool and fell. Lillian ran to the home of Mrs. George Brown, who found Dolores' body at the bottom of the pool. The child was a daughter of John W. Baranowski, a crane operator, employed at Indiana Harbor.

FINNISH STEAMER TURNS TURTLE IN STORM; 80 LOST

Many Children Among Passengers on Board.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 7.—(AP)—At least eighty lives were lost today, including those of many children going to their homes to spend Sunday, when the Finnish lake steamer Kuru sank in a heavy storm while plying its regular route from the town of Tammersfors.

There were about 100 passengers on board. Many were in the cabins when the disaster suddenly occurred, and it was believed that the heavy death toll resulted from the inability of these to get on deck when the fore part of the vessel suddenly dipped into the sea.

Sea Upsets Lifeboat.

The Kuru had sailed from Tammersfors this afternoon and had only just cleared the harbor when the bow dipped into a huge wave and the steamer failed to right itself. Some passengers succeeded in getting into a lifeboat, but the heavy seas upset it. Some of this party were able to cling to the overturned craft until they were rescued.

The steamer turned over completely before sinking. Many of those washed ashore were greatly exhausted although still living. The captain of the steamer was among those saved. A number of passengers said that they escaped death by smashing out windows in the cabins.

Storm Hinders Rescue Boats.

The rescue of many was effected by the steamer Jarganne, while other passengers were washed ashore alive with life belts supporting them. Owing to the extreme confusion in the port and the heavy weather outside, which prevented many boats from going to the rescue, it was impossible late tonight to ascertain the exact number saved.

The captain blamed the panic among the school children who all rushed to the lee side of the ship, for the capsizing. He said that there were only about 100 passengers but could not say how many were children. Three of the crew of 12 were saved.

Planes Hunt Danish Ship.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A Danish coal steamer named Dan was believed to have sunk with the loss of all hands in the Baltic today.

An SOS call was picked up here which reported the steamer about 80 miles out. Airplanes and torpedo boats dashed to the rescue, but found no trace of the steamer in a long search of the sea. The theory was advanced that the ship struck a floating mine, relic of the world war days. The 3,500 ton craft carried a crew of 25.

SNOW, COLD SNAP HOLD MOUNTAIN REGION IN GRIPS

Denver, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Rocky mountain region still remained in a storm area tonight that promised continued cold weather, with more snow predicted by the weather bureau for mountain districts and freezing temperatures for Wyoming, Montana and the extreme north central part of Colorado.

Temperatures as low as 24 degrees above zero were reported in the storm area. This minimum was recorded at Havre, Mont., and at Yellowstone.

At Denver the mercury reached 34 dgrees, which is unusually low for so early in the season. The first snow of the year, and the earliest ever recorded here, fell in Denver last night. It was light, melting as it fell. Mountain passes along the range from Denver south were reported covered with snow today and traffic up the highway of Pikes Peak was suspended. The cog road on Pikes Peak managed to keep open by the use of snow plows.

Winter continued its assault upon Wyoming, pushing the mercury further down the thermometer and increasing the coating of snow. Freezing temperatures were recorded in almost every section of the state.

The weather hampered air and automobile traffic both in Colorado and Wyoming. At Cheyenne both the east and west bound air mail planes were on the ground.

MALONE TO GET RECORDS IN TAX PAY ROLL QUIZ

Pay roll records of the board of assessors will be presented tomorrow to William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, who is investigating charges of payroll padding made by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment, at a meeting of the board Friday. The records will be brought to a conference of assessors, called by Chairman Malone, by County Efficiency Expert J. L. Jacobs.

Jacobs joined in Cutmore's attack, criticising the assessor's payrolls. He explained yesterday that he did not refer to the experts working on the revaluation.

"Mr. Cutmore has been able to take out 40 men from the regular roll leaving 102 others in the office," he said. "These employés have been working on the personal property tax. I am not a pack of hounds and cannot shadow each employé, but I will take the pay roll and show Mr. Malone that while the personal property roll was completed at this time last year it is not yet near done. I will also show that the cost this year will be twice what it was even though the employés are not working on real estate taxes as they were a year ago."

HOLDUP SUSPECTS BOUND OVER.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Wallie Evans and Edgar Williamson, 21 year old Champaign men who were arrested Labor day and charged with a series of roadside holdups, were bound over to the grand jury today by Police Magistrate George James.

COL. ROOSEVELT HERE TO REPORT ON MUSEUM TRIP

On Way to Become Porto Rico Governor.

Back from a ten months' hunting expedition through the wilds of Tibet and Indo-China, Col. Theodore Roosevelt yesterday arrived in Chicago and made a report to Stanley Field, president of the Field Museum, of his successful adventure as head of the William V. Kelley-Field Museum Indo-China expedition.

The colonel's brother, Kermit Roosevelt, and Suydam Cutting, the expedition photographer, who returned several weeks ago, came from New York to greet the colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt in Chicago. After spending the week-end as guests of Mr. Field the party will depart for New York and Washington Monday.

Going to Porto Rico.

Col. Roosevelt will consult with President Hoover some time next week before assuming his duties as governor of Porto Rico.

The prize catch of the expedition was the giant Panda, which was bagged in the Lo Lo country of Indo-China in the dense and mountainous bamboo jungles during an April snowstorm. This extremely rare beast, which zoologists have not yet classified is of bear like size, appearance and habits. The Roosevelts are the first white men to bag one. The Roosevelt specimen is the first complete one for any museum in the world.

Get Rare Specimens.

During their 1,900 mile exploration, accomplished on foot and horseback, the Roosevelt party bagged other rare beasts such as the golden monkey, a barking deer, water buffalo, a gaur, which is the largest of the wild oxen, and a bantind, a red ox species. The golden monkey group of nine animals is the most complete in the world, Col. Roosevelt said.

The Roosevelt party escaped trouble with bandit bands which infest the country.

WATER TOWER IN FLAMES.

A fire in the wooden structure of a water tower on top of the Leschin building, 318 South Michigan avenue, provided a spectacle for passing motorists at noon yesterday. The damage was negligible.

6 YOUTHS SEIZED ON 'RIDE' TO FACE KIDNAP CHARGES

Six youths, arrested on Friday after they are alleged to have tried to take another youth "for a ride," must face charge of kidnaping in Racket court tomorrow. This was decided yesterday when they were arraigned before Judge Immenhausen in Boys' court for disorderly conduct.

The six were accused by Harry Gellerman, 20 years old, 3540 West 13th place, who said he escaped from them when the automobile in which he was a prisoner crashed at 26th street and Clifton Park avenue. Gellerman is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor on the complaint of Miss Helen Benda, 17 years old, 2306 South Troy street, who told Judge Immenhausen that Gellerman attacked her in his garage after she had gone riding with him.

She said she told her sweetheart, Joseph Hruby, 18 years old, 1452 South Crawford avenue, and he, with her brother, George Benda, 3513 26th street, are alleged to have led the attack on Gellerman. The other four are George Matousek, 32 years old, 2745 Komensky avenue; John Jirka, 20 years old, 6512 26th street, Berwyn; Louis Vhrel, 25 years old, 2719 South Clifton Park avenue, and Carl Bernek, 18 years old, 3505 26th street.

Issue 91 Building Permits in Week; Total $3,130,700

Permits for the construction of 91 buildings at an estimated cost of $3,130,700 were issued for the week ending Sept. 5, Building Commissioner Paschen announced yesterday. Residences led the list with a total of 47 permits. The remainder were divided as follows: Industrial and stores, 21; churches and theaters, 4; apartments, 11; stores and offices, 1; stores and residences, 2; stores and apartments, 3; miscellaneous, 2.

BOTH POINCARE, CLEMENCEAU ARE RESTING EASIER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Both Georges Clemenceau and Raymond Poincare, former premiers of France, are reported by their physicians to be doing better today, although it is now generally realized that the pair of veteran premiers are still far from well.

M. Poincare remains in bed and weakness in his legs which makes it practically impossible for him to walk. For the first time since his illness he agreed to pose for his portrait, which the painter, Rene Godard, winner of the Grand Prix at Rome, is finishing.

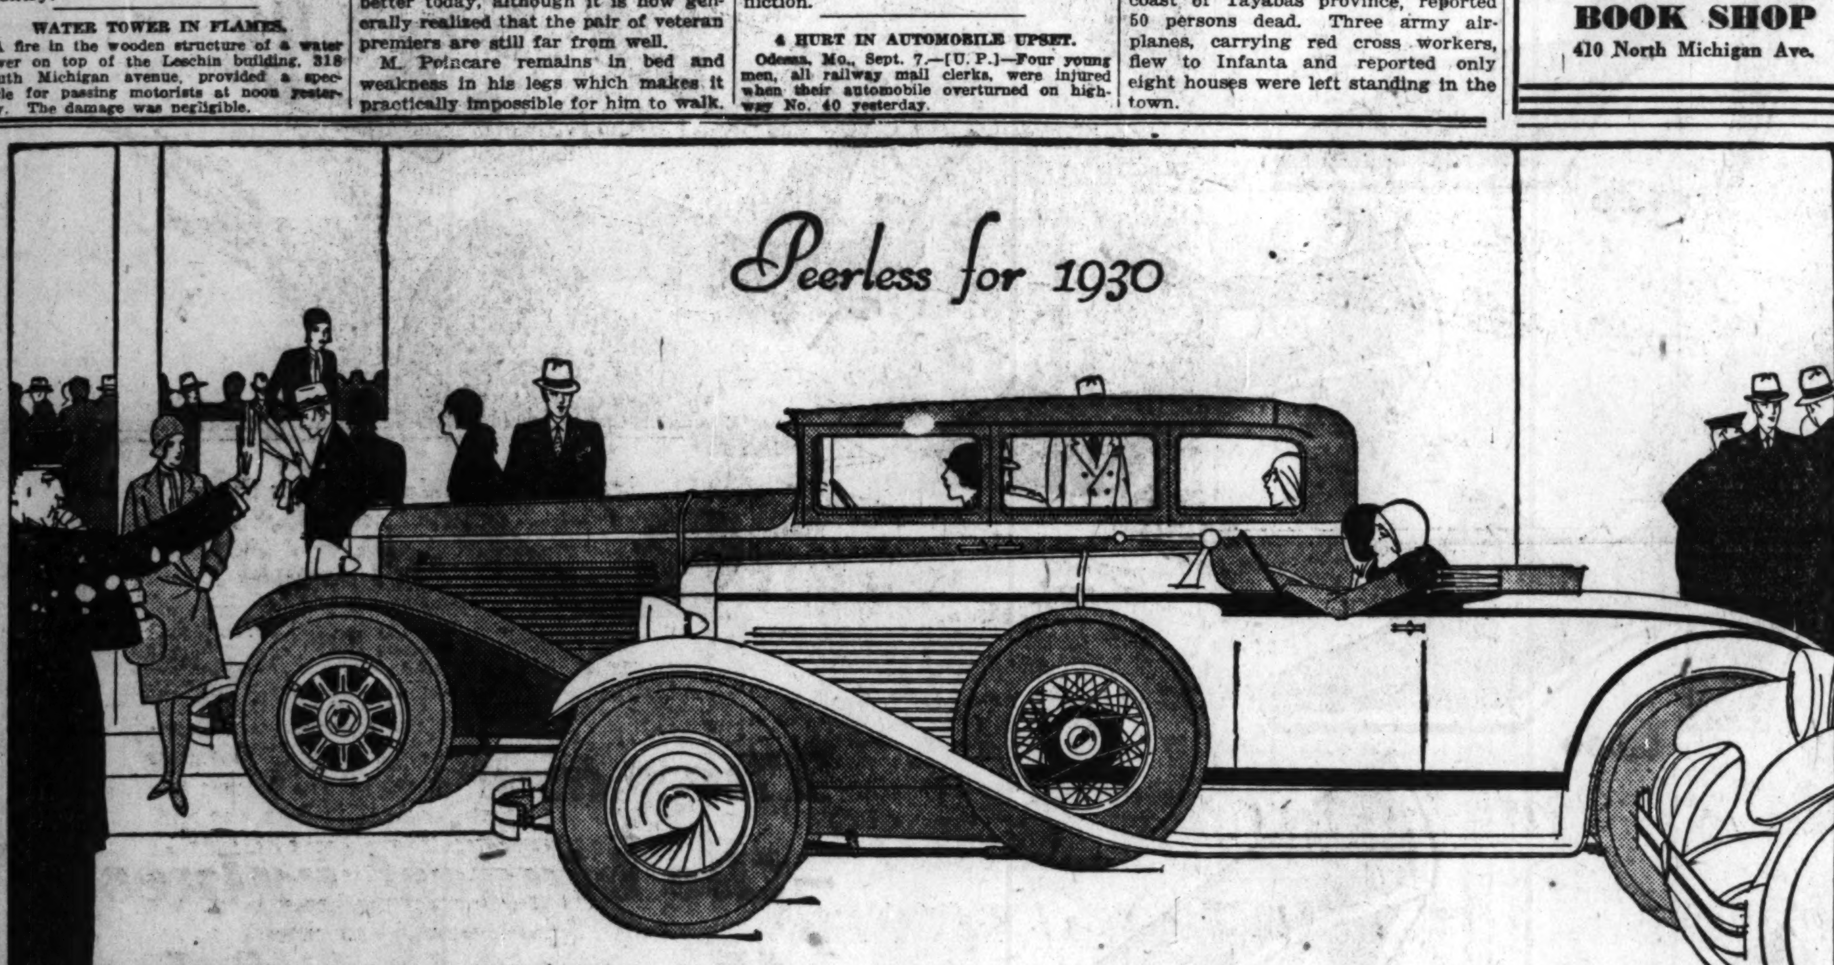
M. Poincaire remains in bed, and his physicians today prescribed "rest and lots of rest." No date has been set for M. Poincare's second operation, which was scheduled to take place early in September, but was delayed because of his pulmonary affliction.

4 HURT IN AUTOMOBILE UPSET.

Odessa, Mo., Sept. 7.—[U. P.]—Four young men, all railway mail clerks, were injured when their automobile overturned on highway No. 40 yesterday.

Toll of Dead in Typhoon in Philippines Reaches 146

MANILA, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The number of known deaths in the typhoon which swept southern Luzon Island early this week jumped to 146 today as additional reports told of the havoc wrought in a half dozen provinces. The town of Infanta, on the western coast of Tayabas province, reported 50 persons dead. Three army airplanes, carrying red cross workers, flew to Infanta and reported only eight houses were left standing in the town.



Peerless Reaches Out in the Thousand-Dollar-Field

PRECISELY, that! A great, big, roomy 1930 Peerless in the thousand-dollar-price-field. And all the Peerless prestige, Peerless style and Peerless quality you've seen or read about for years. No car in its class even approaches it, not one. And no car has so definitely dethroned the public's idea of value. ¶ Now hear that scamper and nervous rush back to the blue-print rooms and cost departments—Peerless value has stampeded the entire motor industry to try and produce its equal. But, it's in the bag. In a highly competitive market Peerless value holds the whip-hand by a ten-months' leadership. ¶ Peerless brings you incarnate energy cushioned in live, shock-absorbing rubber, and nimble up to 70 miles an hour. It's the "Six 61-A" [3⅜x 4] with 7-bearing crankshaft. ¶ Next, Peerless-Stromberg's New Assimilating Carburetion—you can't buck the engine at low speeds, can't rumple the torque. ¶ Peerless Mono-Control [coactive] subjects the car's operation to one hand. You start, steer, park, back or stop, raise the windshield, light your cigarette, turn on the windshield wiper, button your lights or signal horn with one hand, without effort, without reaching beyond the Peerless Control Board. It's as simple as running a radio. ¶ And this is also America's first low-price car to be sold from the inside—the beautiful French Interiors of the 1930 Peerless compare favorably with cars selling at double the Peerless price. Peerless gives more—costs less—watch Peerless. ¶ Roadster $995, Coupe $1095, Victoria $1145, Six Passenger Sedan $1195—all prices at factory. PEERLESS, Cleveland.

FOX RIVER TOWNS ACT TO REROUTE STATE HIGHWAYS

Find Traffic in Business Districts a Handicap.

BY HAL FOUST.

Eight years ago, and again five years ago, the villages and smaller cities of Illinois appealed to the governor, then Len Small, and succeeded in having the state bond issue highways routed through their business districts.

Yesterday the cities and villages of Kane county organized to reroute the state highways, taking them away from the business centers. Their plan also proposes the widening and paving of the streets used by the through traffic with the county's share of the gasoline tax.

County Towns Form League.

A league of Kane county municipalities was formed at a meeting in the Aurora council chambers, called by Charles H. Greene, mayor of Aurora. Mr. Greene predicted that the move to take through traffic off business streets will spread throughout the state.

A committee of municipal engineers was appointed and directed to prepare detailed plans for consideration at another meeting on Sept. 21 at the Elgin city hall. These plans, when approved by representatives of the villages and cities, will be presented to the Kane county board of supervisors in the form of a petition for appropriations from the county's third of the gasoline tax. This fund is expected to approximate $148,000 a year and the first money will be available for construction a fews days after Jan. 1.

"Traffic No Longer an Asset."

Mayor Greene opened the session by declaring that the day has passed when heavy traffic is considered an asset to a community.

"Automobile commuters, cross country tourists, motor buses and farm and commercial trucks have torn up the streets of Aurora that carry the Lincoln highway [route 22] and the Ogden avenue road [route 18]," he said. "The owners of the abutting property have repeatedly refused to repave by special assessment.

"The heavy traffic is a detriment to the street as a residential site. Exhaust fumes, horns, speeding automobiles and house shaking trucks are depreciating the values of homes.

"The through traffic is of no benefit to the local merchants. Only one car in 500 stops to make a purchase and then it's no more than a package of cigarets or a bottle of pop. The merchants' regular customers avoid the crowded streets for stores on less congested pavements."

Elgin Mayor Gives View.

Mayor Earle R. Kelley of Elgin reported that there was a similar situation in his city which is filled with automobiles from route 22, the Lake street road, and the Evanston-Elgin highway.

"We haven't felt justified in hollering, however," he added, "because it was the business men who induced the state to route the highways through the downtown district."

Mayor Harry Hanson of Geneva told of the present congestion on the through streets of his city and predicted that new superhighways from Chicago will throw an unprecedented volume of traffic into the Fox river valley towns and cities.

Corporation Counsel John P. Hart of Aurora told of appeals the city administration has received from taxpayers to move the state highways away from their homes. He said that heavy traffic might be desirable to villages, but certainly not to cities.

Call Village Disillusioned.

This remark brought Herbert Bonin to his feet. He is a village trustee of East Dundee, which has less than 2,000 population.

"We're a disillusioned community," he said. "When the state bond issues were being spent we succeeded in getting Higgins road routed through our town. We thought it would stimulate business.

"We paid 50 per cent of the cost of the pavement. The assessment was spread over ten years. The pavement is seven years old now and it's broken to pieces and it hasn't been paid for yet. The heavy traffic passes right through our town as if it were a corn field. The highway has become too big a financial burden for us to bear any longer."

Other municipalities represented at this initial meeting were West Dundee, Carpentersville, Batavia, North Aurora, and Elburn. The consensus seemed to be that the small cities and villages will profit most from the improved state highways if the through traffic passes around the business districts, but with adequate directional signs and ample pavement to accommodate those motorists desirous of visiting the merchandizing centers.

TO WED CRANE

Signorina Teresa Marescotti.

The engagement of Signorina Teresa Martini Marescotti, daughter of Count Alessandro and Countess Laura Born of Ruspoli, Italy, to John O. Crane of New York, son of Charles R. Crane, former minister to China, was announced yesterday in dispatches from Rome. Charles R. Crane formerly resided in Chicago with his family. John O. Crane was for two years secretary to the president of the Czecho-Slovakian republic. His fiancée is known as one of the most beautiful women in Italy.

WOMAN FACES 4 CHARGES FOR COURT GUNPLAY

Mrs. Ida M. Burt, who fired two shots in the courtroom of Judge John F. Haas on July 15 when a judgment of $1,000 against her was upheld, yesterday faced charges of assault with intent to kill, assault with a deadly weapon, carrying a concealed weapon and contempt of court. Mrs. Burt was rearrested yesterday following her release from the Jacksonville insane asylum where she was declared sane.

The charges were made against her by Judge Haas. Similar charges had been vacated for want of prosecution when she was sent to the asylum. She will be arraigned before Judge Haas tomorrow.

Mrs. Burt fired at Morris I. Kaplan, attorney, in Judge Haas' courtroom and then fired a shot into the ceiling after the judge had ordered a $1,000 garnishment against her bank account on complaint of Attorney Kaplan. She has contested the judgment on the ground that her commitment to the Elgin state hospital for the insane in 1914 made it void.

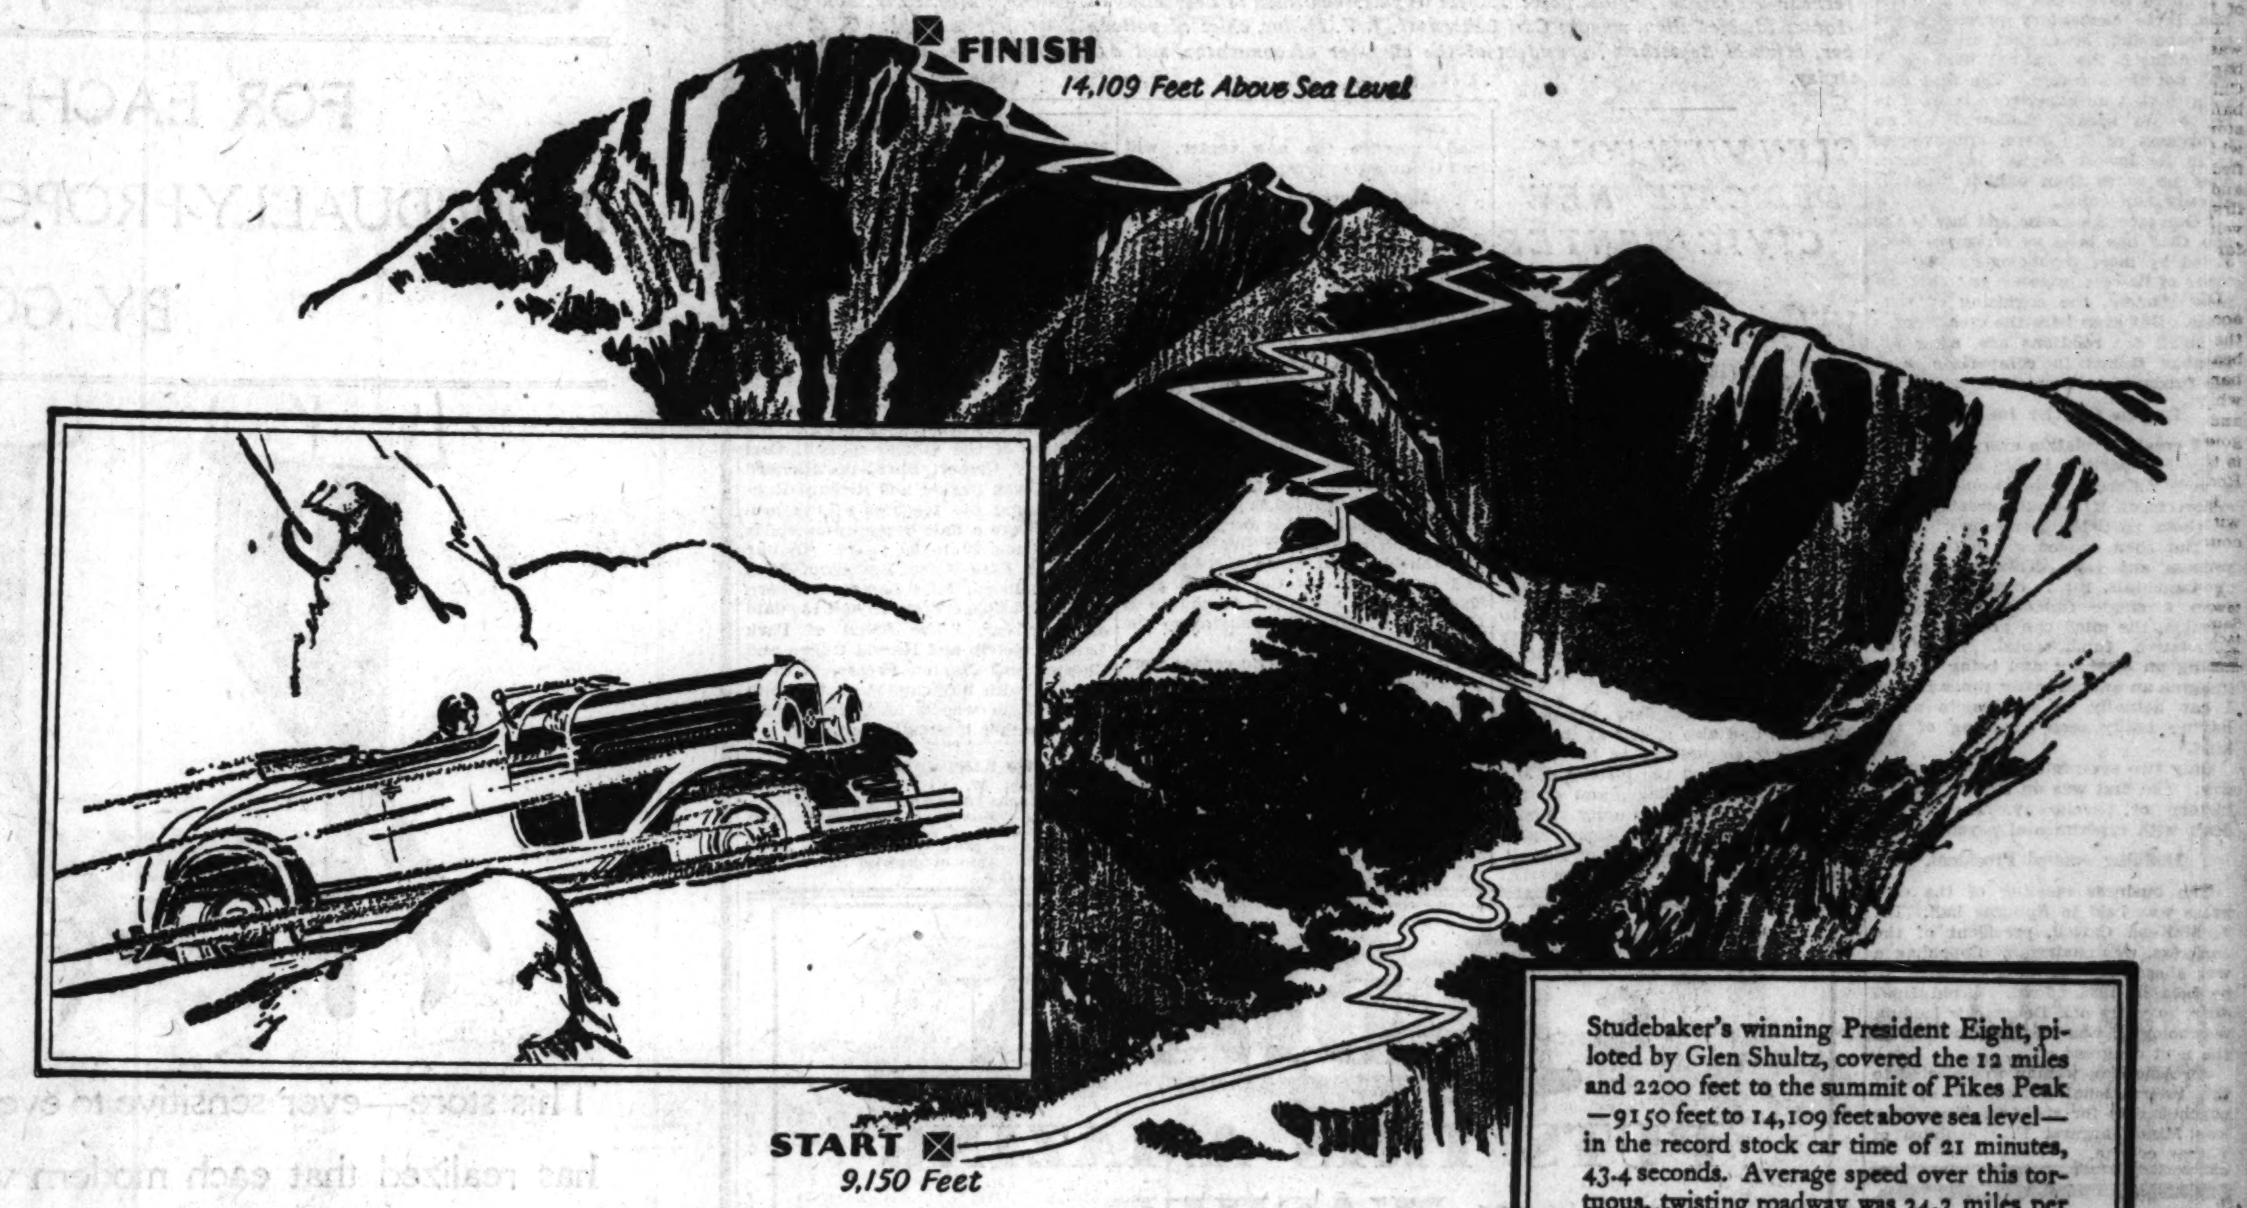
Studebaker President Eight

sets New Stock Car Record in 1929 Pikes Peak Climb!



Studebaker's winning President Eight, piloted by Glen Shultz, covered the 12 miles and 2200 feet to the summit of Pikes Peak —9150 feet to 14,109 feet above sea level— in the record stock car time of 21 minutes, 43.4 seconds. Average speed over this tortuous, twisting roadway was 34.3 miles per hour. 154 breath-taking curves make this course a supreme test of motor car balance and handling ease. That running conditions were not so advantageous this year was emphasized by the running time in the non-stock event, which was approximately 41 seconds slower than last year. Yet the President's time was the fastest ever made by any stock car over this course!

—Adds famous Penrose Trophy to 11 world and 23 international records

A STRICTLY STOCK and fully equipped Studebaker President Eight, driven by Glen Shultz, set the fastest stock car time in history to win the most arduous hill climbing contest known to motoring—the Annual Penrose Trophy Race to the summit of Pikes Peak, 14,109 feet above sea level!

Already holding, undisputed, more official stock car records for speed and endurance than all other makes of American cars combined, Studebaker now adds another triumph—in climbing Pikes Peak faster than any other stock car, regardless of power or price.

The Pikes Peak Climb was sanctioned, timed and checked by the American Automobile Association. A. A. A. officials followed the same procedure in selecting the winning stock model President Eight as they did previously with the strictly stock President Eight which traveled 30,000 miles in 26,326 consecutive minutes. Picked at random from the Studebaker factory, The President was checked and certified as strictly stock before the race, and again after the run.*

The President Eight's record conquest of Pikes Peak is further proof of eight-cylinder performance supremacy—just as eight-cylinder popularity has been proved by Studebaker's world leadership in the sale of eights! Why wait a year to own an eight when you can own the car of tomorrow today!

You can buy a duplicate of the Pikes Peak President from any Studebaker dealer. See it—drive it—own a Studebaker champion eight at a new, low One-Profit price! And remember your car will be worth more a year from now—if it is an eight!

High compression head (6½ to 1) and mountain gear ratio (4.08 to 1) were used—either of which is optional and available to any Studebaker purchaser anywhere.*

BRAIN EXPERTS STUDY MENTAL CREATION LAWS

Spearman Causes Stir at Psychology Congress.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The sessions of the ninth International Congress of Psychology ended today with the members discussing a paper delivered by Prof. Carl Spearman of University college, London. One of the leading psychologists of the world, he spoke on the creative mind.

"Almost universally we find the mind portrayed as creative," he said. "Over this virtue, more than all else, has been lavished enthusiasm, but none of the present warring schools of psychology appears to furnish any reasonable account of the matter.

Three Processes Exist.

"There have been shown to exist just three elementary processes and corresponding laws, that are capable of evoking in the mind any item which was not there before. The first consists in that an experience is wont to be, so to speak, shadowed by an awareness of it. Here, creativeness is in its lowest degree; the process does no more than exhibit what is already happening.

"Our second process and law is the one that has been so strangely neglected by most psychologists just because of its omnipresence and obviousness; namely, the cognizing of relations. But even here the creativeness is small for relations are, after all, tenuous things in comparison with the fundamentals which they conjoin.

Unseen Can be Imagined.

"I create a relation every time that I lay one particle beside another. Of a very different order would be my achievement if I could create either of these particles themselves.

"But then one comes to the third process and law. This does create fundamentals, for it consists in that from a single fundamental, plus a relation, the mind can proceed to the correlative fundamental. Thus, on seeing an elephant and being told to imagine an animal many times larger, I can actually do so, despite never having really seen anything of the kind."

Only two symposiums were held today. The first was on the theory and history of psychology. The second dealt with experimental psychology.

Hoffding Named President.

The business meeting of the congress was held in Sprague hall. Dr. J. McKeen Cattell, president of the congress, was chairman. Copenhagen was chosen for the next congress, to be held in 1932. Prof. Harold Hoffding, 80 years old, Denmark's leading psychologist, was elected president of the next congress.

An American woman was elected to the international committee of the psychologists for the first time. She was Miss Margaret F. Washburn of Vassar college.

GLEN VIEW FOLK DEDICATE NEW CIVIC CENTER

Village Holds Its 13th Annual Fete.

In carefully landscaped acres west of Glenview road and across the Milwaukee railroad tracks from the main town, Glenview dedicated yesterday its new $25,000 community house as the feature of its 13th annual village celebration. Besides the low brick structure with windows opening on the terraces was placed, in a sunken garden, the bear statue-fountain, donated to the citizens back in 1916 by the late E. S. Jackson. It was in celebration of the Jackson gift that the first Glenview day was held.

Horace M. McCullen, mayor of Glenview, and also mayor at the time of the first celebration, in his speech yesterday, outlined the history of the fountain, of the village, and of the erection of the community house, pointing out that the same spirit which united the residents of the village into the Civic association that made possible the new center, will lead Glenview to prosperity.

Maj. Schroeder a Speaker.

Maj. R. W. Schroeder, middle west manager of the Curtiss Flying service, which last January established the Curtiss-Reynolds airport near Glenview and now has a school with 80 students enrolled, was another speaker. Others who gave talks were Michael Sesterhenn, president of the chamber of commerce; Harold Grenning, commander of the Joseph M. Sesterhenn post of the American Legion; and Arthur Palmgren, representing the Civic association.

The speeches were preceded by a parade of 35 floats led by Police Chief J. V. Miller and six motorcycle policemen and Drum Major Walter Tiner and the blue and white garbed drum and bugle corps of the Legion post. The Grenview fire truck, in charge of Chief H. F. Mueller, brought up the rear.

Flags for the new civic center were presented by Capt. A. D. Henderson and given into the keeping of the Glenview troop of Boy Scouts, who with their hay rick transformed into a branch-woven camp shelter, won the first award among the organization floats.

Other Prizes Awarded.

The legion corps won first prize for the best group display; Swain Nelson Nurseries took first among the business floats, and Raymond Frake's decorated pleasure car was adjudged the best in that class. A group of girls made up as "Herr Louie's Hungry Five" won the first award among the children's groups. The girls are Gladys Wallbaum, Mary Lou Coash, Peggy French, Grace McCarty, Adeline Morton and Emily Gould. The prize were warded by Gus Meierhaff, John Dwight and Rudolph Tagtmeier.

The parade was reviewed by Mayor McCullen, the other speakers and the members of the village council, Carl Ladendorf, Crebert Burnham, Richard Gould, Owen Barker and Richard Rugen. Among the features of the procession were a half dozen automobiles dating back 20 to 30 years. In one of these Miss Alice Burnham, Miss Jane Scalborn, Miss Serena Scalborn and David Cole dressed to suit the date of their car, "The Spirit of Park Lane." Nelvin and Harold Rugen and Chester and Clayton Freese, in overalls and with hay caught on the antiquated high wheels of their vehicle, made another interesting group.

FOOTPADS CHOKE E. J. KRUETGEN, CITY PLANNER

German Leader Robbed After Banquet.

Police yesterday were investigating the robbery of Ernest J. Kruetgen, member of the Chicago Plan commission, who was attacked by two bandits late Friday night as he was entering his home at 830 Castlewood terrace. The men fled in an automobile after taking a wallet containing $75 and valuable papers.

Mr. Kruetgen, who is a leader among German-American citizens, was returning to his home shortly before midnight from a banquet in honor of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, at the Atlantic hotel. He was walking to his home, which is at the foot of Castlewood terrace, overlooking the lake. The street is dark and shrubbery borders on the sidewalk.

Throttled by Bandit.

As Mr. Kruetgen turned into the path leading to his home he was seized from behind. A powerful grip on his throat prevented him from making an outcry. Then a second man drove up in an auto. He alighted and rifled Mr. Kruetgen's pockets. Both bandits fled in the car, toward Sheridan road.

Mr. Kruetgen finally overcame the effects of strangulation and struggled to his feet. He was unable to make out the license number of the disappearing car because he had lost his glasses in the scuffle, and could not raise a cry because he could not regain his breath for several minutes. He notified the Summerdale police.

At Dever Funeral.

Mr. Kruetgen is head of the Kruetgen Engraving company, 317 North Franklin street. He was formerly a member of the school board. He is a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the committee on the World's Fair of 1933, and of the Germania and other clubs. He had attended the funeral of the late Mayor William E. Dever before going to the banquet.

O MY! WORKERS IN RED FACTORIES MUST OBEY BOSS

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Sept. 7.—An order that is likely to astonish many American radicals was published today by the bolshevist party's central committee. It provides that soviet factory managers must be obeyed by all workers, whatever rank there may have in the local bolshevist party or in their trade union section.

In each factory the bolshevist leaders must explain to the workers that measures taken by the management to restore discipline, increase output and rationalize production are all for their good. This probably refers to the present policy of compulsory overtime and "voluntary" Sunday work.

The managers are to have full powers personally to appoint and dismiss all members of the administrative and technical staff. Still more astonishing is the equal right granted to them to dismiss ordinary workers or put them on any job or transfer them to any shop. And although the managers are advised to consult the local party units and trade union sections on this point, the latter are reminded that they have absolutely no veto power whatsoever, but only the right to send up a report to the higher powers.

DISTILLERY IN GALENA RAIDED BY DRY AGENTS

Chicago dry agents yesterday staged a series of raids upon five alleged speakeasies and one distillery at Galena and Balck City, Ill. Five men were arrested and a quantity of liquor seized. Five stills, four in operation, were found in the distillery. H. J. Vogel was reported to be the owner. Alleged speakeasies owned by Edward Taylor, Banjamin Hamil, William Gibson and "Curly" Tiresen were raided, along with the Lakeside Inn in Balck City. All those arrested will be arraigned at Freeport.

Retired Police Sergeant Cruel, Wife's Suit Says

Mrs. Delia Phelan, 55 years old, yesterday sued for divorce in the Superior court against her husband, James J. Phelan, 62 years old, 1534 East 65th place, a retired police sergeant. The bill, drawn by Attorney W. W. O'Brien, charges Phelan with cruelty, displayed, the wife alleges, when she refused to continue working. Mrs. Phelan declares that her husband's income on $70,000 is sufficient to provide for them and their son, Stephen, 15 years old. She asks that Phelan be enjoined from disposing of his holdings. The Phelans were married on April 26, 1898, and separated last July 26.

NEW EASY WAY TO RID LAWNS OF CRABGRASS

Many beautiful lawns have been all but ruined this summer by crabgrass, commonly called watergrass. This persistent annual is one of the worst lawn pests in the United States. If allowed to go unchecked, it will overrun and ruin any lawn.

Now You Can Stop Worrying About Crabgrass.

After running tests on more than a thousand Middle West lawns, Harry M. Ziegler, a plant nutrition specialist, has perfected a simple, easy, and inexpensive method of eradicating this pest from lawns. Mr. Ziegler has written a booklet, "How to Grow a Beautiful Lawn, and Attractive Trees and Shrubs," that tells how to rid lawns of crabgrass.

Through the courtesy of Mission Laboratories, Inc., 215T Walnut, Kansas City, Mo., a limited number of these valuable and interesting booklets will be sent free to home-owners. You should write for one today.

an Idea . . started the World's Largest Cooperative
Cab Company • • • •

TEN years ago a Chicagoan had a "hunch." He saw that the day was not far off when the Taxicab business would be a big business. And he further saw that this big, coming business should have a distinctive emblem of service.

So he devised the familiar and famous Checker design which you now see adorning Chicago's fleet of luxurious seven passenger cabs.

It served a further purpose in those rather rough and ready days of the Taxicab business. It was practically impossible to duplicate the Checker emblem as a "paint job." In those days, you know, "nighthawk" cabs were painted over-night to imitate the cabs owned by reputable companies.

From this original idea has grown the world's largest cooperative Cab Company. Its hundreds upon hundreds of stockholder-drivers offer you their individual units of a prosperous Chicago business—offer them to you for a safe, comfortable ride.

Watch for the Checker emblem. You'll find it on cars operated by individual business men who seek to give you much money's worth in every Checker ride you take.

RITCHIE ASKS U.S. TO TAKE ITS DRY HEEL OFF STATES

Enforce or Amend Law, He Tells Washington.

Nazareth, Pa., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland today appealed to the federal government to return to the states the powers the states once held.

He asked an end to the bureaucratic rule in Washington and for an end to the powers for legislation possessed by self appointed lobbyists for reform organizations.

Regarding prohibition, he said the federal government must either enforce it or amend the law so it can be enforced. The police power seized by the federal government should be restored to the states. Let them enforce the Volstead act or not enforce it, as the people of the individual states desire, he said. He added that the present law does not make state enforcement mandatory.

Sees Victory in Defeat.

"We have no end of comment on why the Democratic party lost the last election," he told the county Democratic meeting. "Al Smith went to defeat, yes; but in that defeat he achieved a great victory for the cause of democracy. I am convinced that millions of good men and women, who quite sincerely allowed themselves to be swayed by intolerance, misapprehensions or unworthy fears, are now asking themselves whether they were wise or foolish, and are conscious of the dangers involved in such political conduct.

Smith Debunks Politics.

"Smith did more to debunk politics than any other man of our time. He refused to be befuddled himself or to try to befuddle others with abstractions and theories and pious homilies.

"Nor does time permit a review of Republican mistakes of omission and commission during the past years, although I may say that two of the most conspicuous were disclosed to a startled country by the almost unaided efforts of two Democrats.

"The Republican administration burglarized our naval oil reserves, and it took a great Democrat, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, to get them back again. The election machinery will not again be debauched in this country, and that it will not is due more than anything else to the matchless energy of former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri.

Served Nation Well.

"By these two acts alone the Democratic party eight years out of power served the nation better than did the Republican party eight years in power.

"We must check the rise of the extraordinary social interest in the actual moral life and conduct of the individual which translates itself into sumptuary law, and the exploitation of this by the uplifters, who have made our government the most regulatory in the western world, outside of Russia and Italy.

"It is curious that this onslaught upon our liberties must be attributed more to the aspirations of virtue than to those of iniquity. Those behind these movements feel that if the constitution blocks their righteous efforts, it should be changed or get out of the way. As their objects are virtuous, to oppose their means or their methods is considered iniquitous. To talk of personal freedom is treason to the uplift.

Power Approaches Tyranny.

"The result, of course, has been to vest in the federal government a power that often approaches tyranny.

"All this involves the abuse of government instead of the use of government. Social reformers pin their faith on administrative and executive agencies as more direct and flexible to attain their ends than the law and justice administered by the courts.

"But in the age of money-getting and jazz, men become indifferent to what a government of law demands of them. And so, from the Anti-Saloon league, down or up to Corean relief societies, which extend right up to the federal government itself, are able to make the laws of the country. It makes one wonder where the goddess of Liberty is to find an abiding place.

"The question is whether state powers shall be supreme in the state sphere, or whether the federal government shall nullify them. The states are under no duty of any kind to supply enforcement machinery for the eighteenth amendment if their people elect not to do so. No reasoning prohibitionist has even attempted to answer that.

Insists It's Up to G. O. P.

"The eighteenth amendment is either enforceable or not enforceable. Certainly no sane person can say or think that it is being enforced. If it is possible to enforce it I charge the Republican party with direct responsibility for the failure.

"If, on the other hand, the eighteenth amendment cannot be enforced—which is my own conviction about it—then the thing to do is permit such states as may want the present system to continue to have it and protect them against interstate shipments which would contravene that policy, but do not let those states which do not want this system be clubbed by other states into taking it anyhow.

"Let such states settle the problem by the traditional doctrine of American democracy — self-determination and home rule.

"Nor do I want to see the industry of the nation become the victim of standardized bureaucracy, with all that means in cost and incompetence, or constantly look to Washington for aid and subsidies, and thus become not only overfavored but also overregulated and badgered by job creating and jurisdiction grabbing commissions and bureaus.

"I refuse to believe that the intelligence of the country cannot see that business prosperity must rest on a sounder basis than political favoritism or inspired guidance from Washington."

Boy, 2 1-2, Swallows Screw; Will Undergo Operation

Leonard, the 2½ year old son of Allan T. Gilbert, Chicago attorney, was in the Presbyterian hospital yesterday awaiting an operation tomorrow to remove a small screw from his bronchial tube. The boy is believed to have swallowed the screw ten days ago while playing with toys at his home at 240 Leicester road, Kenilworth, but members of the family did not notice it until last Wednesday when he experienced difficulty in breathing.

JEWS PRAY AGAIN AT WAILING WALL UNDER ARAB GUNS

Sabbaths of Both Faiths Pass Quietly.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Sept. 7.—Numerous Jews today walked unmolested through the narrow streets of the Arab quarter to the tragic wailing wall, where prayers and lamentations were expressed under the protection of seven armed Arab policemen.

The passing of the Moslem Sabbath yesterday and the Jewish Sabbath today without incident is regarded in government circles as definitely assuring the security of the country until some modus vivendi between the Jews and the Arabs is agreed to. This is hoped for after the neutral commission of inquiry reports on the recent massacres in a month or so.

Arabs Warned of Trouble.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent today attended a luncheon with the secretary of the Arab executive committee, given by Arab newspapermen, all of whom expressed astonishment that the Jews were surprised at the recent incidents.

"We, as well as the Jews, knew that the situation was delicate and that trouble was bound to break out at any time," the secretary said. "The government was warned that increased security was necessary. Although we deplore the massacres, realizing that they are turning the world's sympathy against the Arabs, it should not be astonishing if the Arabs were driven to kill the people who openly declare and boast that they are taking home and livelihood from the Arab.

"The Arab intellectuals do not blame the Jews. They were brought here on the promises of great power. It is up to that power to furnish security."

Jewish Leader Charged with Murder.

Samuel Broze, 55, one of the oldest and most prominent of the colonists and recognized as chief of the Jewish colony of Motza, today was released on bail of $2,500. He is charged with murder during the Arab attack against Motza, in which his entire family of six was butchered and his property, the biggest estate in the city, including the tanning factory, was entirely destroyed. Mr. Broze is known throughout the country as a respectable farmer, having lived here for 40 years.

All the leading Jewish organizations intervened and he was admitted to bail only after pressure had been brought to bear on the high commissioner. The Jews protested the denial by the government of the privilege of self defense on the part of the victim at a time when the government was unable to furnish the promised security.

The government today issued a communique asking all the victims of vandalism to present their claims, which will be compensated by a collective tax imposed on the Arab communities where the outrages were committed.

Charge Officials Aided Massacres.

The Jewish council has presented to Sir John Chancellor, high commissioner for Palestine, a long statement reciting the grievances of the Jews in connection with the rioting of the Arabs. The Jews indirectly charge that the government officers not only neglected their duty in preventing the massacres but were actually in connivance with the attacking parties.

The statement points out that systematic propaganda has been going on for some time urging attacks on the Jews, and the conviction is expressed that "in government quarters there are forces interested in propaganda for the creation of disputes between the two peoples in Palestine."

British Withdraw Troops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The colonial office here tonight issued the following statement:

"The situation in Palestine is reported quiet in all districts. It has been possible to withdraw some of the outlying detachments of troops but the disaffected areas are being patrolled. Forces of police, supplemented by troops, have been successful in recovering a certain amount of looted property."

Peace Congress Urged for 1933 World's Fair

Recalling that the fifth Universal Peace congress was a feature of the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, suggestions have been received by Rufus Dawes, president of the 1933 century of progress exposition, that Chicago should again hold an international peace conference four years hence. Letters from United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, Representative Carl R. Chindblom, and Dr. Arthur D. Call, secretary of the American Peace society, have advised another such congress as a contribution to the "peace thought of the world."

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Earpiece No Bigger Than Dime Was Enthusiastic Following Ten-Day Free Trial Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing-aids, the Dictograph Products Co., Inc., Dept. 508-M, 180 North Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no bigger than a dime. Through this device sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to subnormal ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial of 10 days to any person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. COP RECOVERS HIS STOLEN GUN AFTER 5 YEARS

Policeman Thomas J. Ryan of the North Robey street station yesterday recovered a revolver stolen from the pocket of his trousers as they hung upon a clothes line in his yard more than five years ago.

The weapon was returned to him by Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen in Boys' court, when James Calvra, 18 years old, and Louis Carro, both of 456 North Peoria street, were arraigned on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The two boys were arrested a week ago when they were found guarding their fruit peddling truck with the gun.

Calvra said he stole the gun from his uncle who is now dead. He was sentenced to three months in the Bridewell and fined $100. Carro was dismissed.

BURGLARS ROB SAFE OF $200.

Burglars robbed the safe of A. Graziano & Sons Co., 102 South Water Market, yesterday of $200. They tampered with the safe of the Joseph F. Barnieri company, commission merchants in the same building, but failed to open it.

SEA POWER AND AMERICAN PROSPERITY.

The noteworthy optimism of the British prime minister's address before the League assembly, Mr. Wales reports from Paris, is not warmly received by the French press, and this reaction is for us not astonishing. The British are in the comfortable position of possessing the greatest naval power and any failure to meet its terms will, except as to possible though not probable results in the United States, leave them in this satisfactory position. As far as the United States is concerned, the tendency of negotiation for reduction and limitation has been all in favor of a perpetuated naval primacy for the British. From the sacrifice of our building program at Washington in 1921 there has been a steadily decreasing probability of our attaining a naval strength sufficient to take the first place from England. We have accepted the formula of parity, but even though it were attained in the heavier categories, limitation of professional fighting craft inevitably increases the importance of improvised fighting material—that is, of fast armed merchant ships, of which the British have many and we very few.

And this is only one of the conditions which are favorable to Great Britain in the negotiations with us. Our development for generations has been on land and we are no longer sea minded. Our public opinion is indifferent to our practical international responsibilities and opportunities and the force of inertia, the reluctance to spend money on what has not been realized as a vital national interest, and the organized propaganda of pacifism and doctrinaire internationalism, all work against the vigorous development of our sea power.

Our greatest weakness is England's greatest strength in this negotiation. This weakness is ignorance of the relation of adequate naval power to national prosperity. We have prospered without naval power and we assume that it is of small value to us. If we have a navy which we think is strong enough to prevent invasion we are satisfied. We do not yet realize that war against our commerce would be a national misfortune of the gravest character, a misfortune which would strike deeply at our prosperity and be felt by every American. We need not be engaged as combatants in a war to suffer its blight. We may be declared neutrals yet if we are not strong enough to secure our rights upon the high seas we are little better off and may in fact be worse off than if we were engaged.

The British people know their own history and from it they have learned that the British empire and the vast edifice of British wealth grew up under the shield of British naval power. We have ignored our own earlier history and forgotten what our forefathers suffered in the infancy of the nation. But the time is coming, in fact has come, whether we know it or not, when we must realize the importance to our people and their prosperity of a naval power commensurate with our expanding external commerce and our world wide interests. We have no hereditary aristocratic class to support a policy of strength in the name of national honor. Our policy must find its footing in practical expediency, but if we do not know what is at stake we shall not have a policy. What we need is an informed perception of the vital relation of sea power to our national development, to the defense of our rights, to the protection and encouragement of our commerce.

The reduction of our naval expenditures and the limitation of our naval development without regard to experience or the just conservation of our expanding world interests would be a tragic blunder without compensation. We are in danger of committing this blunder. The whole pressure of propaganda and, so far as it has been revealed, of British negotiation has been for the weakening of our naval strength and the relative strengthening of the British position. We have no hostile sentiment toward the British people. We do not think it likely that we shall be obliged to make war upon them. But no one who has any regard for past experience can doubt that we have need to be strong if our rights and rapidly expanding interests are to be respected by our competitors in world affairs.

CONTEMPORARY MINSTRELSY.

State songs, which used to be about the surest thing in the song business, seem to have lost their appeal. The entire English-speaking world which used to sing about its intention of returning at its earliest convenience to the home of its childhood in Tennessee, Virginia, and Indiana, no longer does so. Why the popular taste has changed we do not know but we do not doubt that the change has taken place. The last two state songs to come to our attention had all the elements of success to be found in the earlier works and much the same musical content, yet they lacked even the local popularity which might have been expected.

We have interviewed several South Dakotans who have assured us that they are not familiar with the song of a few months ago, the chorus of which began, if memory serves us faithfully:

I want to go to
South Dakota;
That's the only place for me.
I want to be there,
I want to see there,
All the folks I used to see.

The intervening lines have slipped from memory, but the conclusion was particularly able and ten or even five years ago would have assured popularity. The song rose to its conclusion as follows:

I'll write a note to
South Dakota;
Tell them I will be there soon.
I'm in the quota
For South Dakota,
Underneath the silv'ry moon.

The failure of that song is scarcely less remarkable than the contemporaneous failure of that other which began:

District of Columbia, I love you.
You're the only place for me;
You're the home of the White House,
The Big Right-Is-Might house,
My country, 'tis of thee.

It is plain that even the richest veins of ore can be exhausted. The time has come, as it were, to open a new shaft into the beating heart of mankind. New subjects must be found. In their search, the song writers will explore the loyalties and affections, for, as has been said, the lyric poet must deal with emotions which, though strongly felt, defy analysis. The heart, longing to express itself but having little, indeed, to say, finds relief in lyric rapture. It is doubly unfortunate for the song writers that just at the moment when state songs are through, Dr. Freud has all but ruined the mother theme. A Freudian Mammy song must be regarded as contradiction in terms not because there might not be a Freudian Mammy but only that there cannot be a Freudian song.

Fortunately for the lyricists, a new set of emotional loyalties deeply felt, but with little intellectual content, has arisen in recent months. We refer to the common stocks and the convertible preferreds. Their resemblance to states and mothers is instantly apparent. Every one has them or had them. but why they were acquired is a question only the fewest can answer. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of men and women all over this country thrill to the mere names. U. S. Steel evokes a flood of aspirations, longings, and fears. In the letters A. T. & T. are woven the dream of a peaceful old age in a vine clad cottage. Anaconda is the promise of an early and happy marriage. And so on. The field is rich and ripe. We look forward to a whole new song bag, containing such items as one beginning:

A. T. & T. is the stock for me and concluding:

When as and if issued
Is when you'd have wished you'd Bought A. T. & T.

The old moon, spoon, croon rhyme will be replaced by the lend, spend, dividend series and we shall be asked in song after song—

Shall you
Ignore the book value?

and importuned:

Don't fret about tomorrow
Just borrow, borrow, borrow!

The world is changing. There are new loyalties and new emotions. They must be celebrated, like the old ones, in song. Our minstrels have never yet failed us and we do not believe they will fail us now:

THE POCKETBOOK NUISANCE.

An annoyance with which the country is universally irritated is the persistence of the old currency. Two months after the smaller sized bills, or the farmer's dollar, so called, were first circulated, most bill folds contain as many of the old dollars as the new. A number of instances have been brought to our attention of the farmer's dollars having been passed across the counter concealed by the larger money. Whether there has been any substantial loss through such mistakes the confusion is a thorough nuisance.

The failure to remove the old currency more completely from circulation and replace it with the new is not a tribute to the management of the treasury. Of course, old bills may turn up occasionally, even for a number of years, but the necessity for banks to reissue the old money seems inexcusable. The country's requirements of currency can be determined accurately. Therefore the inadequacy of the present process of circulation would indicate that the new money either was issued prematurely or that it was issued without a proper estimate of probable conditions.

DEATH IN THE STREET.

[New York World.]

The federal census bureau issues a report of automobile deaths in seventy-eight large cities having a total population of 32,383,000. In comparison with 1928 the figures are most disheartening.

There comes every winter—this year it was in March—a time when, for climatic reasons chiefly, automobile deaths touch a low level. But from mid-April to mid-July this year the death rate per 100,000 of population in these cities ran far ahead of 1928. For the four weeks ended July 13 the deaths were 635, against 523 in the corresponding period last year. In New York City the four weeks ended July 13 showed 96 deaths, against 76 in 1928.

For the fifty-two weeks ended July 13 the comparison is equally discouraging. The seventy-eight cities together report 7,911 deaths, and 7,177 in 1928—a 24 per 100,000 rate, against a 21.9 rate. In a single year the rate had risen 10 per cent. For the same fifty-two weeks the New York deaths were 1,131, against 1,091 in the preceding year. The increase so reckoned is not so disquieting, but it is evident from the figures for May, June, and July that the calendar year will make a much worse showing. We are not conquering the automobile peril. It is swiftly growing worse.

A LETTER FROM PETER

PETER, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the elect who are sojourners of the dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ.

Grace to you and peace be multiplied. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to his great mercy begat us again unto a living hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, unto an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who by the power of God are guarded through faith unto a salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a little while, if need be, ye have been put to grief in manifold trials, that the proof of your faith, being more precious than gold that perisheth though it is proved by fire, may be found unto praise and glory and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ, whom, not having seen, ye love; on whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice greatly with joy unspeakable and full of glory: receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls. Concerning which salvation the prophets sought and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you; searching what time or what manner of time the spirit of Christ which was in them did point unto, when it testified beforehand that sufferings of Christ and the glories that should follow them. To whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto you, did they minister these things, which now have been announced unto you through them that preached the gospel unto you by the holy spirit sent forth from heaven; which things angels desire to look into.

Wherefore, girding up the loins of your mind, be sober and set your hope perfectly on the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ, as children of obedience, not fashioning yourselves according to your former lusts in the time of your ignorance, but like as he who called you is holy, be ye yourselves also holy in all manner of living, because it is written: "Ye shall be holy; for I am holy." And if ye call on him as father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to each man's work, pass the time of your sojourning in fear, knowing that ye were redeemed, not with corruptible things, with silver or gold from your vain manner of life handed down from your fathers, but with precious blood as of a lamb without blemish and without spot, even the blood of Christ, who was foreknown indeed before the foundation of the world, but was manifested at the end of the times for your sake, who through him are believers in God that raised him from the dead and gave him glory so that your faith and hope might be in God.

Seeing ye have purified your souls in your obedience to the truth unto unfeigned love of the brethren, love one another from the heart fervently, having been begotten again, not of corruptible seeds but of incorruptible through the word of God which liveth and abideth. For:

"All flesh is as grass,
And all the glory thereof as the flower of grass.
The grass withereth, and the flower falleth,
But the word of the Lord abideth forever."

And this is the word of good tidings which was preached unto you.

Putting away therefore all wickedness and all guile and hypocrisies and envies and all evil speakings as newborn babes long for the spiritual milk which is without guile that ye may grow thereby unto salvation; if ye have tasted that, the Lord is gracious; unto whom coming, a living stone, rejected indeed of men, but with God elect, precious, ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. Because it is contained in Scripture—

"Behold, I lay in Zion a chief corner stone, elect, precious,
And he that believeth on him shall not be put to shame.
For you therefore that believe is the preciousness, but for such as disbelieve,
The stone which the builders rejected,
The same was made the head of the corner," and,

"A stone of stumbling and a rock of offense"; for they stumble at the word, being disobedient, whereunto also they were appointed. But ye are an elect race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for God's own possession, that ye may show forth the excellencies of him who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light, who in time past were no people, but now are the people of God, who had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

Beloved, I beseech you as sojourners and pilgrims, to abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul, having your behavior seemly among the Gentiles, that, wherein they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.

Be subject to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether to the king, as supreme, or unto governors, as sent by him for vengeance on evildoers and for praise to them that do well. For so is the will of God, that by welldoing ye should put to silence the ignorance of foolish men; as free, and not using your freedom for a cloak of wickedness, but as bond servants of God. Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.

Servants, be in subjections to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward. For this is acceptable, if conscience toward God a man endureth griefs, suffering wrongfully. For what glory is it if, when ye sin, and are buffeted for it, ye shall take it patiently? But if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye shall take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. For hereunto were ye called, because Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that ye should follow his steps; who did not sin, neither was guile found in his mouth; who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, threatened not, but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously; who his own self bore our sins in his body upon the tree, that we, having died unto sins, might live unto righteousness; by whose stripes ye were healed. For ye were going astray like sheep but are now returned unto the shepherd and bishop of your souls.

PATRIOTIC SONGS

THE VACANT CHAIR.

By George F. Root.

We shall meet, but we shall miss him,
There will be one vacant chair;
We shall linger to caress him,
While we breathe our evening prayer.
When a year ago we gathered,
Joy was in his mild blue eye,
But a golden cord is severed
And our hopes in ruin lie.

CHORUS:
We shall meet, but we shall miss him,
There will be one vacant chair;
We shall linger to caress him
When we breathe our evening prayer.

At our fireside, sad and lonely,
Often will the bosom swell
At remembrance of the story
How our noble Willie fell.
How he strove to bear our banner
Thro' the thickest of the fight,
And uphold our country's honor
In the strength of manhood's might.

CHEESE GOOD FOR YOU.

W. D. P. writes: Won't you discuss cheese as an article of diet?

Cheese is a staple food and one that is entitled to more popularity than it enjoys. It is commonly eaten as an accessory to a meal. A piece of cheese is supplied with pie or a cheese is served with coffee, or a bit of cheese is one of the hors d'oeuvres. As an appetizer it may be served with a cocktail. The proper place for cheese is as the backbone of the meal, occupying the place on the bill of fare commonly occupied by meat. It is a protein food and can be used to alternate with fish, eggs and meat as the principal source of protein supply of the meal. It belongs with bread just as meat does, the one being the standard source of protein, the bread the standard source of carbohydrate. Since the ash which results from eating cheese is alkaline or feebly acid, while that from meat and eggs is more strongly so, we seldom find cheese and potatoes eaten together, as is the case with meat. Potatoes supply an alkaline ash, and somehow instinct has caused man not to eat these two sources of alkali and near-alkali ash in combination.

There are at least two common beliefs that are erroneous. One is that cheese is constipating. The only basis for this is that cheese contains no indigestible fiber or stringy substances. It leaves but little residue. If bulky foods are eaten with it this defect is compensated for. The Italian knows what he is about when he adds cheese to oil and pours it over cabbage and lettuce and other bulky vegetables. Incidentally, he is also right for another reason when he mixes cheese and pastry to make spaghetti.

Another of the beliefs for which there is no basis is the one which holds cheese to be indigestible. It is possible that a dense, toasted cheese sandwich, swallowed without being chewed to bits, may be indigestible. A rarebit eaten late at night on occasions when all the rules of hygiene are being violated may be the forerunner of indigestion. But why charge these mishaps to the cheese? On the other hand, do we not say we eat cheese with pie to aid in the digestion of the latter?

However, there are many variations in the cheese motif. Most people find cottage cheese and curd very digestible. No foods are more so. It is a far cry from simple cottage cheese to highly salted Gorgonzola, to aromatic Camembert or to differently aromatic Limburger. It is quite likely that some of the flavors developed in different cheeses may not appeal to the taste of some people. But that does not bear on the general question of the digestibility of cheese.

Cheese is a wholesome, highly nutritious food and deserves a prominent place on our dietary.

MANY KINDS OF MENINGITIS.

J. S. writes:

1. Is there more than one kind of spinal meningitis?

2. If there is a contagious kind, how is it spread?

3. How is the disease diagnosed?

REPLY:

1. Yes. There are several. The epidemic or contagious variety is caused by infection with the meningococcus.

2. It is spread by the secretions of the nose and mouth. Most of the people who are exposed become infected by this coccus. Most of those so infected become carriers. The coccus is found in the nose secretions but the person is not made sick thereby. Carriers have more to do with spreading cases than sick ones do.

A person with meningitis must be isolated. The number of people entering the sickroom must be reduced to a minimum. The nasal and mouth secretions of the sick person must be destroyed. Susceptible persons must not come in contact with cases of meningitis or with any one who has been exposed.

Meningitis is especially prevalent in cold, wet weather and among young men and women living in dormitories, camps, and crowded wards and halls. In an epidemic season crowding should be avoided. Especially is this true of crowding in sleeping places.

3. By fever, headache, pains in the muscles, tenderness on being held, crossing of eyes and other symptoms.

KEEP UP LOCAL TREATMENT.

Mrs. R. A. L. writes: My husband dislocated his left shoulder about six weeks ago and he finds that from his elbow up his left arm feels useless. What is best to get back strength? He has been under a doctor's care and has had it x-rayed, but the arm does not seem to improve.

REPLY:

Complete recovery after dislocation of a shoulder requires time. Let him keep up massage, local treatment and use.

SUPT. SAYS ALLEY IS O. K.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—The alley back of my house is being filled from one to one and a half feet above street level. When it rains all the water fills our yards. What can be done about this? W. B.

Report is made that alley is unimproved but in good condition. Whatever filling was put in has been a decided benefit to which no objection should be made.

DIVORCE ADVISABLE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have not seen or heard from my husband since we separated eight years ago in Michigan. Can I remarry in any state in the Union without a divorce? How long must a person be missing before he is declared legally dead? M. F.

1. We would advise against it. 2. A person is ordinarily presumed dead after seven years' absence, but we would advise against marrying on such presumption.

FOREIGN LOAD ON METER.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—[Friend of the People.]—Recently I discovered that in some manner unknown to me, another party in my building had connections with my electric light meter. It seems that I have been paying the bill of the other tenant along with mine. Can you advise what to do? H. K.

Regarding foreign load connected to your meter, we are conducting an investigation of this matter and will advise you accordingly as promptly as possible. W. J. BALMER,

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 8, 1864.

LANCASTER, Pa.—Thad Stevens was renominated for congress by acclamation at the Union Republican convention.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of War Stanton announced that it is supposed to be the intention of Gen. Sherman, who recently captured Atlanta, to withdraw his advance columns, give his army a rest in that city, and restore his communications destroyed by Wheeler and Forrest before advancing.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Copperhead convention nominated M. D. McHenry for congress. Kasson will beat the old man worse than he did Finch two years ago.

NEW YORK. — A Tribune special says that the rebels appeared in full force on Sheridan's front at Berryville in the Shenandoah valley and a battle is impending. All Sheridan's superfluous materials, trains, etc., have been sent to the rear. Sheridan's entire army is engaged in building rifle pits.

CHICAGO.—The executive committee of the Christian commission, composed of J. V. Farwell, chairman; S. P. Farrington, treasurer; B. F. Jacobs, secretary; J. L. Reynolds, D. L. Moody and P. L. Underwood, issued an appeal that on next Sunday, the day fixed by President Lincoln as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer because of recent victories of our armies, contributions be taken in all churches for the benefit of Union soldiers in hospitals and rebel prisons.

SEPTEMBER 8, 1899.

CAPE TOWN. — The Boers, it is stated, positively are concentrating on the border. The list of British troops destined for service in South Africa in case of war includes 50,000 men. The Transvaal government demanded an explanation of the massing of British troops on the border. It was announced at Bloemfontain that the Boer artillery had been called out. The Boers of Utrecht and Vryheid have been called to the high veldt.

LONDON.—Seven regiments of British troops in India were notified to be ready to embark at short notice for South Africa. Eight brigades are to go from England. All regiments will be brought up to their full establishment by summoning reservists.

RENNES.—The refusal of the Dreyfus court martial to receive the evidance of foreign military attachés was a crushing blow to Capt. Dreyfus' friends. The testimony is all in and a verdict is expected shortly.

CHICAGO.—Will Smith of the Midlothian Country club won the open golf championship of the west, playing against Lawrence Auchterlonie of the Glen View Golf and Polo club, undoubtedly one of the cleverest exponents of the game in this country. Smith won a victory by 10 strokes. His score was 74 for 18 holes.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 8, 1919.

NEW YORK.—Amid the booming of guns the U. S. S. Leviathan, with Gen. John J. Pershing aboard, docked at Hoboken a few minutes before 8 o'clock this morning. For several hours before that the ship had been met with a veritable barrage of welcomes by radio. A naval escort of six destroyers came in with the Leviathan. Gen. Pershing has been abroad exactly 27 months.

ROME.—The pope has decided to hold a consistory in November or December at which new cardinals will be named. In Vatican circles it is stated that if any Americans will be included in the honor list the prelates most likely to receive the red hats are Archbishop George W. Mundelein of Chicago and Archbishop Dennis J. Dougherty of Philadelphia.

LONDON.—Admiral Baron Beresford, Nestor of England's navy, died of apoplexy while on a visit to the duke of Portland in Scotland. He was 75 years old. He was a strong exponent of the idea that naval strength is the only security for peace.

CHICAGO.—The funeral of Mrs. Doletta Jane Roler, widow of Dr. E. O. F. Roler, for 40 years a practicing physician of Chicago, who died at her Evanston home, will be held today. She was 72 years old and the oldest active member of the Chicago Woman's club.

HIGH WATER IN THE ILLINOIS.

Henry, Ill., Aug. 25.—Has Chicago a disposal plant? If so, it must be filled up and broke. Never in history has the Illinois river been so rotten as in the last few days. People could hardly stand the stench a mile away.

I do not believe the people along the Illinois will stand for the sanitary district's filth much longer, nor will the property owners stand for the high water which Chicago causes.

If the people of Chicago really knew of conditions down the river I believe they would take action.

Does the sanitary district propose to lower the great lakes three feet through the Illinois? I believe a small army of angry people will attempt to shut the water off if conditions do not change.

FRED A. FORD.

TARDY JUDGE.

Chicago, Aug 28.—Last Thursday I and about fifty others waited in the courtroom of Judge Klarkowswi, hearing emergency matters in the Circuit court, half an hour for his appearance. He came in twenty-seven minutes late, with no excuse or apology.

I have investigated and find that this tardiness is habitual with him. Such repeated tardiness is inexcusable and an imposition upon the rights of the lawyers and litigants. He isn't the only one.

JOHN B. SYNNESTVEDT.

SOLVING THE TRACTION PROBLEM.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—My young lady friend, who is profoundly thoughtful at times, proposed this remarkable new idea to me, and I in turn submit it to the young men of Chicago. Our new idea can be called walking dates.

If you and the girl friend work in the loop or any place which is a reasonably short distance from her home, you will find it surprisingly simple to persuade her to walk home. The young lady's advantage is that walking is one of the most effective means of reducing. Your advantage would lie in the fact that it is extremely inexpensive. While the advantage equally enjoyed would be the length of time spent in each other's company. CHARLES DOSSY.

COMMUNIST LYRIC.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Your persistent, venomous, lying hatred of red Russia its an unclean thing; it fouls your soul, if you have one. But I hardly believe that you have done any harm to the communist government of U. S. S. R.

It is moving in the deep and broad stream of social evolution; it is moving and it will move, slowly or swiftly, in sorrow and travail at times, burdened by its own blunders and by imperialist hate and intrigue. At other times it will move majestically in the sunlight to the music of glad shoutings and trumpetings. And I hardly think that a voice, however powerful, crying in the wilderness of Chicago, can swerve it one hair's breadth from its course.

J. LUCAS.

CONNECTING THE I. C. AND NORTH WESTERN.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—There is talk of connecting the Illinois Central and the Chicago and North Western railroads by means of tracks for the benefit of commuters. How would it be to connect the two by means of some sort of a bus system while they are waiting for the tracks? C. J. BUTLER.

CLASS STREETS.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—If the men at the head of your company drove over all of the streets of Chicago day after day I do not believe you would be so enthusiastic over the spending of $111,000,000 for three superhighways on the west side.

I believe that less than 5 per cent of our city streets are fit to drive on. The other 95 per cent are deplorable. The boulevards are in pretty good shape; that's where our men of wealth and politicians do their driving, but salesmen, delivery men, and trucks have to drive on the other streets. The holes, ruts, and bumps in our pavements are the ruination of our cars. I don't believe any city in the country is in as terrible a shape as Chicago for street pavements.

If the $111,000,000 proposed for the three west side highways were spent on repairing, resurfacing and replacing pavement all over the city there would not be so much congestion on our main drives and main business streets, because it would then be possible for all kinds of traffic to drive on other streets with safety and comfort.

Instead of spending millions on widening a few streets, the same object could be obtained by having good pavements on popular streets, which could be cut through with much less expense than paid for widening of Ashland, Western avenue, etc.

It is also unreasonable to build three superhighways on the west side when the north side has only one outlet, which is always congested.

E. R. HARTSUCK.

SMOKING MANNERS.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—What is to become of the people who do not smoke these days? Are they to be denied the pleasure of attending opera, concerts, dinners, and other kinds of amusement when men and women smoke? Is not the person to whom smoke is offensive entitled to any consideration? Is not their money wanted as much as the smokers' money? If so, then their rights should be recognized and respected. Last Saturday night we attended the opera at Ravinia. When the lights came on after the first act we were looking through a haze of smoke. Those around us suffering with hay fever had to cover their mouths and noses to keep from inhaling the smoke. Let us go back to the time when ladies' rights were respected and observed in this matter. X. Y. Z.

ILLUMINATION.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—I have noticed that the Tribune Tower is not illuminated any more and wonder what the reason for it may be. The brief illumination of your building was pleasing and on my recent trips to the loop in the evening I have found the building unadorned. Can it be that THE TRIBUNE is now depending on the Wrigley Buildings to throw enough reflection to illuminate its building?

JOHN J. STANLEY

SMOKE OFFENDER.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The C. B. & Q. engineer on engine No. 5212 at 4 p. m., Aug. 29, went through Lawndale sending vast clouds of black smoke to deluge our homes. A. L. GARLICK.

EXAGGERATION

Exaggerated statements offend against truth and gives a mean idea of one's understanding.

Undue praise arouses lively curiosity—creates desire.

If, afterwards, the value does not correspond to the price—as often happens—expectation revolts, and has a measure of revenge by under-estimating the thing recommended and the firm recommending.

Prudence prefers to err by omission rather than commission.

'Tis true rare things are valuable, but extraordinary things are rare. Therefore, most things being ordinary, moderation in statement is wise.

Exaggeration is a branch of lying. One loses by it, not only credit for good taste, but also good sense, which is the more important.

BABIES BASK IN SHADY RETREAT AT ALGONQUIN

Hot Weather Swells Ice Fund to $3,633.

Babies are having their say at Camp Algonquin, now that their older brothers and sisters are back in school in the city. During the last two weeks of the camp, interest centers on tiny ones who play or sleep the hours away in their white cribs on the shady porches of the large nursey.

"The nursery has just sent home a part of its largest group of baby boarders of the summer," explained Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent, yesterday. "Last week our list totalled 27. We have some babies only two months old. They sleep most of the time because it is cool and pleasant in the nursery, and they are fed and bathed regularly. Then there is the next size—those who can sit up and play."

Babes of All Races.

The nursery is a cosmopolitan place. Complying with the camp's purpose of serving every race or creed, one finds cribs containing happy Mexican babies, Negro babies, and white babies of every nationality. The older ones learn to feed themselves and to be generous with their toys.

Among the gifts received at the camp this summer were consignments at regular intervals of Ovaltine, to be used by mothers and children of the Algonquin and Harlowarden sections. About 350 pounds was donated through C. R. Jenkins of Wauder & Co., 180 North Michigan avenue.

Ice Fund Gains $93.

Augmented by the hot weather of this last week, contributions flowed into THE TRIBUNE free ice fund from many a thoughtful giver. Following are acknowledgements:

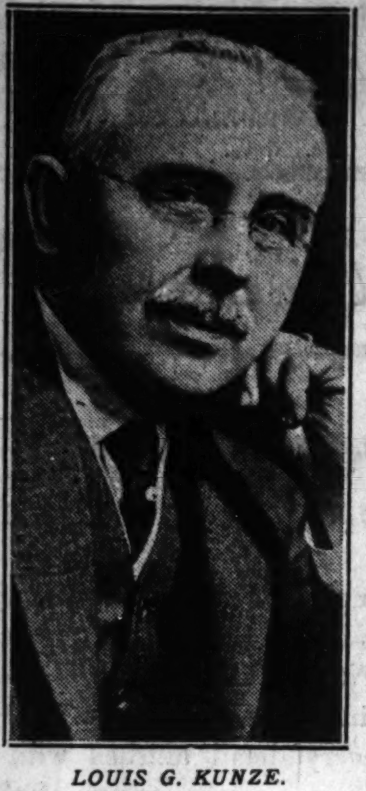
"Ice Box" Hay Fever Cure May Lead to Pneumonia

La Salle, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The next time William Hyatt of Oglesby tries a new cure for hay fever he'll be more careful about it. Friends advised him that he could rid himself of the obnoxious ailment if he would spend the day in a refrigerator. He went to the La Salle ice plant yesterday and obtained permission to try the cure. He was removed from the ice box last night in a serious condition with probability of contracting pneumonia.

TAKEN BY DEATH



LOUIS G. KUNZE.
[Morrison Photo.]

Louis G. Kunze, founder of the fancy fruit and grocery house which bears his name, died Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the Chicago Memorial hospital after a protracted illness. Pioneering in the retail fancy fruit and grocery business fifty years ago, he lived to see the institution become widely known. He retired from active connection with his business about 10 years ago.

He was active in Masonic and Shrine circles and in civic affairs.

A widow and two brothers survive. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from 639 Sheridan road, with interment at Rosehill cemetery. Services will be held at the cemetery at 3 p. m.

RUSSIANS SEIZE 6 CHINESE SHIPS AND MASS TROOPS

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7.—Six more Chinese ships have been seized by Russians on the Sungari and Ussuri rivers and passengers, crews and mails detained. The Russians have completed three bridges over the Aihui river, a tributary of the Amur river, and strong cavalry forces are holding both ends. Troops are massing on the Russian side, apparently preparing for an incursion into Heilungkiang.

Both sides continue to accuse their opponents of raids over the border and both deny the accusations. The weeks of bickering through the mediation of Berlin apparently have been fruitless. Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese foreign minister, declared today that the negotiations were stationary but that an agreement was possible "if Russia displays more sincerity and agrees to China's terms."

The ministry of communication has ordered Chinese shipping companies to discharge all Russian employés regardless of their politics. The continuation of the deadlock is rapidly reducing north Manchuria, hitherto one of the most prosperous districts of China, to a state of commercial stagnation threatening bankruptcy, like conditions in most districts south of the Great Wall.

Four Hurt in Blast That Destroys $50,000 Yacht

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Four men were hurt, three seriously, today in an explosion aboard a 47 foot speed boat in Long Island sound, off City island.

The boat, valued at $50,000 and owned by David Wood of Garden City, was destroyed. Wood was among the four who were injured.

The explosion occurred as the speed boat was taking on fuel from a gasoline barge moored in the sound.

ITALY HARNESSES WATER POWER TO PUSH GRAIN CROP

"Bread for All Italians" Is New Farm Slogan.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 7.—Wide extension of Italy's cheap waterpower to farming, especially plowing, was decided upon last night by the Fascist grain commission in conference at Forli. The purpose of using electricity, particularly for plowing, is to give greater power. It will plow deeper and turn up rich virgin soil underneath the present layer, which has been worn out by centuries of cultivation.

The Italian method of plowing electrically is to run a wire carrying juice to stationary motors. The motors are equipped with drums operating cables, which drag the plows back and forth across the fields.

"Bread for All Italy" Is Slogan.

Electrification is the newest phase of the great Fascist movement to make Italy eventually produce all the grain needed for its own use. The slogan is, "Bread for all the Italians." Progress towards this goal took a sensational jump this year, the crop being more than 14 per cent bigger than last year, according to announcement of the grain commission.

Flushed by this success the commission has now made up its mind to supplement its intensive propaganda for better seed grain, more and better fertilizer, wise rotation of crops, pure bred stock, and all other items in scientific farming by supplanting the horse or tractor with electricity.

Appropriations were also voted yesterday for the various phases of encouragement for more bushels, the movement including agricultural schools, experiment farms and last, but no least extension of government movies, which have been showing the farmers how to raise more grain per acre.

Price of Grain Fixed.

While the job of producing more grain is going forward with great strides, the problem of keeping the price from slumping and nullifying the financial gains to the farmers on increased production, is something else again. The Forli conference decided last night to fix the prices of grains to assure reasonable profits to the farmer, but did not go into details.

Father Faustin Hack Dies in Texas; Rites Wednesday

The Rev. Father Faustin E. Hack, O. F. M., for ten years connected with the Franciscan Herald, monthly publication of the Franciscan Fathers, died in San Antonio, Tex., on Friday. This was learned here yesterday. He had been ill for more than a year. Father Hack was ordained 19 years ago and spent the early part of his service in parochial work in Illinois, Missouri, Michigan and Minnesota. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 10 a. m. in St. Augustine's church, 51st and Laflin streets.

Mrs. R. T. Warner, Chicago Teacher, Dies in East

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rhue Thomas Warner, 33 years old, 935 East 81st street, Chicago, died yesterday at the Stamford hospital following an operation. Mrs. Warner was a graduate of the Illinois State Normal college and was widely known for a system of teaching geography which she introduced in the intermediate grades of Horace Mann school, Chicago. She was visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Anderson Warner of Southfield Point, Stamford, when she was stricken.

Song Writer Dies

F. E. WEATHERLY.

BATH, England, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Frederic Edward Weatherly, whose songs are sung the world over, died at his home here today after a short illness. He was 81 years old, having celebrated his jubilee as a song writer in December, 1919. His successes included: "Nancy Lee," "Darby and Joan," "Beauty Eyes," "Bid Me Goodby," "London Bridge," "Danny Boy," "Rose of Picardy," "The Holy City," and "Ships of My Dreams."

MISSOURI GROUP SEES WISCONSIN'S MODEL DAIRIES

A party of 80 farmers and business men from Marshall and Saline counties, Missouri, passed through Chicago yesterday on their way home from a tour of model dairy farms in Lincoln county, Wis.

The trip was arranged to give impetus to dairying in Missouri and southern Illinois, explained S. G. Lutz, vice president of the Chicago & Alton railway, under whose auspices the study of Wisconsin's successful dairymen was made. He told the group of Missourians at the Union station that a recent survey by the railroad's agricultural promotion department disclosed that marketing conditions in Illinois and Missouri favored dairying if it could be given intensive effort by farmers as is now the case in Wisconsin.

"The Illinois and Missouri farmer has not reached the high state of efficiency of many Wisconsin dairymen," said Mr. Lutz, "largely because no concerted effort has been made to show him the advantages of dairy farming on an intensive scale."

FLORENCE HUGHES IS RE-ELECTED CAMPFIRE GIRLS' BOARD HEAD

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Miss Florence Hughes of New York today was reëlected chairman of the National Campfire Girls' board of directors for the third time, at the executive meeting which closed the conference here.

Professor Jay B. Nash, also of New York, was named second vice president and Prof. Joseph B. Raycroft of Princeton university was named third vice president. A new treasurer, Dr. Myron T. Scudder of New York, was elected. Lester F. Scott of New York was renamed secretary. The first vice presidential vacancy will be filled by the executive committee in November.

M'MILLAN SHIP BATTLES ICE IN FROZEN NORTH

The first message in more than a month from Commander Donald B. MacMillan, now engaged in exploring the arctic regions in his schooner Bowdoin, has been received by Commander E. F. McDonald Jr. The message, dispatched by radio from the Bowdoin at Nain, Labrador, on Sept. 5, said:

"We are back from Baffinland, having had a wonderful trip and having seen more bad ice than I have ever seen in my life. Got one bad nip which lifted the Bowdoin right out of the water. Altogether we have had the worst weather we have ever had. Fog and rain for days and days. What kind of a summer have you had? Tell me about it."

The radiogram was received and forwarded to Commander McDonald through amateur station W2AW, operated by Clifford E. Himoe, former operator of Commander MacMillan's radio station WNP.

2 Main Things Made "Hursen's"

MANY people have remarked that "Hursen's," the greatest funeral establishment in America, is considered a business phenomenon, unique, incomparable! But few perhaps ever stop to think of the reasons why it has grown so great, so universally accepted by the hearts of all Chicagoans.

It is true "Hursen's" is unique in the world of business. It stands alone, because it stands out. It was born, and it grew, from seed that had never been planted before. There were two seeds, two main things that made "Hursen's"—incomparable service at an incomparable price.

Nothing like "Hursen" service had ever been known before. It was then, and is now, unique, incomparable. The price established was then, and is now, a fraction of what was generally charged before. It was this policy of giving the utmost for the least that has made "Hursen's" the greatest funeral establishment in America today! There is no charge whatever for the use of any one of the Hursen chapels.

Your love and devotion necessarily seek the most elegant tribute possible. It is a precious satisfaction to know that you rendered it, with a funeral directed by "Hursen." So, call Hursen, of course!

ECKENER TELLS AIR LINE PLANS OVER ATLANTIC

Seeks to Create a Commuting Line.

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Dr. Hugo Eckener outlined plans for the establishment of a regular trans-Atlantic service by dirigible today just before sailing for Germany where he will give the capitalists of his native land the reaction of Americans bankers to the scheme.

Dr. Eckener has been in conference with the officials of the Goodyear Zeppelin company of Akron, O., and a group of American bankers during the past few days and it is understood that the project will be financed if he can secure the coöperation of German bankers.

Base to Be Moved South.

The plan outlined by the commander of the Graf Zeppelin on its trip around the world included the establishment of a United States terminal for the line somewhere south of Washington. The prevalance of east and west winds in the section, he said, will serve to make the landing of large airships easier.

Four new dirigibles are planned for the service, he said, costing in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. They will be built to use helium and fuel gas.

Each will be designed to accommodate twenty-four passengers, and their baggage and a quantity of mail and express. Each ship will have eight engines placed in tandem in four gondolas, a tractor and pusher in each power car. The cabin and passenger accommodations will be entirely within the envelope, he said, and the ships will be made longer and more slender than the Graf Zeppelin, making for greater speed.

Will Be Ready in 1933.

It is not expected that the first of the four new ships will be ready before the spring of 1932.

The passenger fare of $1,000 will be made possible if the mail contracts can be obtained and Dr. Eckener said that the ships would be able to make the journey westward in 65 to 70 hours and the return trip in 45 hours. Sailings will be scheduled every four or five days by 1933.

A conference of banking and aeronautical interests identified with the project was held on Friday night at the Brok club here, it was learned today. Among the attendants were Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear interests; Commander Jerome C. Hunsaker, vice president of the Goodyear Zeppelin company, which is now building two 6,500,000 foot dirigibles for the navy at Akron; Col. Grayson, M. P. Murphy, head of the banking firm of G. M. P. Murphy & Co.; Allen Lehman of Lehman Brothers, and others closely identified with aeronautical financing in America.

Edison Continues to Improve; Leaves His Bed

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, who is recovering from an attack of pneumonia, continued to improve steadily today. The inventor is 82 years old.

A bulletin issued by his physicians, Drs. Hubert H. Howe and J. Hammond Bradshaw, read:

"Mr. Edison had a good night. He enjoyed staying up for a half hour yesterday and continues to improve steadily."

U. S. AIR LINES DENIED FOOTHOLD IN VENEZUELA

French Win European Service Concession.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARACAS, Venezuela, Sept. 7.—The Venezuelan government has granted a concession for the French air line from Europe to make a landing in Venezuela. This will connect the country with Brazilian and Argentinian airports.

Two American companies, the Pan-American and the New York Rio and Buenos Aires lines, are still waiting to get a foothold in the country. The former, which has now connected Miami, Fla., with the West Indies, the Panama canal and Central America, going down the west coast with a once a week service to Santiago, the Chilean capital, and across the Andes to Buenos Aires, has had to halt here, and on the east coast has got only as far as British Guiana and Trinidad, leaving the wealthy countries of Venezuela and Brazil on the waiting list.

Country Has French Complex.

Many important government officials in Venezuela have a French complex. The army flyers use French planes and are trained by former French army officers. The All-America Cables, Inc., which has recently taken over the French cables' operations in this part of the world, is not finding it too easy sledding to complete the deal and put up its shingle outside its offices. The Venezuelan government operates the radio service and it looks as if it means to force out any competition from other sources.

It is alleged that the department of public works makes heavy purchases from France and that the secretary of industries, after twenty-five years' residence in the French capital, leans toward the products of France.

An Important Route.

If not today, certainly in the early future, the mail and passenger service by air between the United States and the east coast of South America will become one of the world's major transportation routes. This traffic will connect the richest and most pro- United States trade with South Amer- gressive sector of the southern continent with the United States, and it is evident that a continued growth of mail movements, passengers and express may be anticipated.

It has been said that some 90 per cent of the mails and 75 per cent of ica comes from the eastern countries of the southern continent.

Both American companies, the Pan-American and the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires, have been active here in their endeavor to complete an agreement with the government, yet the open gap remains. Both lines have flown to Maracay, where is located the Venezuelan chief airport, and both companies have been well received by the authorities and hopes are expressed that the connecting link may soon be joined.

There are postal difficulties to be smoothed out, express and passenger rates to be decided upon and the national interests safeguarded, for it is thought by some that if planes are to be permitted into the country without care and restriction, political opponents of the existing régime may endeavor to use them for other purposes than carrying mail.

These difficulties, however, it is hoped will soon disappear and Venezuela, which is becoming more air-minded as the days roll on, will surely in the near future open her doors to the big American air lines and thus bring the nation within a few days flying of the country up north, with whom she is today doing more than 60 per cent of her shopping.

GREEK PREMIER SEES U. S. AS PACT CHAMPION IN WAR

Tells League Yanks Will Fight Any Violation.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—Eleutherios Venizelos of Greece, one of the drafters of the league of nations' covenant, today supported Great Britain's proposal for its revision to make it coincide with the Kellogg pact.

He then expressed, in a speech before the assembly, his belief that the United States would enter any hostilities which might arise through breaking of this treaty.

"I cannot imagine that if the Paris pact were broken that the great initiators, who sought the adhesion of all nations, would sit idly by—that is a moral impossibility," he said.

Takes Cracks at League.

Augustinas Waldemaras, premier of Lithuania, took some healthy cracks at the league's failure to grapple with dangerous issues now smoldering in Europe, in a debate this morning.

"Do we really deserve all of these compliments?" he asked, reviewing the mutual admiration society, which has been lauding the league since this assembly opened.

"Since the war, all of the really great events have taken place outside of the league—Locarno, the Kellogg pact, and the conference at The Hague. What share had the league in any of them—the league practically did nothing.

Wishes Britain Better Luck.

"A year ago I proposed to incorporate the Kellogg pact in the covenant agreement, but my resolution was shelved. I hope that the British have better luck. Certain provisions in the existing treaties have not inspired the spirit of tolerance; for instance, the responsibility for the recent war has been attributed to one party.

"I feel that the political atmosphere has been embittered by that. In eastern Europe nothing has been settled; for instance, in the minority nations. Certain minorities in nearly all of the states desire to become separate states. But others can never aspire to political independence.

"The league must tackle this question seriously. Soviet Russia has worked out a scheme, which has reconciled the national ideal with the communist ideal. If you don't consider what the soviets are doing and take them to account for it, you may suddenly face a serious situation.

"Ukraine has 14,000,000 population—more than Poland, but the Poles have obtained their national independence."

Lay League Palace Cornerstone.

The corner stone of the league's palace which is being built at the cost of $6,000,000, facing Lake Leman, one mile from Geneva, was laid this afternoon with appropriate speeches.

The documents placed in the cornerstone included the covenant of the league and a number of treaties, all sealed in glass tubes. Boxes containing coins of the various countries—one gold one, but mostly silver, nickel and bronze—were placed in with the documents.

Four Original Drafters Present.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, made a speech, and so did Mirza Mohammed Ali Khan of Persia, and Señor Guerro of Salvador. Four of the original drafters of the league covenant at Paris in 1919 were present. They were Senator Vittorio Scialoja of Italy, former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos of Greece, M. Paul Hyams of Belgium, and Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain. Dr. Gustav Stresemann's speech was postponed until Monday morning.

Premier Briand of France has invited the chief delegates of the twenty-six European powers, who are members of the league—that is, everybody except Turkey and Russia—to a luncheon Monday, when he will explain his ideas of a continental federation. It was learned today that the council of the league has secretly decided to reduce its sessions from four to three each year, holding them in January, May and September.

WOMAN STABBED TO DEATH.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, 40 years old, 6845 Harper avenue, was found dead in her bed yesterday with a knife in her body. Her husband, Herbert Morgan, chief signal engineer for the Illinois Central railroad, said he believed she had committed suicide.

Two Men Are Wounded by Gunfire from Autos

Police are investigating two mysterious shootings yesterday in which both victims were wounded by shots fired from passing automobiles. Casimir Wozniak, 23 years old, 1930 West 21st street, was shot in the right knee by two men who drew up to the curb at 19th and Lincoln streets and fired four shots at him. George Ginter, 36 years old, 8300 Cornell avenue, was hit in the right arm by a bullet fired from a passing automobile as he was working in front of the La Salle auto service, 126 West 25th street, where he is employed as a chauffeur.

ANOTHER WINTER LIKE THE LAST ONE?

Never again after you install
ELECTRIC CONTROL
on your coal furnace!

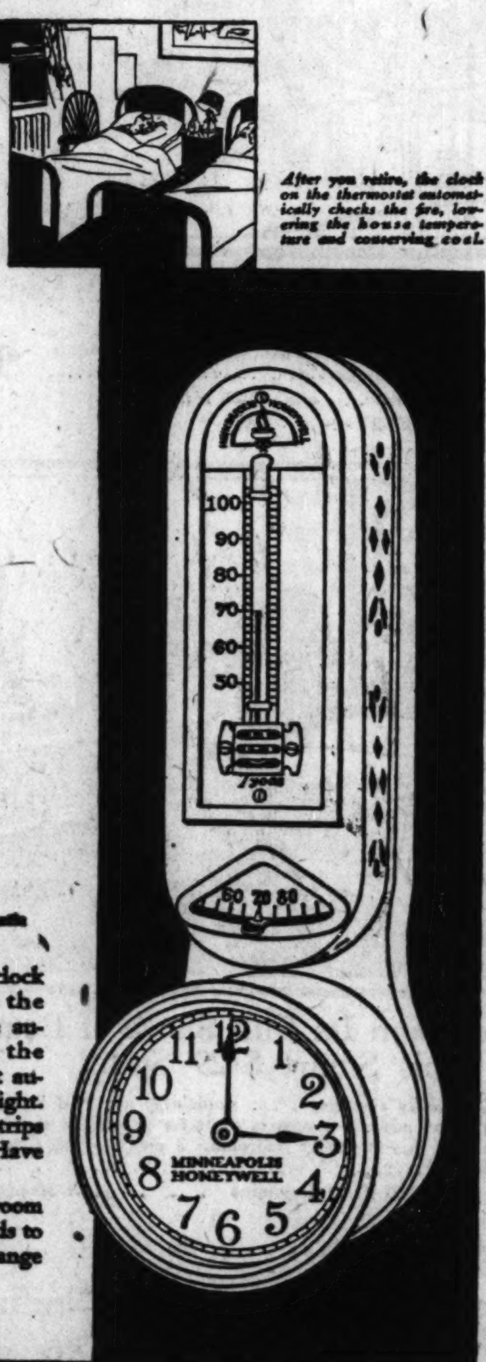
Ask your neighbor who installed electric control a year ago if he would ever go through another winter without it. He knows the thrill that's waiting for you — the thrill of seeing your present heating plant perform as you never thought it could.

The Minneapolis-Honeywell Heat Regulator operates checks and drafts automatically. It keeps the temperature comfortable, healthful, uniform all day long.

Electric control takes the drudgery out of winter. One charge of coal after breakfast usually lasts until evening—women are freed from the work and responsibility of daytime fire-tending.

Add to these advantages the positive health protection of uniform temperature, and the reduced fire hazard of automatically controlled heating plants, then it's not hard to understand why more than 3,000,000 people look upon the Minneapolis-Honeywell Heat Regulator as indispensable.

Install automatic electric control on your coal furnace or boiler now. Modern finance plan spreads the payments over several months. Phone or mail the coupon for all the facts.



After you retire, the clock on the thermostat automatically checks the fire, lowering the house temperature and conserving coal.

Completely Automatic Regulation

You get it with clock control. Raises the room temperature automatically in the morning, lowers it automatically at night. No early morning trips to the basement. Have your sleep out.

This attractive room thermostat responds to a temperature change of one degree.

SARGENTS

Chicago's Largest Prescription Drug Store

Protecting Chicago's Health with the Purest Drugs and a Staff of Seventeen Experienced Registered Pharmacists

¶ Since its very beginning in 1852, Sargent's has been a prescription drug store of the highest standard. It has adhered to its original purpose throughout its long history, protecting Chicago's health with the purest drugs made, devoting its entire time to filling prescriptions exclusively.

¶ Sargent's has seen Chicago's sons march to the music of freedom in 1860; help fight the Great Fire in 1871; saw Chicago's sons for a second time march to war in 1898; celebrated with Chicago the great World's Fair; witnessed the rise and development of the automobile and aeroplane; bid godspeed for a third time to Chicago's sons as they marched forth to Chateau Thierry and victory.

¶ Through it all, every year of Sargent's 77 years, this firm has kept to one purpose, filling prescriptions with drugs of the highest standards. That's why Sargent's is today Chicago's largest prescription druggist, employing 17 experienced registered pharmacists to fill your prescriptions.

¶ Today as never before Sargent's is the place for you when you have a prescription to be filled properly. Chicago's most noted doctors entrust their prescriptions to this old established house because Sargent's are specialists in the highly exacting science of filling prescriptions. Whenever you have a prescription think of Sargent's.

HORSE RACING PARTS COUPLE; BOTH FILE SUIT

Thomas Blondell Too Fond of Nags, Wife Says.

While Thomas Blondell, member of the firm of Lazarus & Blondell, insurance adjusters, was filing a suit for divorce in the Circuit court yesterday, his wife, Mrs. Anna Blondell, brought action in the Superior court for separate maintenance. Blondell charged his wife with extravagant betting on horse races, and was in turn accused of lavishing more affection on his string of horses than on his wife.

Mrs. Blondell declares she was married on Aug. 2, 1923. Blondell takes issue on that point, setting the date almost a year later, on July 14, 1924. Both agree that the ceremony was performed in Valparaiso, Ind., and that they separated on Aug. 25, 1928. Mrs. Blondell is now living at the Alcazar hotel.

Sacrificed for Horses, She Says.

Mrs. Blondell, through her attorney, Victor Frohlich, alleges that her husband maintains a string of three horses. She declares that Blondell is so fond of his horses that he has deprived her of necessities to see that they got the best of what he had. When the horses were ill Blondell would sleep in the stable with them, she said. He is said to have spent all his free hours attending to them.

In contrast with his kindness to the animals is charged with having beaten, struck, pinched, choked, and kicked his wife. These alleged incidents followed her pleas for money to run their home, she avers. After Mrs. Blondell would remonstrate with him for his attentions to the horses, her husband would leave the home for several weeks, sleeping much of the time in his stable, the bill states.

Puts Earnings at $15,000.

Mrs. Blondell declares that her husband earns $15,000 a year and is able to provide for her. She also says that he has a passion for automobiles as well as for horses. He purchases a new car almost every week and divides his attention between the automobiles and the animals, according to the bill.

Blondell is represented by Attorney Michael Levenson Jr. His bill charges that his wife is ruining him by unadvised betting and gambling. He also charges her with habitual drinking.

Blondell asks an injunction to prevent his wife from disposing of property at 5430 South Hermitage avenue which he purchased for her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kohun. He fears that she might dissipate the property, the bill states.

WOMAN PASSES 19 BOGUS CHECKS; JAILED FOR YEAR

Mrs. Marie Brown, 24 years old, 622 South Leavitt street, mother of two small children, was given the maximum punishment under a misdemeanor charge yesterday. She was sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell and fined $1,000, which will have to be worked out at $1.50 a day unless she can pay the fine, for passing nineteen bogus checks of $27.50 each.

Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast told Judge Trude in the Felony court that he thought a better example would be set to check passers if the woman was sentenced at once under the misdemeanor charge instead of allowing the case to drag through the criminal courts for months without certainty of punishment.

The judge promptly imposed the maximum sentence, with the provision that the jail authorities must see to it that Mrs. Brown be made to handle a mop during her term of incarceration. Mrs. Brown said she cashed the checks to obtain support for her two children.

SAFE LIQUID AIR FUEL TO CHEAPEN AUTO OPERATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COBOURG, Ont., Sept. 7.—The inventor of nonexplosive liquid air, Capt. Hugo Koenig, chief instructor at Zella Mehlis, Germany, who is at present spending a vacation at Cobourg, predicts the opening up of a new era of locomotion through the medium of nonexplosive liquid air. Hitherto, said Capt. Koenig, the highly explosive nature of liquid air has hindered the use of its tremendous possibilities to produce enormous pressure.

After almost six years of research work a formula has been evolved whereby, he claims, it is possible to produce nonexplosive liquid air. Capt. Koenig believes that the modern automobile can now be safely converted at small cost into an engine consuming liquid air.

A liquid air tank attached in the place of the carburetor would feed the liquid air into the cylinders. The tremendous energy expanded can, he says, deliver from one gallon of liquid air sufficient power to run a car 250 miles at a cost of 50 cents. Capt. Koenig also claims that he has developed turbines, using this force, working at 5,000 revolutions per minute.

GRAND RAPIDS AWAKE TO GULF SEAWAY BENEFIT

Michigan Sentiment for Waterway Grows.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Michigan shows full signs of a growing reaction in favor of the lakes to gulf waterway. Manufacturers, shippers, business men and some of the politicians are now beginning to turn their attention to its economic aspects, nature and high water having jocosely drowned the old lake levels controversy.

Grand Rapids, the "furniture capital of America," is only about thirty miles from Lake Michigan. Opening of the gulf seaway through the Illinois waterway and the Mississippi inland system will put this city on salt water, so to speak, and give it three seaports, Holland, Grand Haven and Muskegon.

Link up Great Systems.

Traffic experts point out that the industrial area of Western Michigan will be brought closer in freight charges to the markets of the southern states, the Pacific coast and South America. Through the Chicago gateway to the inland routes, two great systems on which the government has spent enormous sums, will be linked up.

Upwards of $121,000,000, it is computed, has been spent in the improvement of channels and harbors on the great lakes. To the south the government has spent or allotted, to June 30, 1928, no less than $452,270,000 on the Mississippi inland waterway system and this takes no account of $181,219,000 spent in flood control, of which amount $22,000,000 is estimated to be of benefit to navigation.

The 63 mile missing link, which the state of Illinois is building in the Illinois river with the $20,000,000 bond issue made possible by popular vote back in 1908, will hook the two systems together. The manufacturers over here and the traffic specialists are saying Michigan stands to be one of the great beneficiaries.

Some Grand Rapids Statistics.

Grand Rapids has seventy furniture factories, with 12,000 workers, which produce annually products worth $60,000,000. Its plants are widely diversified, and its 439 industries with 24,449 wage earners have an annual output valued at $135,000,000. It claims that it has the largest factories in the world making furniture, show cases, and store equipment, gypsum, excelsior, refrigerators, carpet sweepers, sticky fly paper, folding paper boxes, automatic musical instruments, school seats, church pews and opera chairs.

Also, as the wholesale market and distributing center of western Michigan, it does a yearly general wholesale and jobbing business of $75,000,000 and its retail markets attract trade from as far away as 200 miles.

With all these things in view, makers of furniture and other products, jobbers and commercial interests, are beginning to point to the great stake this region has in the outlet from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

Curiously enough, Michigan has been lined up with the six lake states which are now opposing diversion of more than 1,000 cubic second feet of lake water at Chicago. Army engineers declare such a flow would make the waterway unnavigable and turn it into an open sewer, reeking with pestilence.

Gives Manufacturers' Views.

C. S. Dexter, general manager of the Grand Rapids Chair company, in reflecting the growing sentiment among manufacturers, dwells on the broader aspects of the waterway.

"Manufacturers here are greatly in favor of the lakes to gulf waterway," Mr. Dexter said. "It would be hard to conceive why they should not be. The plain facts are that the economic aspects of the projects have not been given much discussion. But taking a general view of it all, the outlet from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico will be a good thing for general business.

"Looking at it from a broad view, not from the narrower matter of local and regional advantages, it will be a great benefit to the United States collectively. Who would dispute the tremendous advantages to the country at large of throwing inland America open to the seas of the world?"

Some of the benefits western Michigan stands to derive were elaborated by Frank D. McKay, state treasurer, the only man in Michigan's history elected three times to that office. He is secretary-treasurer of the Furniture Capital corporation, which operates the largest furniture exhibition buildings in the world here, with displays of fine workmanship said to be unequaled in any other country.

"Inland industrial communities like Grand Rapids," Mr. McKay said, "ought to be tickled pink at the prospects of a lakes to gulf waterway which will open our ports on Lake Michigan, now practically landlocked, to the seaboard. Nothing could be more beneficial to an industrial or agricultural community than to have waterway transportation readily accessible.

"Grand Rapids is only thirty miles from the lake. There is easy trucking to the docks over concrete roads and cheaper freight carrying charges for our products means the development of our industries and agriculture. Both the seaway which will connect the great lakes, through the St. Lawrence, with the North Atlantic, and the inland waterway, which will link the lakes with the Gulf of Mexico by way of the Illinois waterway and the Mississippi valley system, will place us on salt water. Think what that means in the expansion of our markets and trade.

Cheaper Rates to South.

"Grand Rapids is recognized as the furniture capital of the world. We ship a lot of furniture into the southern states and this will give our manufacturers cheaper rates to market for their output and it will also lessen the cost of bringing in raw materials.

"Our furniture in the early days was made from native hardwoods, which were left standing by the lumbermen who deemed them worthless. Now very little native wood is used, and precious woods are shipped from all over the world to Grand Rapids for the making of the finest furniture.

"The bulk of it comes from South America. Tremendous logs are brought in. The waterway will bring them to our doors by water haul, the cheapest kind of freight carrier, and there will be a saving in freight rates.

Benefit from Panama Canal.

"Many high grade veneers are shipped from here to the Pacific coast. The waterway will give the advantage of the water haul and give us an economic benefit from the Panama canal. Anything that cheapens transportation benefits industry. The lakes to gulf waterway should prove highly potential in the development of our inland industrial communities.

"As to agriculture, President Hoover has often dwelt upon what the farms will gain from water development. Our manufacturers have been holding meetings for reduced rail freight rates and any agency which brings things in and takes them out more cheaply is going to be a benefit."

Interest is exhibited in the development of barges of nine foot draft which will ply to Lake Michigan points and down the Illinois and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans. Such barges are now operating both on Lake Erie and the adjacent canals. In the south the steel trust, which is trying to kill the lakes to gulf outlet by opposing enough water diversion to make it navigable, has devised a barge which navigates the Warrior river system and Mississippi sound.

Grand River's Traffic.

Grand river itself is an illustration of the trend to water when profits are shown. The river has six feet depth from Grand Haven to Bass river. In 1920 its freight was 56,250 tons, worth $65,000. In 1927 this has grown to 252,172 tons, valued at $189,000. The freight is sand and gravel carried in barges.

As to water diversion from Lake Michigan at Chicago, the general sentiment expressed here is that it is a matter for the engineers. Both the Canadian and American government engineers have recommended compensating works in the channels between Lakes Huron and Erie to overcome normal differentials in lake levels and the sanitary district of Chicago has posted a $1,000,000 bond to guarantee for its share of the works.

Divorce for Poetess

SARA TEASDALE.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Charging that her husband devoted so much time to his business interests that he neglected her and his home, Mrs. Sara T. Filsinger, who under the name of Sara Teasdale is one of America's best known women poets, has been granted a divorce here on grounds of mental cruelty.

Mrs. Filsinger published her first volume of poems in 1907 under the title of "Sonnets to Duse and Other Poems," and since has published several other books of verse.

The couple was married in St. Louis Dec. 19, 1914. They have no children. Filsinger did not contest the divorce. The decree was granted Thursday.

HUGE RESERVOIR CRACKS AND 700 EVACUATE HOMES

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—A crack in the thick concrete base of Los Angeles municipal reservoir No. 4 threw the foothills suburb of Burbank into a panic today.

The reservoir contains seven million gallons of water, brought 250 miles from Owens Valley. It stands 200 feet above a residence portion of the city. Citizens feared another St. Francis dam tragedy and 700 evacuated their homes following warnings from municipal officials.

Crews rushed to the reservoir and threw open emergency valves. The water has been gushing out for hours. Residents were asked to open all faucets, and firemen have opened the street fire hydrants.

Police and firemen squads stood by for hours while homes were evacuated in the threatened district.

NORWEGIAN FETE TODAY TO HONOR LIEF ERICSON

Forty-five affiliated societies of the National Norwegian League of Chicago will hold a festival and water carnival today at Navy pier to celebrate Lief Ericson day and "to show America who its real discoverer was." The program will begin at 2 o'clock with a parade of motor boats, under the auspices of the Columbia Yacht club, while Norwegian societies in national costume, carrying flags, will parade on the pier.

Preliminary contests for the finals in the water sports were run off yesterday under the auspices of the yacht club. Milwaukee will send an eight-oared rowing crew to compete with a crew from Lincoln park. A relay canoe race will be another event.

A. O. Eberhart, former governor of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker on the program which is to follow the outdoor events. The Chicago Norwegian Singers league and the Ladies' Norwegian Singers' league will sing at the evening exercises.

All mechanical parts are inside the cabinet

.. and no other electric refrigerator can offer the famous Frigidaire "Cold Control"

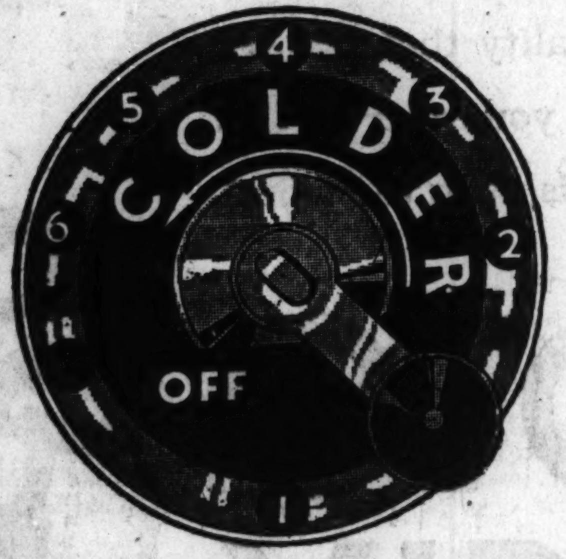
YOU want an electric refrigerator that is easy to clean. And Frigidaire is built with this in mind. Surfaces inside and out are smooth and lustrous with nothing to catch dust or dirt. The simple power unit is completely enclosed in a separate compartment at the bottom of the cabinet ... out of sight and out of the way.

And the Frigidaire power unit is extra powerful. It has a reserve of power that you can tap at will with the Frigidaire "Cold Control." When you're in a hurry for ice cubes or have a difficult dessert to freeze, you never have to worry. Just turn the lever of the "Cold Control."

The Frigidaire "Cold Control" is one of the greatest improvements ever offered on an automatic refrigerator. And it is found only on Frigidaire. No other electric refrigerator has it.

Come in and see the new Frigidaires. See for yourself the many features that save time, work and trouble. Note the elevated shelves that make stooping unnecessary. See how the interior of gleaming Porcelain-on-steel is arranged to hold large quantities of food. Listen for the sound of the motor. It is so incredibly quiet that you don't hear it start, stop, or run.

Call at our display room for a complete demonstration, at your first opportunity. Let us explain the liberal monthly terms.



The Frigidaire "Cold Control" has introduced a new standard in electric refrigeration. It is as important as a gas regulator on an oven.

SECRET BI-PARTY COALITION DEAL MAY PICK JUDGES

Cermak to Be Forced Into Line, Is Gossip.

So willing are inner circle Republicans and Democrats to do a little private betting that when the showdown comes there will be coalition for the judicial election that their confidence is considered confirmation of persistent reports that there already is a secret but binding and effective agreement on fusion.

To be final such a bargain must include particularly the Democrats believed to control the county central committee of which President Cermak of the county board is chairman. Cermak has been a consistent opponent of coalition ever since the subject was taken up, but the present yarn is that he is to be allowed to continue his fight up to the last moment, when he will be overpowered by numbers.

Plan of Coalition.

And not only will there be coalition between the Democrats and the Thompson-Barrett-Brundage Republican allies, the story runs, but it will be upon the same basis as the negotiations of the last two weeks—the Republicans to have the two Circuit court places, two of the Superior court vacancies and to surrender only the third Superior judgeship to the Democrats.

Gossip to this effect had its inception in a conference between Chairman Cermak and some of his friends with representatives of the Martin O'Brien-John S. Clark supporters of the present managing committee system of operation. At that meeting it was agreed to let the reorganization problem go over until after the judicial convention—now set for next Wednesday evening—but some of the conferees are said to have forced consideration of the judicial election issue.

The O'Brien-Clark delegation included two judges, John J. Sullivan and Thomas J. Lynch. Neither is a candidate at this time, but, like all other judges, they are said to have insisted that the ermine be kept out of the mud of poll contests and to have forced an admission that the final result of the present maneuvering will be coalition.

Igoe a Representative.

One of the Cermak representatives in this gathering was Michael L. Igoe, who is chairman of the subcommittee of the county central committee directed to continue the negotiations particularly with a view to compelling the Republican majority to admit the Deneen faction into its councils.

Following a talk with Charles V. Barrett, chairman of the Republican steering committee, Igoe is said to have relinquished the thought of Deneen recognition and to be all set to try tomorrow or the next day to obtain merely the statement of the Deneen leaders that they accept the coalition plan.

His attempts thus far to obtain such an admission from Thomas J. Healy who, in the absence of Senator Deneen and Roy O. West, is considered as much of a spokesman as anybody for his group, are said to have been unsuccessful. The Deneen people, it is said privately, do not want to go on record as approving the fusion slate, although it will include two of their own members, Albert C. Barnes and William H. McSurely, and a third one partly charged up to them, William N. Gemmill.

But Mr. West has said that he and his associates prefer to avoid the labor and time consumption of a two-ticket battle if a suitable single slate can be arranged; and his group feels there is little hope of breaking up the Thompson-Barrett-Brundage control of the nominating convention.

TWINS BECOME BRIDES AT DOUBLE CEREMONY

Twins, both brides, served as bridesmaids for each other yesterday at their wedding in the Webster hotel. Myrtle Kroeger and Mildred Kroeger, 26 years old, 1469 Balmoral avenue, became the brides of William Weibking, 34 years old, of 3703 Herndon street, and David Luttrull, 28, of 1431 Greenleaf avenue. The ceremonies were preformed by the Rev. Rudolph John, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, and the Rev. H. W. Dinkmeyer of Bethany Evangelical Lutheran church. Following the wedding supper both couples left for a honeymoon in Montreal.

WIFE FILES SUIT FOR $100,000 FOR LOSS OF A POET

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Claiming alienation of affections, Mrs. Helen W. Bedford-Jones, divorced wife of Henry Bedford-Jones, novelist and short story writer, brought suit in Circuit court today against Mrs. Mary T. Bernardin, prominent local society woman, widow of the late Alfred Bernardin, president of the Bernardin Bottle Cap factory, asking $100,000 damages.

Mrs. Bedford-Jones charges in the complaint that in the fall of 1928 she learned that her husband and Mrs. Bernardin were in a distant city together, and that when he returned home he had lost all of his love and affection for his wife. The complaint also alleges that the author-husband left her Christmas night, 1928, and went to California, and that the defendant left soon afterwards and made her home in the same home with Bedford-Jones.

Bedford-Jones has a suit pending in Superior court to obtain custody of the three children.

BIG WATER MAIN BURSTS; GEYSERS RIP PAVING OPEN

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The bursting of a 48 inch water main running under 5th avenue at 19th street today crippled the water supply in part of Manhattan, flooded several square blocks, and threw traffic into an uproar. Twelve foot geyers of water burst through the paving and shot into the air.

The flow of water was shut off an hour after the break occurred and flood conditions were corrected shortly. Adequate water pressure throughout the affected area was restored an hour later.

The pressure of water flowing directly from the Catskill reservoir system through a pipe which normally delivers 28,000,000 gallons a day, lifted the asphalt pavement and nine inch concrete foundation leaving hillocks nearly two feet high.

Dirt, washed up from under the concrete, was deposited two inches deep more than a block away.

FARMERS' PLEAS FOR RELIEF FOR PACKERS HEARD

Samuel R. Guard, Chicago, Raps Chain Stores.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Several days of hearings conducted by department of agriculture bureau chiefs at the request of Attorney General Mitchell to ascertain the attitude of agriculture generally toward modification of the consent decree, which limits operations of Chicago "Big Four" packers to processing of meats, were concluded today.

With a few scattered exceptions, the organizations heard from approved modification, and in many instances, vacation of the decree which prohibits Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company, from operating retail stores, handling so-called unrelated grocery and food lines, carrying these other foods to retail markets in their own meat cars, though these cars may be but half filled, or having interests in stockyards, terminal railways or market journals.

Arguments to Be Condensed.

The testimony of the spokesmen for the farm organizations and the briefs filed are to be condensed by the agriculture department committee into a report to the attorney general for his guidance in preparation of the government's answer to the packers' petitions for modification. The petitions are to be argued in the District Supreme court on Oct. 2.

Samuel R. Guard of Chicago, editor of The Breeders' Gazette, and an officer of numerous livestock organizations, told the committee today that although opposed to packer ownership of stockyards, both he and the groups he represents heartily approve the entry of the packers into the retail field.

Want Beefsteak in Every Home.

"We are very eager," he said, "to have the right given the packers to retail meats. We want the packers to be permitted to engage in such other retailing of food as will enable them to conduct retail meat shops with economy. We want beefsteak in every working man's home and we believe one of the greatest restrictions in the matter of beef consumption is the price.

"We also believe that the price to the consumer is the result largely of an extensive system of merchandising. We firmly believe that if the packers, with their large meat handling experience, their capital and their splendid transportation equipment, were permitted to enter the retail business much waste would be eliminated, resulting in lowering prices to consumers and at the same time aiding the producers."

Like other farm spokesmen who appeared before the committee, Mr. Guard asserted agriculture views the development of chain retail stores as a danger and he declared the chief interest of such chains today is to hammer down producers' prices.

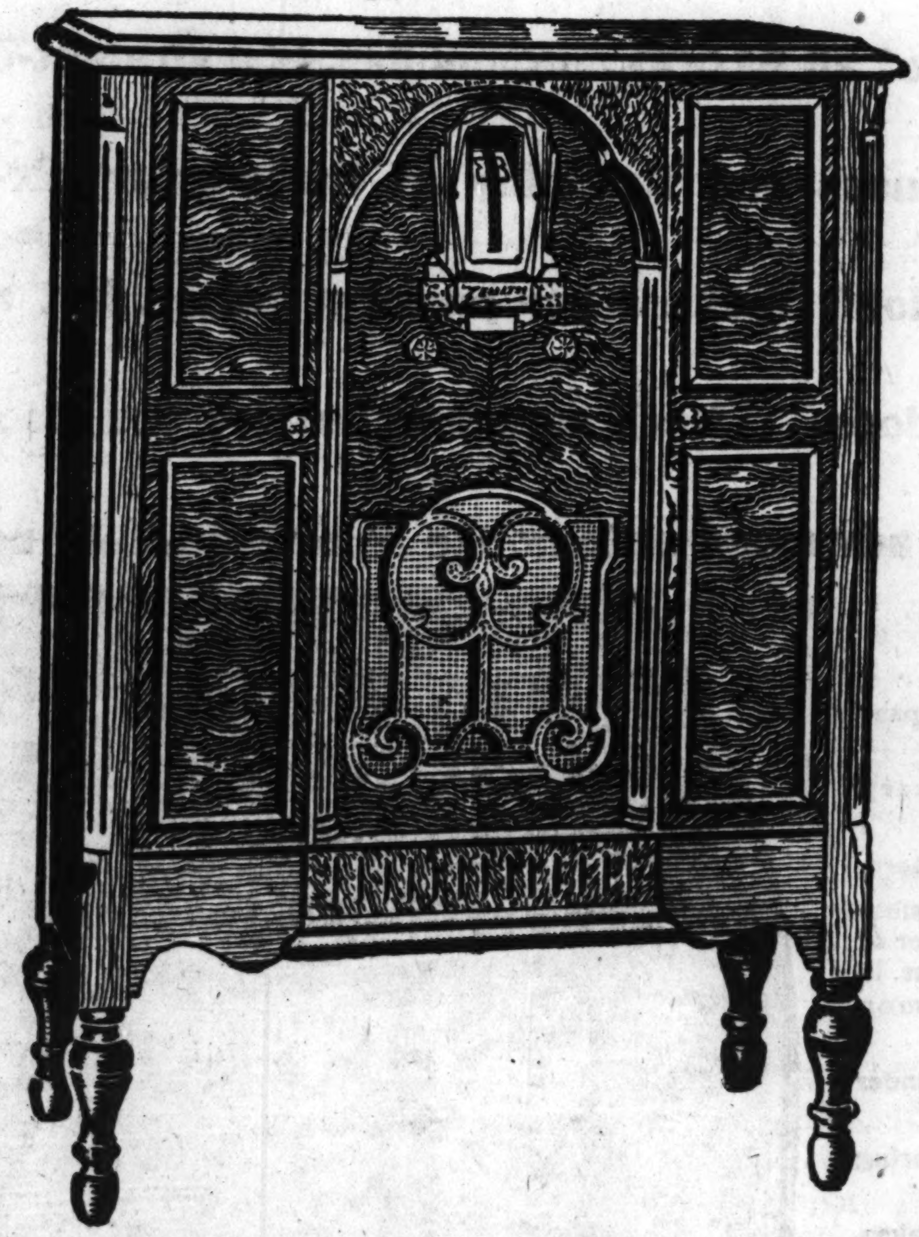
You won't believe your ears!...never before such a radio...because...never before such a Zenith



MODEL 52...Employs nine tubes, including rectifier. Specially designed Screen-Grid circuit... DOUBLE Push-Pull audio amplification. Genuine Automatic Tuning. Super-size, 12-inch Zenith Syntonic-Dynamic Type Speaker. Linear Power Detection. Self-Healing Filter Condenser. Simple Selectivity Adjustment. Automatic Phonograph Switch. Charming low-boy console of Butt Walnut with overlays of English Satin Oak.

LESS TUBES

This new Zenith was built, first, to startle your ears with its epoch-making realism; secondly, to startle your eyes with its superb beauty; thirdly, to startle your pocketbook with a price half what you think it should be.

You won't believe your ears. You can't, at first. Because the new Zenith doesn't sound like radio, like any radio. It sounds exactly like the singer, the speaker, the instrument, the orchestra...even when the volume is great enough to shake the house, there is no distortion. There can be none...for Zenith now has a specially designed screen-grid circuit...developed by Zenith for Zeniths. No radio but Zenith can have this...plus power detection... plus double push-pull...plus the syntonic-dynamic type speaker of over-size proportions...to make the finest radio still finer...plus genuine automatic tuning.

Hear this new Zenith, side by side with all the other claimants of superiority. Just hear it once. And here we rest our case.

- ● GENUINE AUTOMATIC TUNING
  Exclusively Zenith's...the station is THERE when you press the button. Patented.
- ● GENUINE SCREEN-GRID CIRCUIT
  A specially designed screen-grid circuit...built from the ground up.
- ● DOUBLE PUSH-PULL AMPLIFICATION
  Like the power of a locomotive in a motor car...mellower, richer, absolutely UNDISTORTABLE tone at any volume. Four tubes used in two stages of push-pull amplification instead of prevalent use of two tubes in one stage.
- ● NINE TUBES (with rectification)
  Three UY-224 Screen-Grid tubes; three UY-227 (heater type) tubes; two UX-245 (latest type amplifiers); one UX-280 (rectifier).
- ● LINEAR POWER DETECTION
  Weak or strong signals received with true tone quality, the grid bias on the detector tube automatically changing with the strength of signal.
- ● SIMPLE SELECTIVITY ADJUSTMENT
  Permits regulating capacity of antenna for best operation.
- ● SELF-HEALING FILTER CONDENSER
  In sharp contrast to the common paper and tinfoil type of filter condenser, Zenith uses a self-healing filter condenser of long life which REMAINS operative under all current conditions.

15TH

ANNIVERSARY

- ● NOISE LEVEL REDUCTION
  Noise level is down, and radio signal strength is up. Increase in volume does not increase noise. Connection provided to minimize line noises. Compare Zenith with others.
- ● SUPER-SIZE SPEAKERS
  Employs super-size, 12-inch syntonic-dynamic type speaker especially designed to operate in full sympathy with the audio of the receiver...emphasizing the famous Zenith HUMANIZED Tone.
- ● PHONOGRAPH SWITCH
  Specially designed Phonograph Switch which automatically converts the Zenith receiver for electrical reproduction with any pick-up and record turn-table.

SENATE TO MAKE INQUIRY ON NAVY LOBBY CHARGES

Seeks Facts on Plan to Oppose Cuts.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—A separate senatorial investigation of alleged ship building corporation propaganda against naval armament limitations, in addition to the justice department investigation by President Hoover, seemed certain today.

Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, announced a meeting of that group next Tuesday to consider the demand of Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] for an inquiry, and the latter indicated that if the naval affairs committee declines to act, the foreign affairs committee, of which the Idaho senator is chairman, will begin public hearings immediately.

Justice Department Busy.

Meanwhile, it was announced at the department of justice that John Lord O'Brian, assistant to the attorney general, has assigned aids to investigate the activities of William B. Shearer, who was scathingly denounced by President Hoover as a propagandist.

The President's accusation was made after Shearer had stated in a suit that he had been paid by three corporations to prepare and disseminate information regarding the ship building industry. The corporations mentioned were the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, the American Brown Boveri Electric corporation and the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company.

Sued Three Corporations.

Shearer sued the three corporations for $250,000 which, he claimed, they still owe him for his work in opposing disarmaments here and abroad and particularly at 1927 Geneva disarmament conference which came to naught as a result of a deadlock between the United States and Great Britain over cruiser tonnage.

Senator Borah, who first announced his intention of seeking a senatorial investigation when Shearer's suit was filed in New York on Aug. 22, declared today he expected to appear before the naval affairs committee on Tuesday to insist upon the appearance of officers and directors in the three companies involved in Shearer's suit and of Shearer himself in open hearings.

SHILLINGLAW TO REVIEW HIS YEAR AS LEGION CHIEF

David L. Shillinglaw will deliver his last address as state commander of the American Legion at a luncheon of the Advertising Men's post tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman. He will review the year's Legion activities and accomplishments. A new state commander will be elected at the annual convention in Rock Island on Sept. 16 and 17.

At the luncheon tomorrow the first copy of "Sinister Shadows" will be auctioned off. This book, by Col. Edwin Marshall Hadley, a member of the Advertising Men's post, will be placed on sale in book stores on the same day. Col. Hadley is donating to the veterans' relief work of the post all the royalties received from the sale of the book. It deals with the work of soviet Russia's agents in spreading communistic propaganda.

BURNED IN NAPHTHA BLAZE.

Louis Artise, 42 years old, 5110 Princeton avenue, was seriously burned yesterday when naphtha which he was using to clean a slot machine was ignited in the office of a slot machine manufacturing concern at 11 East Austin avenue. He was taken to the Henrotin hospital.

CAUSES SHIP QUIZ

William B. Shearer, naval writer, whose suit for $257,655 against three shipbuilding corporations caused President Hoover to launch inquiry into alleged "propagandist" activities of concerns involved.

HOOVER TO VISIT IN MICHIGAN AND OHIO THIS FALL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—President Hoover plans to make two trips this fall. The first will take him to Ohio and Michigan, while the second will be a short excursion to the south. At least two speeches will be made by the president.

He expects to go to Cincinnati in October to attend the exercises in celebration of the completion of the canalization of the Ohio river link of the Mississippi waterway system. On the same trip he plans to go to Detroit where the old Edison laboratory, purchased by Henry Ford, is to be dedicated on Oct. 21.

The president would like to go to Texas at the same time to participate in the 75th anniversary of the Gadsden purchase which added 54,000 square miles of territory to the United States in 1854. It is most likely, however, that the Texas trip will be made later in the fall. The sponsors of the celebration, which will be held at El Paso, have agreed to arrange their plans to suit his convenience.

Several members of the Republican national committee conferred with Mr. Hoover this morning. Monday he is expected to attend a dinner at the Willard, given by the national committee in honor of the retiring chairman, Dr. Herbert Work.

MEXICO TO GIVE CREDITS ON TAX PAID TO REBELS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Stimson announced today that the Mexican government had agreed to recognize as legal tax payments made by American land owners to the rebels during the recent insurrection. As a result American taxpayers in Mexico will not be required to pay taxes twice during the same year.

During the revolution the rebel leaders on several occasions forced American land owners to pay taxes or payments to the rebel government. Immediately following the revolution the Mexican government published a decree declaring invalid the payment of fiscal credits made to the rebels. This decree has now been revoked.

NAVAL PARITY PROGRAM FACES LONG DEADLOCK

Britain and America Are Not Agreed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—There are strong indications that the obstancles encountered by the United States and Great Britain in seeking a preliminary solution of the cruiser reduction problem will make it impracticable for the major naval powers to hold a formal conference this year.

While Washington officials are optimistic that the difficulties between the two powers will be ironed out, it is admitted that considerable delay is likely. There is now more talk of a 1930 conference rather than one in December this year.

Premier May Delay Visit.

This delay has served to lessen the chances that Ramsay MacDonald, the British premier, will come to Washington.

Officials of the navy general board spent another busy day working on the cruiser equality problem. Rear Admiral Hilary Jones, retired, will return to Washington Monday and join the group now trying to work out a plan of cruiser tonnage allocation which will be acceptable to Great Britain. A new communication, now under preparation, probably will go forward to Ambassador Dawes next week.

Great Britain has reduced her cruiser tonnage requirements to a point within striking distance of the maximum tonnage figure desired by President Hoover. The British desire, however, that the United States limit the number of her 10,000 ton 8 inch gun cruisers to less than the twenty-three which the United States would have if the pending cruiser program were completed. The British government that the obstacles encountered by the would like to have the United States build part of such new tonnage as will be necessary to attain parity with 6 inch guns.

May Build Smaller Vessels.

It is reported that the navy board has been asked to investigate the possibility of having the United States build 8,000 ton cruisers and arm them with 8 or 7 inch guns. It is possible the United States may offer to hold its 10,000 ton cruisers down to eighteen and replace the other five treaty cruisers with smaller vessels armed with 8 inch guns or a gun slightly smaller but still superior to the 6 inch weapon which can be mounted on merchant vessels, of which Britain has a great preponderance.

Reduction of British cruiser tonnage to fifty vessels by 1936 would leave that country with something approaching 350,000 tons. Completion of the American program would give this country 305,000 tons on that date. All indications are that administration officials are willing to spot Britain the 45,000 tons if this country is allowed to build up to twenty-three 10,000 ton 8 inch gun cruisers.

Brandenburg, "Cradle of Prussia," 1,000 Years Old

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—The town of Brandenburg, "the cradle of Prussia," celebrated its thousandth anniversary with an old fashioned and colorful pageant, today, but the spirit of modern times was reflected in the monument erected to commemorate the anniversary. It is a bath house and huge swimming pool, which will provide the youngsters of Brandenburg with an opportunity to train for strength and health for the struggle of life.

INDIANA WOMAN SUICIDE.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The body of Mrs. Melinda, 69, was found suspended from a rafter of a barn near here today. Ill health is given as the cause for despondency, leading to the suicide.

the Roosevelt

A CAR FOR ALL MARMON-BUILT

News of the new models is here. Many new values are claimed.

The Roosevelt, with a great six months back of it, is still on the crest, without a rival in sight.... It, alone, of all $1000 automobiles, is a straight-eight. It alone offers eight-cylinder smoothness and flexibility at the regular six-cylinder price.... Powerful adjectives don't make a car perform better, but real advanced eight-cylinder engineering does.... Until someone betters the Roosevelt it will remain the newest and most advanced automobile at or anywhere near the $1000 price.

Full-size, four-door, five-passenger.

Broadcloth upholstery throughout.

One-piece crown fenders.

70-horsepower Marmon-built engine (same motor of slightly smaller bore as in higher-priced Marmon Eights).

Quick, smooth eight-cylinder acceleration.

Wonderfully easy steering and easy clutch action.

Powerful, four-wheel brakes.

Luxurious, long-wheelbase riding quality.

NEW ORLEANS IS MADE AN OCEAN BY CLOUDBURST

Streets and Houses Are Flooded Deep.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 7.—[U.P.]—A 10.75 inch rainfall in the last 24 hours flooded the downtown district of New Orleans today, disrupting traffic and halting business. Streets were long stretches of water several feet deep. Stalled street cars and automobiles dotted the inundated thoroughfares. Virtually every building in the lower parts of the city was damaged. The Saenger theater, largest in the south, was flooded.

Transportation facilities were paralyzed completely in many sections by the high waters.

The sewerage system was incapable of carrying away the tons of water that swept down the streets, tearing out large chunks of pavement and upsetting automobiles.

Canal street, main thoroughfare of the city, was flooded. In several sections of the city families were marooned.

Gas was immediately turned off from mains and police ordered windows kept open to prevent sewer gas poisoning.

Milk and grocery deliveries could only be made in horse drawn vehicles.

TOMORROW IS TAG DAY; CHARITIES SEEK $100,000

Hundreds of Women Will Sell Hearts in Streets.

Chicago's busiest streets as well as those not so busy will take on the appearance of a summertime St. Valentine's day tomorrow. Red hearts will flutter from the coat lapels of thousands who respond to the Have-a-Heart appeal of the Chicago Federated Charities with contributions of nickels, dimes, and dollars.

Placed over the city at strategic points, hundreds of women and girls will sell the tags. When the day's work is done they will assemble their boxes of coins, which will be counted and distributed among the institutions forming the federation, according to the amount earned by the workers of each institution.

Goal Set at $100,000.

A goal of $100,000 has been set for the day by Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the Chicago Federated Charities. The earnings will benefit unfortunates all over the city, regardless of race or creed, who are not aided by the two other tag days of the year authorized by the city council. To be a member of the federation an organization must be conducted on a strictly charitable basis and show a deficit of more than $1,200 a year.

Other officers are G. L. Tatge, A. C. Dittman, and Mrs. G. W. Loderhouse, vice presidents; Miss Ima Clarke, recording secretary; Mrs. C. L. Clough, corresponding secretary, and F. Emory Lyon, treasurer.

Will Receive Money.

Lish Resigns as Head of State Reformatory

Pontiac, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ira M. Lish, superintendent of the Illinois state reformatory here, has resigned because of ill health, it was announced today. His resignation will become effective immediately. He will be succeeded by Col. Frank D. Whipp, Springfield, superintendent of Illinois prisons, as temporary superintendent.

CUTS THROAT; JUMPS TO DEATH.

Fred Propok, 400 North Wells street, a painter, slashed his throat and leaped out of a third floor window yesterday. He was dead when the owner of the rooming house found him.

CLABAUGH WARNS AGAINST LENIENT PAROLE SYSTEM

Sentiment Often Defeats Justice, He Says.

Hinton G. Clabaugh, whose resignation as chairman of the Illinois parole board becomes effective on Sept. 15, said yesterday that the work of police, prosecutors, juries and courts will avail little in the public's battle against organized crime, if criminals are released from penal institutions prematurely and without adequate supervision.

Mr. Clabaugh, who was appointed chairman of the state parole board by Gov. Small in July of 1926, stated that shortage in prison cells is no justification for premature release of criminals. He declared the freeing of criminals through well intended but unintelligent sentiment is just as damaging to society as if they were freed by crooked politics or inefficient prosecution.

"Congestion and lack of employment in prisons may be deplorable but these conditions do not justify tampering with the parole of criminals," said Mr. Clabaugh.

Recounts Own Experiences.

"When I took office in July, 1926, there were 5,852 inmates in the state penal institutions at Joliet, Chester and Pontiac," he went on. "On Aug. 30, 1929, there were 7,656, a net increase of 1,804 or more than 30 per cent in three years. Nothwithstanding this increase and the recent statements that paroles have decreased 50 per cent during my term of office, I wish to say that my colleagues have dealt humanely, intelligently and courageously with each case whether acted upon favorably or unfavorably.

Analyzes Prison Population.

"That the parole board has acted judiciously and decisively in the public interest in refusing paroles to those convicted of crimes of violence is shown in the following analysis:

"More than 16 per cent of the combined population of the penal institutions at Joliet and Chester are held for murder.

"More than 25 per cent of the population of Chester, Joliet and Pontiac penal institutions are held for robbery.

"More than 17 per cent of the inmates at Joliet, Chester and Pontiac are held for burglary. Eight per cent of the inmates of the three places are held for assault to murder, rob or rape.

"About 3.7 per cent of the inmates at Joliet, Chester and Pontiac are held for manslaughter and about 1.6 per cent for indecent liberties with children and crimes against nature."

Mr. Clabaugh said that about 68 per cent of the present inmates of the three penal and reformatory institutions of Illinois are held for one or more of the six major crimes of murder and physical criminal violence against persons and property.

Among these are nearly 1,000 murderers, more than 2,000 gunmen, and 1,500 burglars.

LOCK UP JURORS TRYING YOUTH AS FIANCEE'S KILLER

The Wheaton jury considering the fate of Theodore Freeman, Naperville youth charged with the murder of his fiancée, Miss Margaret Weismantel, was locked up early this morning after having failed to reach a verdict. Judge Frederick B. Shepherd indicated that if the jurors made their decision before noon today he would convene court to hear the verdict.

It was reported that on the first ballot taken the jury had decided for a murder verdict but was still arguing over the penalty. Freeman admitted slaying Miss Weismantel but pleaded that he had been infuriated by the sight of his sweetheart in the arms of Dean Perry, 23 year old automobile salesman of Naperville, and therefore should be granted a manslaughter verdict. The killing occurred last March 12.

DRY RAIDERS FACE $1,200 DIAMOND THEFT CHARGES

No Warrant, Force Way Into Woman's Home.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Two federal prohibition agents who entered a home here last night without a search warrant will be named in warrants Monday charged with the theft of a $1,200 diamond ring.

Strat Petropolous, who is to be the federal government's chief witness against Ira Billington, a former prohibition agent who was arrested last spring on a charge of accepting a bribe which he is alleged to have solicited at the door of Federal Judge F. A. Geiger's courtroom, also declared tonight that he would seek redress in a damage suit for injuries suffered by his wife during the raid.

The ring could not be found after the agents had departed from the home with a small still, Petropolous testified today when arranged before a court commissioner.

Petropolous declared that while he was absent from his home last night Mrs. Petropolous unlocked the door when she was summoned by someone outside. The visitors proved to be prohibition agents who violently assaulted the door, throwing Mrs. Petropolous to the floor and injuring her so badly that she was placed under the care of a physician and could not appear at the arraignment today, Petropolous testified.

Edward L. Evans, one of the dry agents, admitted before United States Commissioner Harry L. Kellogg they had no search warrant. Preliminary hearing and investigation into the facts concerning disappearance of the ring has been set for Sept. 17.

Evans is the agent who was charged before a court commissioner three weeks ago with having used his membership card in the American Legion as a subterfuge in obtaining evidence of liquor law violations during the recent state convention of the Legion at Kenosha.

REMODEL WITH CELOTEX
Herbert Johnson

Before winter sets in...
REPAIR AND REMODEL WITH CANE FIBRE INSULATION

WISE home-owners, who want greater home comfort and fuel economy this winter, are planning now on insulating their roofs, on lining their basements, attics and garages with cane-fibre insulation.

This means they will do their repairing and remodeling with Celotex, because Celotex is the only cane-fibre insulation.

Nature seems to have intended cane-fibre for insulating purposes. The fibres are long, tough and durable—ideal for interlacing into big, strong boards that contain millions of tiny, sealed air cells—just what is required for efficient insulation.

Celotex builds as well as insulates. When used on the outside of houses, as sheathing, it adds structural strength... makes walls tight and permanent. Celotex Standard Building Board measures 4 feet wide, 7 to 12 feet long and 7/16 of an inch thick.

And on inside walls and ceilings, you can obtain finer, smoother, plastered surfaces with Celotex Lath. This better lath, 18 inches by 48 inches and 7/16 of an inch thick, is especially designed to reinforce against plaster cracks and eliminates lath marks.

Celotex is also handy for making comfortable extra rooms from waste spaces. It transforms unused areas into nurseries, play rooms, sewing and recreation rooms that are protected the year 'round from extreme weather.

As insulation, Celotex is not an expensive extra item, because it replaces other materials, and in later years saves you hundreds of dollars on fuel bills.

Before you build, buy or remodel, ask your architect, builder or dealer for further information on Celotex—and write us for our free booklet.

The word CELOTEX (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.) is the trademark of and indicates manufacture by The Celotex Company Chicago, Ill.

Even greater structural strength
IN "DOUBLE-THICK" CELOTEX
... and greater insulating value!

THIS stronger, thicker Celotex comes in boards 4 feet wide, and from 7 to 12 feet long, and measures 7/8 of an inch in thickness. Naturally it provides even more strength and insulating effectiveness.

Celotex Lath can also be ordered "double-thick" in units measuring 18 by 48 inches and 7/8 of an inch thick.

JOHNSTON WINS AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

CUBS' SLUGGING BEATS BRAVES, 13 TO 6 AND 9 TO 2

TEN STRAIGHT HITS IN OPENER EQUAL RECORD

Seibold, Cantwell Pounded.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There is no occasion to hurry. Nobody is going to catch them. Yet merely because they wish to have the faint, lingering doubt eliminated, the pennant blossoming Cubs boomed forth with violence yesterday and whipped the Braves in both ends of a double header before 30,000 at Wrigley field.

The first half of the show concluded with the budding champions in the van of the procession by 13 to 6. The second portion went into the records by 9 to 2, giving the north siders the right to declare themselves 11 full games in front of their Pittsburgh pursuers.

Battle No. 1, in which Fred Blake's pitching survived because of the home attack that surrounded his work, was mainly a matter of one inning. In the fourth, just after they had rallied in the third to assume the lead, the coming National league world's series entry relaxed with the abandon that since last July has marked them as sure victors.

Beat Another Nemesis.

They ripped into Socks Seibold as if this gentleman never had known what pitching was about. They drove him from the mound with eight consecutive hits, one of them a homer over the left field wall by Kiki Cuyler with two on. Then they added two more to the series of blows off his successor, Lefty Peery, to stretch the string to ten, which equals the major league record. During this revolt seven men scored and that was the ball game.

Outside of the rough house fashion in which the leaders clouted another Nemesis, Ben Cantwell, the feature of the second game was the throwing of Pat Malone. An attack of temperament or something in the opening inning put Pat away to a bad start, but this soon was corrected and the big speed baller promptly settled down to turn out a masterpiece. He did it to the tune of four Brave hits and eleven strikeouts.

In the midst of the terrific swatting in which the Cubs indulged there was an unusual sprint for top honors between Hornsby and Wilson. In the initial encounter Hack offered only a single in the productive fourth. Against this the Rajah produced two one basers and his thirty-fourth homer of the campaign. In the second game they reversed it. Hornsby hit only a double, which put the Cubs in front in the third, whereas Hack was continually busy running over the plate on two singles and a triple.

THE FIRST GAME

The Braves' initial effort to make the first battle interesting for Blake occurred in the second round when they poked a pair of runs over the plate. Bell led off with a single to left center and Harper moved him to third with a one base whack to Wilson's territory. Voyles' single to right sent Bell home. Maguire contributed a neat bunt which gave Harper and Voyles time to reach third and second, respectively. Then Spohrer spanked a long fly to left, and Harper ran over the counter after the catch.

With the help of an error the Cubs were able to retrieve one of the tallies in the home second. Maranville made the blunder by pegging wild to first on Cuyler's hopper. This annoyed Seibold a bit, so he walked Stephenson. Then Tolson annoyed Seibold some more with a single through short, Cuyler scoring. Taylor bunted the two runners along, but nothing further happened because Blake fanned and McMillan grounded out via short.

The Braves made the count 3 to 1 in their favor by getting a tally in the third on two hits and three passes. Richbourg opened the round with a single and Maranville walked. Sisler helped Blake considerably by bouncing to English for a double play that left Richbourg on third. The bases became clogged on passes to Bell and Harper. Voyles then singled to left, scoring Richbourg and leaving the bags jammed. The three runners died when Hornsby went back and plucked Maguire's popup out of the sun.

Stevie Cleans Bases.

The three runs with which the Cubs jumped into the lead in the third began to accumulate when English whipped a single into left. Hornsby coaxed Seibold into free passage. Wilson failed to satisfy by fouling to Sisler. Cuyler completed arrangements for a bit of heroics by Stephenson. He drew a pass, loading the corners. Then Stevie clouted the second pitch for a double to the bleachers in left center, English, Hornsby and Cuyler scooting across the plate before the ball could be returned. Neither Tolson nor Taylor could give Stephenson any assistance.

Blake was set down before anything started in the terrifying fourth when seven Cubs wore a path to the plate. The first of the ten successive hits was McMillan's single which Bell

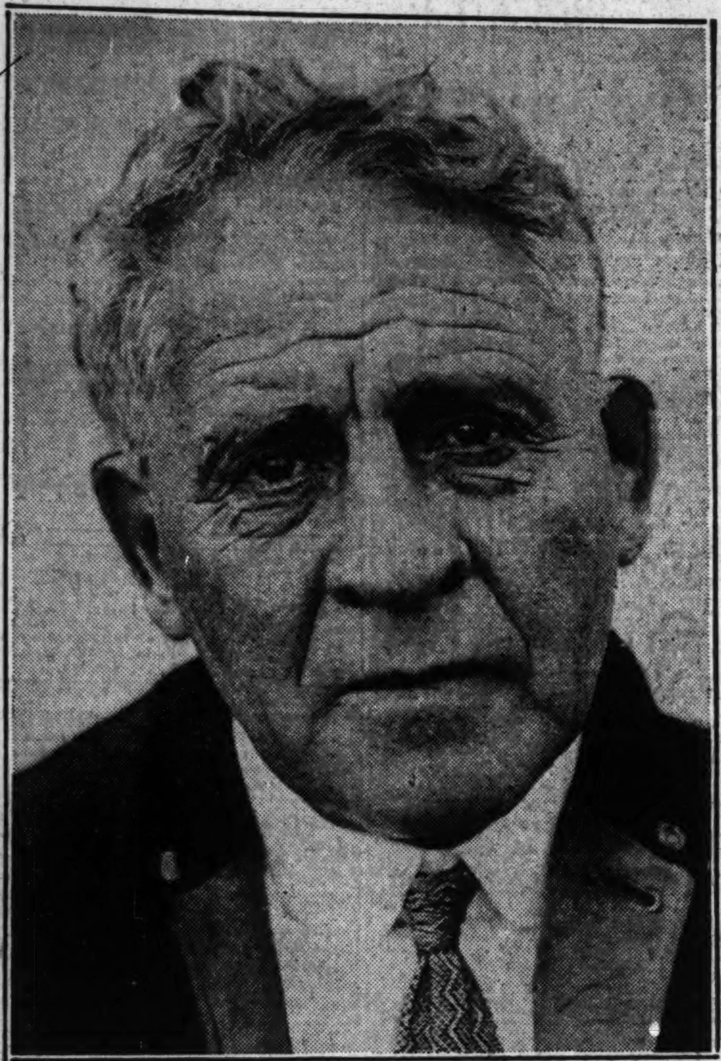
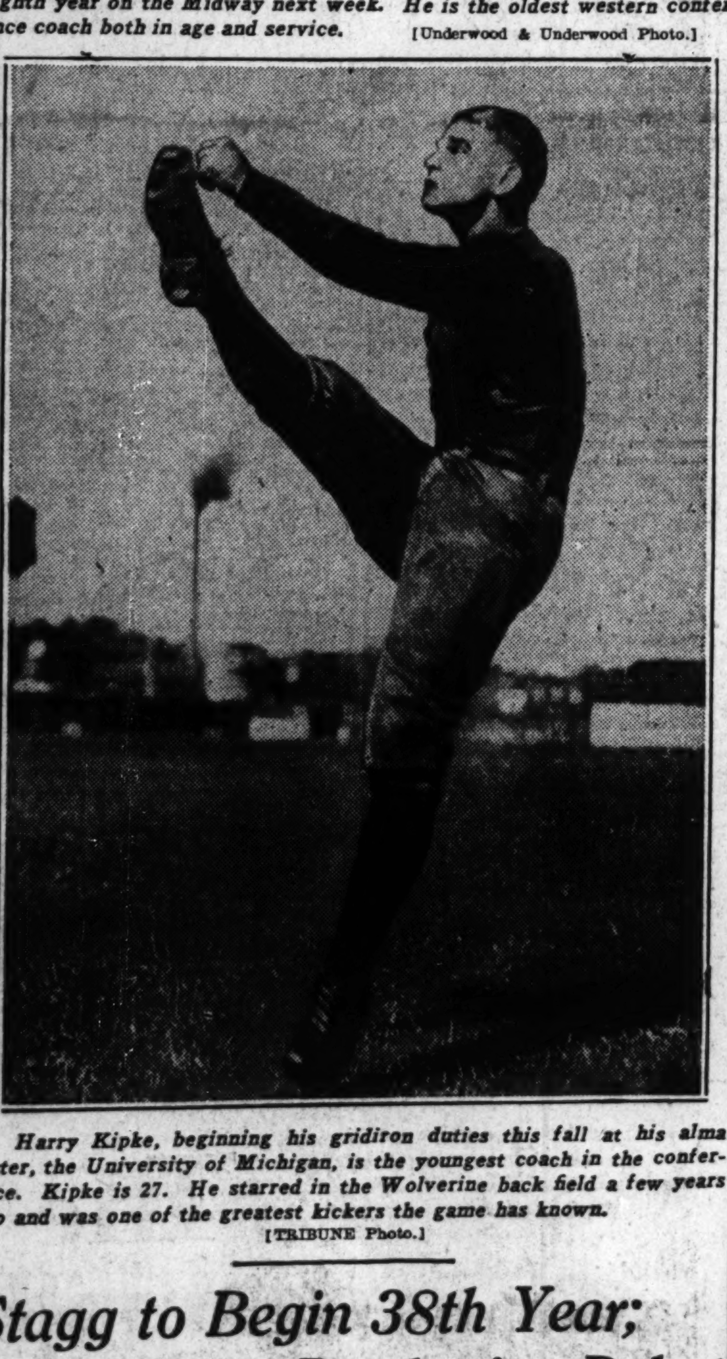
FATHER AND SON OF BIG 10



Dean of the country's football coaches, Amos Alonzo Stagg, 67 year old tactician of the University of Chicago, will begin his thirty-eighth year on the Midway next week. He is the oldest western conference coach both in age and service.

[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]



Harry Kipke, beginning his gridiron duties this fall at his alma mater, the University of Michigan, is the youngest coach in the conference. Kipke is 27. He starred in the Wolverine back field a few years ago and was one of the greatest kickers the game has known.

Stagg to Begin 38th Year; Kipke Ready for Debut

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The oldest and youngest coaches in the Western conference, A. A. Stagg of Chicago and Harry Kipke of Michigan, respectively, are making plans for the gridiron season. Although Michigan and Chicago will not meet this fall, it will be interesting to observe how the two teams coached by the oldest and youngest coaches in the conference will finish the season.

Stagg, who has done more for intercollegiate athletics than any other man in the country, is 67 years of age. When he blows the whistle Sept. 16 he will begin his 38th year of coaching at the Midway. Over that span of years the Grand Old Man has developed strong teams, some of which have won Big Ten championships and defeated others in intersectional struggles.

Stagg is a stickler for discipline, a crafty strategian and one of the best coaches in the country. His teams always command the respect of their opponents.

Stagg is the oldest member of the football rules committee and was the dominant factor in organizing the Western conference. He was one of the greatest athletes who ever played for Yale. For years he was old Eli's leading baseball pitcher and in 1889 was chosen by Walter Camp for an end position on his All-American team. There probably is not a man connected in an official capacity with any school who does not respect the veteran Maroon coach.

Harry Kipke, one of the greatest backs who ever wore the Maize and Blue of Michigan, is starting his first year as head coach of a Big Ten eleven. He was an All-American selection by Camp in 1922 and in 1923 was chosen for a back position by several critics. In his playing days, Kipke was regarded as one of the most accurate punters in the history of the game. His kicks were long and well placed. He was a splendid ball carrier and excellent blocker and equally value on defense.

Kipke is 27 years of age and last year was head coach at Michigan State. He has a bright future at Ann Arbor, and Michigan alumni are sure to support him.

Michigan will meet Harvard at Ann Arbor on Nov. 9 in one of the most important games on the Wolverine schedule.

LINCOLN FIELDS HANDICAP WON BY BLACKWOOD

Karl Eitel, Favorite, Next to Last.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Karl Eitel, Ald. John [The Bath] Coughlin's great 3 year old, broke the entire First ward and most of those in the 22,000 crowd at Lincoln Fields yesterday when, as the odds on choice in the Lincoln handicap, worth $28,000, he was beaten 35 lengths, finishing next to last.

Blackwood, owned by Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago, a 4 year old son of Black Toney-Rosewood, which had never taken a stake race, was the winner at 18 to 1. He beat Johnson N. Camden's Martinique by a length. Royal Julian, a 5 year old from Kentucky, was another length and a half back in third place, with Montanaro fourth. Last in the field of seven came Windy City, the American Derby winner. He trailed Blackwood by 50 lengths when the latter went galloping past the finish line.

Thus, two more western 3 year olds, famous in the spring and early summer, and, which by a brilliant late summer and fall campaign might have dimmed Blue Larkspur's championship claims, fell by the wayside. For Karl Eitel and Windy City were beaten in the rich stake by horses hardly worthy of competition in such a fixture.

Track Muddy in Spots.

What the mighty Chance Play and the great Toro, previous winners of the Lincoln, would have done to those four leaders in yesterday's race is sad to contemplate.

The mile and a quarter struggle was decided over a heavy, drying out track. It was muddy in spots. It held in other places and proved difficult to negotiate at any point. These conditions caused the early withdrawal of Misstep, Lawley and Canaan.

It also brought the downfall of the two leading 3 year olds, Karl Eitel and Windy City, neither taking any fancy to the going. Windy City broke slowly and never at any stage was out of last place. Nor did he extend himself. Jockey R. Jones brought Karl Eitel up with the leaders as the field neared the clubhouse and kept him there until they straightened out for the back stretch run. Then Karl Eitel, roughed up a bit on the turn by Jockey Meyer on Blackwood, by Jockey Parmelee on Royal Julian and by Jockey Allen on Martinique, began to flounder all over the track.

The aged horses in front of him pulled away. And Karl Eitel started to drop back as if he wanted to cheat Windy City out of last place. By the time the stretch run began it became a real struggle between Eitel and Windy City for last place. In the meantime, their older rivals drew away.

Blackwood Takes Lead.

Blackwood took the lead on the clubhouse turn, Jockey Meyer saving ground with him throughout the early stages. He still saved ground as he headed into the stretch. Then, ahead by two lengths over Martinique, Montanaro and Royal Julian, he brought Blackwood out just far enough from the rail for the best footing.

It was all over from there home. Allen on Martinique tried to challenge but it was a weak effort. He pulled up within a length when Blackwood put on more speed and galloped to victory. Montanaro tried gallantly to shake off Royal Julian and save third money, but lost it in the final strides.

It was a slowly run race. Blackwood's time was 2:10 2-5, far off the track record. In the mutuels he paid $40.56 to win, $13.96 to place, and $7.40 to show. Martinique was at $12.86 to place and $6.76 to show. Royal Julian paid $4.56 to show. Had Karl Eitel won he would have rewarded his backers at 94 cents to a dollar.

Purchased a Year Ago.

The race was run under ideal weather conditions and while the crowd hardly rivaled the big Labor day gathering, the mutuel activity seemed to be the season's liveliest.

Mrs. Denemark purchased Blackwood and one other horse from the Bloomfield stable of Detroit nearly a year ago for $12,000. The son of Black Toney has been a consistent winner for his Chicago owner. With the First warders in tears and the south siders grieving at the defeats of Karl Eitel and Windy City, Mr. Denemark enlivened the finish by a raucous war hoot as he tossed his hat far into the air when Blackwood's number dropped into the winner's slot.

Tilden Wins First Match in U. S. Title Play

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—A rampant William Tilden today mowed down a former protégé, Donald Strachan of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, as the forty-eighth annual all-comers got under way at the West Side Tennis club here. The brilliant play of the former champion, whose lack of charity toward one to whom he has been kindly disposed, was an indication of his keenness to regain his crown, stood out as the most impressive exhibition of the day. Gregory Mangin of Newark and Norman G. Farquharson of Cambridge went down in defeat, while John Doeg of Santa Monica escaped a similar fate only after he had dropped the first two sets to Jerry Lang of New York, then won, 5-7, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

The defeat of Mangin was brought about by Arnold W. Jones of Providence, 6-6, 6-3, 6-0, and it marked the only casualty among the ranks of the eight seeded Americans.

It was Jones' guile in varying his length, in mixing up lobs and drop shots, and in baiting his returns of service for volley errors that broke up the attack of Mangin and left him utterly disheartened by the end of the second set.

Farquharson went down before Edgar F. Dawson of New York, 8-10, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4, a remarkable achievement for Dawson, but one which is to be explained in part, to be fair to Farquharson, by the fact that the Cambridge undergraduate had a sun stroke Thursday and had not entirely recovered from it today.

Forty-seven players of the starting field of ninety survived upon the conclusion of the first day's competition. George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago; Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y.; John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J.; Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex.; and Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., the other seeded Americans, and H. W. Austin, J. S. Olliff, and E. R. Avery of England, and Tamio Abe of Japan were included among the forty-seven.

Leonard, Hard Up, Threatens Return to Fistic Ranks

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Benny Leonard has confided to a few intimates that he is planning a comeback. Of course there is nothing startling about that because theoretically the retired undefeated world's lightweight champion has been coming back ever since he announced his permanent retirement.

But the story as related by Benny to his intimates this time sounds more logical than of the preceding verbal concoctions.

Benny, the story goes, is hard up. He invested something like $60,000 in a second mortgage brokerage firm and lost every nickel of it. He thinks he can whip all of the so-called contenders for Mickey Walker's middleweight crown, including the champion himself.

His reported plan is to participate in two warmup fights in the Garden, one with either Izzy Grove or Harry Ebbets and the other with a man of Matchmaker Tom McArdle's selection who must be just enough of a card to enable the Garden to pay Leonard the $30,000 guarantee he is going to demand for each fight.

If Benny comes through unscarred and unsullied in both fights he will open negotiations for the title fight with Walker to be held here next summer.

O'DOUL REPLACES HERMAN IN RACE FOR BIG 6 LEAD

By crashing out three hits in five attempts as the Phils defeated the Cardinals at St. Louis yesterday, Frank O'Doul lifted his average two points to .395 and gained the batting leadership of the big six and the national league. Babe Herman of Brooklyn got two out of five at Pittsburgh, but remained stationary at .393.

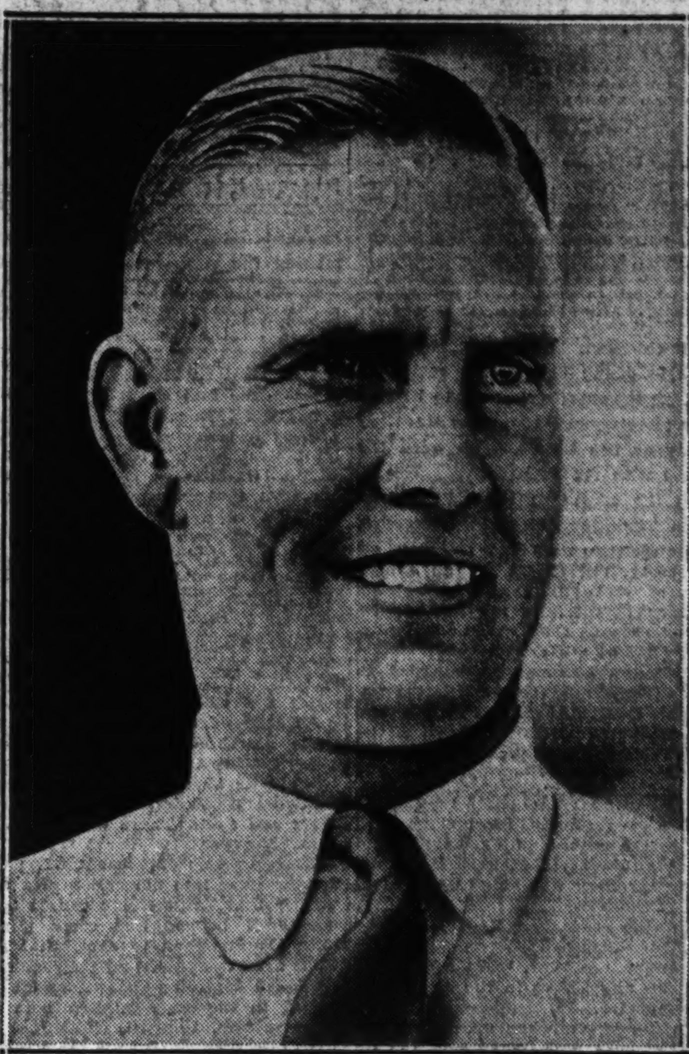
JIMMY'S FIGHTING FACE



Determination. Three down at the seventh hole, one down at the eighteenth, Harrison Johnston kept to his business with concentration and was rewarded with a national amateur golfing championship. His victory was 4 and 3 over Dr. O. F. Willing.

Jimmy, Lover of Sports, Began Golf as Caddy for His Dad

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Harrison R. Johnston, amateur golf champion of the United States, has been an active young man since the days when he started caddying for his father.

Jimmy began his golfing career when 12 years old. He started to caddy for his father and his father's friends out at the Lafayette club in Minneapolis. He displayed a natural aptitude for the game and attracted the attention of Otis George, at that time pro at the Lake course. Otis took Jimmy in hand, gave him his first instruction and grounded him in the fundamentals.

Wins Caddy Meet.

Jimmy's first golf triumph was experienced at Interlachen, Minneapolis, two years after he first swung a club. He won the caddy tournament with 79, a fine round for a 13 year old boy. He was next heard from when he won the medal tournament at Town and Country in 1916. He was 19 then. The experts prophesied great things for him. He had the physique, the shots and the temperament. Then the next year the war came along to sidetrack Jimmy's attention.

About the time of the armistice, Jimmy was down at Nice recuperating from influenza. He entered the interallied officers' tournament at Monte Carlo. At that time he broke the course record at Monte Carlo. In the A. E. F. tourney which included officers and enlisted men alike, Jimmy was medalist, but lost out in the semi-finals. After the war Jimmy found time to develop his game. He came prominently into the golf world in 1921 when he won his first state title. During that year he shot the low medal round, 144, in both the Minnesota state tournament and the Western at Chicago. Since that time, Jimmy has won the Minnesota state title six times.

Member of Walker Cup Team.

He was a member of the United States Walker cup team in 1922, 1923, 1926 and 1927. He won the qualifying round in the United States open championship in 1927 and finished in the money.

Perhaps his greatest accomplishment was the winning of the Western Golf association title in 1924 at Hinsdale. In this tournament, Jimmy was in the tougher half of the bracket being forced to get by Robert Gardner, Burton Mudge, Rudy Knepper and S. Davison Herron.

The young man from St. Paul made golf history by winning the last five holes in a row and the Western championship with it.

Jimmy showed the same courage in his splendid fight in the National Amateur. He was down all the way to George Voigt, but tied up the match and won on the 39th hole. Voigt is ranked as number 3 amateur in the country.

Took Up Boxing.

Jimmy is an athlete who enjoys many forms of athletics in addition to golf. He is an enthusiastic sportsman who gets to marshes and duck passes as frequently as possible. He likes to fish, but golf keeps him from the lakes much of the time during the summer.

Jimmy is married and has two children.

Tommy Gibbons took Jimmy in charge for a series of boxing lessons a few years back. Jimmy fell for the racket as though it were his only diversion. Tommy said at the time that the golf champion would go a long way in the boxing game did he choose to follow it.

His father, Clarence H. Johnston, a St. Paul architect, has been a golfer many years. He started Jimmy in the game and has been a follower of his fortunes ever since he showed signs of championship caliber. Johnston Sr. has attended many tournaments in which Johnston competed. Last night he wrote Jimmy a long telegram of congratulations and advice.

"He will laugh when he gets it," said Pater Johnston. "He has heard it all before; he knows it but this will refresh his mind. He will say 'just another one of those fatherly talks,' but I know he will be glad to get it."

Wife of Walter Hagen Gets $9,300 Alimony Judgment

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edna Hagen won a court order for $9,300 from her husband, Walter Hagen, here today, the sum being the total of asserted back alimony payments. Hagen did not contest and his wife was not here to press her suit, her attorney presenting a deposition which explained Mrs. Hagen was unable to leave New York. Hagen has a divorce suit pending here against his wife.

Bucky Harris to Manage Tigers in 1930 Campaign

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—[U. P.]—Stanley [Bucky] Harris will manage the Detroit Tigers again in 1930, having signed another one year contract with officials of the local team, according to announcement today by Frank J. Navin, owner.

Pebble Beach, Cal., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The amateur golfing capital of the United States shifted today from Atlanta to St. Paul when Harrison R. Johnston, fighting son of the great midwest, beat the battling dentist of the Pacific northwest, Dr. Oscar F. Willing, 4 and 3, in the final match of the first tournament ever held this side of the Rockies.

Johnston, competing in the title round for the first time in his career, succeeded to the championship relinquished by Bobby Jones when the favorite golfing son of Dixie was unceremoniously eliminated in the first round by Johnny Goodman of Omaha.

The 33 year old St. Paul investment broker, whose boyish manner seemed to catch the fancy of the crowd, rallied after a bad start to overhaul and beat the veteran Dr. Willing in a match that was marred by erratic play and by an attitude of distinct hostility toward the loser on the part of a good share of the gallery.

Except for the gallant fighting spirit manifested by both contestants right up to the finishing stroke on the thirty-third green, where Johnston got the half that clinched the issue, the brand of golf was not up to championship standard as it has come to be exemplified by ex-Emperor Jones, but the attitude of the gallery toward the robust Oregonian was as remarkable as anything ever witnessed in thirty-three years of competition for the amateur crown.

Crowd Cheers Johnston.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Willing carried the banner of the Pacific coast in the final round for the first time and in the first tournament held in the far west, the gallery of perhaps 5,000 spectators manifested strong support of Johnston throughout and gave him a tremendous ovation at the finish.

The contrast between the bareheaded Jimmy and the portly, somewhat sour looking dentist may have had some influence. Johnston, too, was the younger, for Willing is a campaigner of 39 and Jimmy was the underdog for the first half of the match. Furthermore, the doctor's known disinclination to concede short putts has found disfavor among the spectators, a number of times during the tournament and that, too, appeared a factor in the unusual partisanship of the jostling jam.

Whatever it was, the match witnessed a startling outburst of cheers at the eighth hole when Willing missed a shot in a trap and Johnston won his first hole after apparently having tossed it away by puting his shot over the cliff of the oceanside. Again at the sixteenth hole, when St. Paul Jimmy really began his uphill fight to victory, scattering cheers echoed as Willing's second shot trickled over the edge of the green into a trap, from which it took the doctor two to get out.

Plays Great Recovery.

Again at the eighteenth the partisan spirits of the gallery groaned as Willing's approach shot, apparently headed for a trap, just cleared the hazard and made the green. It was on this hole that Johnston made the most magnificent recovery shot of the entire match. He had just cut Willing's lead from three to one hole by taking the sixteenth and seventeenth in succession but it looked dubious when Jimmy pulled his brassie over the bank and down to the edge of the ocean. The surf lapped around his ankles as he took his stance but he clouted the ball to within six yards of the green, just short of a trap from where he chipped dead to the pin for the par five that gave him a half, Willing requiring two putts to get down.

Had Johnston been able to sink at least a half dozen short putts, ranging from four to eight feet, he would have won the match long before the thirty-third. Jimmy was nervous and wild at the start, finding traps, woods, or rough on six of the first nine holes. He steadied down after that, got his irons and woods under control but repeatedly lost chances to win by falling on putts that looked ridiculously easy. Fortunately for the St. Paul star, his opponent was having similar trouble. Otherwise they might have battled to dark.

On both the 14th and 15th holes in the morning, after beautiful pitch shots, Johnston missed short putts by inches, for wins. Both finished the first round in even 80, eight over par, to show the extent of their poor scoring, but Johnston redeemed an erratic outward 43 by coming back in 37, only one over par. In fact Jimmy played the last eight holes of the first round in even par. Willing was out in 41, back in 39.

Break Comes on 24th.

They started shakily again in the afternoon, both taking two shots out of traps on the 19th to reach the green but Johnston got down in five to win the hole and square the match. Thus encouraged, Johnston took command of the situation for the first time. He began to hit his shots with more confidence, boldness and accuracy. He missed a five foot putt for a win on the 21st but took the lead on the 22d for the first time when Willing three-putted. Jimmy planked his tee shot to the 160 yards 23d hole, ten feet from the cup, and won the hole with a three after Willing was trapped and exploded to the opposite of the green.

Aided by a break Johnston won his third straight hole and virtually settled the match on the long 502 yard 24th which bends around the cliff at the ocean's edge and finishes uphill.

Going for the green with his second shot, using a spoon, Johnston half topped the ball and it barely carried over the cove that cuts part way into the elbowed fairway. He was still 60 yards short of the green but laid a chip shot dead, eight feet from the cup. Willing chipped short, missed his putt and Johnston holed for a birdie, the first and only one of the entire contest.

Willing was game right down to the finish, but he was a beaten man from then on. Johnston, on most of the holes, was putting for the win while Doc was struggling for the half.

End Is in Sight.

On the 110 yard 25th, Johnston missed a six foot putt for a birdie two, which would have made him four up. Willing had to get down in one putt on the 26th to get a half. He won back a hole at the 27th when Johnston was trapped, but the end was in sight.

Johnston won the 28th to become three up again, when Willing's second shot sliced over the ocean bank.

The doctor made a remarkable recovery with his niblick, reaching the green, but he could not sink a 20 footer. Both were in trouble on the short 30th, but Johnston finally took it with a four to Willing's five. This hole marked the fourth time in the match that Willing took two shots to get out of a bunker. It seemed that what hopes he had were buried in the sand tonight, for on each of these occasions he lost the hole.

All Johnston needed to protect his margin of four up, was to halve the next three holes and he did it, helped on the 31st as well as the long 32nd by brilliant chip shots that enabled him to offset mistakes and get down each time in one putt.

Johnston thus marched to his first national championship at the age of 33 in a tournament that knocked the dope all over Pebble Beach and the surrounding California countryside.

PHILS TURN BACK CARDINALS, 4-1, IN FIRST GAME

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Phillies took the first of a series of four games from the Cardinals today, 4 to 1. Koupal, pitching for the Phillies, scattered the Cardinals' eight hits and blanked them until the ninth. Except for O'Doul's homer in the fifth, which bounced off the roof of the right field pavilion, the game was a rather quiet affair. Score:

Chicago ....000 000 001—1

Error—Berg. Sacrifice—Clancy. Two base hits—Shires, Judge, Reynolds. Struck out—Marberry, 3. Bases on balls—Thomas, 2; Marberry, 2. Double plays—Reynolds to Berg; Cissell to Kerr. Umpires—Geisel and Moriarity. Time—1:35.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Tommy Thomas was compelled to take the short end of a 2 to 1 count in a pitching duel with Fred Marberry today as the White Sox opened the series with the Senators.

In the course of the sultry afternoon Thomas yielded seven safeties, one more than the visitors obtained off Marberry, but except for an exhibition of wool-gathering by Berg, his battery partner, he might have escaped defeat. Only one of the Senators' tallies was earned.

Chicago's batting was confined to the upper strata, the great Shires getting half of his team's hits. It was the weakness of the lower end of the Chicago array that proved a handicap to Thomas.

Shires Leads Off with Double.

The great Shires, for instance, led off in the second with a double, and Hoffman walked, but neither Kamm, Kerr nor Berg was able to get a ball out of the infield.

In the seventh, Reynolds, who opened with a two bagger, died trying to stretch the blow, while safeties by Metzler and Shires in the sixth were unsupported.

In the ninth, when successive hits by Reynolds and Shires put Sox on third and first, it appeared Marberry finally might be solved, but after Clancy, batting for Hoffman, had driven in a run with a sacrifice fly, Kamm popped out and Shires died stealing.

The Senators opened the scoring in the third inning. With two gone, Judge lined a double against the right field fence and tallied on a safety to left by Rice. Then a sensational play by Cissell prevented more damage. He ran into center field for an over the shoulder catch of Goslin's Texas leaguer.

Berg Caught Napping.

Washington's second tally, registered in the fifth, was a gift, due to a mental lapse by Berg. Hayes opened the inning with a hit to left and moved up on a single to right by Marberry. Judge provided the first out with a weak fly to Metzler, but Rice walked, filling the bases. Goslin then raised a fly that Berg captured on foul territory after a hard run. Evidently thinking this made the third out, Berg tossed the ball toward the infield. Hayes scored on the error, but Cissell retrieved the ball and Marberry was run down.

The only other time Thomas was threatened was in the sixth when West got a safety with one down and reached third on a single that Tate bounded over Shires' head. Metzler's peg to Berg after catching Cronin's fly doubled West trying to score from third.

It May Interest You to Know That—

CAPT. CHARLEY GRIMM was in uniform yesterday and worked out with the Cubs. He didn't take any thrown balls with his bare hand, however. The left paw still is wrapped up to protect the fracture suffered at the Polo grounds three weeks ago. The cast will be removed in another week, and the veteran first sacker hopes to go back to his regular job immediately.

Despite the top-heavy leads enjoyed by the Athletics and Cubs, Commissioner Landis is taking no chances. He has summoned representatives of all clubs with a mathematical chance to attend a meeting here Tuesday at which world's series arrangements will be completed. The series probably will open at Wrigley field Tuesday, Oct. 8, with the Cubs and Macks the contenders.

Prices for the series engagements here have not been definitely decided upon so far as is known, but probably will be $6.60 for box chairs and $5.50 for reserved grandstand. There will be some $3.30 seats somewhere. The present bleachers and any additions that might be made will be $1. The $5.50 and the $6.60 will be sold in advance, and it will be necessary to buy for three games.

Baseball, because it has been permitted to become too much of a machine-like affair, may be dead in some spots, but the Cubs don't notice the difference. Yesterday's crowd raised the season's mark for the home games to almost 1,250,000. The remaining games at Wrigley field undoubtedly will attract another 250,000 which will mean that much more to the present record held by the Yankees.

Cubs' Slugging Overwhelms Braves Twice, 13-6 and 9-2

knocked down and threw wild, permitting the runner to reach second. English blew a hit into center, McMillan scoring. Hornsby declared himself in on the party by singling to right, putting English on third. Wilson also hit safely to right, English going home and Hornsby to third.

Cuyler's turn came next. Without waiting to look over Seibold's wares, he took the first ball pitched and whipped it into the trees behind the left field wall. Hornsby and Wilson preceded him over the plate. This much made five runs. Stephenson renewed the activity by singling. Tolson did the same and took second on the vain attempt to flag Stevie at third. A single by Taylor drove them home and likewise induced the Braves' management to send some needed relief to Seibold.

Blake Greets Newcomer.

As soon as Peery appeared, Blake made him feel natural by singling over first base. Then McMillan filled the pillows by beating out a line hit that did a billiard off Maranville's glove and chin. There were no more runs, however.

There was no excitement when the Braves came into possession of a run in the sixth. Successive passes to a couple of batters and some infield outs did it. Then to show that the Cubs hadn't expended all their energy, McMillan doubled and Hornsby hit his homer in the seventh. The lone bit of noise after this was occasioned by four hits that rattled off the Braves' bats in the ninth and scored a pair of harmless runs.

THE SECOND GAME

Malone's hurling in the first session of the nightcap ranged from very bum to very good. An error also was involved, so it probably was something akin to a modern miracle that only two runs resulted. With one out, Tolson made a wild heave to Malone, who covered on Maranville's grounder. Sisler whipped a single into left and when the Cubs ceased throwing the ball around Maranville was on third and Sisler on second. Malone then went democratic. He walked Bell to fill the bases. And he walked both Harper and Voyles to force Maranville and Sisler across the counter. Then as suddenly as he lost control, Malone converted himself into a good pitcher by fanning Maguire and Leggett.

Just a wee bit of luck came the way of the Cubs in the second round and assisted them to two runs and a tie score. Wilson set the round in motion with a single between Maguire and Sisler. Cuyler lifted a high fly to short center and Harper made up his mind he was going to get it or break a neck. He charged over from left and despite a dive at the last moment couldn't get his paws on the ball. It fell for a single. Stephenson bunted the two runners up a peg apiece and Tolson's single to right shoved them home.

The Cubs stepped out in front by one run in the third because Hornsby slipped his powerful bat in between a couple of passes. English walked after two were out and Hornsby drove a double straight past Maranville at short. English didn't hesitate until he had reached the plate. This was followed by a pass to Wilson, but Cuyler bounced to Sisler, and the inning ceased. To keep the folks interested, the coming champs picked up a run in the fourth on a double by Tolson and a single off Malone's bat.

Cubs Increase Lead.

English doubled down the third base line to start a three run rally in the fifth. Hornsby spanked a low liner to right. Richbourg caught it, but English hiked to third after the catch. The infield came in for a possible play at the plate and Wilson whistled a bulletlike single past Maranville, sending English home. Cuyler banked a single into center, and Voyles in his haste failed to halt the ball. It hopped past him, giving Wilson time to score and Cuyler time to reach third. Stephenson sent Voyles back to the screen in left center in quest of a fly ball, and Cuyler hustled home after the catch. This made the board read, Cubs, 7; Braves, 2.

For no reason except that they wanted all the base hits available, the Cubs clubbed over another pair of runs in the seventh. Hornsby drew free transportation after English had flied out. Wilson then lined a real blow to right center, and it bounced off the screen for a triple, Hornsby scoring. Hack hugged third while Cuyler was being tossed out by Maranville. Stephenson then slashed a hit to right to score Hack with the last run of the afternoon.

'Atta Boy, Malone!

ATHLETICS AND INDIANS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER

Win Opener, 5 to 1; Drop Second, 4 to 0.

LEFTY GROVE.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The Athletics split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians here this afternoon. Behind Lefty Grove's pitching the A's walked off with the first contest, 5 to 1, but in the nightcap affair an outburst of home runs broke up Rube Walberg's fine flinging and gave the Indians a 4 to 0 triumph.

The second game was a pitching duel between Walberg and Hudlin until the seventh, when the Indians broke a scoreless tie, scoring on singles by Morgan and Hodap, with a sacrifice sandwiched in. In the ninth the visitors equaled the modern record for some runs, scoring three with an out in between.

Fonseca opened the inning with a four base drive into the left field stands. Then Morgan pushed one into the upper tier, and after J. Sewell had grounded out, Hodapp propelled another homer, this one going into the upper pavilion close to the foul line. Score:

YANKS, TIGERS DIVIDE

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth hit his forty-first home run of the season and Dale Alexander hit two homers at the stadium today as the Yankees and Tigers divided a double header. The Tigers won the opener, 5 to 4, while the Hugmen came back with some vicious batting to win the second, 11 to 7.

RED SOX, 4; BROWNS, 3

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Going into the ninth inning three runs behind, the Red Sox scored four runs and defeated the Browns today, 4 to 3. Todt opened the ninth by grounding out to Melillo. Heving singled to left and scored on Ruffing's double to center after Rhyne had flied out. Reeves drew a pass and Scarritt's infield hit filled the bases. Rothrock hit a low line drive to right. McGowan tried to make a shoestring catch, but the ball got away for a triple, scoring Ruffing, Reeves, and Scarritt. Crowder hurled a great game until he weakened in the ninth. Score:

3 ERRORS ENABLE PIRATES TO TRIM ROBINS BY 6 TO 2

Lloyd Waner Stars in Pittsburgh Victory.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Errors by Bancroft, Moore and Bissonette were mainly responsible for the Robins dropping the third game of the series to the Pirates today, 6 to 2.

Pittsburgh grabbed two markers in the first on errors by Bancroft and Moore and added three more in the seventh, aided by Bissonette's error.

Lloyd Waner helped Ray Kremer win his game by getting three hits, scoring three runs and stealing two bases. Score:

THE NUT TAKES LAWRENCE STAKE WORTH $31,760

Proves Superiority Over Eastern Rivals.

New York, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The Nut confirmed his superiority over Beacon Hill and other eastern 3 year olds left in training today when he won the Lawrence Realization before 26,000 persons at Belmont park. Blue Larkspur and Jack High, each with a claim to the 3 year old superiority, are not in training, and The Nut's convincing victory coupled with his earlier races since being taken over by The Warm stable, put him on the top.

Beacon Hill beat The Nut when he won the Travers for Harry Payne Whitney, but was subsequently whipped by The Nut in the Huron handicap.

Now, at a mile and five-eighths, The Nut again scored easily and Beacon Hill, after a long early lead, faded so fast in the stretch that he was third to R. T. Wilson's African, which closed strongly to land second money, three lengths back of The Nut and half a length ahead of Beacon Hill. Until this spring, The Nut and Beacon Hill were stablemates in the Whitney barn but the son of Mad Hatter and Afternoon, which won today, was thrown in with Victorian and Cady Hill in a sale this spring. His triumph today was worth $31,760.

Well handled by Trainer Joe Notter, who years ago was a jockey for Whitney, The Nut was brought up to the Realization in first class condition and he minded the muddy going no more than his competition. Mack Garner was in the saddle and completed a double victory by his canny ride which kept The Nut off on a crackling early pace and then sent him into the lead at a time when Beacon Hill was yelling for help.

MASTRO'S FRIENDS TO SEE HIM BOX IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Chicago fans will mingle with those of Milwaukee at the opening of the fall season of boxing at the auditorium next Tuseday night, Tom Andrews having been notified today that a special train with 300 on it will represent the Windy City, and root for Earl Mastro, who will box Santiago Zorrilla at 128 pounds.

Nathanson Joins Official Family at Hawthorne

Martin Nathanson of Chicago, who has served as a steward on most of the Chicago race tracks this season, received two new appointments yesterday. He was added to the official family for Hawthorne's fall meeting and will serve with Joseph A. Murphy in the steward's stand. Later in the day it was announced he had been appointed presiding steward for the winter meeting at the Fair Grounds track in New Orleans.

From the present lineup, Chicago racing officials will serve at all the winter tracks except at Agua Caliente. Murphy, who resigned the post at New Orleans which Nathanson has taken, has been offered the position of presiding steward at Miami, it is reported. Christopher Fitzgerald, presiding steward at Arlington, succeeds Nathanson as the presiding official at the Oriental Park track at Havana, Cuba.

President John C. Shank of the Hawthorne association announced yesterday the Hawthorne Gold cup, worth $25,000 at a mile and a quarter, will be run Oct. 7. This is the day before the world series is scheduled to start at Wrigley field. A representative of the Hawthorne track will be sent east this week to solicit entries for the cup race.

The Black Dot stable, headed by the good horses Hypoloxo and Click, the latter the victim of the sponge plot at Hawthorne, shipped to the Havre De Grace track in Maryland yesterday. Trainer A. J. Daniels was in charge.

Cheers, claimed numerous times on Chicago tracks this season, found a new owner after he finished second in the second race at Lincoln Fields yesterday. Mrs. E. Denemark took him from the Jones Stock Farm stable.

Officials of the C. & E. I. lines reported last night the travel to Lincoln Fields this season for the first 12 days was 50 per cent greater than for the first 12 days of last year's meeting.

Lightning Jones, 2 year old owned by Knebelkamp and Morris, was the only favorite to win over the difficult track yesterday. Lightning did a good job of it, beating Plucky Play by eight lengths.

ST. LOUIS POLICE TEAM VICTOR IN REVOLVER SHOOT

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The St. Louis, Mo., police pistol team won the revolver team trophy in the National Rifle association pistol team matches today. The five members had an aggregate score of 1,334 out of a possible 1,500.

The Detroit, Mich., team was second with 1,294 and the United States infantry team was third with 1,291.

The United States Railway Men's team of 20 riflemen became a favorite to win the International Railway men small bore match by shooting an aggregate of 7,800 out of a possible 8,000. Last year Great Britain was first with 7,728. The match is open to teams of employes of railroads and is contested in the United States, Canada and Great Britain with each team firing over its own course and cabling its score. The British teams will shoot Sept. 15.

Lord Burghley, Cambridge Athlete, Quits Grenadiers

CANTON GIVEN 3 EYE-CENTRAL LEAGUE OPENER

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—President L. J. Wylie of the Three I and Central leagues announced today that the playoff between the winners of the two class B circuits would open in Canton, O., Tuesday, with the second and third games to be played Wednesday and Thursday. Friday will be reserved for travel, with the scene shifting to the Three I league city for games needed to give one club four out of seven victories.

Canton has already clinched the Central league pennant, while Evansville and Quincy are battling for the Three I league flag. The league head also announced the umpires for the series as Jim Ward and "Slats" Davis from the Three I, and Con Daly and Tom Robinson from the Central.

Heavy Mutuel Play in Chicago Balks Padding

BY FRENCH LANE.

The remarkable growth of Chicago racing has delivered the turf here from one of its chief evils, the old shell game of certain sure thing gamblers who pad the mutuel betting machines.

But while Chicago's racing has become so big the mutuel padders cannot operate here without Rockefeller's money or the Bank of England behind them, they continue to nip the bookmakers around the country at tracks where the mutuel play is light.

The most flagrant example of the present season took place at the Dorval track in Canada only two weeks ago. A clique of owners and gamblers shipped the 3 year old Supawna from New York to Canada for the cleanup.

In New York Supawna had run second in a race which engaged 15 horses valued, according to the claiming price, at $5,000. Then he won from a field of horses valued at $3,000.

A few days later Supawna's name bobbed up in the entries at Dorval Park. He was entered to be claimed for $1,200 and the others were valued at the same price.

A horse than can win from $3,000 horses around New York should beat $1,200 horses in Canada any day, unless hit by a bolt of lightning or the jockey permitted him to jump the fence and run down a wayside highway.

So on paper Supawna was in a spot where it looked like he couldn't lose. The price makers were not fooled. One of the ablest in Chicago sent the price against him out in the morning betting at 4 to 5. The early betting reports from the track were that he was at even money and 6 to 5.

Those in on the coup considered the race was as good as won. But they wanted more than even money for the wagers they made. At Dorval, on this particular racing day, the play was reported to be light. By betting $5,000 or so on the other horses in the race at the last minute the price against Supawna went up from even money to a little better than 5 to 1. To get the $5,000 back they used in padding the mutuels the Supawna backers had to make only a thousand dollar wager with a bookmaker in some distant city.

They got the $5,000 back, all right. And by scattering wagers of various sizes with bookmakers in the big handbook centers of the country—Chicago, Jersey City, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, and New Orleans—they were reported to have wagered a total of $40,000. Thus, their $5,000 investment in the mutuel machines which lifted Supawna's price from even money to more than 5 to 1 netted them a profit of about $200,000 on the wagers they made away from the track. In this particular instance the actual profits were said to have been about $140,000. Bookmakers who lost the other $60,000 refused to pay off.

In Chicago, Maryland, and on the larger tracks in Kentucky, where the mutuel pools in each race run in the neighborhood of $100,000, it would ordinarily take about $25,000 to make an even money shot 2 to 1. To raise the price from even money to 5 to 1 it would require an investment of around $90,000 in the machines.

Teal, Chary of Cold Weather, Leave North

BY BOB BECKER.

Moving southward from northern nesting grounds, always ahead of old Jack Frost, the blue winged teal are winging their way over the central states toward the gulf coast. Noted for its speed, this small duck with an eight cylinder power plant under its wings is one member of the water fowl family that wants nothing to do with cold weather.

When the duck season in Illinois opens on the 24th of this month there probably will be a few teal still lingering in marshes, ponds, and other spots where the water is shallow and food is abundant, but the great blue winged teal migration will have sent the majority of these ducks down the river toward the lowlands along the gulf coast.

Last year while duck shooting along the upper Illinois river above Morris, Ill., we secured a pretty good bag of bluewings the last week in September, but most of the birds then frequenting the big pond where we were shooting were pintails. What the last week in September will produce in the way of teal shooting at this same pond or others along the Illinois river, no one can forecast.

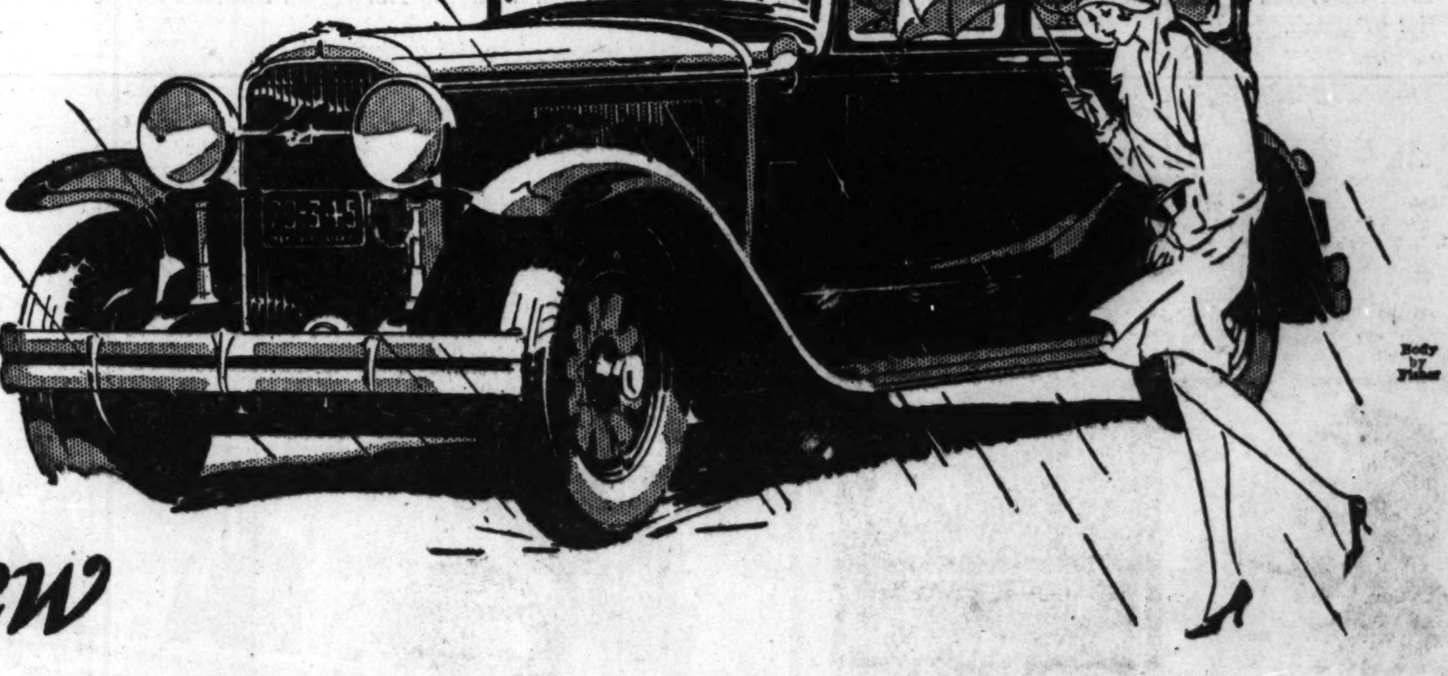
If the weather remains mild and food is abundant, a few flocks of the speedy bluewings may stick around. On the other hand, if September serves some snappy autumn days with hints of frost, the teal will hike for the south at sixty miles per.

According to the latest reports from the Illinois river, the opening day hunters should be able to burn some powder and bag a few ducks. There are pintails down there and quite a few mallards. Wood ducks are plentiful, but it is against the law to kill these beautiful birds.

Last Valuable Player Award May Go to a Cub

The last of the most valuable player awards in the National league probably will go to one of the Chicago Cub players this year.

THE New BUICK



New Controlled Servo Enclosed brakes

unrivalled for smooth, sure, silent operation in any weather . . .

To Buick, pioneer of four-wheel brakes, now falls the distinction of another major achievement in this same vital field: the development and introduction of Buick Controlled Servo Enclosed Brakes—the most effective four-wheel braking system ever devised for any automobile!

Buick's new brakes are of the highly efficient internal-expanding type. They are fully enclosed—fully protected against dust, dirt and water—and thus assure maximum braking effectiveness under all weather conditions.

They represent the highest development of the self-energizing principle, which makes the car's own motion provide part of the braking effort. They reveal unmatched responsiveness to the slightest pedal pressure. And they are so perfectly controlled that "grabbing" is entirely unknown! When you apply these brakes, you obtain the most positive, as well as the smoothest and most silent action you have ever experienced in any automobile!

Drive the new Buick! Test not only its matchless new brakes but its brilliant all-round performance, riding comfort and driving ease—all of which combine to establish the new Buick as the greatest value ever offered in the fine car field!

INTRUDER TAKES 2D RACE IN SERIES FOR Q SLOOPS

Overhauls Siren After the First Tour.

When a northeaster kicks up white caps, that's Intruder's day to sail. Karas brothers, and their star Q class sloop Siren, discovered the fact yesterday in the second race of the Lutz cup series, off Jackson Park yacht harbor.

After holding a 30 second lead on the first tour of a four and one-half mile quadrangular course, the brothers Karas saw the O'Rourke brothers close the gap and send Intruder past them during the first minute of sailing on the second time around.

The Jackson Park Yacht club entry gradually pulled away from Siren, and finished 58 seconds ahead of the Chicago Yacht club boat to take the second of the cup series. Intruder's victory yesterday, coupled with its win in the first of the series Friday, gave the O'Rourke brothers a total of eight points toward the Lutz trophy, as against six for the Siren.

The Lutz trophy is one of the two perpetual cups emblematic of local championship in the Q class.

Decide Against Protest.

Intruder's time for the nine miles was 1:50:43, a good record in spite of a fresh breeze from the northeast which sped the racers along. Siren was second in 1:51:41, Edmond Jedzry-Kowski's Princess, the cup defender, third in 1:54:56, and Don Bryne' Sindbad, fourth in 1:56:23.

Following the race, a protest was filed by the skippers of Siren, Princess, and Sindbad, on the ground that the second mark of the quadrangle had shifted during the race, and changed the course. After a discussion among the owners at the Jackson Park Yacht club last night, it was decided that the protest should be withdrawn, and that the race should stand.

Siren took the lead at the start, heading into the teeth of the northeast breeze with Intruder, Princess and Sindbad following in order. The same order held throughout the first time around, and the racers turned into the fourth leg roughly half a minute apart.

Sail Third Series Today.

Intruder then took the lead from Siren and grabbed a two minutes' advantage in the tacking against the wind on the fourth leg. The best Siren could do was to cut Intruder's margin to fifty-eight seconds on the race to the finish line.

The racers will sail the third of the series over a quadrangular course off Jackson park harbor at 3 this afternoon.

ARIEL LEADS R CLASS

Malcolm Vail's Ariel was the first of eight Rclass racers to finish in the Chicago Yacht club's weekly class race at Belmont harbor, when it took a ten second victory from the Massee-Galver syndicate's Jonnie, over a nine mile triangular course to finish in 2:21:06. The eight Rs were closely bunched throughout. All of them finished within 5 minutes of the leader. Bill Faurot's Fantome was third, three seconds behind Jonnie.

George Davis' Orn defeated A. R. Metz's Altair in the Eagle class racing, finishing in 2:40:32. Wagtail was the pup class winner, over Trix and Ri Ri, but the race was protested by the latter.

CAHOKIA FIGHTS COUNTY OFFICIAL OVER DOG TRACK

Cahokia, Ill., Sept. 7.—[U. P.]—This village has taken a hand in the battle of threats between operators of a dog track in construction here and State's Attorney H. C. Lindauer, who promises to raid the track on the first night it opens and arrest all persons connected with its operation, perhaps even spectators.

The village board of trustees has promised to support the managers of the Mississippi Valley Kennel club and is expected soon to pass a formal resolution welcoming the race track within the limits of the town.

26 Outboards Buck Choppy Sea in Races

Twenty-six outboard motor boat speedsters spun through a choppy sea off the Navy Pier yesterday afternoon in the first heats of the central divisional championship of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association. Classes B, C, and E craft took the water in the first tests for the championship. The rough water caused postponement of several races until today.

Joe Frey was the winner out of ten starters in class B, and Charles Leslie led 12 starters to the finish in the five mile heat for class C. In class E, Ben Coler swept over the line a winner, after he had been ready to quit the race. Coler was the first to have his boat tip under him, but he righted it himself, and started to chase the leaders. Coler then saw the three boats ahead of him tip in the waves and went on to win the heat.

The outboard racers will continue their quest of the championship off the Navy Pier this afternoon,

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF.

OF the 32 qualifying for match play in the national amateur golf event at Pebble Beach, Cal., 18 were players whose names were scarcely known outside their own districts. Three were from Great Britain. That left eleven places for the "old guard," and among this "old guard" were several who really belong to the newer generation.

Then Bobby Jones was tied in medal play on the first day, tied by another youngster for medal honors on the second day, and eliminated in his first round of 18 holes, a distance always feared by veterans who may go down to defeat before some lesser light who is "hot" but probably would fade over a 36-hole route

This prompted the query whether the young men, long driving off the tee, were to upset more experienced stars of other years.

Then see what happened. By the time the quarter finals were reached—all matches after the second round being 36 holes—not one of the previously qualifying "unknowns" was left. Instead survivors were H. Chandler Egan, Francis Ouimet, Harrison Johnston, and Dr. O. F. Willing. Egan was national champion as far back as 1904-'05. Ouimet was national champion in 1914. Johnston was western champion in 1924. Willing was Pacific Northwest champion in 1924. Which again proves that steadiness and experience count in tournament golf.

Geographically, qualification was a triumph for the coast with 17 of 32 from that section. Ten of these were from California. Location, of course, had something to do with this as golf tenets on expenses are more severe than in other sports. The east had six representatives, Great Britain three, southwest one, south Bobby Jones, and the middlewest four with none from Chicago when Chick Evans failed to qualify.

RIVERSIDES

Why you can save $2 to $15 on every tire you buy at WARD'S

MILLIONS OF MOTORISTS, all over the world, already ride on RIVERSIDE Tires—and still more millions soon will.

You will agree that . . . . with the Super-Service RIVERSIDE guaranteed for a minimum of 30,000 miles—the First-Quality RIVERSIDE guaranteed for a minimum of 16,000 miles—and the WARDWEAR for 10,000 . . . . these tires simply must be tires of quality!

And then—on comparing RIVERSIDE prices with many other high-grade makes that are not officially guaranteed for any specific mileage—you are astonished to find that at Ward's your saving per tire ranges from $2 to $15!

It's surprising. You are frankly puzzled. You discovered, long ago, that there's no such thing as "getting something for nothing." Therefore, when you find, in tires, high quality, provable quality and guaranteed quality . . . . coupled with prices so low they seem to contradict all that . . . . you "wonder," don't you?

You needn't! For the simple explanation lies in Ward's plan of selling to the user direct.

Instead of cutting quality in any shape or manner, we merely cut out most of the in-between profits of ordinary distribution! Thus you are protected at both ends of your transaction: on Quality, by the guarantees . . . . on Economy, by the unusual savings of Ward's low prices.

Do you know of—or need—any better reasons for putting Montgomery Ward & Co. tires on your car? . . . . Or any better arguments than these facts proving why you save $2 to $15 on every tire you buy?

Don't buy any other tire unless more miles are guaranteed!

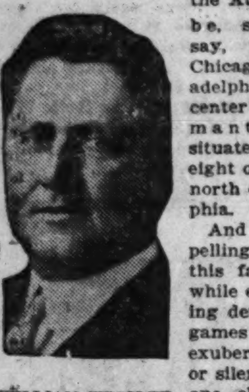
GERMANTOWN IS TORN BETWEEN MACKS AND CUBS

Pilots of Pennant Teams from Same Town.

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER.

The greatest interest in the coming world series between the Cubs and the Athletics will be, strange to say, neither in Chicago nor Philadelphia. It will center in Germantown, Pa., situated some eight or ten miles north of Philadelphia.



WILLIAM WRIGLEY.

And the compelling feature of this fact is that while every exciting detail of the games will create exuberant yells or silent fears for one club or the other, there will ge only cheers in Germantown, regardless of what happens on the diamonds either at Wrigley field or Shibe park.

Germantown Home of All Three.

For Germantown is the home of Connie Mack, veteran manager and part owner of the Athletics; it is the native heath of William Wrigley Jr., majority owner of the Cubs, and Joseph V. McCarthy, leader of the Chicago team comes from Germantown, too.

In Germantown and Philadelphia Connie Mack is an institution. He settled there immediately after he came into the big time in 1887, a year, incidentally, before Joe McCarthy was born. The tall, genial, 67-year-old leader of the A's needs no introduction.

Joe McCarthy began his playing career in Germantown in 1903 as second baseman of the Chew A. A. team. He had the idea early. That team was named after the old Chew house (it wasn't a Wrigley idea), where George Washington made his headquarters during the battle of Germantown in revolutionary war days. The ball grounds, which are there yet, are part of the old battlefield.

Are Staunch Friends.

Mack, Wrigley, and McCarthy are not only fellow townsmen, but they also are staunch friends. When McCarthy was made manager of the Cubs in 1925 the town called a massmeeting to celebrate the event. The master of ceremonies and the man who, as principal speaker, voiced the sentiment of the citizens that Joe soon would wear the laurel wreath, was Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy, otherwise known as Connie Mack.

All his life Joe has been an ardent admirer of Mr. Mack. Until 1925 at least, the Cub manager was as rabid an Athletic fan as there was in the country. In fact, it was Mack's great team of the 1900's that inspired McCarthy's baseball career. Mack is also Joe's ideal leader. "If I ever get to be a manager," Joe used to say to this writer in those days, "I want to be as good as Connie Mack," And he repeated that to us in 1925.

Now to get back to the cheers. A crisis arose in Germantown during the month of August when it dawned on the local fans that McCarthy and Mack, the baseball idols of the town, would be pitted against each other in the coming world series.

Ponder Over Outcome.

Would Joe's Cubs blast the hopes of the house of Mack, whose long and arduous fight for another world's championship was at the point of realization? Or would Mack set back the popular young McCarthy just as Joe reached the threshold of fame?

Truly a weighty decision, and one to be carefully considered. Mr. Wrigley, who was in Germantown at the time visiting his mother, Mrs. W. F. Wrigley Sr., might have been asked for advice, but he conveniently slipped out of town. The problem then was taken to P. J. [Pat] Howard for solution. Pat is owner of the cigar store on Germantown avenue, where for 30 years the fans have gathered to discuss pressing questions of the day. Connie Mack is one of Pat's best friends, and Pat looks upon Joe as a son. Naturally, Howard was a bit puzzled—stumped, to be exact. He promised an early decision. And it was:

"It is quite apparent that during the coming world series Germantown must give its wholehearted support to each of its eminent sons, and simultaneously. We cannot play favorites. They are brilliant leaders in their chosen field, and are a distinct honor to this town and its people. We win no matter what happens.

All Nod Assent.

"We will, therefore, encourage Mr. Mack, Mr. Wrigley and Joe with hearty cheers, not as leaders of different baseball teams, but as distinguished citizens of this community."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Guy O'Hern, 6516 Minerva avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Have you any suggestions to make to the Cub management in regard to putting world series tickets on sale?

The Answers.

William T. Ahern, 7206 South Union avenue, chief clerk, C., M., St. P. & Pacific R. R.—With the wonderful following the Cub team has secured in recent years, and with the thought in mind of keeping the good will of the public, I am sure the management will try to take care of all the customers possible. To do this every seat should be reserved, allowing a certain percentage for each section of the city. All requests should be mailed and no fan should receive more than five or six tickets and then for one game only.

William D. Stevenson, 2629 Potwyne place, inspector—A person mailing in a request in due time, date and time mailed to guide, should be allowed to buy not more than four tickets for any game and should not be forced to buy for the entire home series. This system would give more persons a chance to get as good seats as possible, and that's all that can be asked.

B. W. Sanky, Atlantic, Ia., merchant—All I can say is it's going to be tough on the Cub management to try to please everybody. I would suggest that tickets should be put on sale for only one game at a time, so that those unable to secure them for the first game can get them for the next contest. Also don't sell blocks of them to any one party, and be sure that all tickets are numbered. Yes, I'll be there if I can get a ticket.

C. E. Malone, Atlantic, Ia., farmer—I think the tickets should be sold by mail so that outsiders like myself can have a chance to get seats. I want to be there, but if they are distributed through local channels I, as well as many others, probably would be out of luck. There are many Cub fans outside the city and provisions should be made for them.

C. C. Gardner, Des Moines, Ia., assistant general passenger agent, C., R. I. & P. R. R.—My suggestion would be to have all tickets numbered and all out of town requests given preference, as it will bring new business to Chicago. Why not separate the tickets into four groups? One each for the north, south, and west sides of Chicago, and the fourth for out of town folk. That's the only solution I can see.

NORTHWESTERN SUPPLY ROOMS LIKE HOSPITAL

Twelve dozen footballs, 50 dozen pairs of woolen sox, and 50 dozen rolls of adhesive tape were among the supplies received yesterday at Northwestern university for use by the Wildcat grid team this fall.

Carl Erickson, equipment manager for the Purple, and a staff of assistants, are engaged getting all supplies ready for the opening practice Sept 16, when 65 players will report for the start of the season.

Nearly four miles of tape are included in the 50 dozen rolls now on hand. There also were six gross rolls of gauze bandage each ten yards long and ten inches wide. Bottle after bottle of rubbing alcohol was stored on the shelves to be used later by King Brady, veteran Purple trainer.

Brady, who for years rubbed the ailing muscles of the members of the Cub baseball team, also has been busy this summer making up extra quantities of his famous red oil, which is applied in generous quantities to the bruises and aches which materialize during the course of the season.

Equipment sufficient to supply each player with two complete outfits for games as well as an outfit for practice also are on hand. Each player is given two helmets, two pairs of shoes, two sets of jerseys and pants, together with hip and shoulder pads, sox and undershirts.

The average cost of outfitting a player for the season is estimated at $90. This does not include the laundry bill, which mounts to a considerable figure, since each player is supplied each Saturday with two outfits newly laundered. The extra outfit is for use in case of rain, in which instance he is given a complete change of uniforms between halves.

FINAL GOLF MATCH.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—A team from the Rockford Country club will meet a team of the Harlem Hills Golf club on the latter's course Wednesday for the final interclub match play of the season.

MICHIGAN GRID MEN "PLAYBOYS" DURING VACATION

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Michigan's football men were not icemen or metal workers when they were turned out of here for their summer vacations. They are playboys, it would seem.

When those 67 invited grid candidates return to Ann Arbor the latter part of the coming week to be on hand for the first work under their youthful new head coach, Harry Kipke, most of them will be fresh from real vacations of work around the lakes in the northern woods.

Capt. Joe Truskowski, star end, has been spending much of his summer at a recreation parlor in Detroit as part of the "help." Leo Draveling, other regular end returning, planned to work in a salt works, but instead spent his time toiling at a beach in his home town of Port Huron.

Bovard Works in Auto Plant.

Al Steinke, regular guard, broke the rule and has been working in an automobile body plant at Flint. Al Bovard, center veteran, found summer school not quite exciting enough and pushed a wheelbarrow part of the time helping to build the new university golf course. Last week, however, he quit in favor of a trip to the north woods with Jennings McBride, half back.

Joe Gembis, whose toe beat the champion Illini last October, has been a director at a Y. M. C. A. camp near Holland, Mich., in preparation for his back field work.

With a football and a pair of kicking shoes in his bag, Jim Simrall went up north to Camp Algonquin with Benny Oosterbaan. Simrall was the back field find of last year and is expected to make a bid for the quarter back job with punting and passing as part of his duties, too.

Bud Poorman probably has been the most scholarly of them all. He will be a senior this year and a strong aspirant for a tackle berth, but his summer has been spent mainly in his father's Chicago law office.

Roach, a sophomore tackle, has been working at the Grand Rapids municipal pool while William Heston Jr., has been varying his summer, spending part of it at home, part on a lake and part in the woods.

So, when Kipke calls the roll Sept. 16 he will be facing a squad of "playboys" who are ready for a lot of work —which they will get.

QUARTER BACK PROBLEM

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's 1929 football eleven will not be as strong as last year's team unless Coach Glenn F. Thistlethwaite is successful in his search for a quarter back. The important part played by the diminutive Bo Cuisinier in the Badgers' title fight last fall brought honorable mention to the little Cardinal field general.

This year's team will miss Cuisinier in more than one department and it is a certainty that Thistlethwaite will not find an athlete to fill Bo's shoes who will prove as valuable. In addition to his service as a ball carrier, pass receiver and pilot, Cuisinier was a wonderful blocker and a great defensive player.

Unable to Use Understudy.

Coach Thistlethwaite had little opportunity during the 1928 season to break in any young quarter backs, for he needed Cuisinier in the game all the time. Consequently, the man who wins the berth must be found from the incoming sophomore crop or from the veterans and reserves who have held other positions in the Cardinal back field.

There are two likely newcomers who handled the signal calling assignment on the freshman squad last season, Pip Nelson of Madison and Walter Graebner of Wausau. The first string frosh quarter, Arnold Herber, succumbed to the ineligibility axe in June.

Both Nelson and Graebner are youngsters, but have had an abundance of experience in prep school.

SARAH PALFREY RETAINS TENNIS SINGLES CROWN

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Showing the same consistent tennis that she displayed throughout the week's tournament, Miss Sarah Palfrey of Boston today retained the girls' national singles lawn tennis championship by defeating Miss Helen Marlowe of Hollywood, Cal., in two straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

COME,* drive the New Gardner Cars – –

Powered for Action – for Speed – with an Extra Margin of Safety!

An extra margin of safety is built into every unit of the new Gardner cars. Motor, frame, transmission, drive shaft, gears, axles, wheels, brakes, the entire body and every part of the car, are built to withstand tremendous stress. Nothing less than maximum strength is good enough for Gardner.

The extremely low center of gravity provided by the extra heavy, double-drop frame virtually eliminates sidesway and makes the car more roadable. Smoother riding. The faster you go the more this perfectly balanced car seems to settle down and hug the road. You can take the highway turns at high speed without the usual sensation of side-slipping.

The bodies are of fabricated steel construction, which makes for the elimination of body noises. Running boards are all-steel and serve as side bumpers. There is an extra margin of safety in the wonderful performance and lightning acceleration of Gardner cars when quick pick-up and response avert collisions.

The powerful Lockheed hydraulic, enclosed 4-wheel brakes bring the car to safe, quick stops. Steering is so easy that the car can be maneuvered without effort in any emergency. Gardner cars give you greater safety at all driving speeds and under all driving conditions. Speed—with safety!

ILLINI INVITE SCOUTS TO SEE KANSAS GAME

4,000 Khaki Clad Guests Expected.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—With their colors flying and their bands and drum corps playing, 4,000 khaki clad Boy Scouts, guests of the University of Illinois Athletic association, will enter the stadium to see Kansas open Illinois' home schedule Oct. 15. After marching in the scouts will perform their flag raising ceremony.

GEORGE HUFF.

George Huff, director of physical welfare, inaugurated scout day in 1925, and each year an ever growing number of lads have come to the stadium.

Invitations are sent to all troops listed, but any not formally invited are cordially welcome anyway. The scouts and their leaders will be admitted to the game free, and, although not compulsory, it is preferable that the boys wear their regulation uniforms.

PLAN SCOREBOARDS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—The University of Minnesota will try a new experiment this fall in the matter of keeping its football crowds informed on the games. The committee on intercollegiate athletics has voted to abolish the football program, and instead will erect scoreboards of a new type at various places, so that all may be able to see them.

The board will provide information on the score, downs, who has the ball, yards to go, and the like, and at the same time will give the lineup of each team. By shifting slabs with the different names the board manager will keep the lineup accurate at all times. The number of the player will be painted on his slab, together with his name.

Never Sold Programs.

Minnesota never has sold its football programs and is thus foregoing no income in giving up the printed sheet. During the last three years approximately enough advertising to pay for the program has been sold each year. Between 150,000 and 165,000 programs were printed annually for free distribution.

Abandonment of the program comes as an innovation and also as a sacrifice of possible income. Several western conference universities, notably Michigan, Ohio State, and Northwestern, make plump profits each year from program advertising and sales. Chicago farms its program to a newspaper; Illinois issues only leaflets except on special occasions, while Iowa, Wisconsin and Purdue issue programs with paid advertising, but barely scrape along due to the smallness of the communities in which they are issued.

Indiana has tried various experiments, including an Athletic Review, which it abandoned. So far as is known, Minnesota is the first to try to give all information by means of a scoreboard.

LOYOLANS IN FOR WORK

With a new stadium which must be kept filled and a tough schedule, Dan Lamont, head coach of Loyola university, faces a difficult task in his first full year as head mentor at the north side school.

One of his first problems will be to find men to replace four of his veterans who were lost through graduation. This will be no easy task, as two of the men were considered the best that Loyola has turned out. Phil Brennan, who captained the squad last year, must have a replacement at end, while the loss of Tony Lawless at full back is a serious blow. Brennan returns to Loyola this year, but in the capacity of freshman coach. Lamont also must find men to replace Frank Walsh, a letter man at tackle, and Emmet Etu, another letter man, at half back.

Expect Help from Frosh.

Some strong material coming up from the 1928 frosh squad is expected to furnish reinforcements. In the spring practice session George Weimer, a former Loyola academy star, seemed a likely candidate for the vacant berth at end. Fred Sextro and Paul Noland, both letter men and veteran ends, probably will get the call for the regular posts with some of last year's yearlings held in reserve.

The task of replacing Lawless will be more difficult, because for three years he was the most consistent ground gainer on the squad in addition to being a strong defense player. Bob Burke will try for the post. Tommy Flynn, who displayed skill with the frosh last year, also is expected to put his bid in for Lawless' place.

Practice sessions will begin next week. Lamont will be assisted by Dr. Edward Norton, former Loyola half back.

The opening game will be against Oklahoma City university. The traditional games against St. Louis university and De Paul always are hard ones for the north siders, while little relief is in sight with Loyola of New Orleans, Duquesne of Pittsburgh, South Dakota State, and North Dakota university following. Six of the eight games will be played in the new stadium.

Alekhine and Bogoljubow Adjourn After 40 Moves

WIESBADEN, Germany, Sept. 7.—(UP)—The second game for the chess championship of the world between Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris, and Dr. D. Bogoljubow of Triberg was adjourned until tomorrow after 40 moves. When play stopped this evening the defending champion, Dr. Alekhine, playing the blacks, had a slight advantage with a passed pawn.

KOZAK DEFEATS TURNESA IN FINAL FOR MET TITLE

Flushing, N. Y., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Walter Kozak of North Hills Country club won the Metropolitan P. G. A. championship when he defeated Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, 3 and 1, in the final round played today over the links of the Pomonok Country club.

Starting the afternoon round with a lead of 1 up from the round they halved the first three holes in par. Turnesa won the fourth with a par 5, squaring the match. They halved the fifth and sixth in par. Kozak won the seventh with a birdie 3, making him 1 up. Turnesa won the eighth with a birdie 3, squaring the match. Kozak won the ninth with a birdie 3 to 5, Turnesa being trapped on his second shot, giving Kozak a lead of 1 up at the turn. His card for the outgoing was 34, one under par, to Turnesa's 35.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

by Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Connie Mack's practice of posting his outfielders where he thinks the fly balls are going to come down certainly has its merits. It is a very good thing to have outfielders on duty where the flies descend and, of course, Mr. Mack is the world's greatest authority on the matter of where they are most likely to drop. Kid Gleason states that Connie is in a class with the very remarkable German gun used in the large war which could shoot a fellow if the Germans just knew his telephone number. But I offer this testimony with some reserve. Mr. Gleason is prejudiced and, anyway, there may have been no such gun.

"He does not have to be present at a ball game to judge fly balls," the Kid has been insisting. "In fact, it isn't necessary to have a fly ball. All you have to do is suppose a fly ball and he will suppose exactly where it is going to fall nine times out of ten."

Well, now, for a man who was always a catcher himself, this is remarkable outfielding, so I asked Mr. Mack about his work, and he to your correspondent did say:

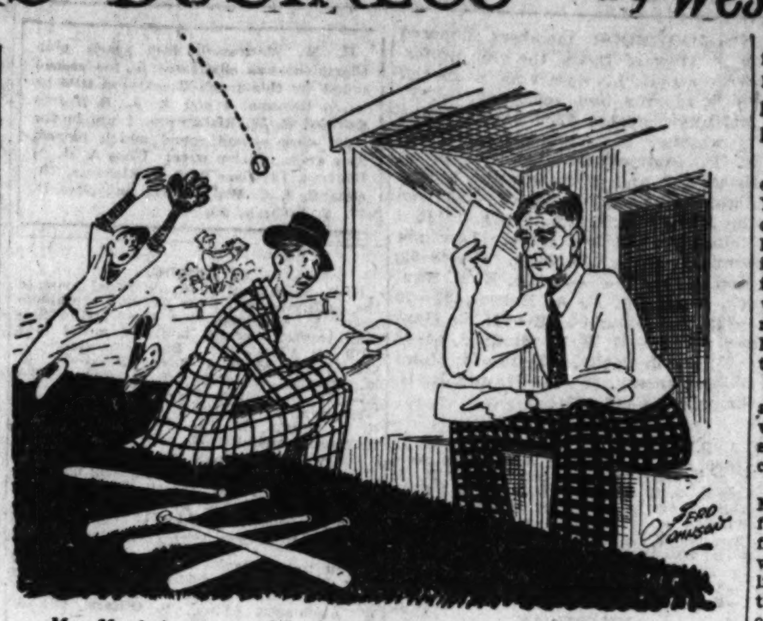
Connie Uses His Ears to Scout.

"Ball players are the greatest gossips in the world. They can't keep anything to themselves and for that reason I have not had to do any scouting to see what kind of hitters the Cubs are. In our business, the manager of an American league club will go for years and years without ever seeing a league game in the National league. He will see the boys in exhibition games down south in the spring, of course, and get a vague idea of their hitting habits, but my impression of the Cubs as a team has never been very definite.

"I saw McMilian hit a few times when he was up with the Yankees and, of course, I have seen Hornsby work often enough to know his characteristics. Riggs Stephenson was in our league, too, so he is no mystery to me.

"But the other fellows might be a puzzle if the ball players were a tight-mouthed lot instead of being so gabby.

"When the world series starts, I will know all about all the hitters, without having to scout them. I may scout them a few games along toward the end of the American league season if our pennant is in and I am able to get away from the club. But it will not be strictly necessary, because every player's hitting habits follow him up from the minors like a police record.



Mr. Mack is the world's greatest authority on where fly balls are most likely to drop.

Every Man Is Pegged.

"The players talk these things over constantly and every man is pegged. You can't go wrong if you just ask other ball players. You may say, 'I hear Joe Dokes doesn't like them low, inside.' The player who has been in the league with Joe Dokes probably will say, 'Man, you are crazy! He murders them in there. Keep them high or he will knock them all over the park.'

"And that is the best way to scout a team you have never seen for a world series. The Cubs will have no secrets from us and I don't think we can mystify them at all."

From all of which I infer that Mr. Mack really expects to anticipate the flight and distance of most of the outfield smashes hit by the Cubs in the world series. He actually seems to believe in his talent for such anticipation. Players in his own league are carried in the card-index of a serious old manager's mind.

Perhaps Mr. Mack takes his vicarious outfielding a little more seriously than the other managers take theirs. Most of them know the most prominent traits of most hitters and try to post their men accordingly, but, for better or for worse, fly balls continue to fall in unprotected areas, even when Connie Mack is sitting in the dugout waving his score card and moving his fielders to the spots where he supposes that supposititious fly balls will come to the end of their flight.

Sands Point 4 Wins Way Into U.S. Polo Final

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Thomas Hitchcock Jr., the ranking American polo player, found three teammates ready to ride with him this afternoon and his Sands Point team galloped into the final of the United States open championship. As is almost invariably the case, Hitchcock stood out boldly but today he had a real team riding with him and the entire Sands Point four shared in the credit as the strong Greentree quartet was ridden out of the tournament, 14 to 10. The biggest crowd of the tournament, 12,000, attended.

The game was distinctly Sands Point's after the third period when it ran wild with five successive goals, shutting out the opposition to take a lead never threatened. The winners eliminated the Anglo-American Eastcott team in the opening game. Today's was their second victory. Greentree reached the semi-final by eliminating Old Aiken. Next Saturday Sands Point will meet the Hurricanes for the title.

Hitchcock today continued his amazing play of the closing weeks of the season. He hit on all sides of his mount perfectly and with varying styles. He had seven of his side's goals and his riding and hitting led directly to others.

The lineup and summary:

SANDS POINT [14].		GREENTREE [10].
W. A. Harriman	No 1	J. H. Whitney
E. A. S. Hopping	No. 2	E. J. Boeseke
T. Hitchcock Jr.	No. 3	Eric Pedley
A. C. Schwartz	Back	Winston Guest

Score by chukkers:

Sands Point	035	021	21—14
Greentree	210	111	23—10

Goals, by players—Hitchcock, [7]; Boeseke, [4]; Harriman, [4]; Hopping, [3]; Whitney, [2]; Pedley, [2]; Guest, [2].

CHICAGOAN WINS STAR BOAT TITLE OF GREAT LAKES

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Max Hayford, young, curly haired skipper of Twinkle-Ditto, will take back to the Sheridan Shore Yacht club of Chicago the Commodore Tom P. Archer perpetual Star boat trophy, having earned the right to keep it for a year by winning a double victory on Lake St. Clair this afternoon.

Twinkle-Ditto, sailed by Hayford and Cy Belknap, forced the competition to go into an extra race to decide the great lakes Star boat championship. Before today's races Johnnie Boice of Toledo was in the lead with 8 points accumulated. When Hayford and his one-man crew pushed Twinkle-Ditto over the line first on the windward and leeward course Boice was third and they were tied at 10 points.

A sail-off was declared necessary, and the contestants agreed to hold it at once, making one tour of the windward-leeward course. Boice's Neptune III. was on the windward side crossing the starting line and Hayford tacked to port and came up astern of the Toledo boat.

WOMEN TO BEGIN 72 HOLES MEDAL PLAY TOMORROW

Flossmoor Event Attracts Maureen Orcutt.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Switching the annual medal play championship from 54 to 72 holes and renaming the event the Derby, the Women's Western Golf association will hold the board four days of this week at Flossmoor. The event will start tomorrow with the first 18 holes, and a similar program will be followed Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The entry list, which was announced yesterday, is smaller than expected, but entries will be received tomorrow at the tee. The maximum handicap allowance is 9.

Mrs. Lee W. Mida of Butterfield, who won the medal play event three times, will defend the title. Her most formidable local rivals will be Mrs. Melvin Jones of Olympia Fields, who established the precedent of three victories; Miss Virginia Van Wie of Beverly, present Chicago champion, and Miss Rena Nelson, young Exmoor star.

Players present from other associations by invitation are Miss Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee, Miss Gertrude Boothby of Rochester, Minn., Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Del Monte, Cal.; Miss Maureen Orcutt of White Beeches, N. Y., Miss Helen Hicks of Inwood, L. I., and Mrs. Leo Federman of New York.

Mrs. Federman formerly was Mrs. Jay S. Cassriel of Bryn Mawr, and was one of the leading players when she resided in the local district.

It will pay you in a dollars-and-cents way to see and drive the Fargo line of Chrysler-built and Chrysler-styled six-cylinder trucks—the ½-Ton Packet, the ¾-Ton Clipper and the 1-Ton Freighter.

Sense their power in actual test. Get the feel of their speed . . . their quick get-away. Consider what these qualities mean in time-saving delivery service. Add unfailing reliability. Then be assured of the all-around economy in upkeep and maintenance essential for low-cost operation.

These Fargo trucks are as modern as tomorrow—in design, in construction and in appearance.

Inspect the Fargo line of business builders. Drive the type fitted for your needs. You will say the price is low . . . Buy it complete with body—any desired type. Let it proudly carry your name and ably haul your loads at low cost.

PRICES

FARGO ¾-TON CLIPPER—Chassis $725; Panel $975; Screen $975; Canopy $965; Sedan $1075.

FARGO 1-TON FREIGHTER—Chassis $795. The complete line of bodies, of outstanding appearance and construction, includes panel, stake, canopy, express and platform.

DUGGAN LEADS FIELD OF 850 AT LINCOLNSHIRE

Three Courses Accommodate Large Turnout.

Eight hundred and fifty golfers, the largest field that ever competed in the Chicago district in an invitational golf tournament, shot over the three courses at Lincolnshire yesterday. The field, as usual, was composed of good, bad, poor, and indifferent golfers, and out of the whole Ray Duggan, a member of the home club, emerged on top with the low gross. Duggan had 76 in the morning over No. 2 course and 74 in the afternoon over No. 1.

Russell Martin, also a member of the home club and Flossmoor, had 77—74—151. This was the second day in succession that Martin lost a major prize by one stroke. Friday at Oak Hills he lost his southwest amateur crown to Bill Andrews of Casa del Mar club, Dyer, Ind., by that margin.

J. J. Dwyer made it a clean sweep for the home club by taking low net. His handicap was 28 and he shot 162 to give him a 134. Scores:

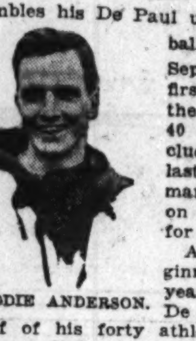
De Paul Grid Squad of 40 Awaits Drill



EDDIE ANDERSON.

When Coach Eddie Anderson assembles his De Paul university football candidates Sept. 16 for the first practice of the season, some 40 players, including 15 from last year's freshman team, will be on hand to bid for places.

Anderson is beginning his fourth year as coach at De Paul. About half of his forty athletes this season are line men, including four letter men—Driscoll, Upton, Finnegan, and Baudendistle. The back field list is headed by Clair Byers, the speedy half back who ran through virtually all the Blue Demons' opponents last year. Capt. Jack Phelan will be Byers' running mate at the other half, while Bill Johnson probably will be at full back. The latter returned to De Paul last year, but did not play football. Red Harrington, quarter back on last year's freshman outfit, will call the signals for the varsity.

De Paul faces a hard schedule this season. The Blue Demons open with a night game against Detroit university Sept. 28. Gus Dorais will have virtually the same outfit that went through half of the 1927 season and all of last year without a defeat. It will be the first "ghost ball" contest for both teams.

Coach Anderson's aggregation will play its first home game Oct. 12 with Michigan State Teachers. St. Viator is next on the program, Oct. 18. The annual clash with Loyola university is billed for Nov. 2. St. Mary's university of San Antonio, Tex., will meet De Paul here following the Loyola game. It will be the first time the Texas brand of football has been brought to Chicago. The Blue Demons close their season with a two weeks' eastern trip, when they play Niagara university and St. John's college of Brooklyn on successive Saturdays, Nov. 23 and 30.

ROCKFORD TRIO TO ENTER SENIOR GOLFERS' MEET

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—H. S. Burpee, Ray Wantz, and Oscar Wilson, veteran golfers of this city, have entered the seventh annual fall tournament of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association, opening Sept. 19 on the course of the Exmoor Country club. The championship will be divided into five classes, according to ages, ranging from 50 to 70.

Five low net prizes and a low putt award will be given in each division, while the class A winner, including men 70 years and older, will be crowned as senior golf champion of Illinois.

LEWIS, WINNER OF ENDURANCE TEST, IN ROBY RACE

H. M. Lewis, winner of the 12 hour endurance race recently, will be a leading contender in the 250 mile stock car race at Roby today.

Twenty-five cars passed the qualifying tests. Fords, Chevrolets, Whippets and Essexes predominate in the enry list.

Among the leading drivers, aside from Lewis, are Billy Rupp and John Adams of Chicago, middle west dirt track stars; Joe Fusco of Chicago, driving a Peerless; Ralph Miller, teammate of Adams, with a Chrysler; John Horan of Gary with a Ford; Glen Fites in an Essex; George Ashmore of Indiana Harbor in a Chrysler; Fred Barney of Gary in a Chevrolet; C. R. Edwards of Gary in a De Soto; H. G. White and A. Murphy of Hammond in Fords; James Bernad in an Essex, and Charles Bernard in an Oldsmobile.

The race will start at 1 p. m.

Ex-Maroon Stars to Send Elevens Against Chicago

Three former University of Chicago football stars will oppose their alma mater as coaches this season.

Harlan Orville Page, getter known as Pat, is coach of the Indiana team that meets Chicago on the Midway Oct. 12. Page was one of the greatest all around athletes in Chicago history, playing baseball, basketball, and football in the years 1907-9. He was captain of the 1909 eleven.

Wally Marks, captain of the 1926 football team and a letter man in baseball and basketball, is coach of the Indiana State Normal team which plays in the doube header scheduled for Oct. 19. Campbell Dickson, who starred in football, track, and basketball, is one of the assistant coaches at Wisconsin this year.

BOWEN TO PLAY BENTON HARBOR PREPS NOV. 16

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 7.—[Special.]—Seventeen lettermen out of a squad of 75 candidates answered Coach Walter Weber's call for football at the Benton Harbor High school. Capt. Chuck Bernard, who was an all-state selection last season and named the most valuable player to his team, will pilot his team from center position.

Nine games will be played and the schedule calls for contests with the best teams of the state. In one of the biggest home games of the season, the Tigers will meet Bowen High school of Chicago Nov. 16. The schedule follows:

Sept. 21.—Alumni here.
Sept. 28.—Mishawaka [Ind.] here.
Oct. 5.—Holland there.
Oct. 12.—Kalamazoo there.
Oct. 26.—Muskegon here.
Nov. 2.—Lansing there.
Nov. 9.—Grand Haven here.
Nov. 16.—Bowen [Chicago] here.
Nov. 28.—Northwestern [Detroit] here.

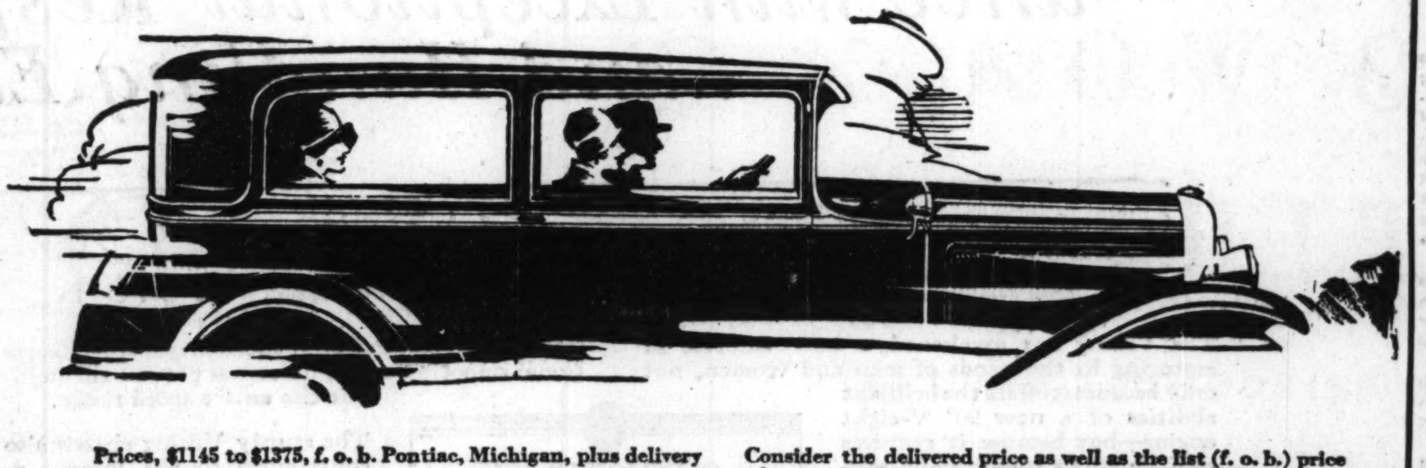
Know the Facts and you will choose Oakland

America's finest medium-priced automobile

Once you know how completely today's Oakland All-American Six excels its field in the advancements which it provides—once you understand what these features mean in terms of finer performance, greater luxury, longer life and lower cost . . . your choice of a car listing anywhere in the neighborhood of $1,200 is sure to be Oakland—America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Oakland supremacy in every phase of motor car quality has been proved indisputably in one of the most complete analyses of automobile values ever made. At the right are some of the facts obtained in comparing today's All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. Study the first two as examples of what these comparisons mean. You realize, of course, that reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance and permits the use of smarter, roomier bodies. See how Oakland compares with the field in wheelbase. You know that large piston displacement is needed in order to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Note how Oakland excels in this respect.

There are dozens of comparisons which we will gladly show you, pointing out their significance and explaining what they will mean to you in satisfaction with the Oakland All-American Six. Come in for this information . . . and while you are here we will give you a demonstration which will substantiate our most enthusiastic claims.



Prices, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Facts Revealed by Comparison

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland!

WHEELBASE Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

PISTON DISPLACEMENT Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are much higher priced than Oakland.

G-M-R CYLINDER HEAD Only Oakland and one other car in the field use the G-M-R cylinder head. Sixteen have no type of non-detonating cylinder head whatsoever, although 11 of the 16 are more expensive to buy than Oakland.

RUBBER ENGINE MOUNTING

Only Oakland in the entire field employs rubber "biscuit" insulators. While others claim rubber mountings, none offers such resilience and permanent freedom from vibration as Oakland.

HARMONIC BALANCER Only Oakland and one other car in the field have the Harmonic Balancer. Of 13 cars using some other device, 11 are higher-priced than Oakland. Oakland's crankshaft is fully counter-weighted. The crankshafts in nine higher-priced cars are not counter-weighted at all.

FUEL PUMP AND FILTER While eight other cars in Oakland's field use the fuel pump, six of the eight are higher-priced. And six other higher-priced cars continue to use the vacuum system.

CRANKCASE VENTILATION WITH SEPARATE AIR CLEANER

While most cars in the field have crankcase ventilation, only Oakland and one other, according to available information, have any method for cleaning the air. Six have not, although three of the six are higher-priced than Oakland.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR WITH THERMOSTATIC CONTROL

Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 13 of the 20 are higher-priced than Oakland.

BRAKES Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brakes which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

FISHER BODY Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

SPRING COVERS Only Oakland in the entire field is equipped with spring covers, according to our data, which cover 19 of the 20 cars included in the field.

MOTORS — TRAFFIC — HIGHWAYS

N. SHORE TOWNS WANT AUTO ROAD TO RELIEVE JAMS

Railroad Avenue Is Being Improved.

BY HAL FOUST.

Suburbs north of Chicago are making progress on plans, now two years old, for a superhighway paralleling the tracks on the west side of the Northwestern railroad. Its purpose is to relieve congestion on the narrow and tortuous Sheridan road.

The western route is used by many motorists even in its present condition, especially on Sundays and holidays when cars on the eastern boulevard are held to a snail's pace. However, there is a need for much widening and paving before Railroad avenue, as it is most generally known, is able to serve any volume of high speed traffic.

Evanston to Pave Street.

When Railroad avenue is completed it will receive the bulk of its northbound traffic from the northern end of McCormick road, although it will also connect with Asbury street and Ridge avenue. At the northern end of Railroad avenue, the cars will flow into Sheridan road, Green Bay road, and route 22 in Glencoe, Highland Park and Highwood.

Evanston has passed an ordinance ordering the paving of Railroad avenue from McCormick road to the southern limits of Wilmette to a with of fifty-one feet. At present, this stretch is passable, but the rough brick surface makes speed dangerous.

Wilmette has laid fifty-two feet of concrete from Evanston to Elmwood avenue. Just north of Elmwood, there is a house on a triangular lot that is in the right of way. This situation is expected to be adjusted this winter so that construction progress can continue in the early spring.

Jog Around Obstruction.

In using Railroad avenue under its present conditions, cars jog around this triangle on a small concrete surfaced detour that consists of going west on Elmwood avenue to 15th street and north on 15th to Railroad avenue again.

The village of Kenilworth has had difficulties in trying to open up its right of way. However, most of the required property has been dedicated by owners, leaving only a small portion to be obtained by condemnation proceedings. It is expected that the suburb will be able to start paving at the beginning of next year's construction season.

At present, north bound traffic detours west on Kenilworth avenue to Brier street and north on Brier back into Railroad avenue just within Winnetka, at Winnetka avenue. There is a wide concrete pavement from Winnetka avenue to Elm street. The section from Winnetka avenue south to Kenilworth is to be improved possibly this year and the stretch between Elm street and Tower road is to be widened and paved as soon as pending condemnation suits are settled.

Pavement Fair but Narrow.

The recommended detour for north bound traffic goes west on Elm street, north on Hibbard road, west on Tower road and north on Vernon street to the Green Bay road, near the intersection with the Dundee road. The pavement surface is fair but narrow.

Glencoe is considering six different plans for its share of the Railroad avenue project. One calls for the depression of the boulevard with cross streets on bridges. The Cook county bond issue program calls for the widening of Green Bay road to forty feet from Dundee road to the Lake county line. Highland Park is widening Green Bay road from the Cook county line north to the northern limits of the village.

NEWS AND VIEWS

The last and loudest word in traffic safety devices is the loud speaking Dodge sedan used by Buffalo, N. Y., police to caution motorists and pedestrians. The safety car, finished in white lacquer, has four loud speakers mounted on top, so that the voice of the law is greatly amplified by radio principles. Traffic officers riding inside may be heard for a city block.

The eleventh national Pikes Peak hill climbing classic on Labor day was won by a fully equipped stock Studebaker roadster, capturing the historic Penrose trophy. The winning car completed the 12.4 mile grind to the summit of the mountain in 21 minutes 43 2-5 seconds, at an average speed of 34.3 miles per hour, bettering the previous stock car record by two seconds.

Registration figures for the first six months of the year show the Essex in third place, according to J. R. Histed, vice president of Essex-Hudson.

A new transmission designed to simplify the task of driving an automobile in heavy traffic has been invented and perfect by company engineers and will be included on the new 1930 Reo, Richard L. Scott, president, has announced.

With automobile production and sales this year surpassing high records of years gone by, it is evident that public trend toward the straight eight is rapidly growing in intensity, according to Thomas E. Jarrard, general sales director of Marmon.

Hundreds of letters and telegrams, testifying to the quality and value of the 1930 Hupmobile six, have been received by C. E. Gambill, Chicago distributor. The Hupp factory shipped 5,255 cars in August as compared with 2,436 in July.

North shore suburbs are coöperating in a plan to have Railroad avenue, just west of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, widened and paved to provide another automobile road and relieve congestion on Sheridan road. The accompanying map shows the present condition of the street in the various suburbs it traverses.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

ON DIVERSEY BOULEVARD.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Why is it that hundreds of automobiles are permitted to park on Diversey boulevard any time day or night, and as long as they want? These are signs on the posts against this, but those signs are old and rusty and the motorists heed them not. At no time is it possible to drive on Diversey without difficulty because of the narrow street between two lines of parked cars, and especially during the evening rush hour is driving hampered and dangerous. OLIVER C. SCHOFIELD.

SUBJECT FOR SERMON.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—It would seem that parking in front of churches during services, particularly on Sunday, should be given some special attention. Perhaps a little publicity would help.

The great majority of the cars arriving at church bearing members for the 10:30 services are compelled to discharge their occupants in the middle of the street or park about a block away because of other cars being parked directly in front of the church entrance.

RELIGIOUS.

DIRTY LICENSE PLATES.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Canada, Sept. 1.—As a means of identification, of what use are automobile license plates which are covered with dust or mud, or plates on which the tail lamp sheds little if any light? STERLING BRANNEN.

CITY HALL FORESIGHT.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—I suppose the city of Chicago, like the king, can do no wrong. The widening of North Ashland avenue, between Winnemac avenue and Irving Park boulevard, was recently completed. After the widening was completed several years ago of the section north of Winnemac, it was soon apparent that, on account of the great width of the street, it was necessary to install safety islands in the center of the avenue at each street intersection for the protection of the pedestrian.

It was therefore known beforehand that these safety islands would be necessary in the section south of Winnemac, yet the street was completed without apparently any thought of installing these islands, when the work could have been done at the time the street was torn up. No doubt this will come later, but at an additional expense to the taxpayers. L. N. H.

PARKED CARS BLAMED.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—I noted the statement of V. D. C. that "many pedestrians are blissfully unconscious of the presence of automobiles on the streets." This is true but it is due to the practice of motorists who park their cars near street intersections, obscuring pedestrians' view of moving traffic and resulting in the pedestrians stepping into the path of speeding cars.

Motorists who park their cars within fifty feet of a street intersection, often allowing them to remain there all night to avoid garage rent, are responsible for many of the injuries and deaths of pedestrians. It is inconsistent for the motorists to criticize railroads for permitting freight cars to stand near crossings obscuring the motorists' view while the motorists are leaving their cars where they obstruct the pedestrians' view. A. F. R.

STOP SIGNS IGNORED.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Permit me to take advantage of your time again by calling attention to what seems to be a growing practice—namely: the ignoring of stop signs at through streets and boulevards. I confess I have gone through the red at times when going pretty fast to beat it, but there is no alternative at the stop sign except to stop, and judging by my experience very few folks care to go to that trouble.

I use through streets and boulevards because of the safety they afford, but no trip goes by but what some driver "shoots" through the sign and forces me to jam on brakes and resort to violent thoughts. When I point to the stop sign I am usually treated to the thumbed nose, which rather adds insult to the injury.

I thing if the motorcycle boys would watch and eliminate this practice they would reduce a greater source of accidents than the 30 m. p. h. "speeder." Laramie avenue from North to Madison would yield a very heavy crop of stop sign ignorers at almost any cross street along its length. And I find Douglas blvd. almost as bad. Can't it be stopped? J. E. PETERSON.

POLICE DIDN'T HELP.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—My car, parked at the curb, was hit by another machine. The driver was not the owner and the car was not covered by insurance, so I had no chance to collect damages from the driver without police assistance. A police desk sergeant who answered my call said that my claim was civil and that he would not send a policeman to the scene unless I swore out a warrant. I would like to know what "police protection" means. R. W. Z.

IOWAN LOST IN CHICAGO.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 2.—I recently returned from a trip to Chicago by motor car. If your city is desirous of doing anything for the convenience of the automobile driver who is a stranger in your vicinity, I suggest they mark clearly the roads from the loop to the Lincoln highway west.

I came out on Jackson boulevard. Finally, after going a considerable distance, I got to following the No. 6 detour signs with the result that I finally landed up against a paver that was working in the streets.

I asked several people how to get to the Lincoln highway west; every one had a different set of directions. I finally turned around and went back a ways and then was apparently directed correctly, for we had no trouble until we came to a new addition being opened up and there again we rode around and around. C. P. WILSON.

AGAINST TRAIN WHISTLES.

Northbrook, Ill., Sept. 5.—If you ever lived within a mile of a railroad outside of Chicago you would realize that train whistling is not a mere annoyance. It is a real health menace, and a thing that has to stop regardless of whether or not the motor club thinks it is essential to motorists to have trains screech to warn them of danger.

Motorists should long ago have learned that for their safety they must use their head and eyes, and obey signals. Most of our crossings are equipped with automatic lights that makes whistling unnecessary.

In another way, your article sounds like it might be a bit of railroad propaganda to counteract efforts being made to abolish this torture.

E. D. LANDWEHR.

AT POLICE STATIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—I would think that since the city spends considerable money to see that civilians purchase state and city auto licenses that politicians, police officers, and professional bondsmen should have to do the same.

If you will notice cars parked in front of police stations you will see that there are from five to a dozen cars parked there without state or city licenses. I may be wrong but I don't think there should be any partiality shown in this respect.

JOSEPH HUGHES.

RIGHT OF WAY BLOCKED.

Palos Park, Sept. 4.—I would like to inquire why the county commissioners do not cut through 123d street on the Southwest highway. The county has paved the highway from 119th to 135th street with the exception of this gap.

JAMES P. TALCOTT.

CONCRETE APRON FOR FIELD.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Plans have been completed and bids are being considered for the construction of a 200 foot concrete apron for Lambert-St. Louis field here.

AUTOS BECOMING SERIOUS MENACE TO ANIMAL LIFE

Wild animals, whose movements and natural increase are restricted by agricultural and industrial development, now face a serious hazard from automobiles, which are increasing in numbers and are being driven over improved highways at the higher average speeds made possible by modern construction, better servicing facilities and more liberal speed regulations.

Approximately one person in five drives an automobile. The highway system includes more than 615,000 miles of surfaced highways, with approximately 90,000 miles in important interstate routes.

One member of the United States department of agriculture, observing the highway menace to wild life, determined to count the animal carcasses he passed while on two motor trips. On a 632 mile trip in Iowa last summer he observed 225 animals dead along the highway, crushed by speeding automobiles. These included 40 reptiles, 43 mammals and 142 birds—29 species in all. Of the birds, 43 were red headed woodpeckers and 26 were domestic fowls.

Auto Fire Engine Began to Replace Horse in 1910

Who remembers when the automotive fire engine began to displace the clean-limbed and colorful fire horse? According to information contained in an address before the Dayton section of the Society of Automotive Engineers by Charles Fox, motorization of fire departments began in a rather desultory way about 1910. In time, he said, gasoline powered fire engines "made good," considerably before the fact was conceded by the fire commissioners and fire chiefs. The way for complete motorization of fire departments was shown to have been paved by motor ladder trucks, hose wagons, chemical engines and the like.

U.S. AUTO DRIVERS USED 14 BILLION GALLONS OF GAS

Last year nearly 14 billion gallons of gasoline was burned in the United States, which would make a lake five miles in diameter and almost four feet deep, said Neil MacCoull at a meeting of the metropolitan section of the Society of Automotive Engineers in New York recently.

The absurdity of some of the proposals for substitutes is shown by the facts that the total output of molasses, made into alcohol, would yield only one-twentieth of this quantity, he continued, and the soft coal mines, if coked, would result in only one-tenth as much benzol. Incidentally, the cost of the fuel from coal would be about 50 cents per gallon.

In the early days of the motor car, the gasoline yield was about 20 per cent of the petroleum. A decade ago, a great shortage of gasoline was predicted by 1926; but the cracking processes, increasing the yield of gasoline, prevented even an increase in price. By present processes, the gasoline yield is from 65 to 75 per cent.

Complete Luxury in Motoring

Combining Brilliant V-Eight Performance with Exceptional Responsiveness ..and Handling Ease

The Viking has awakened a new interest in motoring in thousands of men and women, not only because it offers the brilliant abilities of a new 90° V-eight engine—but because it requires so little effort to drive and provides so many conveniences.

The comfortable, deep-cushioned front seat in Viking Fisher Bodies may be moved instantly, forward or backward, to the most restful driving position. And the steering wheel also may be adjusted if desired. Clutch, brake, and accelerator pedals are easy to reach and to operate. Gears shift at a touch. Steering is effortless. All instruments are conveniently grouped on a handsome panel. And the windshield of non-shatterable plate glass is tilted to prevent annoying light reflections.

These important comfort factors add the final touch to the luxurious performance of Viking's 90° V-eight engine. This splendid power plant delivers greater speed than the average motorist requires, with an ease that permits complete relaxation at all times. Its response to the throttle is remarkable, both in getaway from a standing start and in acceleration at the higher speeds. Exceptional smoothness and quietness prevail throughout the entire speed range.

OLDSMOBILE SIX

—the Fine Car of Low Price—continues to win ever greater success throughout the nation. Companion car to the new Viking Eight, and, equally outstanding in engineering and value at its price, it offers a wide choice of body styles and equipment combinations, ranging from $875 up, f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Mich.

The sturdy Viking chassis also contributes to the luxury of Viking performance. Its low center of gravity, balanced weight, and generous wheelbase provide remarkable roadability. Self-energizing, internal-expanding four-wheel brakes assure safe, smooth deceleration. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers and thermostatically-controlled radiator shutters are standard equipment.

The fleet, low lines and smart appearance of Viking's tailored Bodies by Fisher reflect the luxury of Viking performance. Rich upholstery materials, fine appointments, and tastefully selected fittings lend charm to the interior decorating scheme. The deep-cushioned seats are as comfortable as easy chairs. In appearance, in performance, and in provisions for comfort and convenience, the new Viking offers definite advantages which appeal to every member of the family. Come and see for yourself. Examine and drive the Viking. Learn at first hand the thorough enjoyment and practical advantages a new Viking will bring you for a moderate investment.

AMPHIBION RAMP IN GRANT PARK GOING BEGGING

Plane Lines Fail to Grasp Opportunity.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Three months ago the south park board completed the construction of a water ramp off Eighth street in Grant park for the purpose of bringing air service to the center of the city, believing that such a terminal on the lake front would be followed by air lines flying seaplanes or amphibions capable of landing in the water and depositing their passengers and merchandise at the city's doorstep.

So far the amphibioin beach has been used only by the Curtiss Flying service in their mail shuttle service between the Municipal airport and downtown and in carrying a few passengers in the local shuttle. There are no inter-city air lines using the lake front as a terminal. The downtown air station paves the way for faster and more convenient passenger air service between Chicago and other lake front cities. For several months air operators have discussed practicability of amphibion airways made possible by the water front ramp, but so far their projects have not progressed beyond the stage of ideas.

Chicago Detroit Line.

Two midwest companies have talked of establishing a passenger amphibion line from Detroit to Chicago using the Lake Michigan ramp as the terminal here and the Detroit river as the station in Detroit. One operator, it is learned, plans such a line but will not inaugurate the service until he is able to find an amphibion plane which is economical to operate with a large pay load of passengers.

Chicago and Milwaukee are still without adequate air service despite the attractive opportunities offered for such a line. Chicago and Milwaukee are only fifty minutes apart by air. Passenger planes flying from downtown Chicago, traveling along the picturesque Lake Michigan shore and landing in the harbor near the yacht club in Milwaukee should attract a wide patronage from the business man who now spends more than two hours on the train to travel between the two cities.

Only 3 Planes Needed.

Such a line would not entail a large outlay of equipment. With a plane leaving hourly from each end of the line and a third ship held in reserve the line should be able to operate profitably. The service might well be extended northward to the northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan summer resorts. A strong appeal could be made for the patronage of the summer vactionist by an air line flying the circumference of Lake Michigan and stopping at Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay, Menominee, Escanaba, Mackinac Island, Petoskey, Cheboygan [Mich.], Harbor Point, Manistee, Muskegon and a number of other resort cities on the shores of the lake. Chicago is still poorly served by air-rail lines. There are a number of plane and train services between Chicago and New York, but these services are not entirely satisfactory for the business man who uses the airplane as a time saver. Schedules deserve more study, so that they can be made practical for the man who uses the airways. It will be found that often hours can be trimmed from the flying time of the various routes. At present most of the lines carry the passenger from a point which is an hour away from his starting point to another point an hour away from his destination.

Chicago to Lake Erie Points.

The lake front hydroplane base offers an opportunity to establish an amphibion service which would fly from Chicago to various cities on the shore of Lake Erie. Here the New York Central road follows the shore line. The air passenger would thus be able to fly from Chicago to Toledo, Cleveland, Ashtabula, or Buffalo and at any of these points land in the lake and transfer to the railroad with little difficulty for the remainder of the trip to New York.

Thus an airplane leaving Chicago's lake front in the morning could overtake the New York Central and make connections at Sandusky at 11.15 a. m., Cleveland at 12:48 p. m., Ashtabula at 2:20 p. m., and Buffalo at 5:20 p. m., or by other connections the passenger could board another New York bound train at Ashtabula at 12:24 p. m. and Buffalo at 4:33 p. m.

Chicago to St. Louis.

The east bound air rail service from New York to Chicago would benefit by a connection whereby the passenger could leave New York late in the evening after dinner or after the theater, travel across the Pennsylvania mountains by train to Pittsburgh, and there board a plane for a daytime flight to Chicago. Connections could be made with trains leaving New York at night at 9:20, 9:30, 10:40, 10:45, and 11, arriving in Pittsburgh the next morning at 7:22, 7:55, 8:15, 9:40, and 8:40.

Amphibion service would likewise facilitate air service between Chicago and St. Louis. Planes leaving the Chicago lake front and landing in the Mississippi near the center of the Missouri metropolis would be able to cut at least two hours from the time now required to travel between the two cities by air.

The Chicago air travel bureau estimates that 2,000 persons have traveled in and out of Chicago monthly over the air lines this summer. What portion of that number traveled over the air lines for the novelty of it and what portion used the airplane as a time saver cannot be ascertained. But it is safe to assert that a much larger number of travelers would use the airways if the airplanes flew from a depot as accessible as the downtown rail terminals.

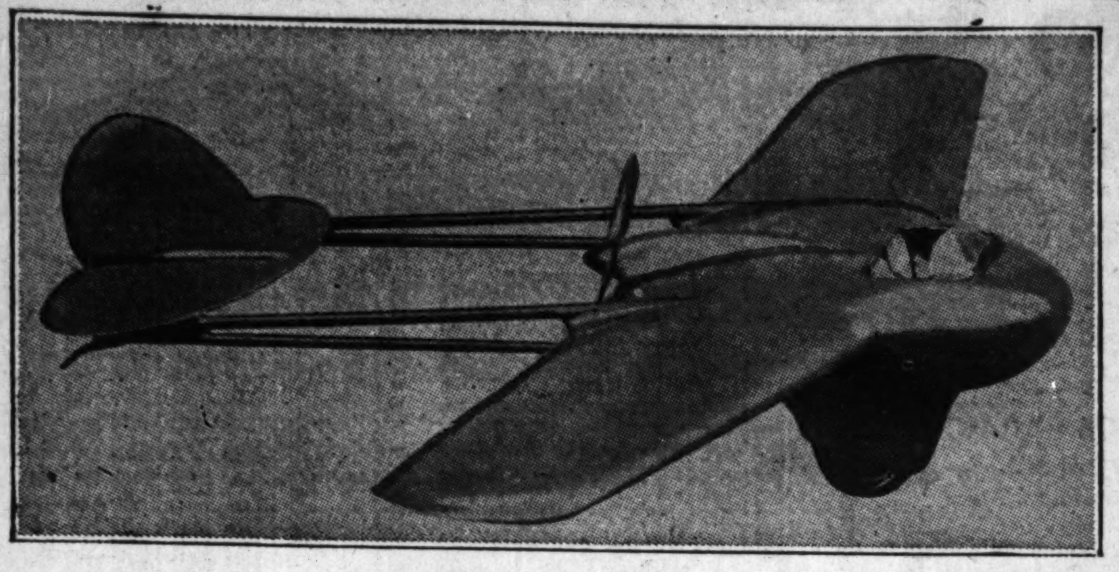
U. S.-Mexico Air Mail Now Goes Through Brownsville

The air mail from the United States intended for Mexico is now being cleared through Brownsville, Tex., the northern terminal of Pan-American Airways, which operates to the Mexican capitol by way of Tampico. The former route from Mexico City to Laredo has been discontinued. Planes on this route will only fly as far as Saltillo and air mail will be put on a train at that point and carried to the port of entry at Laredo. The domestic route from San Antonio to Laredo, which formerly connected with the Mexican line at the latter city, has likewise been discontinued, mail being carried over a new line established between San Antonio and Brownsville.

FINISH HANGAR AT HOUSTON.

HOUSTON, Tex.—The final touches have been put on the new hangar of the Houston airport. A shell runway has been completed in front of the hangar. All lighting facilities have been installed.

A FLYING WING



Passengers in this airplane designed by Anthony Stadlman, former superintendent of the Lockheed Vega factory, would be carried in the wing. The plane is of the pusher type. It has a single wheel, but two tail skids give it three points for landing.

5 States Have More than 1,500,000 Autos Each

Five states of the union now have more than 1,500,00 automobiles each. Thus each of the states has more automobiles than the entire United States owned back in 1913. The states are New York, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

Curtiss
Flying Service
at Chicago

As the oldest Flying organization in the world—it is natural that Curtiss should be first with these specialized activities which contribute most to the advance of Aviation as an industry, a business, and a service.
In Chicago, this organization includes:

Service

A completely organized Air Taxi Service.
A De Luxe Sightseeing Service.
Special Charter Trips for business or pleasure.
Aerial Photographic Service.
Curtiss Equipment and Personnel are of the very highest type.
Charges are reasonable enough to appeal to all.

Educational

Curtiss Educational Activities at Chicago are far reaching and cover every phase of aviation instruction: Flying School Courses for men and women, thorough preparation for private, commercial and transport licenses:

Aeronautical University

offering superior ground training, Airplane Mechanics Courses, Engine Mechanics Courses. Popular Lecture Series for all interested in the general subject of Aviation.
General Course for those who desire to prepare for a career in Aviation as a business, or as a transport pilot, technician, engine or airplane mechanic, aircraft designer, or executive.
Special Courses in Stress Analysis, Airplane Welding, Celestial Navigation or Aerial Photography.

PILOT 'TURNS ON' AIRPORT LIGHTS BEFORE LANDING

Invention Illuminates the Field at Night.

MADRID.—[U.P.]—Automatic lighting of airports at night for planes landing unexpectedly has been made possible by an invention of Ricardo Susana, a Spanish engineer.

Susana's process is simple in the extreme. It can be carried out by any aviator anxious to come down in the dark air field he spotted, but where he would almost certainly wreck his plane if he tried to land without light. All he has to do is to drop from the air a Bengal light. Less than one minute later the aerodrome is fully illuminated.

A small instrument, no larger than a cigar box, is placed in one of the corners of the field. The Bengal light strikes the television cell of the instrument, which is a lamp with two electrodes communicating its changes of resistance to an incandescent relay that acts upon an electromagnet. This electromagnet closes the circuit of a stronger electromagnet, serving as power relay and opening the lighting system.

Numerous tests have been made in Spain to demonstrate the efficiency of the invention.

Also 600 feet up, by the same process, all the lamps of a factory have been lighted and the engines set to work in the factory.

Susana has found that his instrument cannot be put out of order by moon rays, lighting, or lateral rays coming from the ground.

He is now studying the application of his invention to roadlighting for automobiles traveling at night. Instruments would be placed every mile and a half and struck by a sidelight placed on the cars, thus lighting the road ahead during the time computed necessary for the automobile to cover the distance, and so on.

The main advantage of roadlighting that way would be to reduce enormously the use of glaring lights that would no longer be necessary most of the time, saving the batteries and making night traveling in automobiles much more agreeable and safe.

AVIATION QUESTIONS

Questions relating to aviation are answered in this section by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, famous world war flyer, who formerly held the world's altitude record. Inquiries should be addressed to the Aviation Department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Q.—I would like to know if modern airplanes have electric starters such as on automobiles?—J. K., Chicago.

A.—Yes. Many are so equipped, while a large number are of the hand inertia variety.

Q.—Is any deaf man allowed to enroll at a civilian school? When finished flying course, can he get a transport license?—J. L. D., Chicago.

A.—I am afraid deafness would bar a person from taking flying training.

Q.—I would like to know if I can get into the air pursuit branch of the U. S. army if I have a four year course in Lane Technical High school?—W. C., Chicago.

A.—Two years of college training are required for entrance into army air service cadet corps.

Q.—Is one obliged to have a high school education to become a department of commerce licensed mechanic?—P. E., Evanston.

A.—A high school education is not necessary.

Q.—Is it possible to secure a department of commerce license for mechanics, by attending a ground school?—G. M., Blue Island, Ill.

A.—Yes. This is possible.

WORLD AFFAIRS TO BE TAUGHT IN NIGHT SCHOOLS

Course for Business Men Is First of Kind.

Evening classes for business men in international affairs, political science, economics, and other academic subjects will be offered in the Chicago public schools under the qualified instruction of college professors and able lecturers. This announcement was made yesterday by Supt. Bogan.

The classes for busines men will be the first ever offered by the board of education in any city, according to Mr. Bogan, and will represent the most advanced kind of adult education. Other adults may take the course. The first class will start about Oct. 1 in the Jones school, Harrison street and Plymouth place. The nominal registration fee will be refunded to students who attend regularly.

Classes in 50 Schools.

Americanization classes for 5,000 foreign born persons will begin in fifty schools and a score of factories and social centers on Sept. 16, according to Miss Frances K. Wetmore, director of adult education. Registration will begin Sept. 13. Last year more than 4,000 attended the Americanization classes, which in eleven years have progressed from four classes to 210 groups last year. Every nationality, vocation and type is represented, according to Miss Wetmore, who recalled that in one class a year ago was a doctor of philosophy from a German university, a Syrian laborer, a Bohemian peddler and a Russian peasant immigrant.

Courses for Teachers.

Evening courses for teachers in health and hygiene will begin at the Crane Technical High school on Sept. 16, with the staffs of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund and the Chicago health department coöperating. A similar course will be conducted at the University college, 116 South Michigan avenue. Teachers will receive promotional and college credits for completion of the course.

Baptists Pay Creditors of Insolvent Tabernacle

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The financial slate of the Baptist tabernacle, which was thrown into insolvency by the manipulations of its blind treasurer, Albert Nisbit, was wiped clean today. Adopting a more generous policy than previously announced, the Long Run Baptist association, with which the church is connected, paid creditors $45,563.24, which included more than $41,000 which Nisbit borrowed in the name of the church and never accounted for.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Indiana—Mostly cloudy and continued cool Sunday and Monday, possibly showers Sunday in extreme south portion.

Lower Michigan—Generally fair and continued cool Sunday and Monday.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday; somewhat warmer Monday in northwest portion.

Wisconsin—Mostly cloudy Sunday and Monday, probably showers Monday in west portion; somewhat warmer Monday in northwest portion.

Ohio—Showers and cooler Sunday; Monday cloudy, possibly showers.

Missouri—Mostly cloudy, showers probable Monday and in west and extreme south portions Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Mostly cloudy, showers probable Monday and in west portion Sunday; somewhat warmer Monday in northwest portion.

Minnesota—Mostly cloudy, showers probable Monday and in west portion Sunday; slightly warmer Monday.

South Dakota—Showers probable Sunday and Monday; slowly rising temperature Monday and in west portion Sunday.

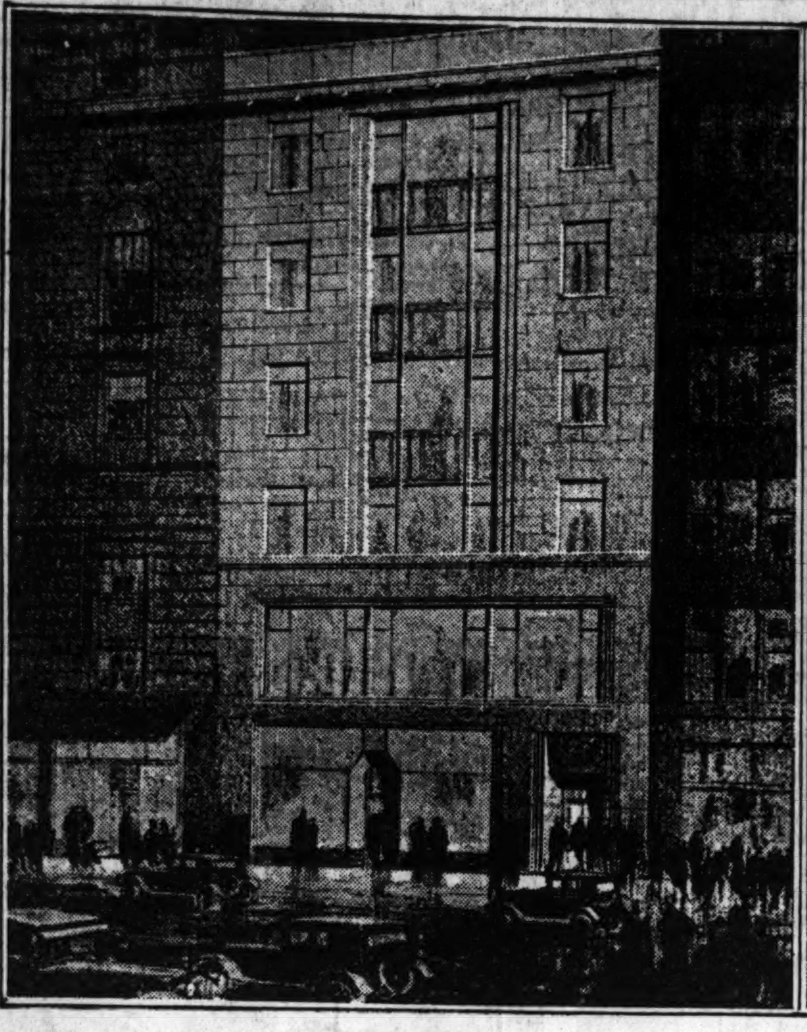
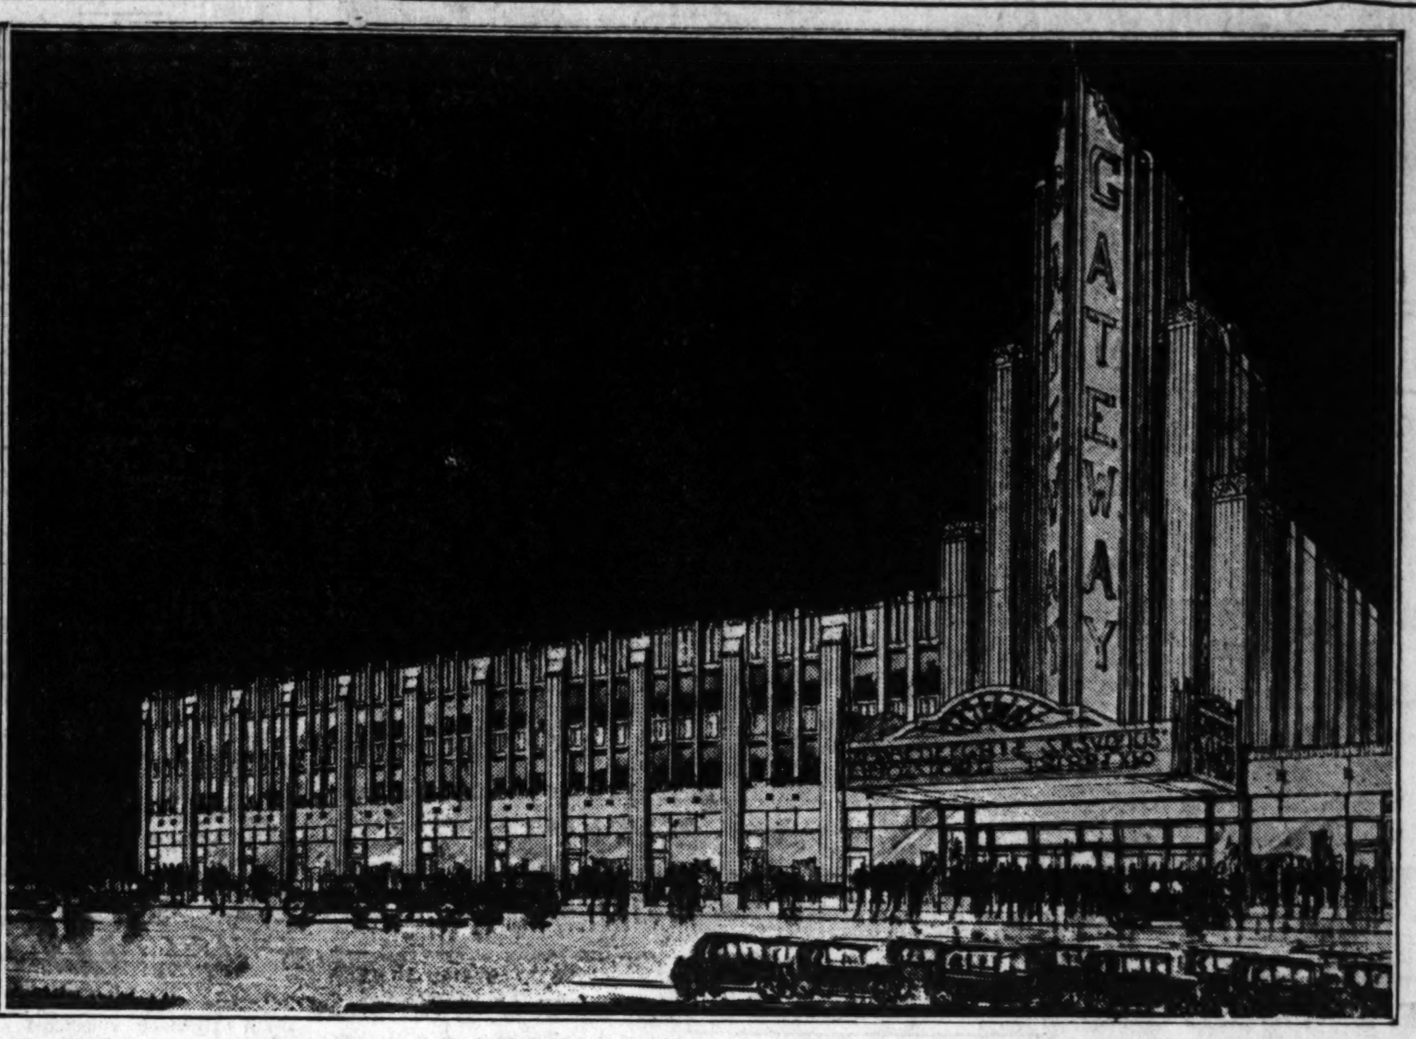
$1,000,000 Movie-Talkie Theater for Far Northwest Side

FOR LOOP SHOPPERS AND OUTLYING FILM FANS

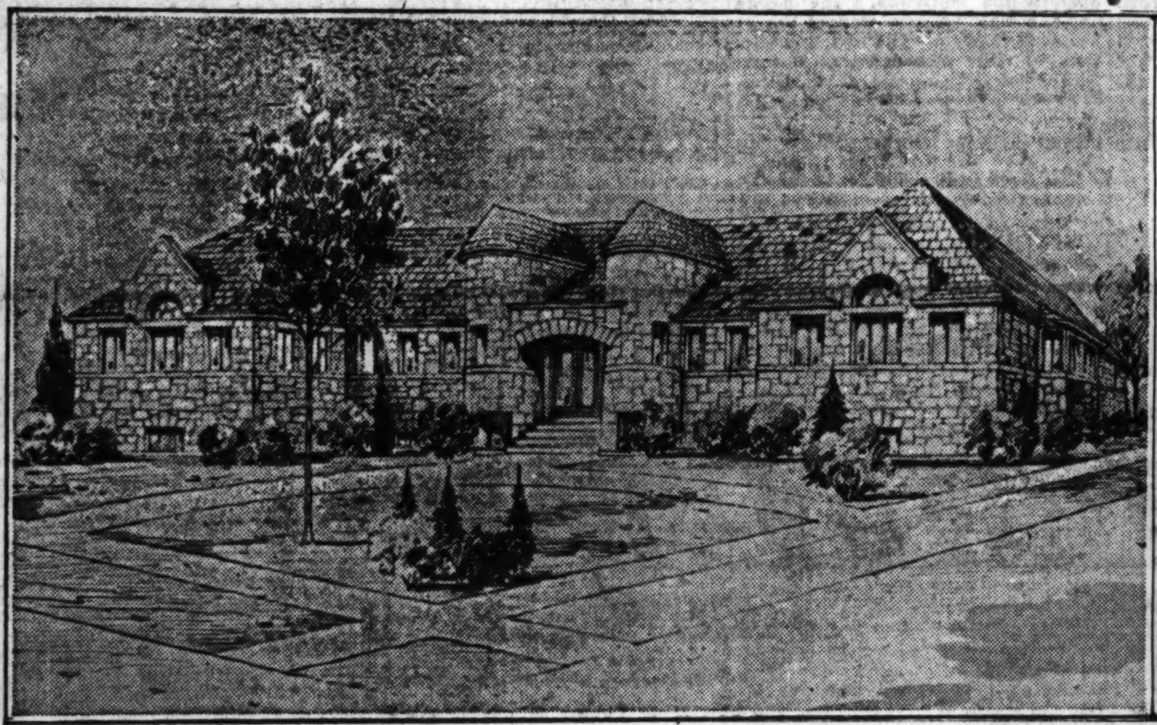


Above, on your left, is the six story building told about in this section recently, which is being erected by the Palmer estate at 106-12 South Wabash avenue, between the Palmer house and the Goddard building. It will be 47x87 and will be devoted mainly to shops. The exterior base will be granite, with the upper floors of stone. Holabird & Root are the architects. The cost will be approximately $300,000. Gilbert Hall made this sketch.

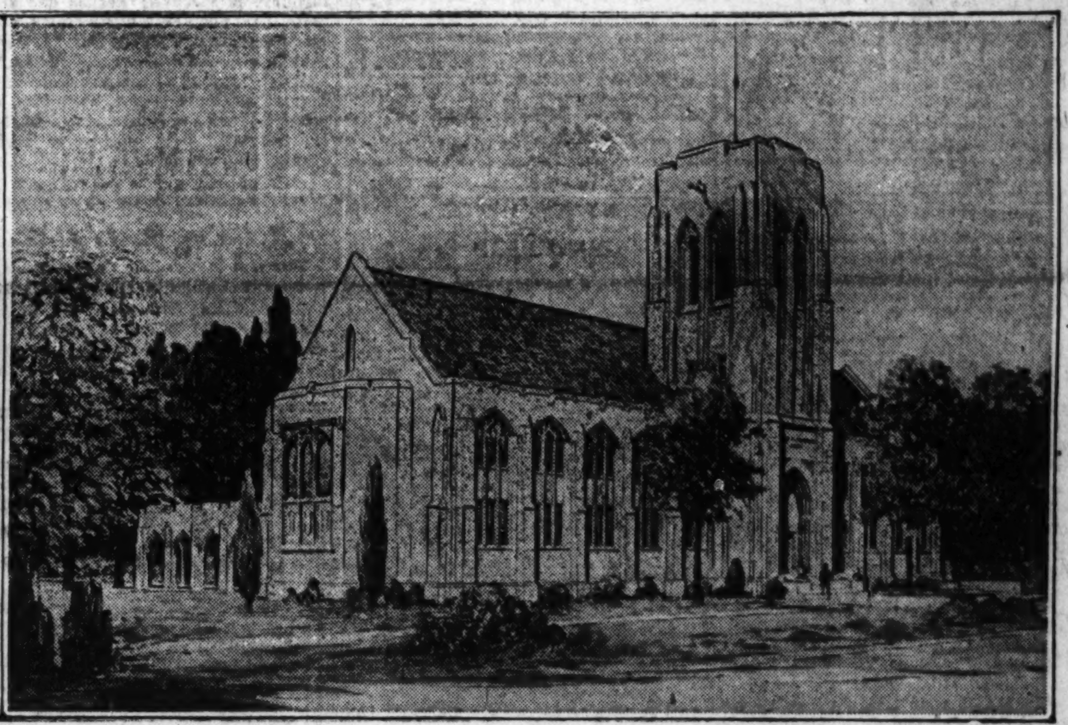


On your right is the new Gateway, movie-talkie playhouse and business block, to be erected at the northwest corner of Lawrence and Lipps avenues, a little east of Milwaukee avenue, by the Balaban & Katz interests, from plans by C. W. and George L. Rapp. It will serve a rapidly developing district of the far northwest side, as well as Park Ridge, Edison Park, Norwood Park, Des Plaines, and other suburbs and neighborhoods

EVANSTON AND MORGAN PARK IMPROVEMENTS

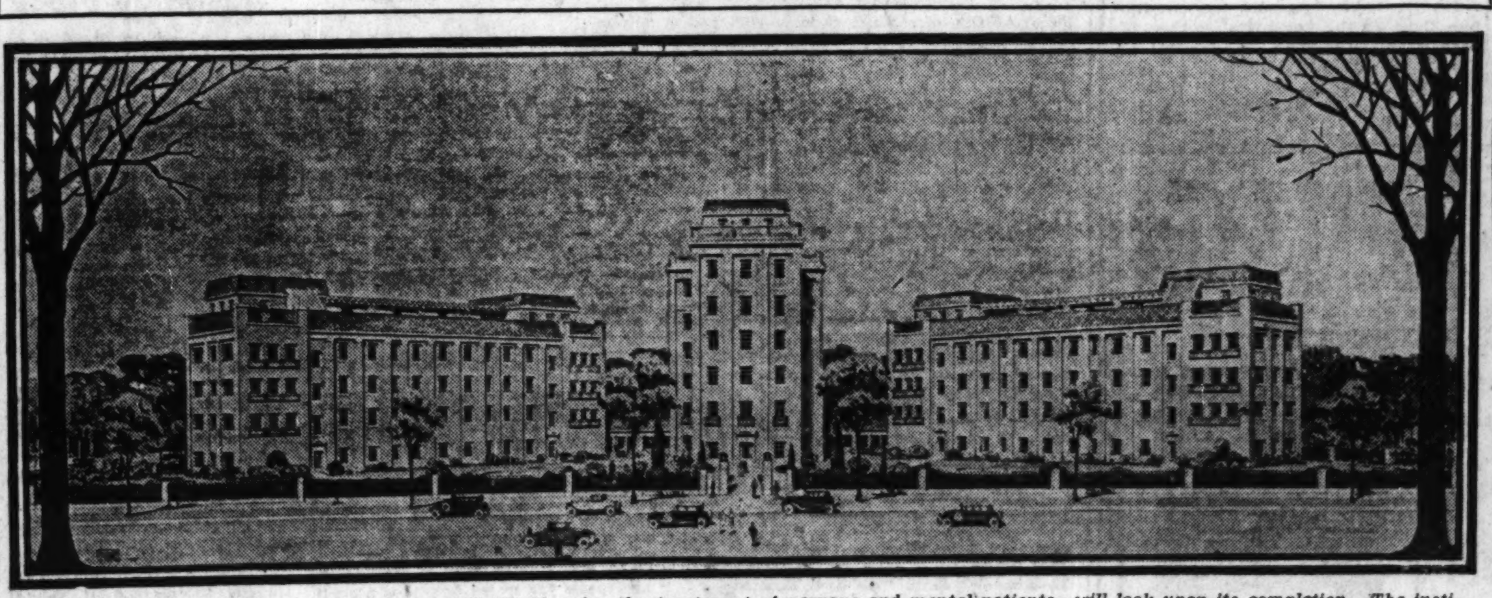


Above, on the left, is the George C. Walker branch of the Chicago public library, at the northeast corner of 111th street and Hoyne avenue, in the Morgan Park district, as it will look when two wings and a widening of the structure are completed. Doerr & Doerr are the architects. When completed, the library will have nearly four times as much floor space as at present.



On your right is the Alpha Sigma Epsilon fraternity war memorial, designed by Arthur Howell Knox of Chicago and now being erected at the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Hinman avenue, Evanston, by the R. C. Wieboldt company, which has the general contract. Charles F. Eppinghousen made the above picture.

FOR SOUTH SIDE MEDICAL CENTER



Above is how the Chicago sanitarium—an institution for the treatment of nervous and mental patients—will look upon its completion. The institution will occupy the site at the northeast corner of 29th and Prairie—in the south side medical center. Work is under way on the first unit—at the left hand corner. Dr. A. B. Magnus coöperated with Thomas D. Randall and Harold A. Vagtborg in working the design and features. J. F. Seifried is architect and engineer. H. D. Jenkins made this rendering. Story on page two.

SCIENCE WORKS TO CUT COST OF STEEL BUILDINGS

Tests at Gary Point Way to Economy.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Tests are now being conducted by the Western Society of Engineers at the American Bridge company's plant at Gary which have for their objective a reduction in the cost of building Chicago's steel construction skyscrapers.

According to Chicago's present building code, steel work must be designed to bear a stress of 16,000 pounds. Engineers here hold that this requirement is excessive, because the quality of the steel made now is vastly superior to that of the time when the ordinance was written and because of the use of concrete, inclosing the steel work for fireproofing, adds to the strength of a beam or column.

The engineers say that a lighter weight steel can easily bear a stress of 24,000 pounds, particularly when the added strength of the concrete is considered. Thus a considerable saving could be effected if the building code were revised to permit the use of lighter weight steel. The engineers hold that the weight could be reduced by about a third.

Says Idea Is Obsolete.

"Science advances so fast that it makes a code out of date almost as soon as it is written," said Edgar S. Nethercut, secretary of the Western Society of Engineers, in commenting on the tests being made by his organization. "When the building code was written we didn't know as much about structural steel as we do now. The writers of the code wanted to play safe. And we still want to maintain the factor of safety at as high a point as possible.

"But with the manufacture of a better grade of steel and with the advance of our knowledge we know that we can use lighter steel and still maintain the factor of safety at a higher point than that actually required in the building code."

The Gary experiments are being carried out by the American Bridge company, the Illinois Steel company, and the Universal Portland Cement company under the direction of the Western society. The Robert W. Hunt company, metallurgical engineers and chemists, will analyze the materials used at the completion of the tests.

Six Panels Are Used.

The experiment carries this title: "A test to determine the effect of concrete floor and fireproofing on stresses in steel framing."

The machinery of the tests consists of six panels—which might be likened to a platform in shape—supported on steel columns. Two of the panels have flooring of cinder concrete. The other four have flooring of the gravel concrete commonly in use here. The beams are covered with two inch fireproofing concrete. The floor concrete is four inches thick.

The steel construction is typical of that found in Chicago's buildings. It was designed to carry a live load of 100 pounds a square foot. Frank A. Randall, a structural engineer and chairman of the Western society's committee in charge of the tests, designed the experimental panels.

No Sign of Failure.

Last week some 150 engineers, representatives of the building department, and others interested, went to Gary to witness a part of the tests. A live load of 150 pounds a square foot was placed on the panels. This was an overloading of fifty per cent and there was no sign of failure. Ultimately two and a half times the normal load will be placed on the panels.

Cinder concrete while allowed in New York is not permitted in Chicago. This material is lighter than the gravel concrete and would still further lighten the weight of a building if used here. The gravel concrete used in the panels was of the ordinary type found in Chicago buildings, neither of a better nor of an inferior grade. It was allowed to set for twenty-eight days—the regulation period.

The tests are to be continued until there is evidence of failure. All the information developed during the experiments is to be placed in the hands of the body now engaged in the task of rewriting Chicago's building code.

Saving of Ten Per Cent.

The engineers believe that if the use of lighter steel members were permitted here it would be possible to effect a saving of approximately ten per cent on the steel. An example of what this would mean may be found in the Merchandise Mart—the world's largest building now under construction—where 55,000 tons of steel are being used. This steel costs $55 a ton f. o. b. Chicago, or a total of $3,025,000. A ten per cent saving would put $302,500 into the pockets of the owners. And savings on other buildings would be proportionate.

SET ASIDE 6 OF 35 ACRE TRACT FOR RECREATION

Six acres of a tract of thirty-five acres recently acquired by Percy Wilson & Co. are to be set aside for public park and playgornud purposes according to a statement issued by the firm. The property is located on Cicero avenue between 115th and 119th streets, and will be put on the market under the name East View park. As the ground is partly wooded and rolling, the streets are being laid out to follow the natural contours of the land.

Realtors Will Have Outing at Wheaton

For the first time in the history of the Chicago real estate board that organization will hold its annual outing in Du Page county. The visiting realtors are to be the guests of the city of Wheaton, the county seat, next Wednesday from 10 a. m. until evening. M. J. Pittsford, the merchant-mayor, will perform the customary keys-to-the city gesture on their arrival, and Charles W. Hadley, new chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, will speed the parting guests with oratorical fireworks at the banquet in the evening.

M. J. PITTSFORD.
[Gibson Photo.]

This year the realtors will not journey to their outing in a special train. They will trickle Wheatonwards by third rail, Northwestern, and by motor, with Grange field as their headquarters. There the key giving and receiving ceremonies will be performed. President Albert W. Swayne of the realty board, will receive the key.

Then a motor trip round town to see the jail, the courthouse, the municipal swimming pool, Wheaton college and other points of local interest, winding up with a barbecue luncheon at the city park.

The rest of the day will be given over to games, contests and races, with the banquet taking place at 6:15 at St. Michael's school. Winners will be announced and prizes awarded at the end of the banquet. William C. Regelin is general chairman of the realty board's outing committee, with William A. Bond chairman of the board's reception committee.

WYLE HAT RENTS MORE STORES IN CHICAGO AREA

The Wyle Hat company has leased space for ten additional stores which will bring its total in the Chicago area to forty. The following are the locations and lessors of the ten: 6473 Sheridan road, R. Le Roy Huszagh; 2131 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee; 2299 Milwaukee avenue, Gordon Strong; 3298 Milwaukee avenue, Fred A. Frolich; 3348 Roosevelt road, Harry Horberg; 40 South Ashland boulevard, The Wieboldt Realty trust; 2200 West 22d street, Joseph Misevich; 4712 South Ashland avenue, Henry Clay Shoe Stores, Inc.; 7931 South Halsted street, Morris Foreman and 734 East 79th street, Stony Island State Savings bank, trustee.

Elevated Lines to Build a New Station in Evanston

Relief is in sight for the inhabitants of the southern part of Evanston who have been objecting to the long distance to the nearest elevated railway station. The Rapid Transit Lines have announced that a $100,000 station is to be erected at once on the north side of South boulevard at a cost of $100,000.

Preliminary work is now under way on a temporary trestle which will be used in rerouting trains while construction work is in progress. It is hoped to have the new building, which will have all the public conveniences characteristic of the new stations, ready by the first of the year.

The station platform will be in the form of an island between the north and south bound tracks. It will be long enough to accommodate eight car trains.

As a first step in the construction program, a track trestle will be erected over which all trains will operate while nearly 100 feet of congrete abutments and retaining walls will be torn away to make room for the new building. The viaduct over the street will be lengthened from sixty-five to 160 feet. The southbound tracks will be extended out slightly at this point to accommodate the island platform. A. U. Gerber is architect.

It is understood that the Calvary station will be closed for general use, only being used on special occasions, for large funerals, etc.

C. F. DURLAND CO. LEASES OFFICE AT WELLS AND KINZIE

C. F. Durland & Co., have leased the three story building at the southeast corner of Wells and Kinzie streets from O. P. and W. F. Newberry of Texas for ten years. Durland & Co., and the Newberry estate will occupy the second floor of the structure on Oct. 15, which will give them a space three times their present quarters at 35 North Dearborn street. The business, conducted first by Gen. Walter C. Newberry and later by the late Charles F. Durland, was first started on Kinzie street in 1885. Offices were maintained at Kinzie and Franklin until 1920, when removal was made to Dearborn street. With the coming of the Merchandise mart, Durland & Co. decided to return north of the river. The building leased is to be remodeled.

Evanston Will Get $250,000 War Memorial

Work is under way in Evanston on a $250,000 war memorial to the members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity who lost their lives in the civil, Spanish American, and the world war. It is the design of Architect Arthur Howell Knox, an alumnus of the Northwestern chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. It is being erected at the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Hinman avenue, by the Levere Memorial Foundation, which grew from a $25,000 fund left by William C. Levere for a new building for the fraternity.

WILLIAM C. LEVERE.

Mr. Levere, popularly known in Evanston as "Billy," died two years ago. He was known as "Smiling Billy" during his overseas service as "Y" secretary. At that time he was decorated by the French government. He had held all the offices of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, being national secretary when he died.

Mr. Knox has designed a Gothic structure, with tower, to be built of Wisconsin limestone on all sides. The main entrance will be on Sheridan road. The building will contain a memorial chapel with stained glass windows and a pipe organ, an art gallery, a fraternity museum, and a library. The building also will contain the national headquarters and offices of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

It is planned to dedicate the new structure in December, 1930, when the biennial national convention of the fraternity is held in Evanston. The last convention was in December, 1928, at Miami, Fla.

CITY'S NEWEST VOICE CINEMA TO SEAT 2,500

Will Be Christened "The Gateway."

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Work is to start at once on a large theater and business block on Lawrence avenue, just east of Milwaukee avenue, which will represent a total investment of more than $1,000,000, according to Balaban & Katz and the Publix corporation, owners of the nation wide circuit of film houses, of which this will be a unit. The new playhouse will be called the Gateway theater, a name chosen because it will be adjacent to several important thoroughfares.

As already stated, it fronts on Lawrence avenue, one of Chicago's leading east and west streets. It will be less than a block from Milwaukee avenue; about two blocks from where Higgins avenue [which becomes Higgins road after it leaves the city] branches out from Milwaukee avenue and will be a block from Avondale avenue, which may some day become a great elevated automobile highway.

The new Gateway theater building will be at the northwest corner of Lawrence avenue and Lipps avenue. The site fronts 240 feet on Lawrence avenue and 212 feet on Lipps avenue. All of the Lawrence frontage will be used, but only sixty feet on Lipps will be built on at present.

Main Entrance on Lawrence.

The playhouse unit of the project will be in the rear and on the western end of the site, with a forty foot entrance on Lawrence avenue. A 132 foot arcade will connect the main entrance with the theater auditorium. This arcade will be 75 feet high. The front of the structure will be entirely of ornamental terra cotta.

The main lobby will have marble pilasters with walls decorated with mirrors, sculpture relief ornament and paintings. The ceiling will be dome shaped in brilliant hues. The floors will be varicolored marble. Marble staircases will lead from the grand lobby to the upper foyers and retiring rooms.

The main auditorium, which, it is stated, will have 2,500 seats, will be designed in the open air or garden effect, first used in this city, we believe, in the Cort theater and later on a larger scale at the Capitol moving picture house on Halsted, near 79th. Since then the idea has been carried out more or less elaborately in various playhouses.

Plan Garden Auditorium.

The Gateway auditorium will represent an Italian garden with fountains, trellises, gateways, statuary, etc., around the sides and with the ceiling as sky. This atmospheric reproduction of the heavens will start from the floor of the auditorium and the theatergoer will be able to catch glimpses of it through the gateways and trellises on each side, as well as have a sweeping view above.

The Gateway will be one of the first good sized Chicago theaters to be built since the talkies have become more than mere talk. The question of acoustics therefore has been considered by the architects, C. W. and George L. Rapp, as of prime importance and ranking with the problem of visibility in the design of this new movie-talkie house.

Now as to the management and production end of this story we must let the inspired "director of public relations," or publicity man or whatever he may have christened himself, have a paragraph of his own. He says: "The new theater is a part of the expansion program of the Publix Theater corporation, which now owns and operates principal theaters in the leading cities of the United States and Canada. As the Publix theaters are a subsidiary of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky corporation, the new Gateway will have the advantage of Paramount pictures, as well as the productions of other leading producers obtained through Balaban & Katz, a Publix subsidiary."

Caterers Lease Space in 120 East Oak St. Building

Ernest Boursier has leased the main floor shop at 120 East Oak street for a period of years from the 120 East Oak street building corporation. It will be used for Le Cerf, a catering establishment. H. L. Newmann was broker for both parties.

LABOR TO STUDY WAY OF GETTING JOBS FOR AGEING

Hope to Have MacDonald at Toronto Meeting.

BY THOMAS WREN.

WILLIAM GREEN.

American labor representatives are still working on plans to persuade Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, to attend the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which meets this year for a two weeks' conference at Toronto, Canada, beginning Oct. 7. He is expected to visit America early next month.

One of the most important problems slated for discussion will deal with the unemployment of workers—especially in the building trades—who have passed the 48 year old mark. It is said these workers now find it difficult to obtain jobs because of the builders' preference for younger workers.

William Spencer, secretary of the building trades of the A. F. of L., has been preparing a report on these conditions which will be submitted to this year's meeting for discussion and consideration. Other reports, it is said, will be submitted by international labor organizations associated with the national labor federation. Return of construction to normalcy, introduction of machinery, and agitation for establishment of the five day week in the building industry are said to be making the condition more acute.

Green Slated for Job Again.

William Green, who became president of the American Federation of Labor on the death of Samuel Gompers, is practically assured of reëlection along with the other members of the federation's executive board. During the year there has been no opposition develop to Mr. Green's return to office. At last year's New Orleans convention the laborites' slogan was to "Double the membership in 1929." The membership then was about 2,875,000. Last reports had it 3,500,000, and labor representatives say the 4,000,000 mark will be reached by time of the Toronto convention.

"It's a Racket" is reviewed in the current issue of the official journal of electrical workers and operators, which states:

"This natural interest in the life of Chicago is now being capitalized insidiously by anti-union interests in Chicago and elsewhere. A book has been prepared having all the marks of being a 'planted' piece of propaganda, seeking to fasten upon the labor movement the crimes of Chicago racketeers. The title of this book is 'It's a Racket.' The writers are Gordon L. Hostetter and Thomas Quinn Beesley.

Laborites Rap Book.

"The book is artfully put together. Without citing sources, quotations are made from the press to connect labor union members with gangster tactics.

"In view of the unsubstantial character of this book and the sinister purpose it is being put to by open shoppers, labor's position on the question of rackets may be restated. Labor accepts the definition of the racketeer offered by the New York World.

"'The racketeer is a gang leader who creates a blackmail organization under the names of a union or association.'"

Review by the electricians then continues:

"Labor deplores, opposes, and emphatically denounces rackets. Labor asserts there is absolutely and entirely nothing in common between a labor union and a racketeer organization, and only dishonest and base methods of wrong evidence could even remotely connect them.

"A labor union is an organization of producers created to forward coöperation through and between the economic interests of its members and of the industry of which it is a part.

"A racketeer organization is an organization of parasites created to forward, through blackmail, the anti-social interests of its members and to prey on the industry of which it is a part."

CO-OP FLATS ALL TAKEN; BUILDING YET UNFINISHED

Although the thirteen story semi-coöperative apartment building at 2912 Commonwealth avenue will not be entirely completed until Oct. 1 every suite has been either sold or rented. There were ten apartments for sale. These have been bought by Edward Mayer, Kurt Rosenthal, Milton M. Mayer, H. T. Peterson, Henry B. Ryan, Frank Woltz, Dr. George Abello, N. F. Agnew, Thomas J. Considine and Sam Haas.

There were seventeen apartments for rent. The entire sixteen have been rented by the following: Robert J. Eitel, George C. Bruen, Forrest L. Ayer, Hugo Meyer, G. B. Pierratt, A. L. Fell, Thomas Gerrity, Edwin Hancock, Irving Crown, George N. Neise, L. E. Geer, Charles S. Ross, Harry Dalsey, Matthew O. Blesius, H. Pearlstein, Harry Lowenbach, and Charles Thresher.

Work started on the building by Rosenthal, Mayer & Lewis on Sept. 15, 1928. The site is on the old Lehmann property, between Surf street and Oakdale avenue.

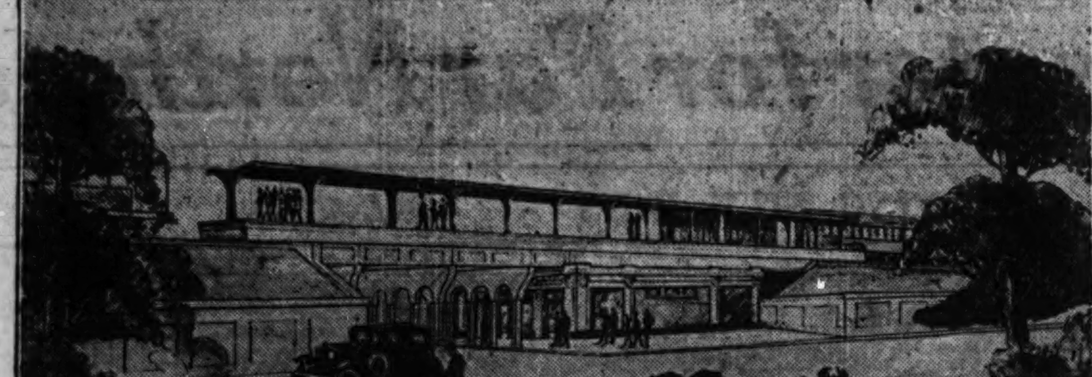
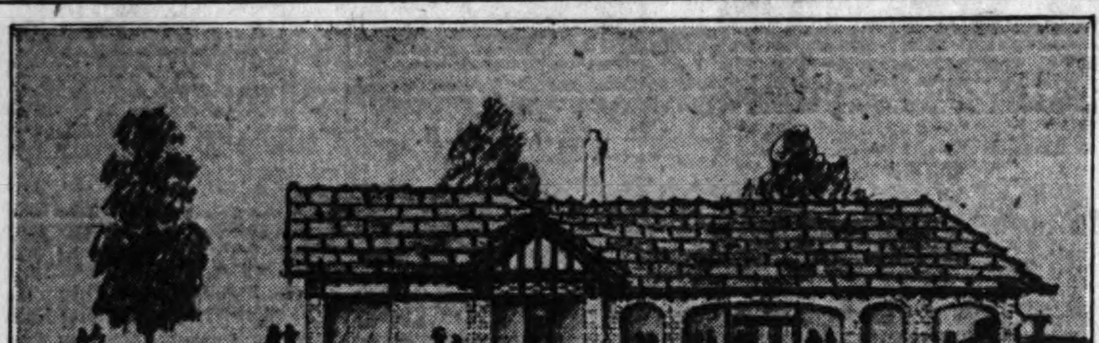
FOR EVANSTONIAN "L" RIDERS



Above is a picture of a new station which the Rapid Transit lines will erect on the north side of South boulevard to serve its patrons in the southern part of Evanston. A. U. Gerber designed the station, which, it is stated, will cost $100,000. Story on page one.

VILLA PARK'S NEW STATION



Work is well under way on the above new station for Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin passengers at Villa Park. It is being erected at Villa avenue and Park boulevard. The interior will be of oak trim. The waiting room will be 58x28. The walls will be of cement blocks covered with cement plaster and trimmed with rough limestone, set off with a varicolored roof. According to an official of the third rail line the new station was made possible through the efforts of the Villa Park transportation committee, headed by Harry W. Baker. Walter Youngberg, a local contractor, is erecting the building.

F. L. WRIGHT AND BYRNE TO TALK TO ARCHITECTS

The Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects, will hold the first of its monthly meetings since its summer recess on Tuesday, Sept. 10, at the Architects' club. The speakers will be Frank Lloyd Wright and Barry Byrne, who will show special exhibits of their work. Raymond Hood, one of the architects of the Tribune tower, was to have attended, but suffered injuries in a New York automobile accident which will prevent his appearance.

FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT.

Besides talks by the foregoing noted architects, there will be an exhibit of well known traveling scholarship drawings, including the Rome, Le Brun, Brown and Chicago traveling, and the Lake Forest Foundation scholarships. There is also to be a terra cotta exhibit. The exhibits will be ready for inspection after 4 o'clock on the day of the meeting.

Cuts Operating Budget of Lake Shore Drive Co-op

A $30,000 reduction in the operating budget for the ensuing year was announced to the tenant owners of 1400 Lake Shore drive by Elmer A. Claar, president of the Elmer A. Claar company, operating director of the coöp. This reduction in the annual assessment to the apartment owners came after Mr. Claar announced a surplus of $78,000 over the operating expenses for the past year. The building is reported 93 per cent occupied.

EAST 79TH STREET LEASE.

The McLellan Stores company has leased space at 709 East 79th street from Dr. William P. Gunn for thirty years at a term rental of $216,000, according to the Howard & Orr Co., broker in the transaction.

SOME LEASES

Leo Raemer of the C. F. Noyes National Realty corporation reports his organization as having closed the following leases: For Louis Gabesam, the store at 3542 West 26th street for five years at a reported term rental of $13,000; for the Daisy Shops, Inc., the store at 3540 West 26th street for five years at a reported term rental of $15,000; for Berny's Clothes Shops, a store in the building at the northeast corner of North and California for ten years at a reported term rental of $135,000 (David Broder represented the lessor), and for the Hutcheson Chili parlors the store at 163 West Van Buren street (Robert White & Co. acted for the lessor).

Harry A. Nichols reports having negotiated the following leases: With the F. W. Woolworth company the store at 3147-49 Irving Park boulevard, and with Harrison's Orange Huts the store at 2012 North Park avenue. He reports having made leases with Loblaw Grocterias, Inc., for the following locations: 7116 North Clark street, 3116 North Cicero, 1153 Wilson avenue, 2742 Devon avenue, 4049 Milwaukee avenue, 36 Washington street, Hinsdale; 29 Prospect avenue, Park Ridge; northeast corner of Niagara and Northwest Highway, Norwood park, and 430 Main street, Glen Ellyn.

John R. Magill & Co., agents of the new Chicago Evening Post building, have leased to the Mead Cycle company the first and second floors and the basement of the old Chicago Evening Post building at 12-16 South Market street. The premises, having an area of more than 26,000 square feet, will be used by the Mead company as salesrooms for bicycles and radios.

Edwin Crabbe Purchases Englewood 21 Flat Bldg.

Bertha Levin has sold the twenty-one flats at the southwest corner of 58th and Sangamon to Edwin B. Crabbe at $92,500, subject to $72,500. Edward Singer & Co. were brokers and will continue to manage the property.

GRANT N. BRITTEN ACQUIRES CORNER IN WESTCHESTER

Grant N. Britten, mayor of Westchester, has purchased the southwest corner of Balmoral avenue and Canterbury street, Westchester, from George F. Nixon & Co., for a reported $14,000. The property, fronting 105 feet on Balmoral and 68 feet on Canterbury, is virtually across the street from the proposed Canterbury street station of the Westchester "L" when that line is extended to 22d street. Mr. Britten, who is superintendent of the Suburban Construction company, proposes to erect a three story building on the land next spring to contain stores, offices and flats.

North and Luna Avenue Building Sold: $115,000

The five stores and nine flats at the northeast corner of North and Luna avenues, lot 58x125, were sold by Samuel Galler and others to Joseph Simon for a reported $115,000, subject to $83,000, through the Shodin Realty company.

WORK STARTS ON SANITARIUM FOR MENTALLY SICK

Will Be Located at 29th and Prairie.

Plans have been changed considerably for the new home of the Chicago sanitarium at the northeast corner of Prairie avenue and 29th street—first described in detail in this department in February of 1928. This institution provides de luxe quarters for persons with mental and nervous troubles and is said to be the first of its kind in the city. It is in the south side hospital center.

Instead of there being one large building, there will be three units. Work is now under way on the first unit which has been designed especially for the accommodation of the more active patients. This structure will be four stories high, with a roof garden and work shops at the top.

To Cost $800,000.

Unit No. 2 will be of similar size and will care for milder mental cases. The third unit will be a seven story structure which will house the administration department and care for border line cases and convalescents.

The first unit is to be completed by Dec. 1 of this year and the entire establishment is to be finished in a year or so. The investment will be $800,000 in buildings and equipment and $200,000 in land, according to officials of the institution. The ground measures 400 feet on Prairie avenue, with a depth of 178 feet. It's to be landscaped and is to have provisions for outdoor recreations.

Unit No. 1 will provide for eighty patients and when the sanitarium is completed there will be accommodations for 200.

To Have Unusual Features.

There will be a number of unusual features. Each room will be individually artificially ventilated and will have concealed radiators and lights. All rooms will be sound proofed. And instruments for keeping the patients from wandering outside will be hidden so the buildings will not have the appearance of holding their occupants by force.

Of modified colonial design, all three buildings will be faced with light colored pressed brick on all sides. A colorful touch will be added by green Spanish tile mansards. The design and the features were worked out by Dr. A. B. Magnus, head of the institution, with the coöperation of Thomas D. Randall and Harold A. Vagtborg. J. F. Seifried is architect and engineer.

John Cook Pharmacy Rents Space in Uptown Bell Bldg.

The John Cook Pharmacy, incorporated, has leased the corner store in the new Illinois Bell Telephone company's uptown building at the southeast corner of Broadway and Sunnyside for ten years at a minimum rental and percentage, through Allen M. Weber and company, brokers. This will be the concern's fourth Chicago store.

REALTORS FROM SUBURBS TO HEAR JOSEPH B. HALL

Joseph B. Hall, executive secretary of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association and former land superintendent of the Cook County Revaluation commission, will discuss "A Cross Section of the Mortgage Situation in the Suburbs" at the September meeting of the Suburban Real Estate Board council, to be held next Thursday noon, at the Palmer house. Joseph A. Thorsen, vice president of the La Grange realty board, also will talk on a new kind of prospect file. A report will be made on progress on the program for the Rockford convention.

Brokers' Notes

Albert H. Wetten & Co. have assumed management of the Fine Arts building, at 410 South Michigan avenue, and the renting of the new building at 737 North Michigan avenue. Both properties are owned by the Charles A. Chapin estate. R. W. Chandler, now associated with the Wetten organization, will give particular attention to these buildings.

The name of the Inland Construction & Realty company has been changed to William E. Mosby & Co. There will be no change in the activity or personnel of the concern. According to Mr. Mosby, president, one of the reasons for changing the name was due to the fact that the old name emphasized the building department and not the management department and, as the company was doing more along the latter line at present, it was thought the change would be advantageous.

S. Ralph Fishbein is now connected with the Hyde Park office of the Howard & Orr company.

Hipple & Clarke, for the last twenty years at 105 North Clark street, have moved to new quarters in the Burnham building, 160 North La Salle street.

Frank J. Hinkamp & Sons, Inc., announce that Edgar A. Taylor is in their renting and property management department.

Philip V. Bender, formerly with Baird & Warner, is now in the general brokerage renting department of Ross & Browne.

Edward E. Manning has been appointed general sales director of the Goodson & Wilson Mortgage company. He has been with this concern for the last five years.

The United Building & Development organization has moved from 189 West Madison street, to larger quarters in the Adams-Franklin building.

Semtel & Loth have moved from 2512 to 2572 Lincoln avenue where they have taken over the management of the store, office and flat building recently bought by Frank J. Birk.

LOOKING BACKWARD

To Sept. 8, 1919; 10 Years Ago Today

The strong effect which municipal improvements have in increasing values of real estate is being shown by transactions along North Michigan avenue. About two years ago A. W. Shaw & Co. bought land on this street with the idea of improving it with a building to house the firm's publishing business. The land became too valuable for the purpose and the firm has decided to locate its publishing plant on Cass street, between Huron and Erie streets.

A. W. SHAW.
[Moffett Photo.]

To Sept. 8, 1899; 30 Years Ago Today

Howard Van Doren Shaw is at work on plans for a residence which Dr. Guy Lilley will build at Hinsdale. It will be two stories high and will front sixty-five feet with a depth of thirty-five. The same architect has designed for Lee France a residence to be built on Winthrop avenue, in Edgewater. It will be two stories, basement and attic high and the exterior will be veneered with brick. Mr. Shaw also designed for C. M. Moderwell a residence which the latter will erect next to the France house.

HOWARD VAN DOREN SHAW.

To Sept. 8, 1909; 20 Years Ago Today

It was announced during the week that Dr. D. K. Pearsons has given $[illegible],000 to the Congregational Training School for Women, thus enabling that body to purchase the Chalmers homestead on Ashland boulevard, which it will occupy as its home. The Chalmers property is one of the residential landmarks in that vicinity, as well as one of the handsomest dwellings on the west side. It is nearly opposite the Carter H. Harrison homestead. The interior finish is of a costly character and the original cost of the structure is said to have been more than $100,000.

DR. D. K. PEARSONS.

Thomas J. Woods has purchased from Leonard A. Busby the property with 100x124 feet of ground at the southwest corner of Drexel avenue and 63d street, with brick, store and flat improvements, for $70,000. The buyer gave a trust deed to secure $30,000 of the purchase money three years at five per cent.

Albert W. Riley Buys House on East Division Street

Albert W. Riley, lumber dealer, has bought the three story brick residence at 45 East Division street, 22x86, from Cyrus E. Wilder, for an undisclosed consideration. He already owned the house adjoining on the west which gives him a total frontage of approximately forty feet, at the head of Astor street. According to Sudler & Co., who represented both parties, the new owner has no immediate plans for improvement.

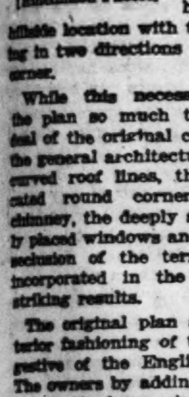
TRIBUNE PRIZE WINNER GOES UP IN PALOS PARK

Design Is Changed a Bit Here and There.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.
[Home Builders Editor.]



LOUISE BARGELT.
[Hutchinson Photo.]

The Norman French and the cliff dweller style has been combined in this seven room home in Palos Park. Fashioned along the general architectural lines of the seventh prize winning house in THE TRIBUNE book of homes, Architect Clarence W. Hunt of New York, the house is much larger than the original which served as its inspiration. Furthermore ,the owners, L. Reed, had their hearts set on a hillside location with the grounds sloping in two directions from the terrace corner.

While this necessitated changing the plan so much that not a great deal of the original could be retained, the general architectural features, the curved roof lines, the massive truncated round cornered towers and chimney, the deeply set and artistically placed windows and the dignity and seclusion of the terrace walls, were incorporated in the new plan with striking results.

The original plan spoke of the exterior fashioning of the home as suggestive of the English cottage type. The owners by adding a tower on the north side have given the dwelling a touch of the Norman while the west facade with two balconies and a tower with straight roofs which suggest descending steps gives a further touch of the cliff dweller. One of the many attractive features of the house is the tower balcony whose battlements give the needed seclusion for sun baths and permit a lovely panorma of tree tops and stream vistas.

Built in Palos Park.

Built on 123d street in Palos Park, the house stands in a stream valley, the meanderings of the stream visible from high terraces. From the cement highway a driveway leads to a double garage in the basement. In the rear, the valley of another stream provides a good basin for a swimming pool which can be filled by gravity from the well. The grounds are densely wooded and along the stream are trees "centuries old."

The basement and terrace are of 8 inch cement blocks. The exterior walls are of Spanish textured white stucco and the roofs are of slate, in softly blended purples, greens, and browns. The balconies are of canvas, the towers of tin.

The house has seven rooms, exclusive of the basement, where there is a large bedroom under the terrace, a recreation room, laundry, and double garage.

The first floor and steps leading to the second floor are of cement, with surfaces chemically colored and marked off; the dining room in autumn brown square tile effect, the living hall and stairway of random block in wave crest green, the living room in Mongolian buff, with square tile effect. The foyer and fireplace are of variegated slate and the kitchen has a linoleum covered floor. The second and third floors have wide oak flooring in tavern style.

Doors of Pecky Cypress.

The outside doors are of pecky cypress, with the "pecks" left in. For safety they all have an inner door, which opens and permits one to talk with those on the outside through screen and grillwork.

The interior walls are of textured finish, with no casing about doors or windows. The windows are steel sash and the lighting fixtures and grill work are especially made and finished in black.

The rooms are not of the usual rectangular shape, but vary considerably from the ordinary, an arrangement which permits the placing of many nooks and niches.

Among the special features of the home may be mentioned a fireplace in the living room of open type, extending into the room with large hood of Swedish iron and copper extending over it. This type of fireplace is said to radiate a high degree of heat.

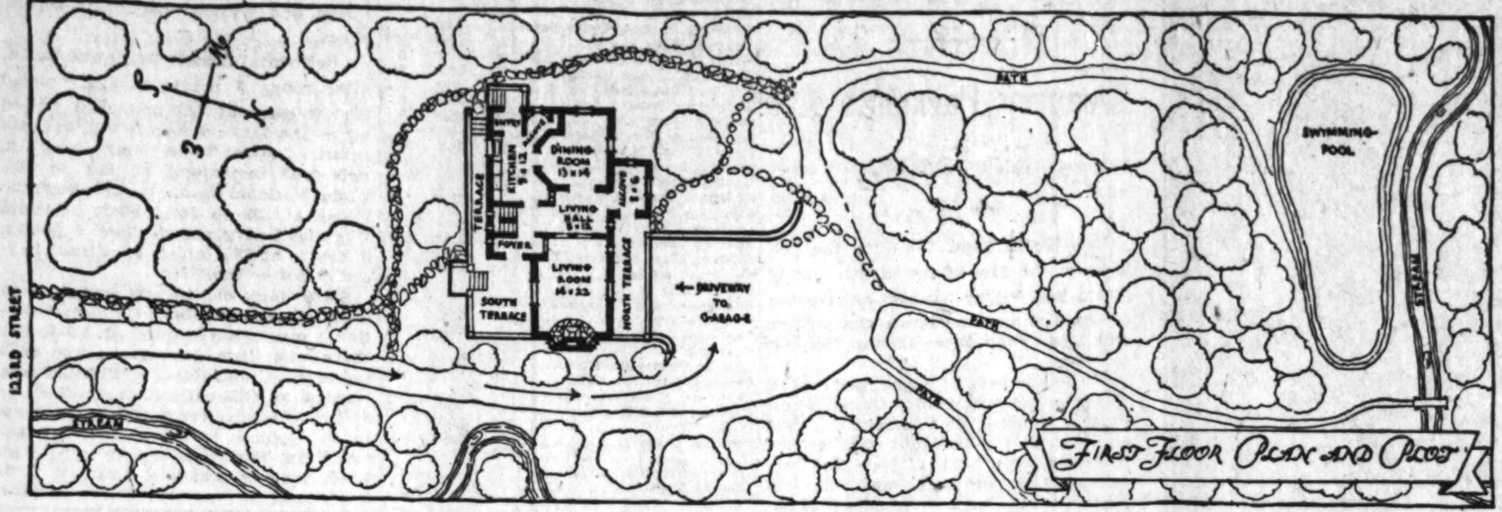
Round Table in Kitchen.

The kitchen alcove contains a round iron base table instead of the usual oblong table, with corner cupboards for dishes. There are built-in cabinets and special wall shelves in partition for glass globes.

A well dug 120 feet deep brings water by automatic pump to all floors. A thousand gallon tank of oil provides oil for burner controlled with thermostat; a septic tank takes care of the sewage, and gas heater and water softener are in the basement. Other modern conveniences include electric refrigeration in the kitchen and window ventilator. Warmth in winter and coolness in summer is assured to the house by thorough insulation.

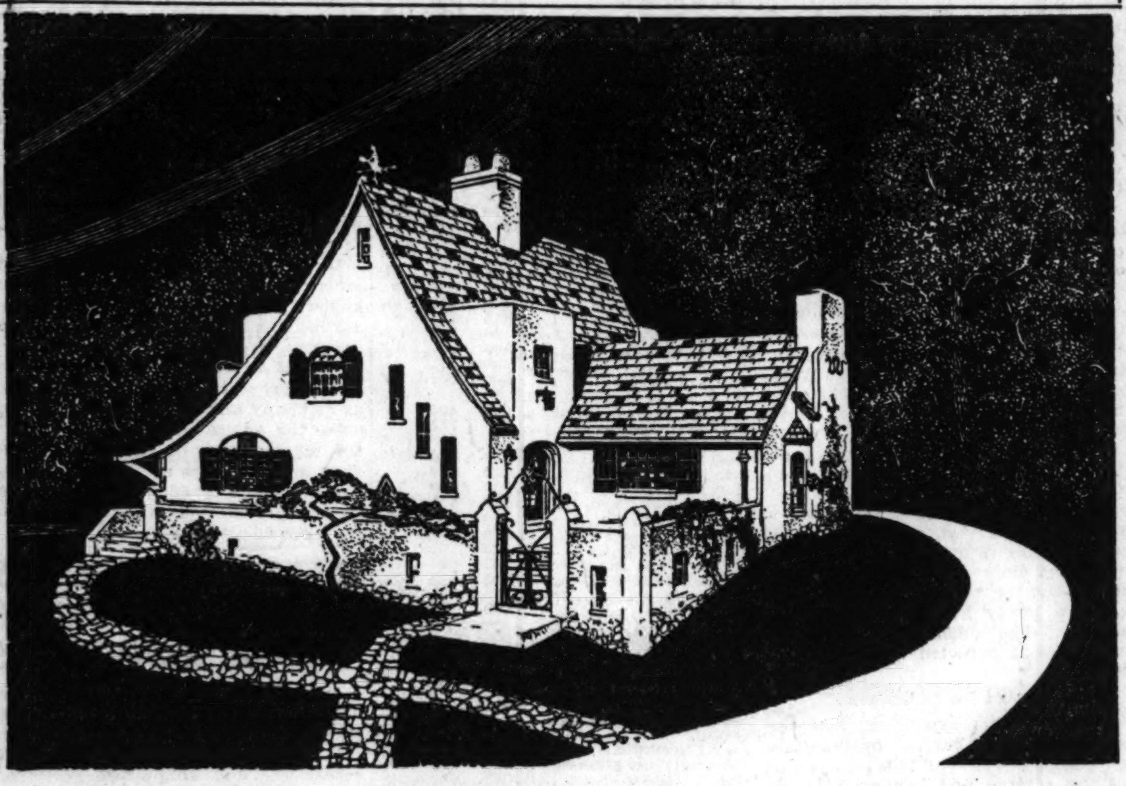
The approximate cost of this spacious home, on its lot, which is 100x203, is $25,000.

GROUNDS AND FLOOR PLAN OF SUBURBAN RESIDENCE



Here are the floor plan and the layout of the grounds surrounding the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Evan L. Reed at Palos Park, as told about in the adjoining column more in detail. The design of the house is an adaptation of the seventh prize winners as shown in The Tribune's Book of Homes.

NORMAN FRENCH AND CLIFF DWELLER STYLE



The original which served as an inspiration for this seven room home in the Norman French and Cliff Dweller style was the seventh prize winning plan in the five room class in The Tribune Book of Homes. Built in Palos Park in a stream valley densely wooded, the meanderings of the stream are visible from its terraces and towers. The exterior walls are of Spanish textured stucco and the roofs are of slate. The lot is 100x203. The owners are Mr. and Mrs. Evan L. Reed.

LUMBER MAKERS PUBLISH BOOK ABOUT FLOORS

Any one interested in homes—and this covers a wide field surely—can obtain an interesting pamphlet on the late popular designs and newest architectural treatments of the wood in residential floors, by writing to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Transportation Building, Washington, D. C., for the booklet entitled "Wood Floors."

This publication, which will be sent free to interested persons, covers well the field of wood floor construction possibilities for the average home, including the modern tendency towards the reproduction of period type floors in both hardwoods and softwoods.

Appearance, adaptability, warmth, dryness and cost are discussed for each type of residential floor and under the general heading of how to make a good floor such points as stiffness, size of joists, sub floorings, matching and general construction are covered. There are also chapters on finishing, waxing, when to lay a floor, how to lay it, wood floors on concrete, porch floors, canvas decks and the resurfacing of old floors.

Pictures Beautify a Home.

Good pictures lend beauty, distinction, and interest to a home.

STANDARD HOME HAS BETTER RESALE VALUE THAN BIZARRE DESIGN

Many people today in buying a home keep in mind its possible quick resale value. A hundred years ago, with conditions so very different from now, men and women bought homes for generations to come. Now there are many different reasons which make it desirable and even necessary for a family to change; perhaps even to move to another city. Therefore it is merely the part of wisdom to consider the home purchase to a certain extent at least in the light of an investment.

Choosing a home with obvious accepted standard values, assuming that on other points it is acceptable, means that it will sell more easily—should a sale become necessary—than a home which borders on the bizarre or the "too different."

VENTILATING FAN WHICH OPERATES AT SMALL COST

A new wall box with ventilating fan for the elimination of kitchen odors is on the market. This fan may be installed in a home already built or in one which is being built and, it is claimed, the operating expense is low, costing no more than a 50 watt electric light bulb to operate.

This box will fit walls of any thickness. The blades of the fan are so set as to handle a large volume of air at comparatively low speed and quiet operation is assured.

Exposed Beams in Living Room of Home Appropriate

Whether a home is English, Italian or colonial, exposed beams in the living room which support the floor above are pleasing and appropriate.

Answers to Questions on Home Building

A Query on Walls.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: What kind of walls do early Tudor and Elizabethan interiors call for? Jacobean and Stuart interiors? CLARENCE D.

Answer: Early Tudor and Elizabethan precedent calls for wood paneling and flat beamed wood patterns with plaster panels between. Ceilings are often finished in beamed wood and plaster patterns or in open timbered style. Plaster finishes can be of antique types — smooth, rough, or ribbed —and the wood finishes are in the natural styles which clearly bring out the grain and texture.

Jacobean and Stuart interiors have hardwood panelings still popular though developed in small units with geometrical patterns. Where plaster is used it is generally found in crude finish and ceiling too, often carry geometrical patterns in the simple plaster moldings. Wood finishes still retain their natural tones.

Recommends Southern Pine.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: Would you advise southern pine for interior trim? It is a soft wood, as I understand it, and moderate in cost. Is it serviceable? MRS. F.

Answer: Southern pine can be well termed an all service wood. The southern pine intended for interior trim has striking grain and lovely texture, is bright and attractive in color, and can be given any standard wood finish; it is, furthermore, uniformly excellent lumber, giving splendid service at moderate cost.

Yes, You Can Afford It.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: My husband makes about $60 a week the year round. We have a lot already paid for and no debts and over $1,000 in savings. Can we afford a $6,000 home? We have one child. What should the house cost in relation to the income? MRS. D.

Answer: I should say "yes" you can afford such a house as you have no debts and seem prudent. There is such a difference in families that any set rules governing relationship of house cost to annual salary are impossible to make. Some families would be literally "swamped" buying a house costing twice their yearly income while others could manage it and manage well.

RED GUMWOOD IS NOW WIDELY USED IN THIS COUNTRY

One interested reader writes this department asking about the possibilities of gumwood for paneling and if there is more than one kind of gumwood.

Red gumwood has long been recognized in Europe for its beauty but it is only in recent years that it has been widely used in this country.

For decorative paneling it offers many possibilities since no wood contains more interesting patterns than figured gumwood. No known laws appear to govern the fashion in which these patterns will show up.

In color this gumwood is a reddish brown and has a satiny finish. Sometimes one sees panels of figured gumwood surrounded by plain wood forms.

This red gum, which is the commercial term for the heart wood of the gum tree, we see for interior woodwork, doors, molding, and paneling. It may be finished in its natural tone or stained a desired color of red, brown, or gray.

Sap gum is the commercial term for the sap wood or outer light colored portion of the gum tree and is widely used for household conveniences such as breakfast nooks, sun porch fittings, cupboards, bathroom accessories, and so on. It takes a white ivory or gray enamel particularly well.

Proper Piling of Lumber Prevents It from Warping

Attention to the proper piling and the protection of lumber on the job during the building of a frame house prevents warping, twisting, checking and insidious decay. This applies to rough as well as to finished lumber.

Modern Kitchen of Today Is Marvel of Machine Age

The modern kitchen of today is one of the marvels of the machine age in which we live. Every well equipped kitchen presents not only a revelation of the wonders of electricity and gas but an organization in itself of labor saving and space saving devices.

LEAVES FALLING? ONE MUST PICK TREE WITH CARE

Finicky as Humans in Regard to Habitat.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Home owners and home seekers alike appreciate these days the importance of healthy, well groomed and attractively placed shade trees, whether for urban or for rural habitat. For, in the judicious care of mother nature's stately sons lies the power to mar or to make an attractive homesite.

Above all else, trees are finicky as any human, in the sort of environment and food they need to be strong and happy. Whenever you see a grouping or row of neatly trimmed and well situated trees you may know that either nature or man has used care in their selection for climate, elevation and soil conditions. Trees which thrive in sandy lowlands are as out of place in loam highlands as a street vendor in a gilded reception hall.

Why Leaves Are Falling.

Recent lack of rainfall, reported by the fickle weather man, has caused many admirers of trees to wonder why leaves are beginning to fall already in some sections, and other trees to remain as green as they were in June. While a part of this is due to weather conditions, the kind of tree and how well suited the variety is to soil and altitude are the real causes of such difference in leaving properties.

Landscape gardeners and trained foresters may be depended upon to know the likes and dislikes of particular trees varieties. An ash that is at home in the country may be entirely out of place on city lots. The very mention of cottonwoods as a desirable shade tree in the average yard causes these experts to shudder. If, then, these are less desirable than others, what shall we plant?

In planning a homesite where trees are scarce or entirely lacking one should bear in mind what the landscaping scheme will be in another seven to fifteen years. Frequently, tree specialists tell us, rapid growing and slower varieties will be alternated in the planting, and thinned out several years later. Buildings or alleys may be screened with Carolina poplars or walnut trees. The poplars are faster growing than the nut trees yet furnish less shade.

Elms Are Favorites.

Elm trees will always be favorites for their stately ruggedness. The American elm is one of our best shade trees, and if started when the trunks are 2½ to 3 inches thick will be good shade trees in seven or eight years.

The maples vie with elms and boxelders for town landscaping. The soft maple is a fast growing tree attaining great size, like the elm, as compared with its cousin the hard maple. The latter develops more slowly, is more select in its soil and climatic requirements, yet furnishes dense shade in summer and glorious colors of the rainbow when Jack Frost has called in autumn with his brushes and palette.

The Norway maple requires more space for it furnishes abundant shade in its mature years, a single tree often dominating the average city lot.

Oak trees hold their leaves about as long as any of the deciduous or broadleafed trees, are hardy, and make beautiful summer and fall backgrounds for the shrubs and flower gardens. Many gardeners like the mountain ash for urban planting, since it maintains a trim appearance and holds its leaves well in suitable environment.

Many Other Recommendations.

Among other recommendations of the American Tree association for northern prairie land are the boxelder, the Chinese elm, the hackberry, the sycamore, the green ash, the hardy catalpa and the Russian olive tree. The boxelder is even more popular for home planting than the upright poplars, because it is quick to grow and furnishes more shade, although frequently subject to attacks of the tree borer.

Fruit trees call for a place in nearly every yard of any size. The apple, pear and cherry trees are especially recommended where utility and shade are a commendable combination. These trees, if properly cared for during their growth, will be large enough in seven or eight years for the children's swing or playhouse. As they come into bearing, pruning and spraying should be part of their regular treatment.

One of the veteran tree specialists of this section, August Koch, whose genius underlies the fine condition of Chicago's west park system, tells me that one of the best combinations for lining streets is to alternate ash and oak trees. This plan he carried out on the beautiful University avenue in St. Louis years ago, and the results are now almost daily comment in that city. Elms could be substituted for oaks in this arrangements with good effect, he states.

Evergreens Are Popular.

To avoid late fall and winter barrenness, most landscaping plans include a selection of coniferous or evergreen trees. Among the recommended varieties in this class we find the western yellow pine, the jack pine, douglas fir, white fir, western white spruce, the arborvitae or northern white cedar, and two kinds of red cedar; the eastern or the Rocky mountain. The Platte river, Nebraska, form of the eastern red cedar is most desirable in this section. Scotch pine is also suitable for central prairie planting.

Anyone who has been so fortunate as to acquire a wooded spot for the house of his dreams knows the scheming and arranging necessary to preserve the most desirable trees in the placing of the dwelling.

One Must Look Ahead.

House plans are changed to take advantage of those beneficent spreading limbs of elm or oak or maple. Yet if these trees for any reason seem unsuited to a permanent landscaping plan, steps should be taken toward starting new trees of the right kind in the proper location, looking ahead a decade or so.

Neighborly coöperation in planning a group of homes with desirable trees will enhance many fold the appearance and value of each individual lot. In this scheme the types of trees and their location along the street and along lot boundaries can best be planned together. Some communities plan together for a trained gardener to trim their trees during winter or spring, thus keeping the neighborhood plan a unit year after year. Shrubs and hedges also enter into the desired picture—but there is another story.

TREES TO FRAME THE PICTURE OF YOUR HOME

NATURE'S STALWART SONS STAND GUARD—Set apart from the rest of the world by a phalanx of healthy, well trimmed trees, this delightful back yard of W. G. Oliver, 401 North East avenue, Oak Park, Illinois, is a good example of wise placing of trees for shade and for background. Note that both large and small, both evergreen and broadleafed trees, have been used in this arrangement.

ARE YOU BOTHERED BY ANTS? HERE IS A WAY TO GET RID OF THEM

Little hills or nest piles in even the well-cared-for lawns this time of year bring many complaints of injury by the ants whose energies are responsible.

A number of species are responsible for these upheavals, says W. P. Flint, Illinois state entomologist. Some ants nest in the lawns without throwing up a mound or hill.

Once having located the ants' hill, it is a comparatively easy matter to clean them out by making a number of small holes in the ground about the hill and pouring into each of the holes about a tablespoonful of carbon bisulphide. For the smaller species, the holes punched in the hills should be about 12 inches deep and two or three holes should be made, one down the main entrance and the others four to six inches away. This usually is all that is needed.

For the large black ants the holes should be a quarter of an inch in diameter and from 15 to 20 inches deep. In all cases the carbon bisulphide should be poured into the holes and the nest covered with a piece of canvas or old blanket or other covering which will help to hold in the fumes. As carbon bisulphide is approximately five times as heavy as air, its action is mainly downward and the covering over the nest does not need to be tight.

In using this method of ant control, it should be borne in mind that carbon bisulphide is highly inflammable and explosive when mixed with air. One must not smoke while using the material and must take every precaution that no fire or sparks come in contact with the gas.

Carbon bisulphide can be bought from nearly any drug store in the form of a slightly yellow, foul-smelling liquid. The price should be not more than 50 to 75 cents a pound.

FLOWER LOVERS CROWD EXHIBIT AT CONSERVATORY

Throngs of admirers are visiting the unusually brilliant flower displays in the parks of Chicago this week end, including the annual Men's Garden club showing in the new exhibition hall of Garfield Park Conservatory.

In a letter to THE TRIBUNE's Farm and Garden department, Mr. August Koch, chief florist for the West Park commissioners, invites the public to see the display of flowers and water plants in Garfield and Douglas parks. These gardens furnish inspirations and ideas for home owners and are a delight to every nature lover. One bed alone contains seven thousand plants. Nearly every form of blooming vegetation of the season may be found in roaming through the parks.

Brood Sows Should Farrow Twice Yearly

It is bad practice to keep brood sows for 12 months and raise only one litter of pigs during that time. If pigs are farrowed before the first of October they will get a good start before cold weather comes, and they can be fattened for market during the winter.

The market price for fat hogs is usually good in the spring because there are fewer pigs being marketed at that time of the year than there are during the winter months. Conditions in Kansas are more favorable for raising two litters a year than they are farther north.

THE LATEST IS A GLASS MILKER COW CAN'T KICK

A new system developed by R. R. Graves of the federal bureau of dairy industry is being discussed among dairy farmers who are interested in promises of reduced cost and less labor in producing cleaner milk on a large scale, indicated in early trials of the device at Beltsville, Md.

Briefly, the system consists of a mechanical milking unit of standard make. Instead of using the usual portable milk can, the milk is drawn into a stationary container made of unbreakable glass located between two stalls and somewhat above the cows. It is suspended from a weighing mechanism and its transparency makes the rate of milking visible to the operator at all times, both by the amount of milk in the receptacle and by the weight registered by the scale.

When milk ceases to flow into the receptacle the operators records the weight of the milking and opens a valve which permits the milk to be drawn from the bottom of the container through a sanitary pipe line to a large vacuum tank in the dairy house near by. Thus the milk reaches the dairy house without having come in contact with air, human hands, or any other contaminating agency. No milk is in sight except that in the vacuum-tight glass container.

Cold Water for Sterilization.

Sterilization of the mechanical equipment is accomplished quickly and easily by running cold water from the dairy house back through the pipe line, the glass receptacle, and out of the teat cups into the gutter. This is followed by hot water and then steam.

A reduction in labor is effected with this system in a number of ways. The milk is drawn to the dairy house automatically and there is no handling of buckets or other milking utensils. Nor is it necessary to strip the cows to finish milking. The udder is massaged while the teat cups are still in place, and the transparency of the glass receptacle permits the operator to see when the cow is giving no more milk. One operator can handle three or four milking units, milking three or four cows at the same time.

Work Is Done Swiftly.

At the government farm one man does all the milking with three units and has milked twenty-nine cows three times a day and twenty-five cows twice a day in a total period of five and one-half hours. The milking is done in a special barn equipped with the three milking units and stalls for six cows. The cows enter from the feeding barns on either side of the milking barn, pass into their proper stalls from the rear, stop to be milked, and, when finished, pass forward and out, to return to the feeding barn.

No time is wasted in tying or fastening the cows. They are detained by movable gates hanging in front of each stall. As soon as one cow has been milked the teat cups are taken off, the milk is drawn from the glass receptacle in twenty-two seconds, and the teat cups are placed on the cow in the adjoining stall, and milking started again.

STARTING FRUIT TREE SEEDLINGS.

Please send me information about how to graft one kind of fruit tree onto another tree; and also how to raise fruit trees from seeds. L. M.

REPLY.

Only in special cases does the amateur orchardist need to attempt grafting, although it is not difficult. Bulletin 1567-F, "Propagation of Trees and Shrubs," may be secured from the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., and answers both of your inquiries in detail. You may wish to build up a certain type of characteristics in fruit you are now raising, since you ask about starting seedlings. Ordinarily, you will save much time and trouble by securing seedlings from a reliable nursery.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE HONEY MARKET.

As my bees have done very well this season, I would like to know about the market for white clover honey. Where can this information be had? R. L.

REPLY.

The bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., has for many years prepared and distributed to beekeepers a free semi-monthly market information bulletin on honey. Write and ask to be placed on their mailing list. This service to apiarists is, by the way, a commendable and increasingly important service of the government. The United States has been divided into logical geographical sections, and voluntary beekeepers fill out questionnaires regularly, upon which the market reports can be based. When writing for this news service, be sure to tell them how many colonies you have.

WANTS GARDENING BOOKLET.

I have taken quite an interest in your articles regarding gardening, and would appreciate your sending me two copies of such literature as you may have regarding plants, etc., the extra copy being for my neighbor. F. R.

REPLY.

We have no free bulletins on gardening, but if you will send 13 cents in stamps, a copy of Frank Ridgway's book on "Suburban Gardening" will be mailed to you. It can be had at any Tribune Service bureau office for ten cents. Another book by Mr. Ridgway, "Flower Gardening," may be obtained for 15 cents at the Service bureaus, or for 18 cents by mail.

130 Boys and Girls in Wisconsin Parade

More than one hundred thirty boys and girls will parade 245 livestock entries at the fourteenth annual Junior livestock exposition to be held at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, Madison, Wis., November 5 to 7.

The Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association is offering liberal prizes in baby beef, lamb, and pig classes. Other interests are also contributing to make the show more attractive to boys and girls who are fitting livestock for the show. Animals, to be eligible for the exhibition, must be fed, fitted, entered, and shown by the boys or girls who exhibit them. All of the animals are sold at auction to packers who use them solely for meat purposes.

CHEAPER MONEY IS EXPECTED FOR NEXT TWO WEEKS

Treasury Payments Are Big Factor.

New York, Sept. 7.—With the collapse of the first of the month money strain last Friday bankers anticipated a period of more moderate charges for call loans than those during the last ten days.

While the rate of 6 per cent which was reached just before the close on Friday is considered abnormally low as long as the discount rate of the federal reserve bank of New York remains at 6 per cent, money is expected to be in fair supply for the next two weeks at figures slightly above that level.

Will Help General Market.

A factor which is making for a marked easing of call money now is the treasury financing, details of which were announced last week. As is usual the treasury will pay out on Sept. 16 a larger amount, through interest payment and the redemption of maturing securities than it will receive through tax payments and other receipts on that day. This will result in a gain of funds to the market. In addition the customary overdraft to tide the treasury over the period between disbursements and receipts will be made.

Since sales of government securities have the effect of drawing money from the market, the participation in the overdraft by member banks acts as an offset to the easing influence of the overdraft. Participations by the member banks are paid off in proportion as the treasury receives funds from tax payments and subscriptions to the new issue until the entire overdraft has been terminated and the money market returns to normal.

While these operations will make for temporary ease in credit the advance of the season, bringing with it increased rural demands for funds to finance the harvest, will tend to produce greater firmness in money. Toward the close of the present month marketing of the cotton crop will place a heavy burden upon the bill market. The volume of bankers' acceptances is expected to expand rapidly.

Expect No Difficulties.

Much of this expansion, however, should be taken care of by increased purchases of bankers' bills on the part of the reserve and bankers and bill brokers anticipate no difficulty in handling the increased volume of acceptance financing.

On the occasion of the last treasury financing on June 15, treasury disbursements in New York alone exceeded receipts by about $150,000,000. Estimates for the forthcoming period are not available, but the excess of payments over receipts probably will run about the same.

Since the tax date, Sept. 15, falls on Sunday, the new treasury issue of $500,000,000 will be dated the 16th and the treasury overdraft probably will be made on Saturday the 14th. In anticipation of this overdraft, which will place banks heavily in funds at the reserve over the week end, local member banks will allow their reserves to run down at the close of this week by lending freely in the call market.

Gen. Water Works & Elec. Votes Initial Dividends

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Directors of the General Water Works and Electric corporation today declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1.62½ a share on the $6.50 preferred stock and an initial quarterly preferential dividend of 50 cents a share on the class "A" common stock, both payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 16. Holders of the class "A" common stock, at their option, may apply their dividend to the purchase of additional stock of that classification at $24 a share.

Du Pont Subsidiary Takes Over Pacific Chemical Co.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Pacific Ammonia and Chemical company has been purchased by National Ammonia company, a 100 per cent owned subsidiary of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. The company will be merged with and operated under the name of the National Chemical company, according to the announcement made today. The Pacific Ammonia and Chemical company is the largest manufacturer of anhydrous ammonia on the Pacific coast, while the National Ammonia company occupied a similar position in the area east of the Rockies.

CHICAGO BANK STOCKS SHOW MIXED CHANGES IN SPASMODIC TRADE

Price changes in the Chicago bank stock market last week were spasmodic and without particular significance.

Continental Illinois Bank and Trust, after rising 8 points to 892, reacted to low sales at 863 and then firmed up in the late trading to 883 bid, 886 asked. Central Trust Company of Illinois was unchanged at 695 to 700, while National Bank of the Republic lost 8 at 239 to 242. First National was also heavy and declined 5 points, offerings at 885 failing to attract buyers at better than 880.

State Bank of Chicago continued in demand at 1,200 bid. Foreman National was again wanted at 1,240, but there was little interest on the selling side. Union Bank of Chicago was wanted at 425 with limited offerings at 428. Peoples Trust and Savings receded 5 points to 522 to 527. Northern Trust Company was in supply at 1,040, with best bids at 1,030.

MINORITY SEEKS SPECIAL MEETING OF FREEPORT CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York Sept. 7.—Members of the minority committee who are seeking to obtain information about the affairs of the Freeport Texas company during the last week have been soliciting proxies for a special meeting of the stockholders to be held at Wilmington, Del., on Sept. 17. Members of the committee say that from present indications they will be successful in securing sufficient proxies to make obligatory on the management the calling of the proposed special meeting.

In the call for the special meeting, which has been mailed to all stockholders, the purpose of the meeting is outlined as follows: Obtaining a representative committee of stockholders to make an examination of the records in properties of the Freeport Texas company and its subsidiary; to consider the advisability of a change in the management of the company, to elect new directors as thought advisable and to take such further action in the premises as the stockholders may consider advisable.

PULLMAN ADOPTS GROUP INSURANCE FOR EMPLOYES

Adoption by the Pullman company of a group life insurance plan under which approximately 30,000 employés will be protected for a total of about $60,000,000 was announced yesterday by officials. Besides life insurance the policy benefits the holders in the event of accident or sickness.

The amounts of insurance vary in relation to the positions held by the employés. All premiums for the month of September will be paid by the company. Thereafter employés and the company will share the costs. Office workers, conductors, porters, repairmen, and others will benefit under the plan.

This is the second such policy acquired for Pullman employés. In June, 1928, a group policy was placed on the lives of 4,000 employés of the Pullman Car and Manufacturing corporation.

Boost Lorillard Stock to 5,000,000 New Shares

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Stockholders of P. Lorillard company have approved a change in the capitalization from 2,000,000 shares of $25 par value to a like number of no par shares, and the authorization of 3,000,000 additional shares, making the total authorized amount 5,000,000 shares. Stockholders also approved the plan to sell 150,000 shares to employés at $20 a share. The stock closed today on the New York stock exchange at $24 a share.

Estimate Missouri Pacific Will Earn Over $9 a Share

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific railroad, predicted his company would earn better than $9 a share on the common stock this year. Traffic is running at a record, he said, and reports from all sections of the road's territory indicate continued gain in traffic figures.

August Sales of 21 Chain Systems Gain Over 1928

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Sales of 21 leading chain store systems for August totaled $90,271,486, compared with $71,411,340 for August, 1928, an increase of $18,860,146, or 26.4 per cent.

A Few Comments Concerning Stock Prices.

In buying shares of stock, just as in buying a commodity, there are two things to keep in mind: First, make certain that the article you propose to buy is of good quality; second, do not pay too high a price for it.

The market price of any stock depends on many things besides earning power and dividends. It may be influenced by the rate for money, the temporary trend of public fancy, a general bullish or bearish movement in the market. It may be high because many of those who hold it do not wish to sell and pay income tax on their profits.

But the market price of a stock and the price at which the investor can reasonably afford to purchase it are often widely separated.

Discounting the future is speculation whether you deal in high grade stocks or in intrinsically speculative nondividend paying stocks. It is an uncertain game for those who are well informed and a great deal more so for the amateur.

You may buy stock in the belief that its market price is going higher. Too late you may find that the future possibilities of this stock had already been discounted before you bought it.

In the long run the appreciation of a stock depends largely upon the excess of earnings over and above the earnings necessary to cover dividend requirements. Other things may cause the market price to rise temporarily, but new higher levels cannot be maintained indefinitely unless there is something to back them up.

If a stock paying dividends at the rate of $2 per year and earning around $4 is selling in the neighborhood of $100 a share its price is apparently out of line with its present real worth. There may or may not be a good reason for its high market price, but before buying it the investor should have authentic first hand information indicating that there is a substantial reason for the high market price.

The investor here may encounter difficulties. He may find that many of the high grade stocks that he would like to select from are priced too high in proportion to their current earnings and what he may reasonably expect their earnings to be in the near future.

Facing this dilemma, some shrewd investors have turned to good bonds. With funds invested in high grade bonds one's future income more nearly approaches a known quantity.

July Automotive Exports Show Gain of $2,832,550

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Exports of automotive products in July gained $2,832,550 over the same month last year. The value was $49,358,999, compared with $46,526,449. A commerce department report also showed exports for the first seven months of 1929 were valued at $402,126,465, compared with $306,461,131 last year. The monthly average for this period was $57,446,637 for 1929, $43,780,161 for 1928, and $36,244,444 for 1927.

PUBLIC ALOOF; LONDON STOCK MART ERRATIC

English Bank Offsets Gold Loss.

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Sept. 7. — Stock market activity in some sections was pronounced, but mainly professional. The public holds aloof.

Well informed persons speak confidently of a six per cent rate before the end of the month, but on the happenings of the week the Bank of England would not be justified in raising the rate because the outward movement of gold was trifling. The position of the foreign exchanges, although unfavorable, has not become worse.

Sterling at Discount.

Despite enormous amounts of gold shipped this year to America, France and Germany, the principal foreign exchanges continue to quote sterling at a discount.

Although the Bank of England's stock of gold is now down to £137,000,000, the bank has almost fully neutralized its gold outflow by increasing its holdings of securities, thus reversing the process adopted in brighter times when it offset the effect upon credit of a heavy gold inflow by selling securities.

It seems certain, therefore, that sooner or later the old effective weapon, the bank rate advance, must be adopted.

The reappearance of America as a buyer of gold in the London market this week, although small, came as a surprise, and was particularly disappointing when indications pointed to a cessation of the French drain.

The market momentarily has been given a welcome respite from competitive new issues, but it is believed October and November will witness quite a big batch of new issues.

War Loan Fives Lower.

War loan fives again dwindled, falling three-eighths on the week on conversion. The funding loan also is down, the only government issue outstanding being Victory bonds, which at one time reached 92¼.

Amid the generally quiet and dull conditions of the foreign bond market a smart rally occurred in Chinese issues, attributed to a better interpretation of the developments between China and Russia. Brazilians also made a substantial recovery, and Peruvian corporations spurted on bumper traffics.

Home rails towards the end of the week developed quite a little boom, leading groups of stocks jumping a point or two on buying in the belief that the market had definitely turned to public favor.

Wall street showed a renewal of its activity in trans-Atlantic specialties in the early part of the week, but Thursday's break caused no surprise here. Operators here believe the bullish operations of so-called "investment trusts" in New York have led to an enormous inflation of values. Those trusts are regarded here as a dangerous appendage to a market which has already experienced prolonged periods of upward manipulation.

PARIS MARKET FIRMER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The firmness of the Paris market continued to be evident at Monday's opening session. There was a considerable increase in the volume of business and a strong tone was maintained.

As predicted, the month end settlement passed off easily. The rates were slightly higher, the tax being five and seven-eighths per cent, against the preceding figure of four and three-eighths per cent on the floor, while the smaller marked curb rate was seven and one-quarter per cent compared to five and one-half per cent on Aug. 15.

In spite of the excellent disposition of the Paris bourse few realizations and several declines resulting in profit taking were noted Tuesday. The public is coming back in ever increasing numbers and the floor is beginning to take on its old time look of activity. The renewed heavy buying soon produced a buoyant tone in numerous groups.

While the market continued its upward tendency Wednesday the pace was much slower, although sales were still active and the volume of business satisfactory. Liquidation prevailed, especially towards the close, due to the fear of a possible rise in the London bank rate.

The heavy profit taking at the opening session of the bourse on Friday was partly due to unfavorable advices from London, where the market was affected by the Wall street slump. The bourse registered a vigorous tone towards the closing session.

Cites Trends in Investment Trust Field

BY SCRUTATOR.

Some of the trends in the investment company field are exemplified by the almost bewildering series of events that have marked the formation and operation of the Shenandoah corporation and the Blue Ridge corporation.

Shenandoah was incorporated on July 23, 1929, to trade and hold stocks and other securities and to participate in syndicate and underwriting activities. It was sponsored by two other great investment companies, Goldman Sachs Trading company and Central States Electric corporation. Shenandoah began business with assets of more than 102 million dollars.

Of this fifty-two millions and a little more was cash. The remaining fifty millions was in securities, the amount being figured on present market values. Among the securities held by Shenandoah were 238,096 shares of Goldman Sachs and 480,770 shares of Central States Electric. To furnish the millions of cash for Shenandoah, Goldman Sachs and Central States Electric each bought two million shares of Shenandoah common. Another million common shares were offered the public at $17.50 a share and at the same time a million shares of convertible preference 6 per cent stock was offered publicly at $50 a share. They are traded on the New York curb and other exchanges.

Have Paper Profit.

As the current price of the Shenandoah common is around 31, the parent companies thus have already a paper profit of seventy millions or more on its stock they purchased. And at the same time Shenandoah is holding more than 700,000 shares, combined, of these parent companies.

But in August the Blue Ridge corporation was incorporated. It has the same directors as the Shenandoah, and incorporation was at the instance of the latter named corporation. Shenandoah offered to take 6,250,000 common shares of a total of 7,250,000 to be issued. The price paid was announced to be $10 a share. As Blue Ridge common is sold on the curb at 22, there is a paper profit of seventy millions or more accruing to Shenandoah now on its Blue Ridge common holdings.

Blue Ridge has the same broad powers as to buying and selling, of participating in syndicates and underwritings, that Shenandoah has. So we have a group of directors closely aligned operating four great investment companies. To give Shenandoah the cash with which to purchase the Blue Ridge common, Goldman Sachs and Central States, it was reported, purchased 750,000 shares of Shenandoah convertible preference stock at $50 and 750,000 shares of Shenandoah common at 33 1-3.

Subdivide into Units.

The trend shown here is to subdivide into separate companies rather than to build one up into a tremendous financial giant. It may or may not have expanded paper profits to go through this procedure. Goldman Sachs started business with a capital of a hundred millions. Shenandoah had more than that. Blue Ridge's assets in cash and stocks were reported as 127 millions. One statistician places the apparent profit of Shenandoah on Blue Ridge at 100 millions and that of Central States Electric and Goldman Sachs on Shenandoah at fifty millions each.

Blue Ridge inaugurated something new in the investment company field when it made an offer on Aug. 20 to exchange its common and preference stocks at certain ratios for the shares of twenty-one industrial, utility, and railroad stocks listed on the New York exchange. The order was withdrawn in a short time, but it was announced on Sept. 3 that Blue Ridge had taken such stocks for a total of $16,344,000 in exchange and that its cash and stock assets on that day exceeded 143 million dollars.

Such exchanges have been made in the past by holding companies, but rarely, if ever, by investment companies. As the terms are usually favorable to the holders of stock in the varied corporations, they are willing to exchange. The operation has the added advantage of not running up the prices of their holdings, as would be the case if open market purchasing were resorted to by the investment company.

Question of Income Tax.

The question has been brought up whether income tax would have to be paid after the exchange at an agreed price of their varied holdings for the investment company stock. It does not have to be paid. The investor has merely traded one piece of paper for another. The transaction is similar to trading two hogs for a cow. The tax is assessed when an actual sale for cash has been made, and not until that time. But the taxpayer must go back to his original purchase and trace it all the way up when he disposes of the investment company stock.

Although Blue Ridge has announced that it does not contemplate taking control of any companies, some of the larger concerns of its type may have to take over the functions of holding companies in the future and become even more like investment bankers than they now are. With the multiplying of such investment companies it may become more and more difficult to cash in on paper profits made in trading.

UTILITIES ISSUES LEAD N. Y. CURB MARKET TO NEW PRICE LEVELS

New York, Sept. 7.—Some attractive gains were registered by favored stocks in today's abbreviated session of the New York curb market. Some half dozen or more leaders established new record price peaks and numerous others bettered their Friday ratings by surprising margins.

A sensation of the session was Standard Power and Light, which swept up 30 points in the first hour of trading only to run into liquidation toward the last and surrender about half its gain. The utility stocks were generally in brisk demand and substantial advances were made by United Gas Improvement, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, United Light and others.

Northern States Power was up more than 13 points at the close. The new gain of Standard Power makes nearly 40 points a share that had been added to its rating in the last two days. Both Standard Power and United Light have been under accumulation recently and today's further advances were a reflection of the reduced floating supply.

Enhancement in market value of the utilities was reflected in substantial gains of various utility investment companies, including Electric Power Associates and Insull Utility Investments. Oils and natural gas stocks again were firm.

Rise of investment trusts in sympathy with the mounting prices of the blue chip stocks, which came back strongly after Thursday's break, carried Third National Investors, Shenandoah, Capital Administration and other members of the group higher.

Among the other strong spots were Cord, Pratt and Lambert, Wheeling Steel and Trans-America. Profit taking was apparent in small recessions for American Cyanamid B, Central States Electric and American Superpower.

ILLINOIS ROAD BONDS FEATURE FOR NEXT WEEK

Eleven Million 4s to Be Issued.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—The total of new bond offerings this week showed a small increase over last week's aggregate. That total was the smallest in more than a year. This week's total amounted to $11,191,000 compared with $6,691,000 last week and with $52,316,000 during the corresponding week last year. New stock offerings this week, however, were heavy.

State and municipal loans comprised the bulk of the new offerings of bonds this week, headed by an issue of $5,626,000 city of Milwaukee 4s and 5s, marketed at prices to yield 4.40 to 5.50 per cent.

Big Illinois Offerings.

Next week's offerings in that group should show an increase in view of the fact that the state of Illinois plans to sell an issue of $11,000,000 highway 4s at auction on Wednesday and the Chicago sanitary district will re-offer its issue of $10,650,000 4½ per cent bonds on the following day.

The sole piece of public utility financing this week consisted of an issue of $1,000,000 American Service company 7 per cent 3 year notes, brought out at a price to yield 7.20 per cent. This is the first time since May that the week's new issues have fallen in but in two categories.

Comparison of Offerings.

The offerings of bonds by groups of this and last week follow:

	This wk.	Last wk.
State and municipal	$10,191,000	$4,491,000
Public utility	1,000,000	1,500,000
Railroad		700,000
Total	$11,191,000	$6,691,000

SIMMONS CO. CONFIRMS BERKEY & GAY PURCHASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 7.—News reports from New York detailing the purchase of the Berkey and Gay Furniture company of Grand Rapids, Mich., pioneer American manufacturers, by the Simmons company of Kenosha, were confirmed here by William Lindbloom, general manager of the Kenosha plant.

The announcement indicates that the Simmons company is entering the general furniture business, operating the Grand Rapids company as a subsidiary, and confining the Kenosha and other plants to the production of beds, steel furniture, and mattresses. On Saturday it was announced that Alfred Terrell, for 28 years in the Simmons company office, was promoted to vice president in charge of the central division of the company, with headquarters in Chicago.

Missouri Pacific to Spend $1,825,000 on New Line

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—William H. Williams, chairman of the Missouri Pacific, said today that his system would build a 70 mile line at a cost of $1,825,000 into the oil district at Lovington, N. M., whenever the interstate commerce commission approved the project. The field has now four wells with a capacity of 2,000 barrels a day and 25 wells are being drilled. There are also agricultural and live stock industries in the vicinity.

Cities Service Company Acquires Michigan Firms

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Cities Service company announced today that it had acquired the Mutual Oil company of Adrian, Mich., which operates 116 service stations and 25 bulk stations, and the Grimes-Madigan company of Grand Rapids, operators of 23 stations and one bulk plant in Grand Rapids.

Chicago Stock Market Rises as Week Ends

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Chicago stocks kept going up in the week's two hour final session yesterday and all sections of the list registered activity.

A feature of the day was a jump of 5½ points by Lynch Glass Machine after announcement that net earnings for the first seven months of this year were $177,830 after all charges and taxes. This is equivalent to $2.03 a share on the 75,000 shares of common stock outstanding. The ratio of current assets to liabilities is understood to be about nineteen to one.

Cord corporation was the leader of the automotive division, pushing up 2½ points to a new high of 37½ and closing at 37, a net gain of two points in a turnover of more than 16,500 shares. Auburn Automobile, in which Cord is a large holder, advanced twelve points to a new high of 505 on a few sales totaling only 150 shares.

Other Auto Issues Variable.

Nachman Spring-filled was up 1¾ and Bendix eased a point. Muncie Gear "A" was off a major fraction while the "B" stock lost a point after W. A. Spurgeon, president, announced that the directors have decided to omit the dividend on the "A" stock due on Oct. 1. The dividend was declared along with those for the other three-quarters of the year last February and the current action of the directors is an order rescinding the action as far as the next dividend is concerned.

Utility and Industrial issues continued to reflect the appreciation of the prices of the corporation's stockholdings and the common closed 1¾ higher, while the preferred was up 2½. Chicago Investors was up three points and the preferred advanced two points. Chicago Corporation gained 1⅞ and National Securities Investment was 1⅛ higher.

Most of the utility issues were quiet, Middle West Utilities being an exception, however, with a jump of nine points to 450. Associated Telephone Utilities reflected further expansion of the company's activities with an advance of 1⅛.

Radio Issues Are Strong.

North American Car was dull, closing fractionally higher on small sales. Henry H. Brigham, president, announced that 226 new tank cars were put into operation during August and that new cars are being delivered at the rate of twelve a day. It is expected by Sept. 30 all of the 1,000 new cars recently ordered will be in operation.

J. Clarke Coit, for 5 years president of the Simmons Hardware company of St. Louis, has resigned to take up new duties as president of the United States Radio and Television corporation.

The comeback in business staged by U. S. Radio under the reorganization plan instituted by Don M. Compton, vice president and general manager, brought a further gain in that issue of 3½ points. Wextark Radio Stores was up 1⅝.

Pool operations in Libby, McNeill & Libby brought a recovery from recent declines of 2⅝ points in that issue. U. S. Gypsum advanced two points and Gleaner Combine Harvester was up 1½.

The sales of the Walgreen company and subsidiaries for August were $4,169,499.53 as against $2,770,177.02 for August, 1928, an increase of $1,399,332.51.

Weekly Debits Decrease, Reserve Bank Reports

Debits to individual deposit account reported to the Chicago Federal Reserve bank for the week ended Sept. 4, by 260 banks in 38 leading clearing house cities in the seventh federal reserve district, aggregate $1,525,894,000, a decrease of 15.0 per cent compared with a week ago. Compared with the corresponding week of last year an increase of 10.3 per cent was shown.

NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY PLANS BIG BOND ISSUE

Right to Convert Its Stock Expected.

New York, Sept. 7.—The Chicago and North Western railway is considering offering soon about $72,000,000 or more of convertible bonds to stockholders, it was learned today. The issue would bear from 4¾ per cent to 5 per cent interest.

The Chicago and North Western has upward of $86,000,000 of obligations to meet between now and next June. Among the issues are $15,000,000 of 10 year secured 7s, $4,544,000 of collateral trust 6s and $4,540,000 of collateral trust 5s.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway, which is part of the North Western system, has obligations which mature in the period comprising $3,734,000 consolidated mortgage 3½s, $24,478,000 consolidated mortgage 6s, $15,000,000 debenture gold 5s. There are also some obligations of the Omaha maturing serially.

Follows Other Railroads.

By putting a convertible feature on the issue, the Chicago and North Western will be following a practice used to stimulate interest in bond issues by other railroads this year. All substantial railway bond issues floated in the indifferent bond markets of 1929 have had some such feature.

The $65,166,000 of forty year 4¼s offered by the Southern Pacific in May to stockholders in the ratio of 17½ per cent of their holdings bore stock purchase warrants. To each $1,000 bond was attached a warrant not detachable until exercised, entitling the bearer to purchase up to May 1, 1934, three shares of common at $143. Provision was made for adjustment on the purchase price for the stock in case additional common was offered at less than $145 or as a stock dividend and in no event will the purchase price be less than the par value.

Other Big Issues Recalled.

In the same month the Missouri Pacific offered $46,392,000 of 20 years 5½s convertible bonds to preferred and common stock holders in the ratio of 30 per cent of their holdings. These are convertible beginning May 1, 1931, into common stock of the company at $100 a share with adjustment of accrued interest at current dividend. The bonds are called for redemption. The conversion privilege ends fifteen days before the redemption date.

Last November the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe sold $29,852,500 of an offering of $30,204,000 of 20 year convertible debenture 4½s. They are convertible beginning Dec. 1, 1930, and before Dec. 1, 1938, into paid up common stock at the rate of 6 shares for each $1,000 bond. The debentures were offered at the rate of $100 par for each eight shares of common held.

Tomorrow Closing Day for 4⅞% Treasury Certificates

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—Acting Secretary Mills announced that subscriptions for the issue of 4⅞ per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness, dated Sept. 16, 1929, series TJ-1930, maturing June 16, 1930, will close tomorrow. Subscriptions which fail to reach a federal reserve bank or branch, or the treasury department, before the close of business on Monday will not be accepted. The practice of accepting mail subscriptions received on the morning following the closing of the books will not be observed with respect to the current offering.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S MARKETS

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK SHOW GAIN OVER 1928

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Bank settlements in recent weeks have largely exceeded those for the corresponding periods of preceding years. Total clearings the first week of September, for all leading cities in the United States, as reported to Dun's Review, amount to $11,059,757,000 and show an increase of 17.1 per cent over those of last year.

At New York City clearings of $7,922,000,000 surpass those of last year by 25.1 per cent, while the total for the principal centers outside of New York of $3,137,757,000 is 1.0 per cent over that of a year ago.

With the returns covering five business days only, owing to Monday's holiday, failures in the United States this week numbered 300. That is a daily average of 60, which is slightly lower than last week's average. A year ago, when the statement also was for five days, the total of defaults was 321. Hence the present report again reflects an improvement over that for 1928.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—The stock market started off with a rush at the opening of today's abbreviated session and prices generally advanced to new high levels for the current recovery, under execution of an accumulation of overnight buying orders.

Later profit taking developed on a rather heavy scale and made for considerable irregularity, many of the early pacemakers being compelled to surrender their early gains. The close, however, found gains predominating in virtually all departments of the list and with many favorites ahead anywhere from two to ten points.

Bullish operators were well satisfied with the day's showing, in view of the severe "shaking out" the market received on Thursday and the general expectation of a recession today from yesterday's highs, due to the customary week-end realizing.

Wall Street Is Happy.

Thus the week-end finds the Wall street community in a fairly cheerful frame of mild, what with the continuation of the market advance, the expectation of moderation in money rate fluctuations next week and confidence in good autumn trade.

For the most part the best prices of the morning were reached in the first hour. Some issues, such as United States Steel, were pushed below their previous closing prices in the second hour but others gave ground more sparingly.

General Motors was the spectacular feature among seasoned issues, pushing into the highest territory attained since early spring, while a number of utilities like Standard Gas and Electric and American Water Works scored sensational advances. Dupont, keeping pace with General Motors, shared the limelight among the specialties with Simmons, which spurted for a gain of 16 points.

Columbia Graphophone Jumps.

Columbia Graphophone was another new feature. That international issue in a sudden burst of activity jumped more than 4 points, also to a new high for the current recovery. Standard Gas, one of yesterday's leaders, continued its advance with a rise of more than 3 points, making more than 17 points in two days.

Copper shares as a group were well

When Will YOUR Ship Come In?

It is anchored out there in the bay—that trim little motor ship that you want for your week-end holidays. You stand on the shore perhaps, and wish that it would come. Like most good things, it depends on money.

Even the man with a large income cannot have these good things permanently unless he saves and invests intelligently. The man with a small income can have them on the same terms.

But first he must prepare himself by learning how to make money by investing.

Not very easy to learn the complex rules of making money in stocks and bonds? On the contrary, it is absurdly easy. Take time to read the New York Daily Investment News. It is written by experts, but not for experts. By reading it carefully every day, you can learn and apply the principles on which sound fortunes have been established.

BEAR SENTIMENT FAILS TO CHECK RISE IN WHEAT

Other Commodities Drop Slightly Lower.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Local sentiment was distinctly bearish in the grain markets early yesterday with a slightly lower range of values established, but when early sellers tried to cover they found offerings small, and prices advanced sharply, with wheat closing ⅛@⅜c higher. Corn, while finishing above the low figures, showed net losses of ¼@⅜c with September leading. Oats developed independent strength, and gained ⅝@⅞c for the day, with the September selling up to 52c, or within 1c of the best price on the crop. Rye was dull but closed ⅝c higher to ⅛c lower.

Wheat values held within relatively narrow limits during the last week, with the relative weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires offsetting the extremely strong statistical position and the drought in the southern hemisphere, and the close was ⅜@2⅛c lower as compared with the previous week. Coarse grains, however, were strong with corn ⅜@⅞c higher, oats 1¼@2⅞c higher, and rye, ½@1⅝c higher for the week. Lard finished at a net loss of 12½@22½c, and bellies 55@80c, while ribs were unchanged for the week.

Southern Hemisphere Still Dry.

Drought continues in the grain sections of Argentina and Australia, and while there are some sections that are in fairly good condition, the new wheat crop generally needs rain. Forecast for Argentina was for generally fair over the week-end. Outcome of the southern hemisphere crops is expected by many in the trade to be the dominating influence in shaping the trend of values, and little attention is being paid to the reports of sales of Danubian wheats abroad at low prices, owing to the small quantity that is available for export.

The Canadian Pool estimates the wheat crop of the three prairie provinces at 272,000,000 bu and the Free Press at 266,000,000 bu, compared with the official returns of 509,000,000 bu last year, although the August, 1929, revision suggested that the yield had been 540,000,000 bu. The figures were in line with those of Murray and Cromwell and had little effect on values. Liverpool closed ⅞@1d lower, with pressure of Argentine grain a factor. Buenos Aires was off 1¼@1⅜c for the day. Export demand at the seaboard was reported as slow.

No Frost in Corn Belt.

No frost was reported in the main corn belt overnight, and the forecast failed to indicate temperatures sufficiently low to be a factor in the market. There was moderate selling of futures by locals and commission houses early, but the pressure was relatively light and the market rallied toward the last on scattered buying and in sympathy with wheat. There is an immense shortage of feed grains in North America this season as compared with the crops of 1928, the aggregate yields of corn, oats, barley, and kaffir corn being approximately 800,000,000 bu under those of the previous year.

Sensationally bullish estimates on the oats crop of the three Canadian provinces were made by the Free Press and the Pool, with the figures ranging from 136,000,000 to 141,000,000 bu, compared with 298,000,000 bu harvested last year, and is the smallest crop secured in many years. The reports led to a good class of buying of futures and a higher range. Rye was dull and followed wheat to a large extent.

EGG PRICES ADVANCE

There was a much more friendly feeling toward the buying side of butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange with December butter advanced ½c to 44⅝c, with a favorable storage report more than offsetting an easier tone in the spot market. Sales were 22 cars and receipts 11,801 tubs. Eggs gained ⅛c for the day with November closing at 36⅛c, and December at 37c. Spot prices were easier. Sales were 44 cars and receipts 8,720 cases.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

A small amount of Manitoba wheat was sold for export, but the foreign demand as a whole was slow. Local handlers sold 3,000 bu wheat; 52,000 bu corn; 42,000 bu oats, and 2,000 bu barley to the domestic trade. Deliveries on September contracts were 564,000 bu wheat, 126,000 bu corn, and 23,000 bu rye.

Good quality cash wheat was in demand in the local sample market and the basis up ½c while poorer kinds sold slowly with some showing a loss of ½c as compared with December. No. 2 red and hard winters were 12@13c under and No. 1 northern 11@13c under December. Cash corn basis was ¼c lower to ¼c higher with No. 2 mixed, yellow and white, ⅝@1c under September. Cash oats basis was steady to ¼c higher, with No. 2 white 1@1½c under and No. 3 white 2@3¼c under September.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Saturday: Wheat, 74 cars; corn, 116 cars; oats, 72 cars; rye, 35 cars; barley, 17 cars.

PROVISION TRADE SPOTTY

A fair mixed trade was on in lard and bellies with pressure enough to carry prices lower. October bellies declined 62½c on selling credited to one packer, and reacted on buying by another, making a complete recovery at the close was January bellies sold from $13.10@12.90, with a reaction and close at $13.10, a net loss of 10c. Longs liquidated lard freely and there was good buying of January credited to packing interests. The finish was at losses of 7½@12½c. Cash trade in lard and meats was fair, with shipments of both in excess of last year. Hog prices, although opening 10c lower, finished strong to a small advance. Prospects are for good receipts for the coming week. Prices follow:

Estimated receipts at Chicago Monday, 23,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 30,000 sheep.

The meager supply of hogs on the week-end session met good clearance at uneven prices, light weights showing further slight losses, while medium and heavy stock was in demand on a steady to 10c higher basis. Extreme top moved down 15c at $11.15, while the general average was unchanged at $9.80, comparing with a top of $11.50 and average of $10.20 last Saturday.

Heavy hogs are selling 65@75c below 12 days ago, while light show losses of $1.00@1.50, and pig weights as much as $1.75 decline in two weeks. Most packers had buyers on the week-end session, including houses that seldom buy on Saturday. Some take this as an indication that hogs are probably worth the money at the present level of prices.

Large Supplies on Hand.

All markets were burdened with large supplies of live stock during last week, and with the exception of a few specialties, prices were pommeled to new low levels for the season. The cattle average slumped 45c at $13.55, lowest since middle of last April. Hogs averaged 35c lower at $10.00, lowest since February. Lamb prices received the roughest treatment and averaged only $12.80, lowest in 20 months. The prolonged drought in many parts of the country is largely responsible for the liquidation, especially of young animals. Dollar corn has also been a factor.

Selected veal calves and prime weighty beef steers were the only classes that escaped last week's price slashing, the former scoring a 25@50c upturn in face of the break in other kinds. Top weighty steers at $17.00 equaled the highest of the year for load lots. Top veal calves reached $18.00, highest since last March. Medium grades of cattle were in abundance and finished 50c to $1.00 lower than a week ago. Cows and heifers shared in an equal break, while western range cattle and stockers and feeders declined 25@50c.

Sheep Supply Immense.

A total of 94,500 sheep, yearlings and lambs was dumped on the market last week and drove prices to new low levels for the year. Reports of another liberal supply on the way for next week caused buyers to make purchases more cautiously at the show of strength at the finish. A year ago next week Chicago handled a total of 132,329, the largest weekly receipts in 1928. Western lambs are running 40@50 per cent feeders, which is a big help to the trade, due to the broad outlet for feeders into the corn belt.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 23,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 30,000 sheep, against a holiday a week ago, and 26,385 cattle, 30,786 hogs, and 37,693 sheep the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 55,000 cattle, 115,000 hogs, and 110,000 sheep, against 59,664 cattle, 91,424 hogs, and 132,329 sheep a year ago.

ON MARKET FOR RAILS.

The Chesapeake & Ohio railroad is reported in the market for 53,000 tons of rails.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat had a better tone, with support on the break, and in the last hour, which was surprising to the trade in general and particularly to local traders who had sold out early because of the break in Argentine prices, although there were no reports of rain in that country to create weakness. Strength in the northwest was the basis for good buying at the last, and that section was well represented on the buying side in Chicago. Minneapolis reported that millers were buying futures there and that the country is not selling wheat, which is confirmed by the small receipts.

Those bullish on corn make the point that there is a shortage of close to 600,000,000 bu in the oat crop in the United States and Canada, also a reduction of around 40,000,000 bu in the Canadian barley crop. This, with the shortage of feed over a large section in the United States and early consumption of the new corn crop, warrants higher prices for both corn and oats.

Sellers of September and December oats the last few days are said to have replaced their lines, while industries are picking up the cash oats and hedges are being removed. The big movement of oats is over and the market is coming more into favor among the local and northwestern speculators.

Farmers in Minnesota and the Dakotas have suddenly stopped selling and shipping wheat. Duluth yesterday had only 250 cars, a big decline in the last few days, against 720 cars last year. Receipts have declined 75 per cent in the last four days. Inquiries from Duluth as to the cause of the decline in receipts brought the reply that farmers were either not selling or holding their grain. A report from Minneapolis said that millers there were buying wheat futures. Flax in Minneapolis jumped 12 cents yesterday as a result of the short crop.

Cotton Report Is Due; Expect 15,000,000 Bales

Cotton traders evened up for the government report due Monday morning. Expectations are that it will be around 15,000,000 bales. Anything materially above that level, traders say, would be considered bearish, and estimates of around 14,600,000 bales or slightly more, would be bullish. There were showers over the belt and cooler weather in Texas, which has been extremely hot.

World's consumption of American cotton for the year ended July 31, were 15,076,000 bales, against 15,407,000 bales last year. World stocks July 31, aggregated 2,129,000 bales, against 2,112,000 bales last year. The compilation is made by the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners. Prices follow:

Low-Priced Stocks?

What possibilities in these stocks?

Willys-Ov'd 22½? United Cig. S. 16? Am. Agr. Chem. 11½? Shulte Ret. 20? Mad. Sq. Gar. 17½? Pr. Stl. Car. 17½? Fisk Rubber 8¼? United Gas Co. 36? Cont. Motors 14½? Graham Paige 24?

Low-priced stocks, on account of the small funds required per share, may even by a few points' advance show very large profits. On the other hand, many low-priced stocks are highly speculative, hence making profits in this field calls for the most careful selection. These matters are thoroughly analyzed in our latest bulletin. Twenty low-priced stocks are covered—from which our selections are pointed out. NEW YORK BOND MARKET QUIET; CHANGES SMALL Convertible Issues Show Chief Strength.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Net changes in bond prices on the stock exchange today were hardly better than routine. About the only gains of any importance recorded in the active issues were those of a 3 point advance for International Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s and a 1½ point gain in Atchison convertible 4½s. Alleghany corporation convertible 5s moved up fractionally, as did American International 5½s and American I. G. Chemical 5½s. American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s closed unchanged.

Seaboard Airline adjustment 5s provided a feature in the rails, touching the previous high of 56 at the close, up a point. South Pacific 4½s with warrants reached the previous high for the year of par, but closed unchanged at 99½.

In the industrial group, Warner Sugar 7s of 1941 and the refunding 7s of 1939 moved up 2 and 2⅜ points respectively. Fisk Rubber 8s recovered 3 points to par.

Foreign bonds were quietly traded during the two hour period today. Bulgaria 7½s touched a new low for the year. Municipality of Graz at 96 and several issues touched the previous low figures.

United States government bonds were extremely dull. The principal gain was recorded in the first liberty 4¼s.

Oil Men Will Meet to Discuss New Code of Ethics

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Oil executives, including members of the national committee on interpretation of the industry's code of ethics, the six regional code committees and the chairman of all state and subcommittees on the interpretation of the code, will have a meeting in Tulsa, Okla., on Oct. 3, to consider the first month's operation of the code of ethics which went into effect on Aug. 31.

According to the American Petroleum institute, thirteen of the larger oil companies have formally filed acceptance of the code with the federal trade commission in Washington and hundreds of other companies have notified the institute of their intention of doing so.

The code of ethics was designed to establish fair methods in marketing refined petroleum products.

Chicago Investment House Wants Security Salesmen
in Illinois and Iowa

A well-known Chicago investment house, one of our clients, is seeking a limited number of salesmen to represent it in certain Illinois and Iowa cities to retail securities which it has underwritten. The right men must be known and either have a clientele now or the associations from which one could be built.

This house handles both stocks and bonds. This offer is an excellent opportunity to become associated with a rapidly growing house with a promising future.

liked. Greene Cananea and Kennecott were both up 1 to 3 points, while Anaconda managed to hold its own against the profit takers.

Wall street is confused over the status of the copper metal market. During the week one of the largest producers posted an advance of ¼ cent a pound in prices, marking the first upward adjustment since quotations broke abruptly last spring from 24 to 18 cents a pound. Sales to consumers were heavy during the period indicated by the official estimates given out by one company. Yet as the week ends, a majority of the big sellers of copper are reported as willing to market the metal in substantial quantity at the 18 cent level.

Copper Prices Not Uniform.

Thus it appears the higher price of 18¼ cents established by one organization early in the week has not yet become uniform. Still copper stocks show renewed strength, reflecting the conviction that most companies will turn in distinctly favorable earnings for the year.

The final hour selling for profits on a large scale was a natural development in view of the wide swings to which the market had been subjected in the last few days. Wall street has seldom witnessed such a uniform shift in speculative sentiment as came over it in the course of the last week. Thursday brought heavy and indiscriminate selling of stocks in final dealings, culminating in the most severe break in more than a month. But apprehension was of short duration and yesterday stocks were bought quite as actively as they had been sold the previous day on the theory that at least a brief period of easy money is ahead.

Rails were rather inconspicuous, but some advances were scored. Erie was a leader of the group, emerging from the session with a net gain of 1½ points.

Radio was buoyant most of the time, but its early gain melted away toward the last and it wound up with a net loss of more than three points.

General Motors Again Leader.

The action of General Motors since the beginning of the week would appear to confirm reports current that this stock is once more enjoying the combination of market sponsorship that made it one of the most outstanding industrial leaders on the long bull movement. Buying of the issue in that period has been of the most impressive character witnessed since before the split-up voted at last November's meeting, making it again a feature on the side of the rise.

All manner of rumor of new affiliation about the company is abroad, but as yet remains unconfirmed. General Motors stood out this week as one of the most spectacular performers in the list, showing an advance of some 7 points at the high levels on a turnover of approximately 1,500,000 shares, the largest in many weeks.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE
Is It just starting To Advance?

ON JANUARY 30, 1929, when American Telephone was selling at 220, McNeel's Financial Service publicly announced its recommendation of this security as the outstanding public utility and predicted a price of $300 for it through half-page advertisements in the New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune, the Wall Street Journal, the Boston Herald and the Boston News Bureau, under the caption—

"AMERICAN TELEPHONE"
"Every Investor Should Own Some"

American Telephone has since been recommended and re-recommended continuously by McNeel's because no more obvious opportunity has existed in the security markets than in the world's premier common stock investment.

Now that American Telephone has fulfilled the predictions by selling at $300, should the stock be sold—or are the possibilities in this great company just beginning to be appreciated?

A new bulletin on American Telephone is being released to the members of McNeel's Financial Service. As a courtesy to those investors who have followed our previous advertisements regarding American Telephone, this bulletin will be sent free upon request to any individual or institution interested.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were rather quiet with only light trading on quick goods at firm prices pending publication of the government crop estimate Monday. Some sales of cotton yarns were reported at concessions. Burlap cables advanced slightly and spots and afloats were firmer and more active on bullish August shipment figures for North America. Spot raw silks were stronger; Yokohama and Kobe advanced here. A fair week's business in silk cloths was reported in several quarters. Further openings occurred in spring woolens and worsteds.

Our recent purchase of the management control of the

and its subsidiaries

(Not including Old Dominion Securities Co., which was formerly First Illinois Company of Illinois)

has given us a distributing sweep covering the territory shown on above map. This distributing power brings to our offering list the better type of unlisted security offerings because capital seeks its return where wide distribution is possible.

Therefore purchasers of Willard Offerings have:

Assurance of holding issues which are widely held and known; this greater geographical diversification affording us the opportunity to present investments not heretofore possible considering our previously more limited area of distribution.

I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'LL TELL THE SALESLADY — BUT I'LL MAKE SOME EXCUSE — I'LL TELL HER I TALKED IT OVER WITH MY HUSBAND AND THAT HE COULDN'T AFFORD IT
LITTLE CINDERELLA WILL STAY HOME FROM THE PARTY SO THAT THE MAN WHO RAN FOR PRESIDENT WILL NOT HAVE TO GO WITHOUT — "HOW MUCH DID YOU PAY FOR IT?"
HOW MUCH WERE YOUR CIGARS THAT YOU BOUGHT TO DAY? AND THAT GOLF SUIT — WHAT DID YOU PAY FOR THAT? BAH!
TIGHT WAD!
BAM!
THE BEST LOOKING HAT THEY HAD IN THE STORE — AND THIS IS ONE DAY I WANTED TO LOOK NICE — I FELT SO PROUD — THE CLERKS RAVED ABOUT IT — I COULDN'T WAIT TILL I GOT HOME FOR HIM TO SEE IT — AND ALL I HEAR IS — HOW MUCH DID YOU PAY FOR IT?
I'LL KEEP IT FOR SPITE!

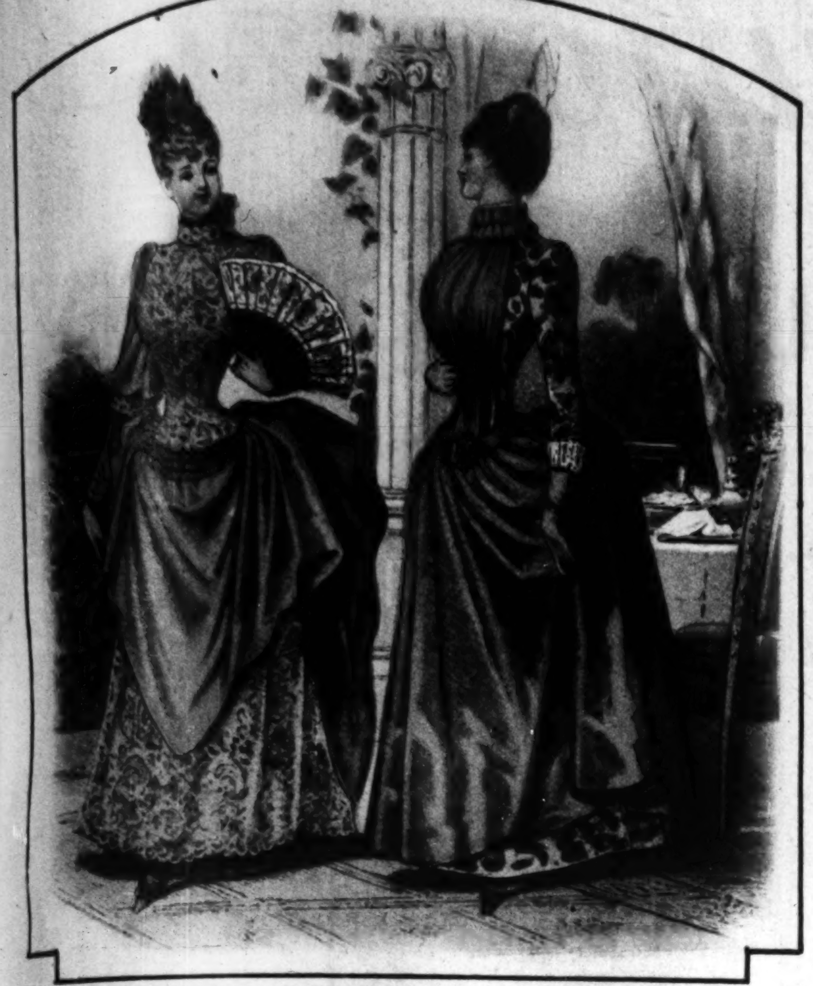
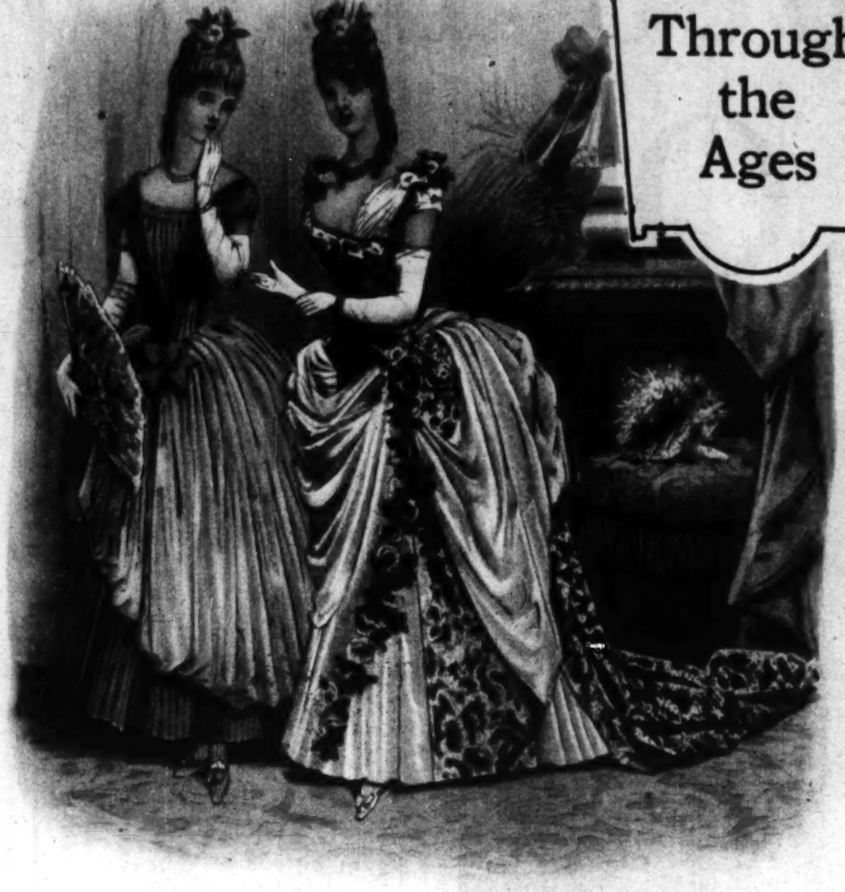
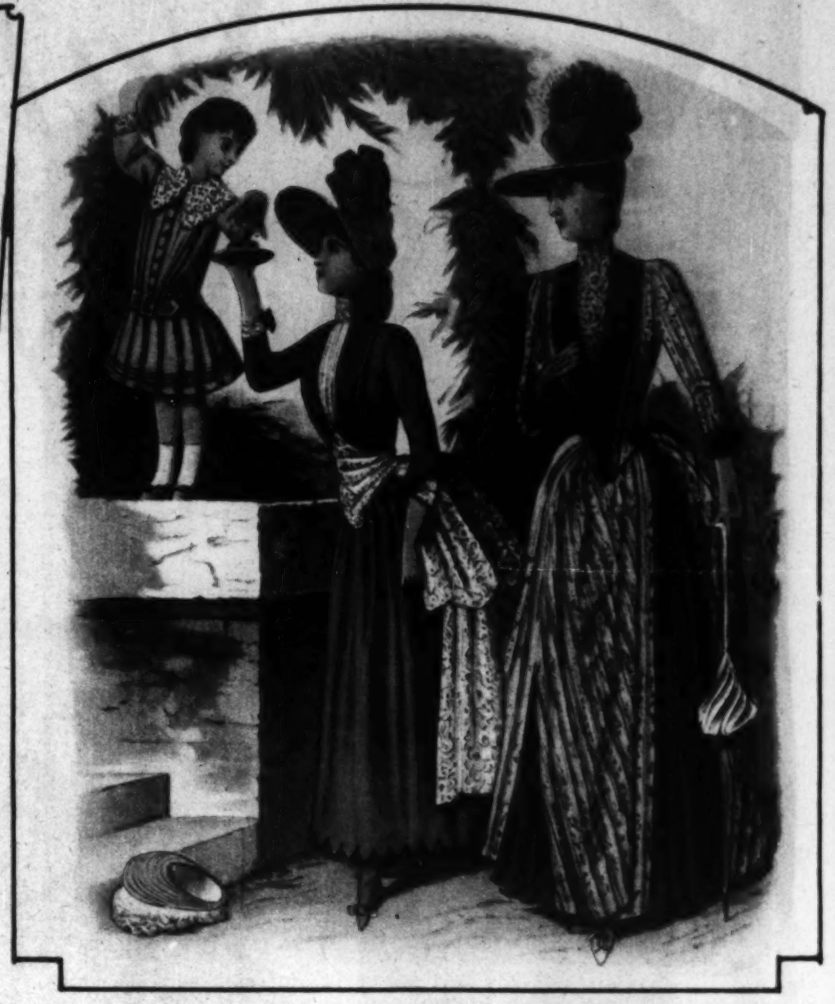
Fashions Through the Ages



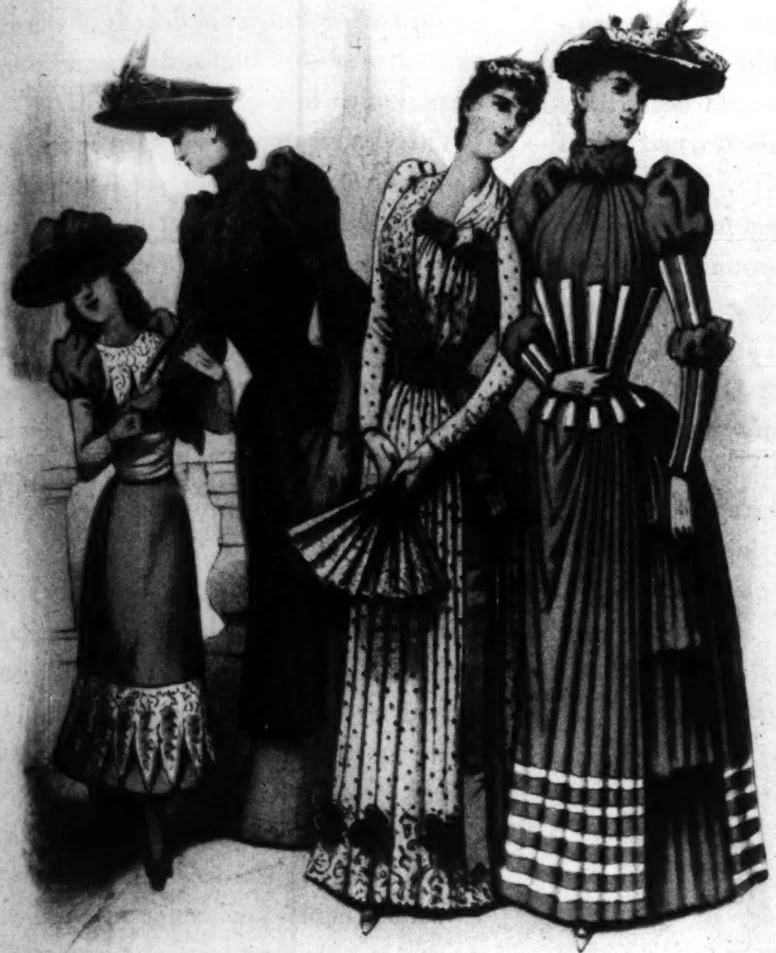
WHEN THE VICTORIAN ERA, with its haircloth sofas and its strict attention to the conventionalities, reached the height of its glory the women of taste rose to the occasion after this fashion. The two diners-out, 1885 model, start off the sixth installment of these chronicles of costumery.



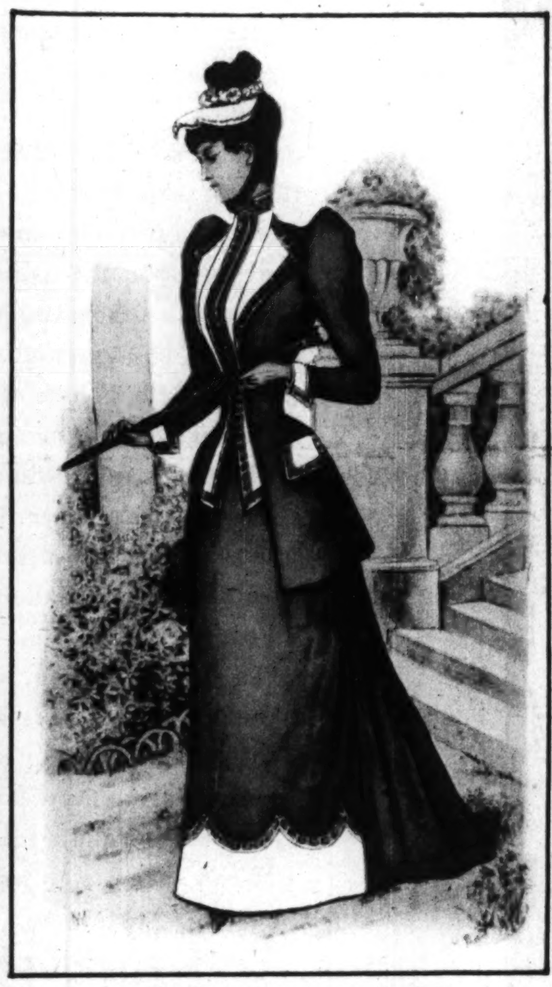
BUSTLES WERE BUSTLES, both in this country and abroad, when, in 1886, the women dressed for society's musical evenings and receptions.



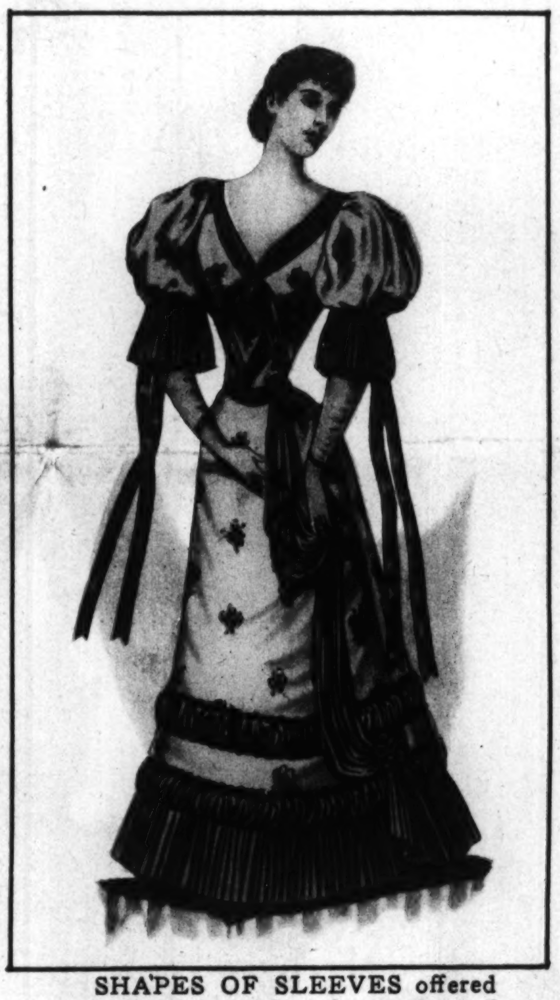
WASP WAISTS, of the kind worn in 1888, are still remembered by those persons who confess they have reached the forties.



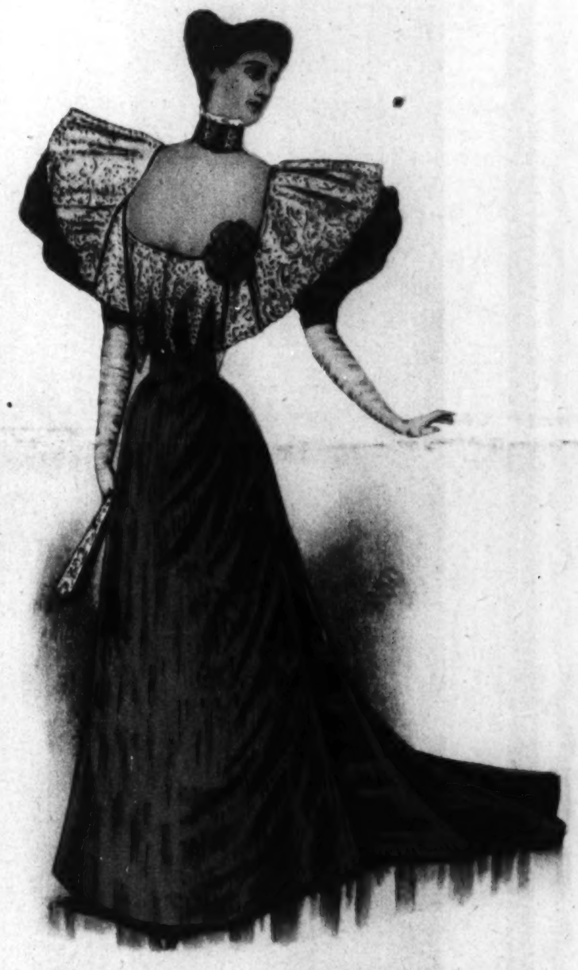
THE MAUVE DECADE brought a change from the staid gentility of mid-Victorian times to the refined frivolity of continental Europe, and for this the introduction of the woman's bicycle in 1890 was given the blame—or credit.



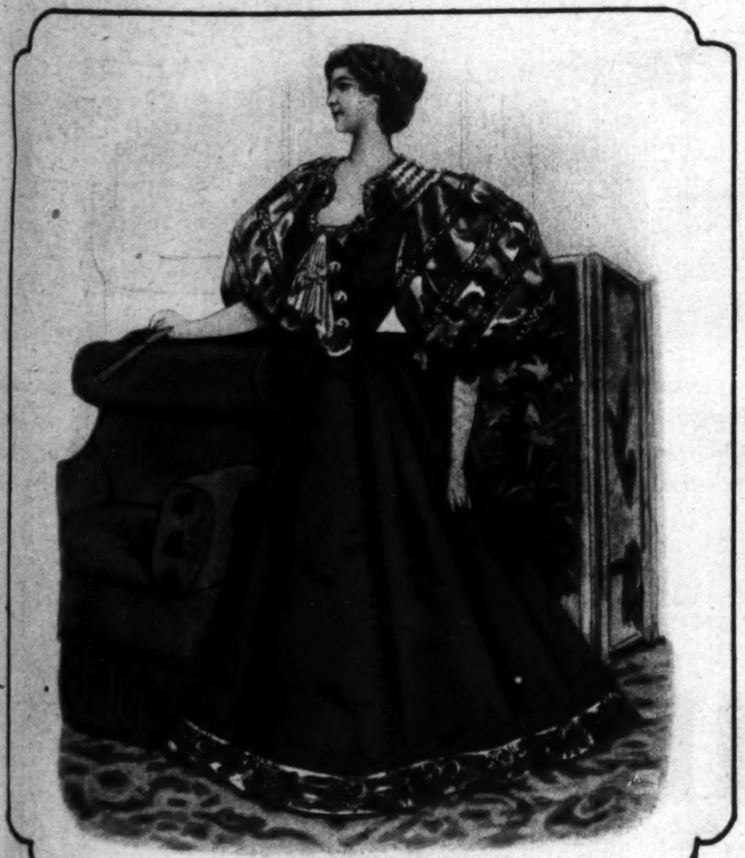
EMANCIPATION of the enslaved, or at least subdued, sex from the domination of fashion had not yet set in when this woman set out for a stroll in 1891.



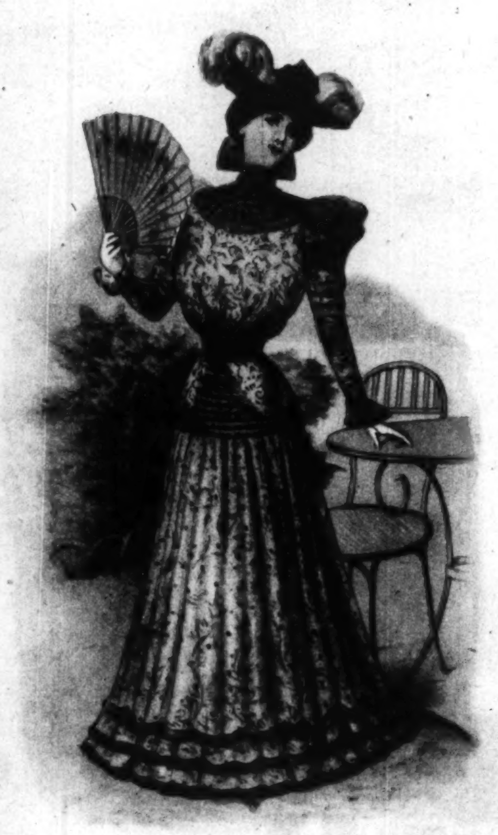
SHAPES OF SLEEVES offered a fascinating subject for study and experimentation by the couturieres, and along about 1893 they arrived at this mode in their effort to fix something definite in style.



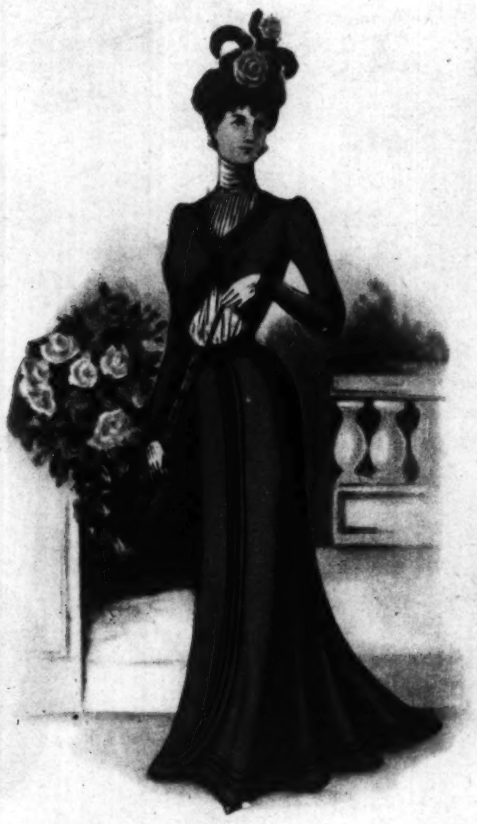
THE TIGHT FITTING BODICE, with the "bertha" and the leg o' mutton sleeves, came into its own in 1894.



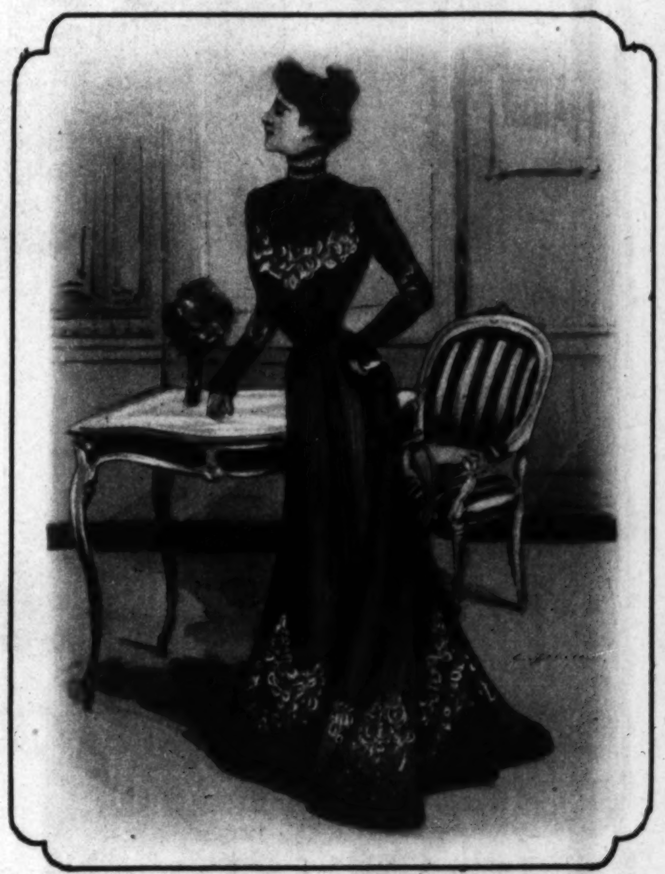
THAT MUCH DESIRED hourglass effect was achieved in 1896, when corsets, balloon sleeves, and bell-shaped skirts scaled the pinnacle of importance.



THE LANGUID ELEGANTE of the old school was giving way, by 1897, to a more modern creation evolved from a gradual transformation in customs and ideas. The girls were taking to the outdoors.



TWENTY YEARS AGO the ever-volatile and fickle Dame Fashion decreed a figure almost as slim as that of recent years, and with it a gown to match and enhance it.



THE DRAWING ROOM HOSTESS got herself up like this to receive her guests in 1900, the dawn of the twentieth century—or was it the last of the nineteenth?

Rug Values Revolutionized

Silky Oriental rug luxury at American Rug Prices!

At this price you can now buy a 9 x 12 ft. American Rug that has the luxurious sheen and beauty of a true Oriental, and which makes over any room into a dream of beauty.

If the voice of thousands of Chicago's luxury-loving families could speak to you above the city's din you would hear it say that a dream they have always had about rugs has come true.

Imagine that you returned home one day and saw upon the living-room floor what looked like a thousand dollar Persian Rug, lustrously shimmering . . . and then discovered the bill to be only $150.

That is what Gulistan de Luxe means.

That is the rug revolution.

Little wonder that Chicago's greatest stores are proudly displaying Gulistan de Luxe Rugs in Art Gallery manner.

People exclaim—

"Look at that sheen, just look at it!"

"See how the colors seem to gleam and glance!"

"My living-room will hardly know itself . . . feel the weight of that!"

"There's the design we want!"

The rug revolution is now in full swing!

Stores and customers in dozens of cities are excited over this big and genuine permanent change in rug values.

They know that in the Orient the internationally famous House of Karagheusian has made for years great numbers of the world's most beautiful Oriental Rugs.

They know that in Karagheusian's American plants they have been trying for years to machine-loom American Rugs that would be truly as lustrous and luxurious as their Orientals.

And now they know that Karagheusian has done it.

Think of the facts. The sheen is the same as that of a thousand dollar Kashan Rug, the same picked wools are especially imported from the Near East and China, the wearing-power exceeds that of popular priced Oriental Rugs, and the fabric has been demonstrated by actual test in the "Times" Model Home at Hartford, Conn., to emerge revealing hardly any signs of wear, after 83,000 people had trod and retrodden it.

And how you will delight in choosing the designs! There is a large choice, many of them duplicate museum pieces of almost priceless value. Sizes from 22 1-2 in. x 36 in. to 11 ft. 3 in. x 21 ft. Scatter Rugs, Room Sizes, Runners, Stair Carpets.

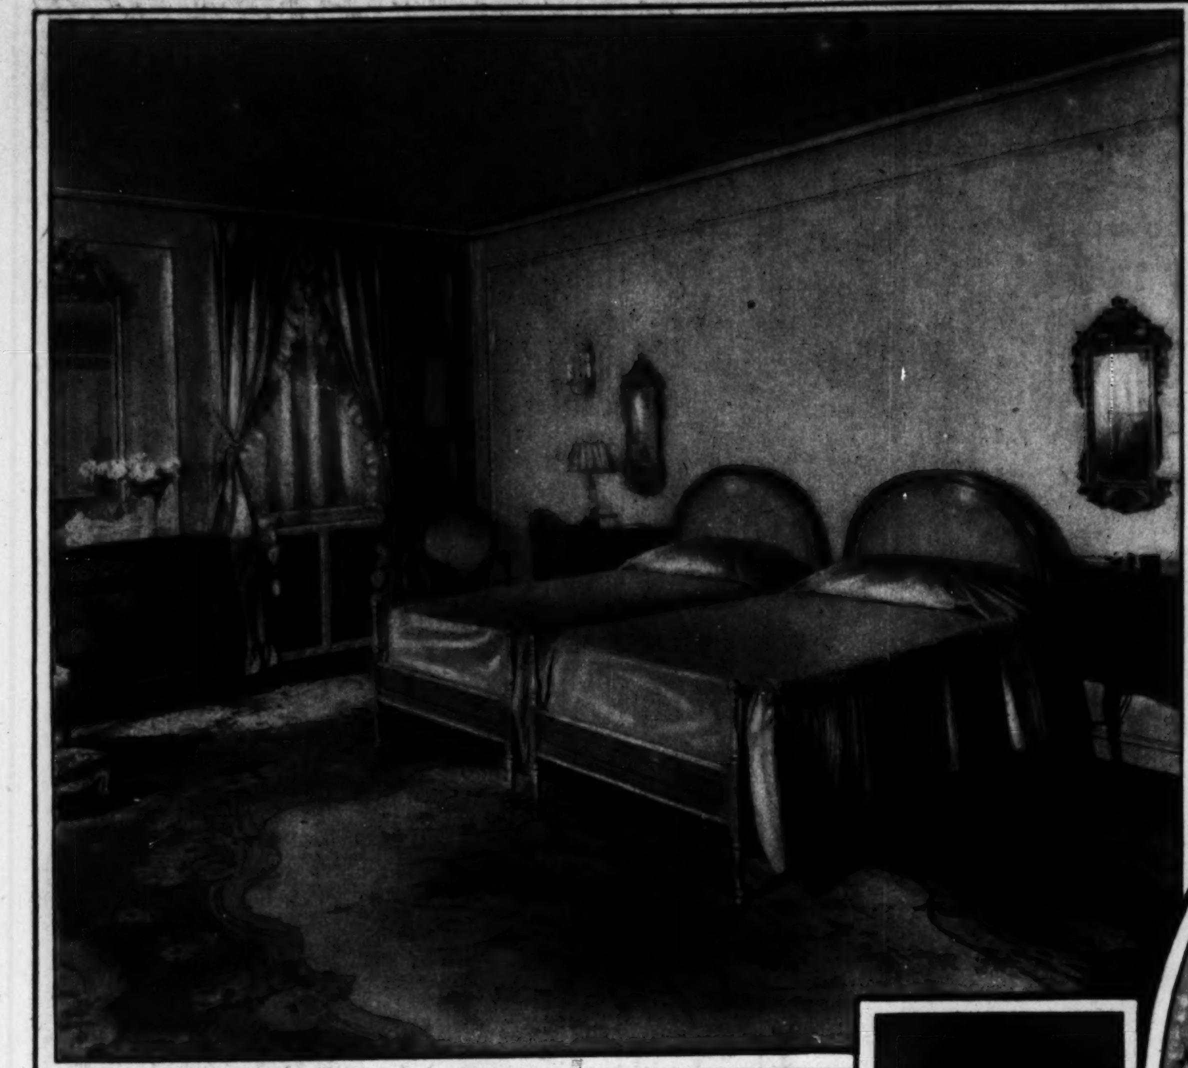
Comfort By Night, Beauty By Day—The Goal of the Modern Bedroom



IN THE CHICAGO HOME OF MRS. ROBERT R. McCORMICK, AN EXQUISITE bedroom in the French manner, where gentler tones of rose and green blend beautifully. Priceless furnishings include an Aubusson rug, a rare old French poudreuse and bergeres. The walls are green and the chairs and sofa are upholstered in softest grey-green; the windows have rose glass curtains of organdy and draperies of deep peach taffeta. In this setting of charm and beauty, Simmons Beds No. 1581, painted blue-green, fit perfectly. Beautyrest Mattresses and Ace Box Springs by Simmons are covered with rose damask carrying out the color harmony in every detail. Mrs. McCormick says of her Simmons equipment, "I can't say enough in praise of these buoyant Beautyrests and the new Ace Box Springs." Simmons Bed No. 1581 also comes in walnut. Price, $32.75.

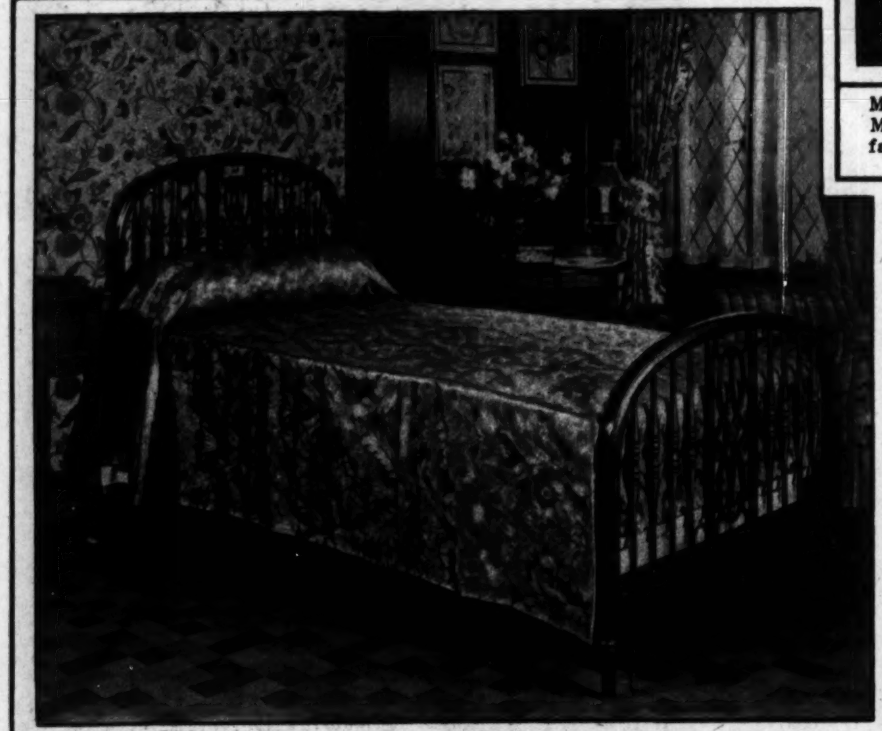
MRS. JOHN WANAMAKER III, whose graciousness and unstudied charm endear her to all who know her, and whose taste in household furnishings reflects the fine discrimination of the famous family whose name she bears.

MRS. JOHN WANAMAKER III CHOSE THE Simmons Windsor Bed, No. 1590, in mahogany finish for a charming Early American bedroom in her Ardmore home near Philadelphia. The bed with its delicately turned spindles is in perfect harmony with the other furnishings and is equipped with the Simmons Beautyrest Mattress and Ace Box Spring in lovely damask covers. Of her Simmons Bed, Mrs. Wanamaker says, "With my old mahogany my Windsor Bed is most harmonious—its lines have the simplicity and sturdy dignity that characterize the furniture of Colonial days—while its slender spindles have a charming delicacy." Windsor Beds $12 to $25.

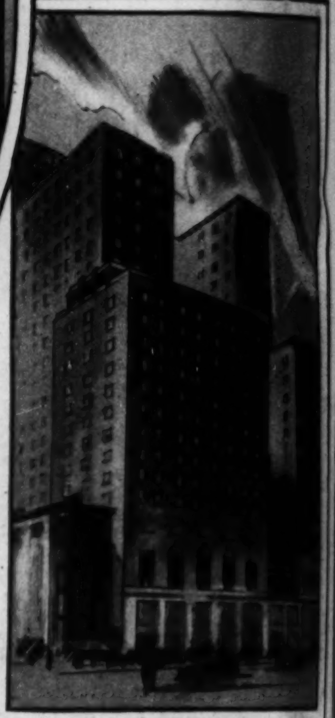
MRS. ROBERT R. McCORMICK of the leading Chicago family, has shown her exquisite taste in the selection of furnishings for her several homes.

A BEDROOM FOR USE THE CLOCK AROUND.

A painted Simmons Bed, No. 1636, adapts itself perfectly to the twenty-four hour room where comfortable sleep and smart day dress are equally necessary. Here it is painted blue-green against a rustic figured green and white wall paper. Curtains are sheer salmon pink with over-drapes of deeper rose, most effective with the black carpet. This bed comes in lilac, with emerald and gold trim, slate gray with brown and gold, or plain walnut. No. 1636, $35.00.



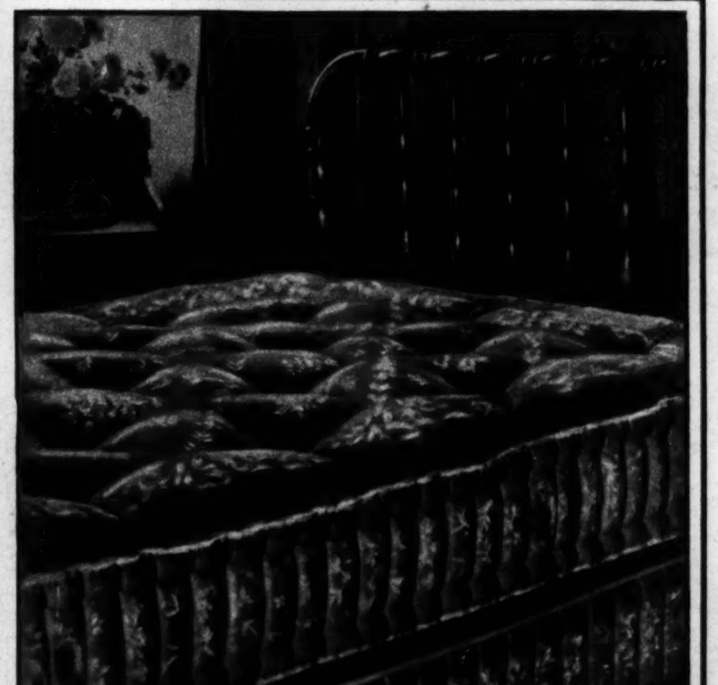
CONSERVATIVE IN DESIGN, THIS NEW SIMMONS Bed (left), No. 1638, richly finished in forestwood walnut, is especially suitable for a man's room, a boy's room or an important guest room. Delicately shaped spindles and a grilled panel are the only elaboration. In this room it is in fine company with walnut tables and chests of old English extraction against a chintz-hung wall. Casement windows, a beamed ceiling, and old flower prints add to the charm of the room. $29.50.



EACH OF THE 1250 ROOMS OF the new Clubhouse of the American Woman's Association (located at 353 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y.) is furnished with a charming Simmons Bed which harmonizes delightfully with the decorative scheme. And, for superb comfort, each bed is equipped with Simmons Ace Springs and Beautyrest Mattresses. "I use them myself," says Miss Anne Morgan, President of the A. W. A. "So I know of their comfort and reliability."

THIS BABY DOTES ON HIS Beautyrest Mattress—it is so soft and comfy, yet it supports him so well—helping his little body grow straight and strong. Beautyrests can be ordered any size to fit your baby's crib, and into these smaller editions go all the fine grade of materials and superior workmanship that have made the Beautyrest the choice of nearly a million adults.

IT IS SO EASY TO CLEAN—SIMMONS ACE OPEN COIL SPRING. ESPECIALLY designed for those who prefer an open type spring, the Simmons Company has added an extra number of sturdily constructed coils. These are tied with small governor springs to prevent side sway and the completed spring is carefully finished with a smooth border to protect sheets from tearing. The spring is painted to prevent rust and make cleaning easy. $19.75.



ALREADY IN 902,487 HOMES, THE FAMOUS BEAUTYREST Mattress is chosen for supreme sleeping comfort. Hundreds of finely tempered wire coils placed close together, are covered with luxurious upholstery and damask. The Ace Box Spring is sturdily constructed and finished to match the Beautyrest. This photograph was taken in a guest room of the Newport home of Mrs. Vanderbilt Church. Beautyrest Mattress, $39.50; Ace Box Spring, $42.50. Spool Bed, No. 1850, $37.50.

WHAT THE INSIDE OF your Beautyrest looks like—a heart of finely tempered wire coils to insure the greatest resiliency, each coil separately pocketed to act independently, and give proper support.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, THEY'RE WEST POINTERS—The secret ambition of the cadet, we suspect, is to strip off his trim uniform and let it lie wherever it happens to light. If so, it's an ambition he has a chance to gratify in summer camp, when you encounter him in negligee.

THIS NOVELTY IN ARMORED CARS was turned out by Col. Bruce Palmer, second in command at the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas. Built on an ordinary commercial chassis, the vehicle has a speed of 45 miles an hour and is equipped with emergency solid tires available for use if the pneumatics are punctured.

THE INSIDES of Col. Palmer's home-made armored car, with one officer at the wheel and another at the machine gun which constitutes the armament. It is lighter than any other such vehicle, and could be produced in quantity speedily in time of war, advantages which have won for it a thorough test.

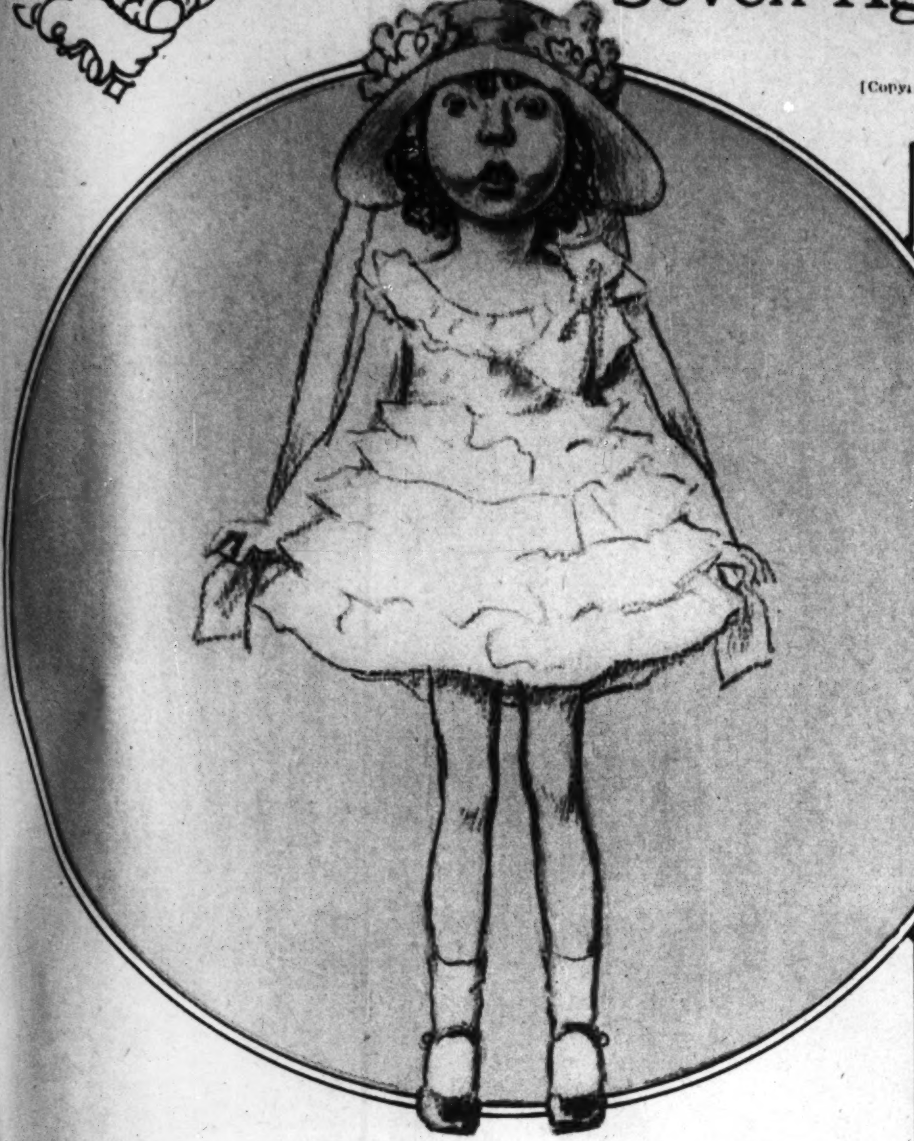
WOMEN'S SECTION TODAY'S TRIBUNE

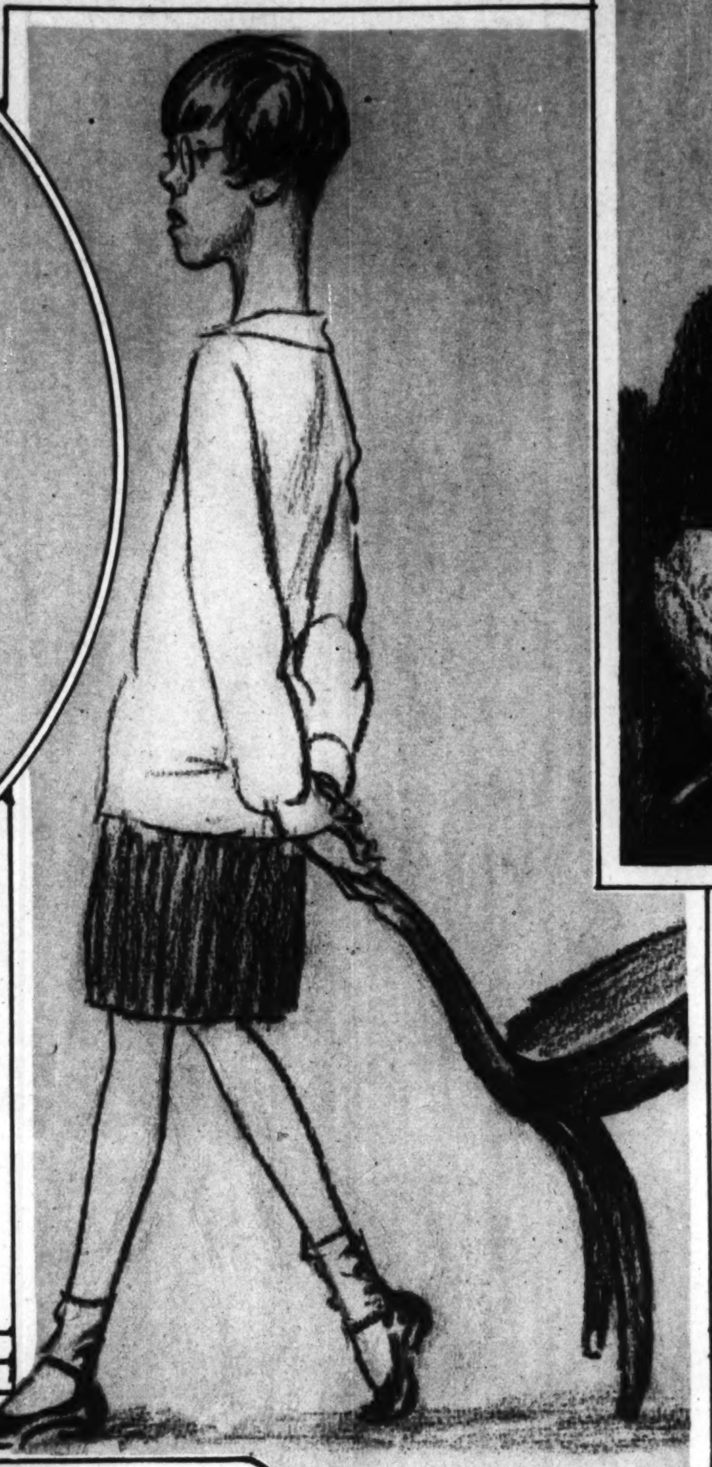
Seven Ages of the Flapper

By W. E. Hill

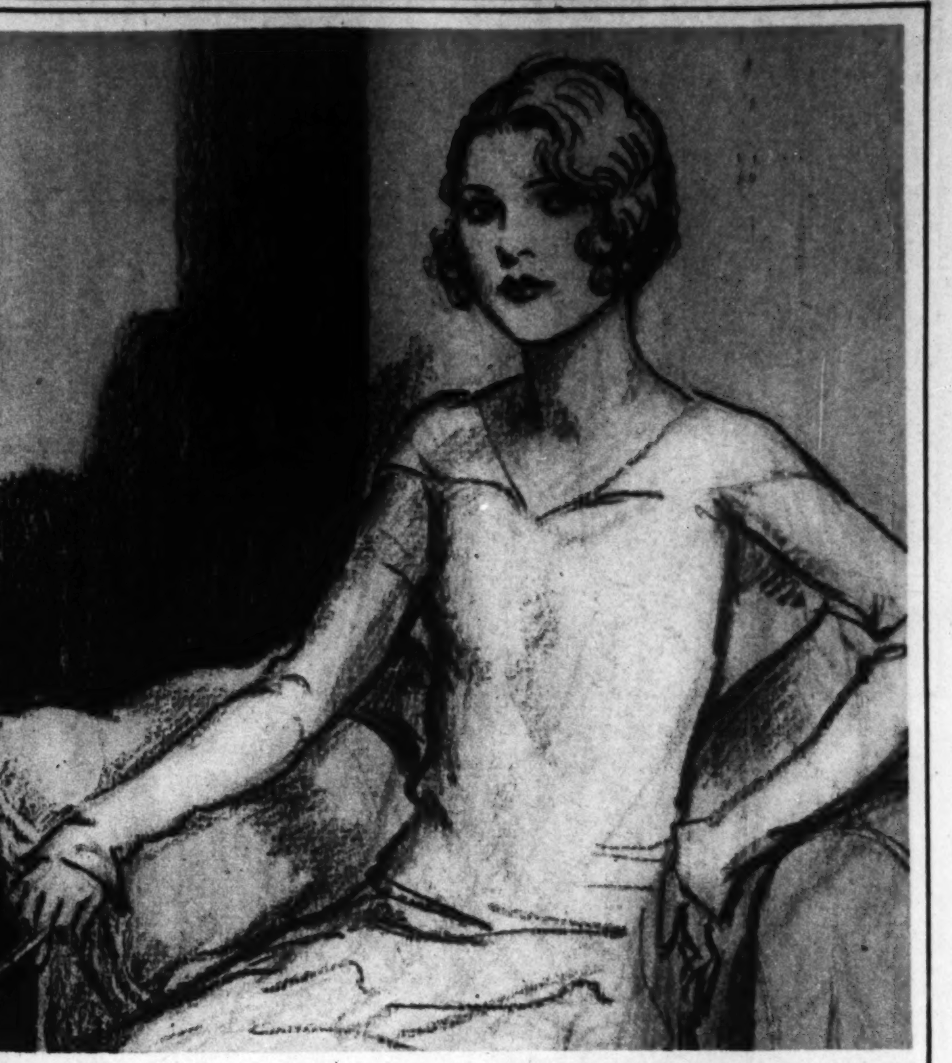
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]



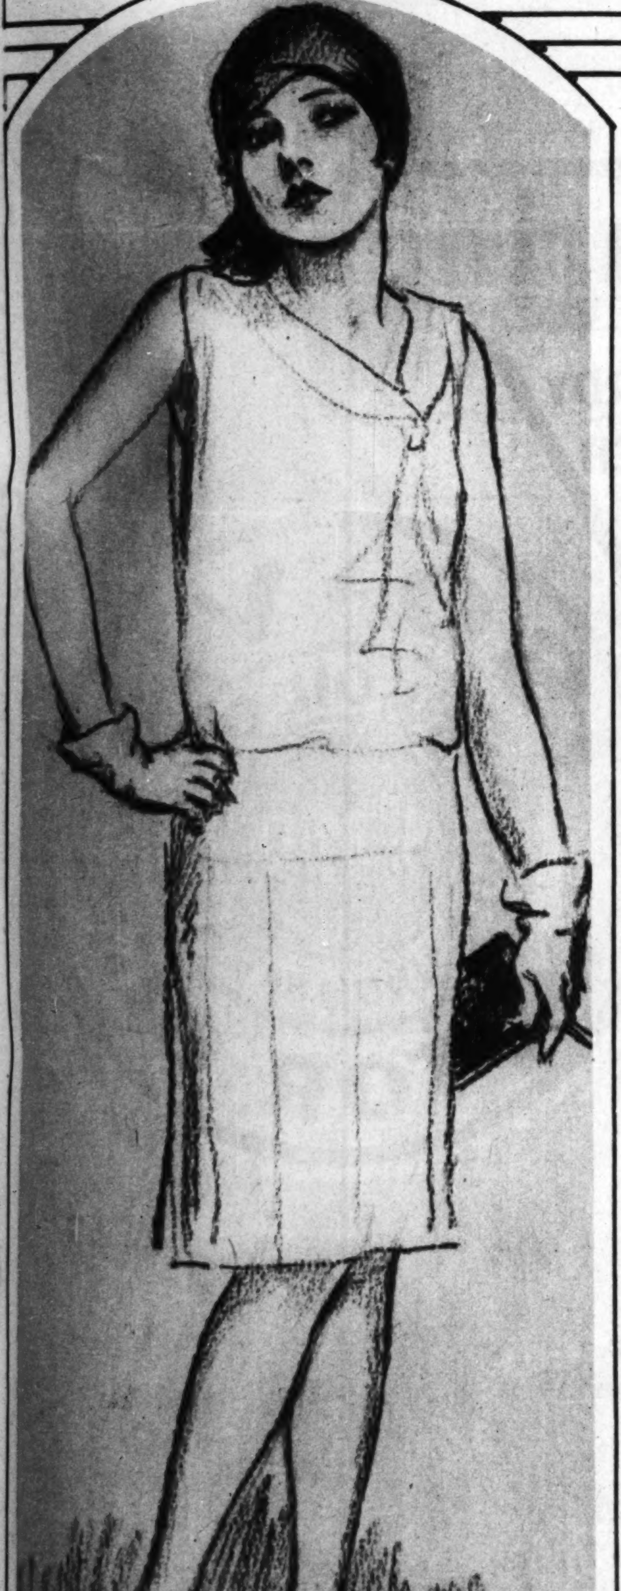
The infant. Childhood's happy hour is, of course, the first milestone in the years of a growing girl. It is known as the age of innocence and Peter Pan, although many child welfare workers complain that from the age of three on an average baby girl knows a lot more about life than she lets on. Many girls make a pretense of staying three years old in gray matter for years and years and are in consequence very popular with the boy friends.



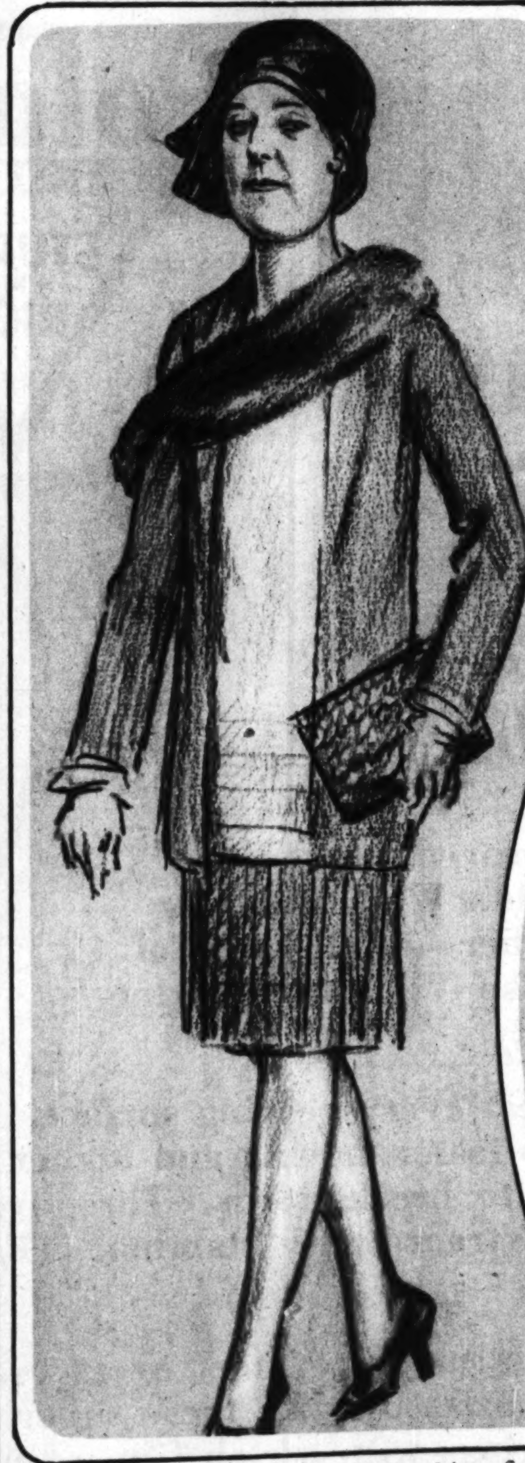
The schoolgirl. School days are days of adenoid removal and dental improvement. If the girl suffers from repression her elders call it the awkward age, and if she has no inhibitions and is wont to read "The Life of Isadora Duncan" after school hours they call it the natural age. Her love life is centered on half a dozen screen favorites, with Gary Cooper and Richard Arlen in the lead.



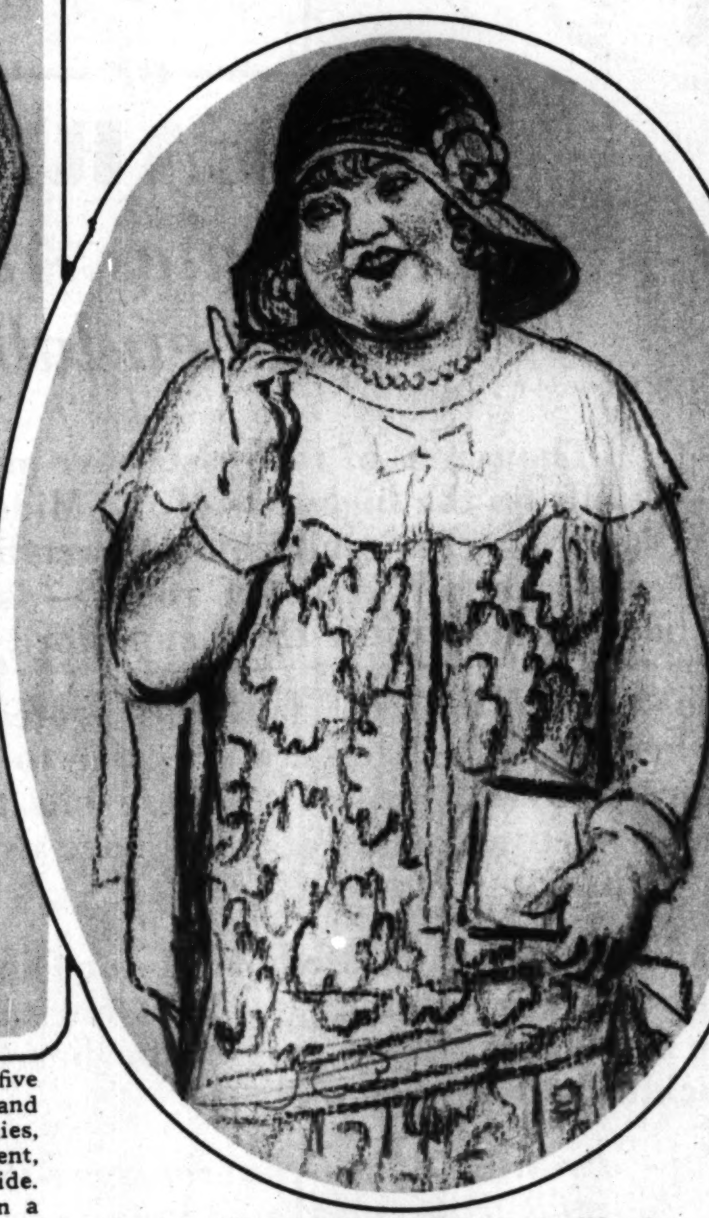
The debutante. As soon as our heroine has been completely finished throughout at Miss Fixit's Select Finishing school and can differentiate through a sixth sense between the right people and the wrong people, she is introduced formally to society, provided, of course, that she has a nodding acquaintance with all the big universities so that there may be plenty of extra dancing men on the side lines. When in doubt she replies, "Why bring that up!" This is known as the hard boiled period; and is bounded by the social register and Dun and Bradstreet's.



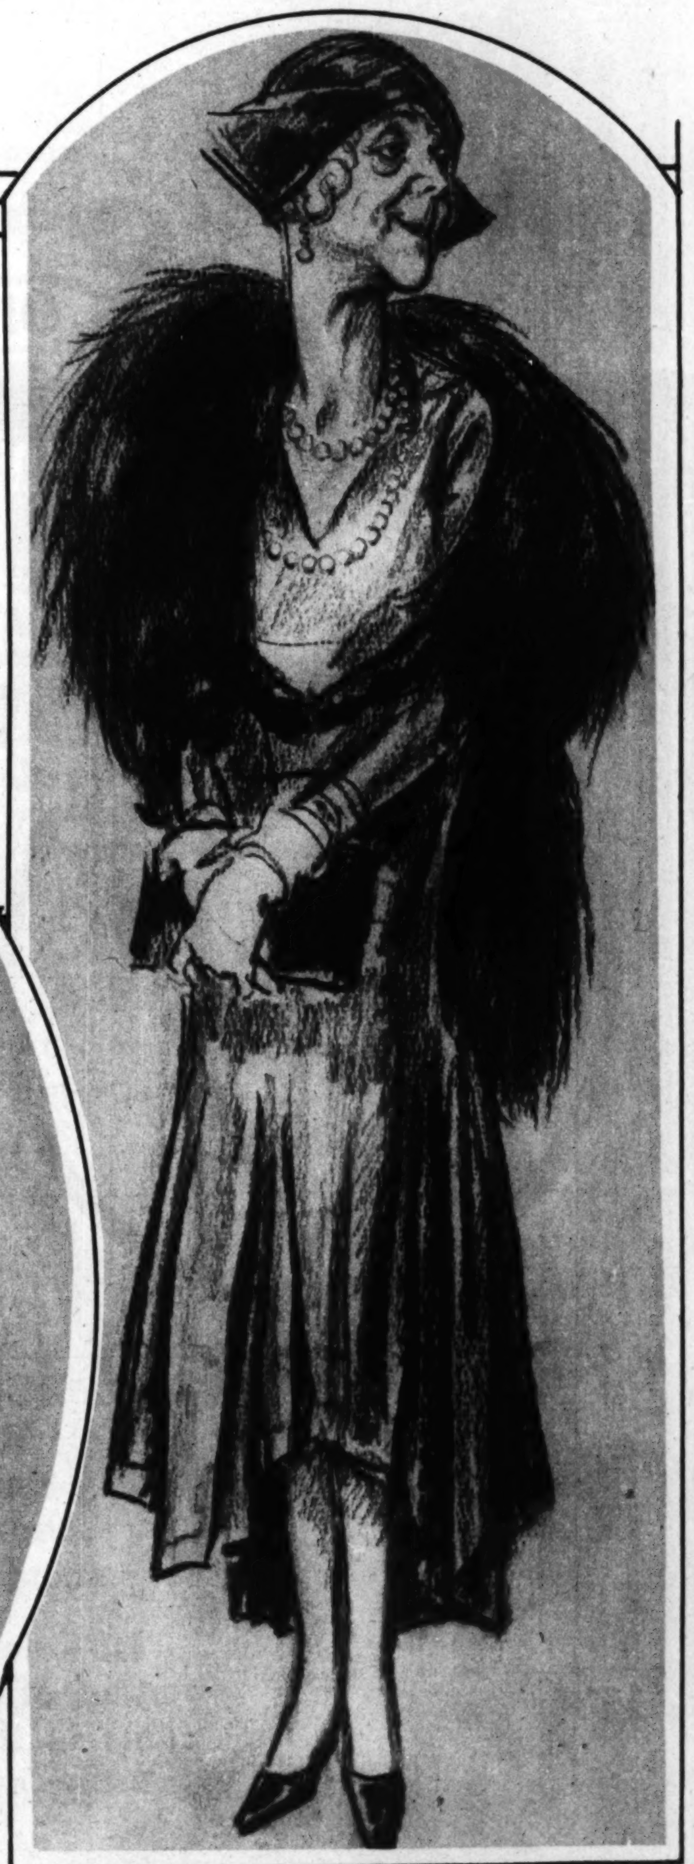
The younger married set. After the honeymoon the young wife settles down to a round of country club and week-end parties. This is known as the parboiled period and frequently has a happy ending in Paris or Reno, with plenty of alimony in the offing.



The matron. The years between thirty-five and forty-five are the intellectual years and are largely given over to club activities, committee meetings, and civic betterment, with lectures and readings on the side. Uplift is the keynote, and very often a successful society matron will dabble in the occult, thereby discovering herself as a reincarnation of St. Ursula or Messalina of Rome, Italy (not Rome, N. Y.). She knows all about James Joyce and Matisse and will tell you she is "just a wee bit disappointed in the last volume of Proust!"



The dowager. Indian summer in the life of a flapper is fraught with the romantic idea. It is the cute age. She has a special weakness for dark haired boys of a Spanish type and loves to waggle a gloved forefinger and say, "Oh, you awful boy, why weren't you in my opera box last Wednesday?"



The second girlhood. This period is considered by many as the best of all and sets in somewhere between seventy-five and ninety-five. The dominant notes in the existence of this mature flapper are sweetness and wistfulness, both of which, when properly made use of, are devastating in their effects and will procure for her whatever she wants whenever she wants it.

BEWITCHING HAWAII—Most folk think of Hawaii in terms of pineapples, sugar, volcanoes, plaintive steel guitars, and hula-hula girls. Yet its capital, Honolulu, pictured here from the air, is one of the most modern of cities, and the adjoining harbor offers the last word in shipping conveniences.

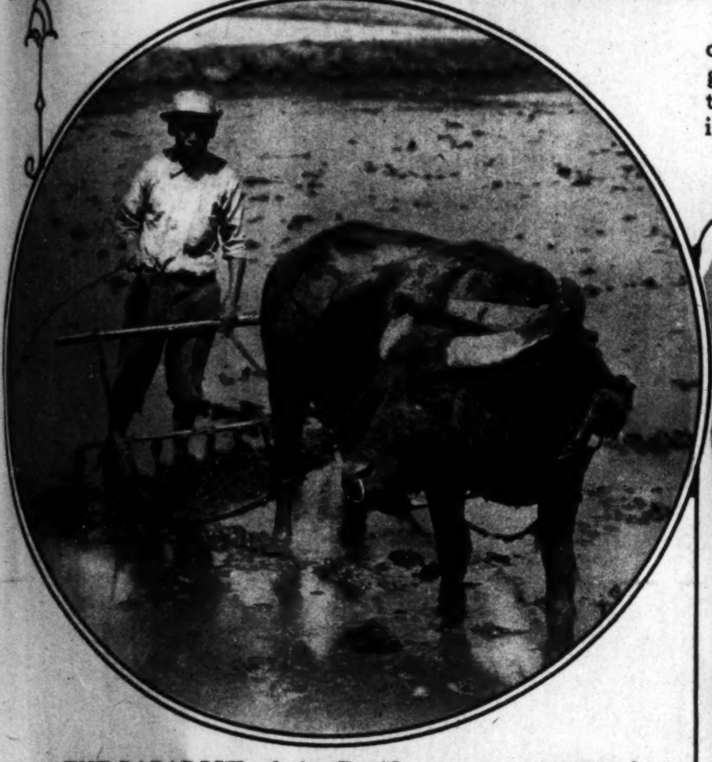
NESTLING IN THE HILLS—Fort street, one of the two or three main thoroughfares of Honolulu, illustrates how abruptly the city drops from the Koolau mountain range.

THE STAFF OF LIFE—Hawaiian farmers cultivate taro, a lilylike root plant which, boiled and beaten into a pulpy mass, provides poi, still the principal food of the natives.

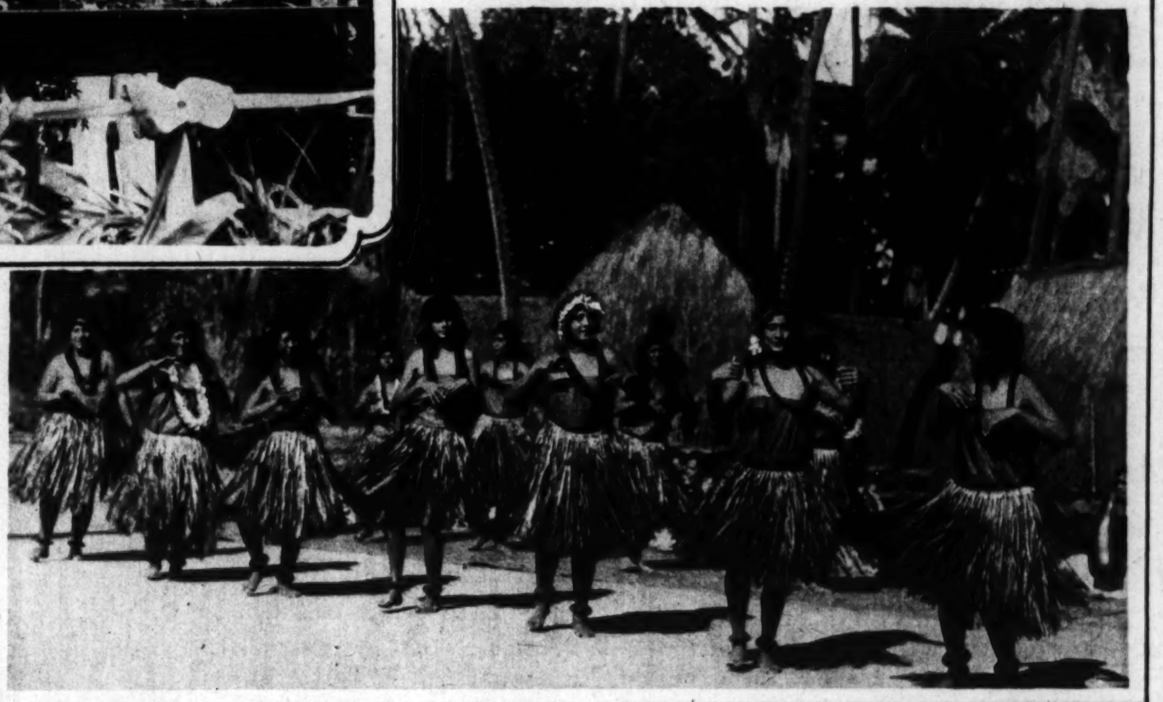


THE PARADISE of the Pacific to some persons, but to the ox and his driver, ploughing a rice field, it looks more like a sea of mud.

GARLANDED GOVERNORS—Lei, the flower wreaths of the islands, were draped about the shoulders of the principals when Lawrence M. Judd succeeded Wallace R. Farrington as governor. But the microphone gave a touch of civilization. Reading from the left: Chief Justice Antonio Perry, Mesdames Farrington and Judd, and Messrs. Judd and Farrington.

(Photograph copyright by Bert G. Covell.)

HARVESTING SUGAR CANE—Not all the natives while away the hours in singing, dancing, and drinking, as they are inclined to do in fiction. Romance fades into reality when it comes time to harvest the cane for the annual crop of a half million tons of sugar. However, most of the work is now done by Filipinos.



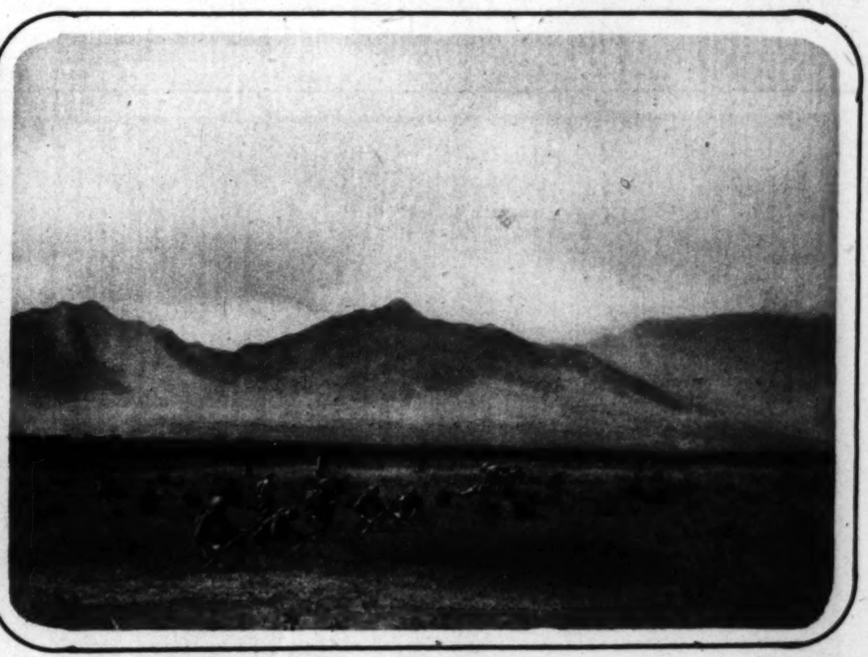
NO PAGE OF PICTURES OF HAWAII would be complete without at least one hula. But the girls doing the approved dance at the Capt. Cook sesquicentennial celebration in Honolulu did not wear grass skirts; the swish-swish was provided by skirts of split ti-leaves. Disillusionment note No. 2: The grass huts were not inhabited; they were built especially for the ceremony.

UP AND AT 'EM—Tanks advanced behind a smoke screen before lining up for tactical inspection by the commander of the Hawaiian department of the army.

(Photograph from Signal corps, United States army.)

DOWNING AN INVISIBLE "ENEMY"—Soldiers from the states staged a spectacular night show on the islands when an anti-aircraft battery fired from the searchlight into the shadows.

(Photograph from Signal corps, United States army.)



DEPLOYED, and with bayonets fixed and chambers loaded, infantrymen awaited the order to charge in recent maneuvers of the Hawaiian department.

Keeping pace with pleasure

Modern mouth hygiene has brought new health and vitality to thousands because they guard The Danger Line

Women who are popular frankly acknowledge that radiant health is their most valued charm. And still, many risk this priceless gift through neglect of such a simple thing as mouth hygiene.

Here is the danger: The same blood which nourishes all the tissues of the body, and carries off their waste, also comes in contact with the gums and teeth. Thus poisonous substances and disease germs are carried away from neglected teeth and lodged in some other tissue or organ. Heart trouble, nervous disorders, rheumatism may result.

You must guard The Danger Line

It is not enough to brush your teeth. You must visit your dentist regularly and use a dentifrice which can neutralize acids that cause tooth decay.

These acids form particularly in pits and crevices of your teeth and at The Danger Line—where teeth and gums meet. There is one dentifrice which can bring protection. It is Squibb's Dental Cream which is made with more than 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. When you use it, particles of Milk of Magnesia penetrate into all the tiny crevices and neutralize dangerous acids where your toothbrush cannot reach.

Of course Squibb's Dental Cream also cleans and polishes the teeth beautifully. It contains no grit, no harsh abrasive. It is extraordinarily soothing. You can safely use it to brush the gums.

At drug stores everywhere—only 40c a large tube. E. R. Squibb & Sons, New York. Manufacturing Chemists to the Medical Profession since 1858.

Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, from which Squibb's Dental Cream is made, is a pure, effective product that is free from any unpleasant earthy taste. It has unsurpassed antacid and mild laxative qualities.

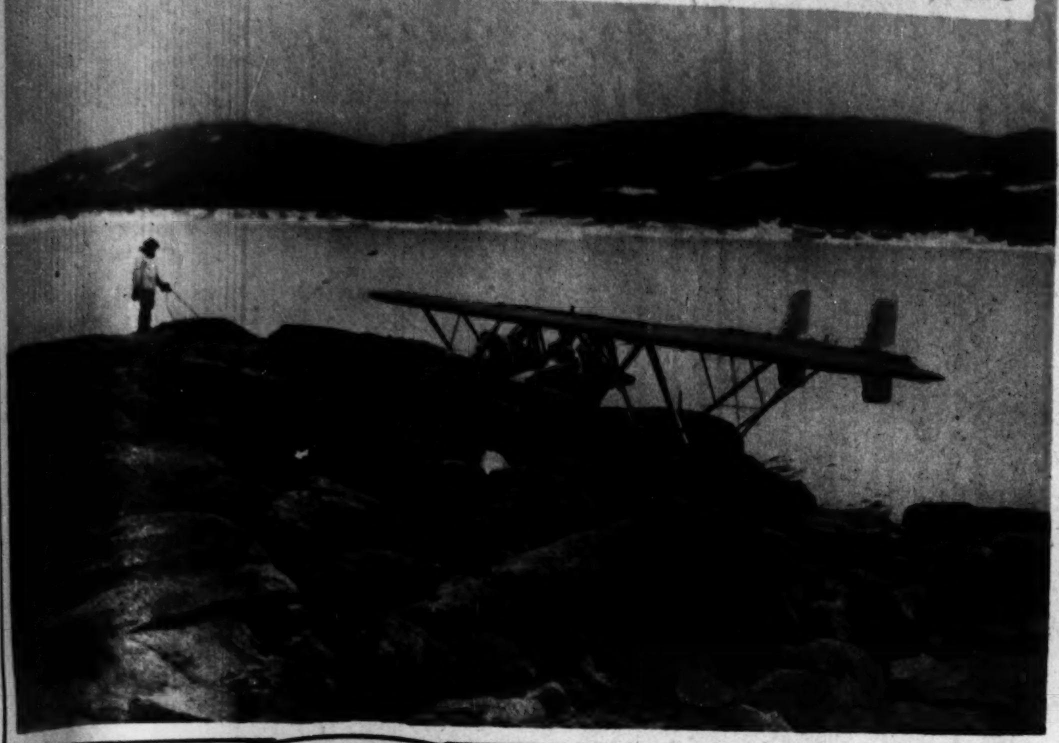
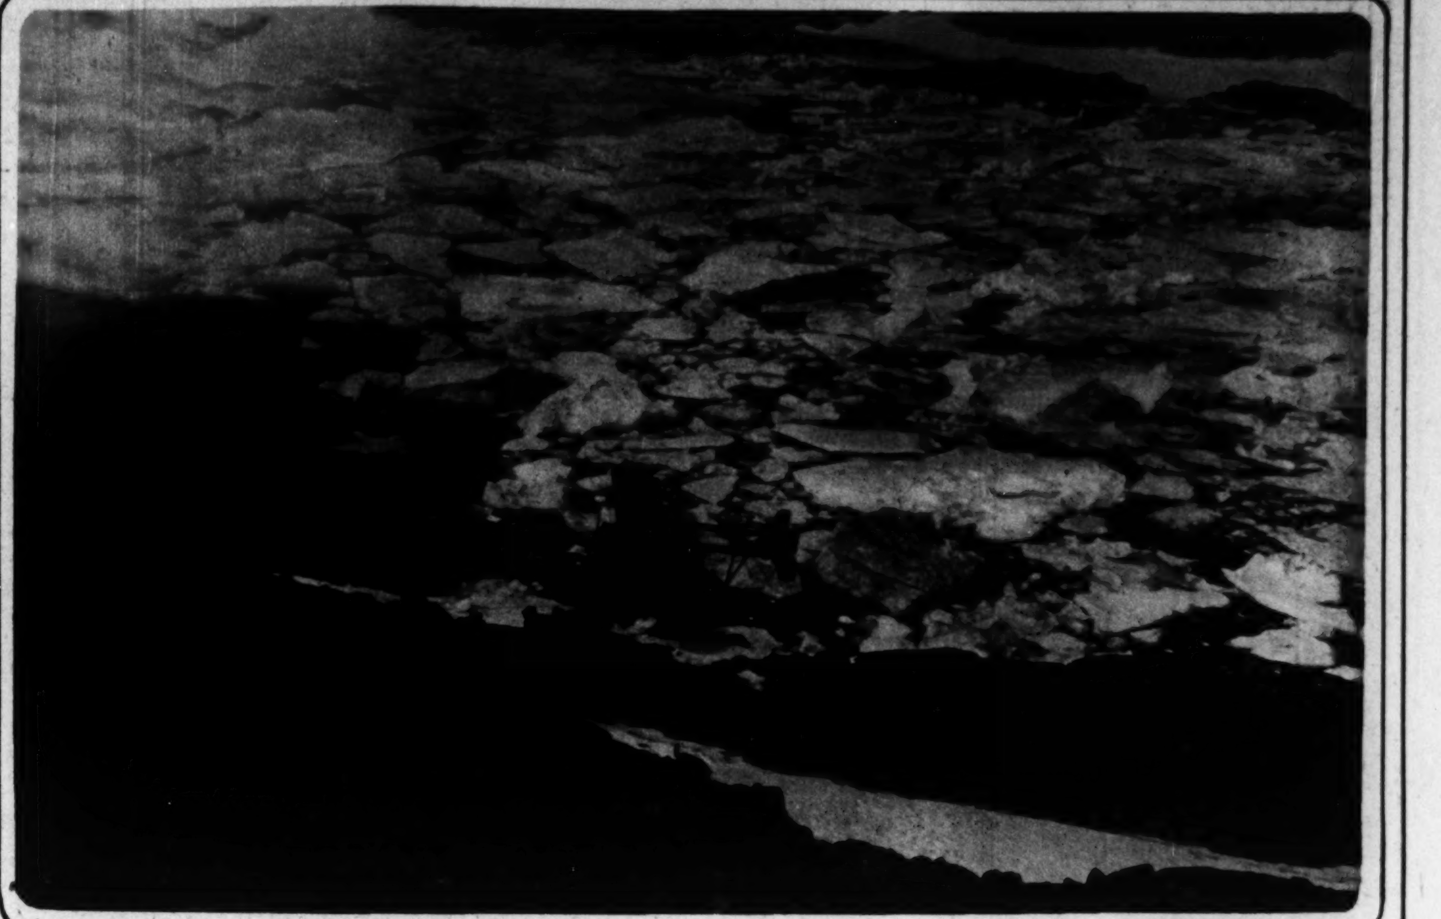
The 'Untin' Bowler in the Sub-Arctic

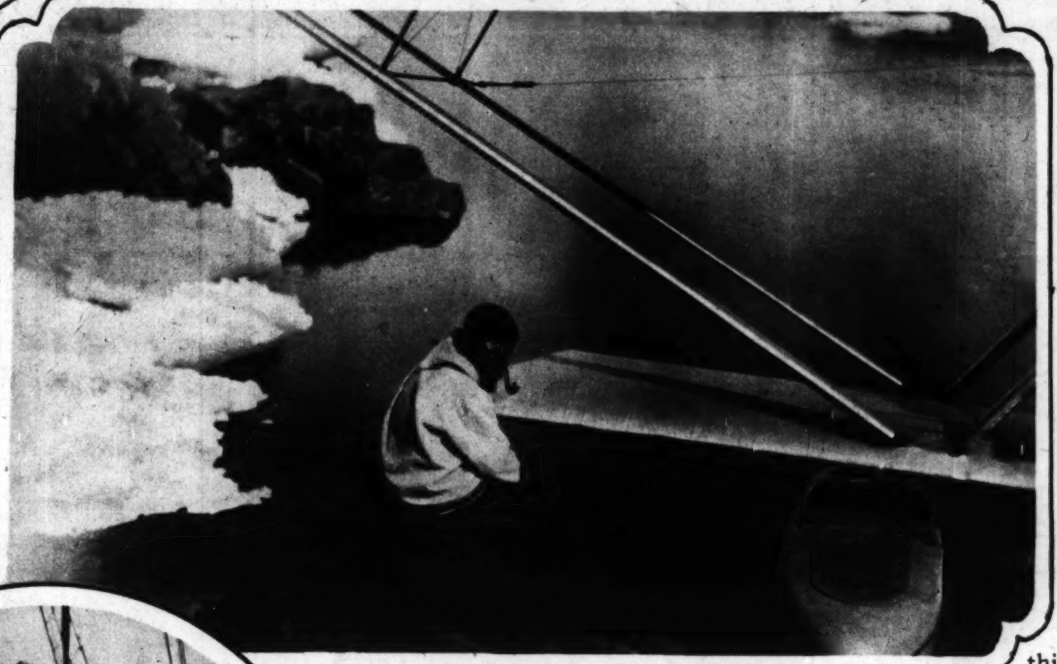


STRANDED ON THE ROCKS—Fifty miles from the nearest habitation, the 'Untin' Bowler was forced down by fog on the desolate coast of Ungava Bay. Bob Gast, pilot of the Tribune plane, is here shown moving the anchor down on the rocks to prevent the plane from going ashore as it lowers quickly with a 40 foot tide.

THE LAST MATCH—All the flyers' matches but one were exhausted before the gas jet shown in the picture was ignited. Then they boiled a breakfast of dehydrated turnips, the first food after a long night spent keeping the Bowler afloat. The picture shows Shorty Cramer and Bob Wood around their camp on the island where the ship was forced down.



IN A VISE OF ICE—The Bowler suffered its greatest damage as the baby bergs, drifting in from the sea, pushed it into a small cove at Port Burwell, Labrador. The crew of the Bowler is shown standing on the big ice chunk jammed under a wing.

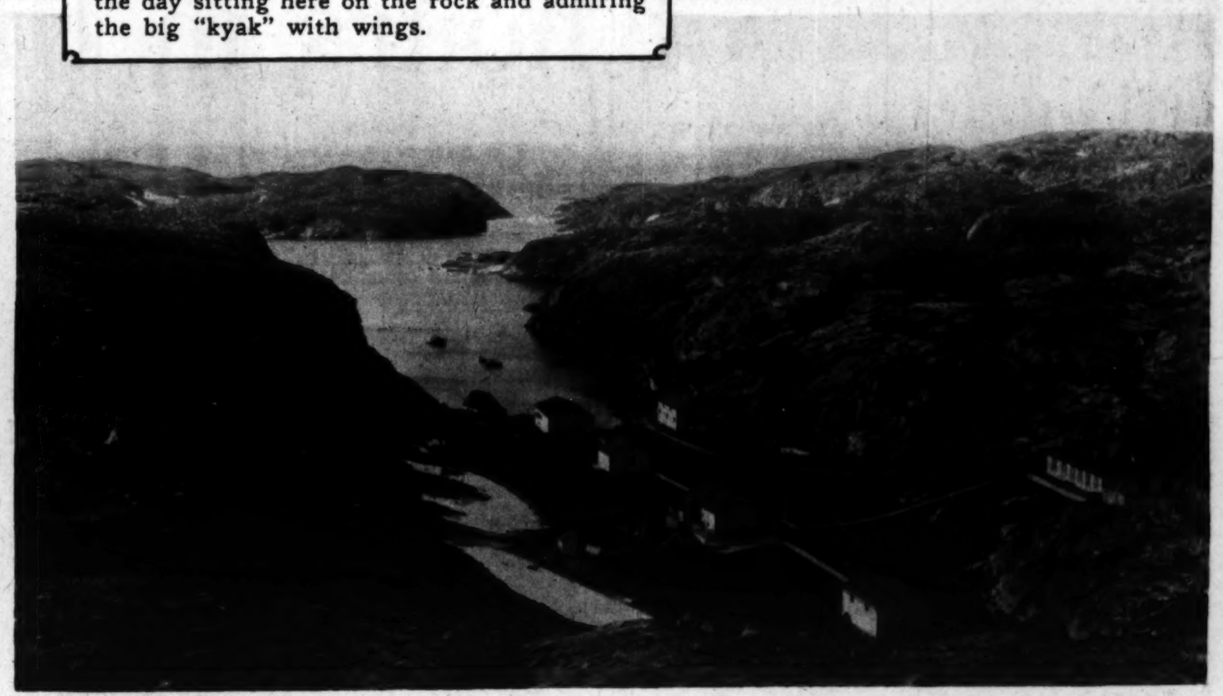


CHAIRMAN of the reception committee, Jonah, one of the Port Burwell Eskimos who greeted the ship as it splashed into a fiord and taxied to shore near the settlement. Jonah spent the day sitting here on the rock and admiring the big "kyak" with wings.

ESKIMOS HAVE NO POCKETS, but this young native jabs his hands inside his trousers to keep them warm. The picture was taken at Great Whale, a fur trading post on the eastern shore of Hudson Bay, where the 'Untin' Bowler stopped for fuel.

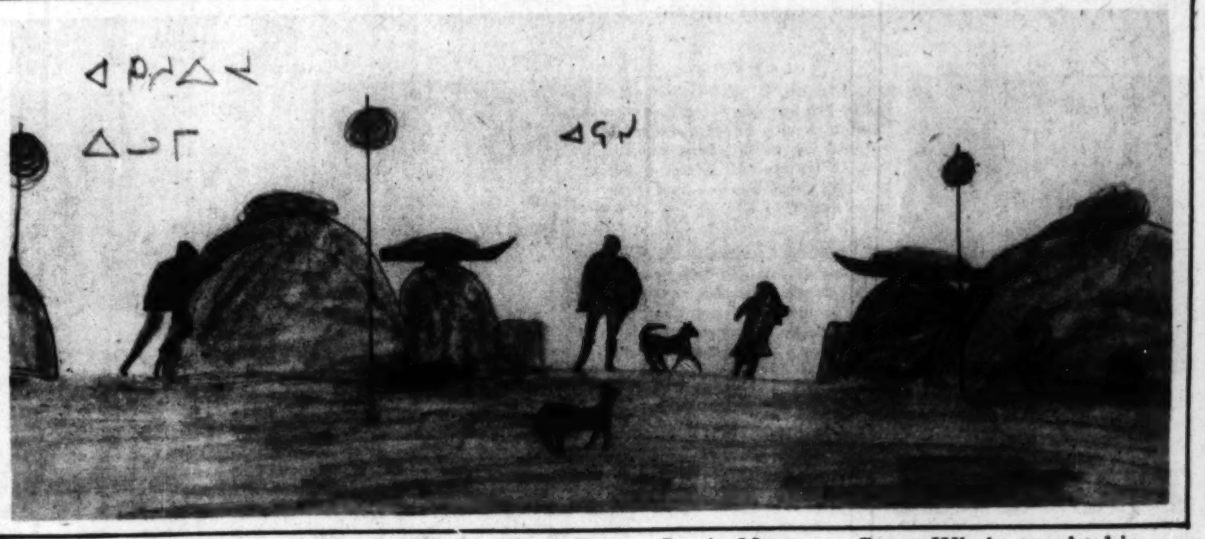
THEY FOUGHT TO SAVE THE BOWLER—This group of natives worked day and night for four days pushing the crushing ice chunks away from the ship. The Bowler is shown in the background, imprisoned by the ice. At high tide the ship was level with the rocks where the Eskimos are standing.

A HALL RUG some day. This polar bear was shot on the ice fields of Hudson Bay by the crew of the C. G. S. Acadia, the boat on which the 'Untin' Bowler flyers returned to civilization after their plane was lost.



PORT BURWELL, UNGAVA—The picture shows the Burwell harbor after a fifty mile gale had cleared it of ice and with it swept the 'Untin' Bowler to sea. The Hudson Bay fur trading post and the dwellings of the mounted police are shown in the foreground. The open sea shown in the center background is where the ship sank.

HOMEWARD BOUND—Bob Gast, pilot; Bob Wood, Tribune aviation editor, and Parker (Shorty) Cramer, pilot, the crew of the ill-fated Bowler, pictured on the bridge of the C. G. S. Acadia as the ship arrived at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, after a 1,000 mile cruise from Port Burwell.



ART AMONG THE ESKIMOS—Post Factor Louis Maver at Great Whale taught his Eskimo seal hunters how to draw. This is the handiwork of one of his natives, depicting a village of igloos. Note the kyaks, or seal skin boats, placed on top of the igloos, out of reach of the husky dogs, which would otherwise make a meal of them. And note, also, the Eskimo hieroglyphics.

DOWN FROM THE SUN SPEEDS A MYSTERIOUS POWER TO MAKE SICK BODIES—VIGOROUS, WELL

NOW—in a familiar food · · · the health value of hours in the summer sun

FOR centuries persons with sick bodies have bathed themselves in sunlight to be cured.

But millions today must spend the sunny hours in cave-like offices or factories, in sunless schools, shops, homes—victims of a sunless age. They are literally "sunlight starved".

An astonishing discovery promises to end all this! A brilliant scientist has made it possible to capture the health energy of the sun in a simple, inexpensive food.

Fleischmann's fresh Yeast is this food. It is the easy, natural way to banish constipation—to renew appetite and digestion—to clear up long-standing skin complaints.

But now the health value of this famous food has been enormously increased! The new Fleischmann's Yeast, "irradiated" by a unique patented process, brings you the mysterious "sunshine" vitamin "D". It is the richest food source by far of this vitamin. Our laboratories estimate that three cakes are equal to the ultra-violet effect of a whole day in the summer sun!

Most people, especially those of growing age (under 25), need the "sunshine" vitamin now in Fleischmann's Yeast. Without it, your system cannot absorb enough lime and phosphorus—elements essential to bones, teeth and muscles. With it, bones and teeth grow straight and strong. Your body is harder, tougher.

The expectant or nursing mother needs it to help combat the drain on her body's lime and phosphorus supply. It fortifies the unborn or nursing child against rickets (soft bones and teeth).

And now, eat Fleischmann's Yeast for the energizing, bone-hardening "sunshine" vitamin. Eat three cakes every day, before or between meals, plain or in water, cold or as hot as you can easily drink. At grocers, restaurants and soda fountains, in the familiar foil packages with the yellow label. It is as effective as ever for baking.

A new radio hour! Fleischmann's Yeast-for-Health Hour is packed with musical surprises. Dance orchestras, crooners, the latest Broadway hits. Tune in Thursday evenings with the National Broadcasting Co. and associated stations—47 stations coast to coast network.

Hiding from the sun in office, factory, school, home, a "sun-starved" race is growing up—soft-boned, weak-muscled, teeth a prey to decay . . . Read how you can eat your sunshine now in a famous food.

LEFT

DR. LORENZO CHERUBINI, famous Italian physician writes, "Untold health benefits are made available by the 'sunshine' vitamin D—now in irradiated fresh yeast. It builds strong bones, sound teeth, tones muscles."

RIGHT

DR. JOSE SANCHEZ-COVISA, best known Spanish dermatologist says, "Fresh yeast can be successfully employed to combat many skin diseases. Exposed to ultra-violet rays, fresh yeast reaches a maximum therapeutic power."

LEFT

DR. CARL NEUBERG, a leading German physician states, "The vitally important pro-vitamin, ergosterol, which becomes a true vitamin upon irradiation, is found more abundantly in yeast than elsewhere."

RIGHT

DR. MAURICE DELORT, a great European Gastro-enterologist says, "Ergosterol in fresh yeast is converted by irradiation into vitamin D which brings about the deposit of calcium in the bones."

HERETOFORE . . . fashionable women selected their stockings according to their foot size . . . and hoped the length of the stocking would meet their individual measurements.

GORDON . . . with the co-operation of the Peacock Shoe Shop . . . has created INDIVIDUALLY PROPORTIONED stockings . . . based on a scientific study of thousands of women's figures.

In this new fashion service, we have worked out . . . scientifically . . . 4 length-of-the-leg sizes in all foot sizes.

Whether you are tall, short, or average height . . . with slender, plump or average legs . . . one of these 4 proportions will specifically meet your leg length and width requirements . . . will give you stocking smoothness . . . freedom from strain or binding . . . longer wear.

Our Two Hosiery Departments . . . exhibit the complete collection of Gordon INDIVIDUALLY PROPORTIONED stockings in the famous Gordon styles . . . the V-line and Narrow Heel. Our stylists, trained to the Shoe Salon method of taking measurements, will quickly tell you which Gordon INDIVIDUALLY PROPORTIONED stockings are for you.

THE GORDON PETITE
is designed for the short woman with average leg measurements—for the woman of average height with very slim legs—and for the growing girl.

THE GORDON PRINCESS
is designed for women of average height and leg measurements . . . for the short woman with plump legs and thighs . . . for the young girl whose skirts are brief.

THE GORDON REGAL
is designed for the tall woman with average leg measurements . . . and for the woman of average height with somewhat heavy calves and thighs.

Look Lovely Tonight

New Skin Beauty in Five Minutes—It's as Simple as Washing Your Face

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely—Coarse Pores become Fine—It corrects oily skin, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads

Cremed magnesia beautifies the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

This easy, quick way to new skin beauty is called the most amazing beauty miracle of modern science. Women are astonished! You will not believe it until you see other women suddenly get lovely complexions.

Think of it! You can have a clear, lovely skin tonight. Any woman over twenty-five looks at least five years younger in five minutes! Dull, off-color skin is changed to bright, true-color; enlarged pores are refined to the smoothest, finest texture; oily skin is corrected; blackheads are dissolved; persistent skin eruptions are banished and the tell-tale signs of age vanish as if by magic! Poor complexions become lovely as if skin faults were wiped away with a sponge. You will marvel at the lovely face you see in your mirror tonight.

Instant Skin Beauty

It's no fairy wand that gives a new skin so quickly. It's simply due to the amazing, rejuvenating properties of cremed milk of magnesia, which rehabilitates the skin in the same easy way that plain milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And, now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with cremed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face!

Accidental Discovery

Until recently, cremed magnesia was the secret formula of a very successful New York skin specialist. He prescribed it as a sure, quick remedy to heal unsightly skin eruptions. But, women soon discovered it also refines enlarged pores, changes sallow, off-color skin to true-color clearness and makes the face look years younger. They also found it removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than any soap or cleansing cream. Scientific tests proved these women had found a quick, easy way to new skin beauty. So, thanks to this accidental discovery, science now offers you a priceless skin beautifier, better for your complexion than anything ever before discovered. It takes the place of soap, cleansing cream, massage cream, astringent, skin tonic and rejuvenator. It gives the skin a radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

Doctors Recommend It

It is so mild that doctors tell mothers to use it instead of soap to bathe infants. It certainly is a blessing to fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. Being greaseless, it cannot fatten the face or grow hair.

Thousands of doctors now insist that their wives, patients and nurses use nothing but cremed magnesia on their faces. They say it keeps the skin fine and makes poor skin lovely. It is pure enough to drink.

Don't Hesitate

Do not hesitate to use this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not at first believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But, they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions. Because it gives such amazing results so quickly, even the largest druggists find it hard to keep enough in stock to supply the tremendous demand.

To get genuine cremed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So, get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight. It costs almost nothing to try.

GUARANTEE

It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once without question.

Our own agents buy the most careful selection of high-grade Jamaica Ginger and it comes to us in its purest state

OUR METHODS OF GINGER CULTIVATION IN JAMAICA, B. W. I.

IN THE island of Jamaica, 80 miles south of Cuba, in the Caribbean Sea, some of the finest ginger in the world is grown for "Canada Dry." It is fine ginger because we take definite steps to have it so.

Formerly, ginger was cultivated according to traditional methods. But these methods did not produce the best ginger. And so modern methods were instituted.

After this ginger, which is produced under modern methods, is sun dried and graded, it is inspected by our personal representatives. They decide which of the best to buy. It is then shipped to us in the United States and we grind it and extract the flavor. From cultivating to the moment it is used in "Canada Dry," this ginger is always under control. Therefore, we know it is ginger of the highest quality.

Many other processes, many pure ingredients go into the making of this fine old ginger ale. There's blending and balancing in exact proportions . . . there's the secret process of carbonation . . . there's the test for purity, daily. . . .

But in a large measure, the subtle flavor of "Canada Dry" . . . its wonderful taste and goodness . . . are due to the ginger par excellence which we buy. Notice the cool, refreshing vigor of this fine old ginger ale . . . notice its "dryness" like some rare old wine . . . notice its mildness and mellowness . . . and then remember that all these qualities are the result of painstaking methods. Typical of them is our effort to get the most careful selection of the best Jamaica ginger. That's why "Canada Dry" has won the approving nod of connoisseurs the wide world over. Let it win yours.

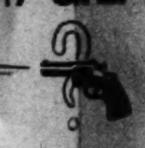
WHO KILLED TONY GILMORE



That's what everybody's asking in "Card 13," the Tribune's new serial by Luther Ford, to begin Sunday, September 22! With a cast that includes handsome Tony Gilmore, scenario writer, his young sister, Aileen, Arthur Ranleigh, well-known novelist, Dolly Brownrigg, passe picture star, and Selma Sarnoff, exotic screen vamp . . ., the stage is all set for action. And action there is, in plenty! Dolly, who once had an affair with Tony, is still devoted and is furious over Tony's interest in the siren Selma. At one of Dolly's parties Tony quarrels with Selma's fiance, Gerald Hartley, but things are smoothed over and the three . . . Tony, Selma and Hartley . . . leave in Tony's car for the moonlight swim Dolly has planned. En route Tony is shot dead in front of his Hollywood home! In solving the mystery Ranleigh falls in love with Aileen. It's a splendid plot and a splendid story . . . this new Sunday serial! Don't forget the date

Six-Cylinder Smoothness

The inherent balance of six-cylinder, valve-in-head design assures, at every speed, the smooth, velvety flow of power that distinguishes the fine automobile.

Six-Cylinder Acceleration

A non-detonating, high-compression cylinder head and automatic acceleration pump give the new Chevrolet Six remarkable acceleration.

Six-Cylinder Power

No hill is so steep or no road so difficult that the new Chevrolet Six does not easily "come through" with an abundance of reserve power still at your command.

Better than 20 Miles to the Gallon

Chevrolet engineers spent years of research and development to perfect a six-cylinder motor that delivers better than twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Beautiful Fisher Bodies

Rare beauty, smartness and comfort are provided in the Bodies by Fisher. Composite hardwood and steel construction gives them unusual strength and safety.

Remarkable Handling Ease

A full ball bearing steering mechanism, a remarkably easy gear-shift, and powerful, non-locking, four-wheel brakes enable you to drive the Chevrolet Six for hours without the slightest fatigue.

Every Modern Convenience

—including twin-beam, foot-controlled headlamps; adjustable driver's seat and VV windshield in all enclosed models; and a completely equipped instrument panel with electric motor temperature indicator and theft-proof Electrolock.

Enduring Quality

Built of the finest quality materials in the most modern precision factories, the new Chevrolet Six will serve you dependably throughout the years—with the very minimum maintenance expense.

Smart Women Put Stamp of Approval on Styles

They Are Instrumental in Getting the Newest Modes Off on the Right Foot to Success.

By Bettina Bedwell.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—(Special Correspondence.)—Paris is nominating certain fashions for the hall of fame. Some of them, poor things, are only going to have a brief, summer heyday. Others have lines that fortell a long life and great success. These are the fashions that will travel far and become as well known as a movie queen. These are the ones that interest you and me.

How do they get that way? The first essential to fame for a style is to have a proper début. A dress, a coat, a hat, or what will you, must have first of all lively and intriguing lines, and these must at the same time be put over in the most fetching manner. Paris couturiers have found that the best way to make fame for their creations is to give them the inimitable setting and delivery which only a famous woman can supply. They choose their women with the greatest care, for it is only those who are known for their taste, discrimination, and snobbish adherence to the most aristocratic clothes who can make a fashion really famous.

In the cosmopolitan society of Paris these women come from various ranks. They may be aristocrats, actresses, milliners, dollar princesses, or maybe a dressmaker, herself. That depends. These ladies, who are all too few in numbers, have a way of choosing and wearing clothes which makes them Belascoes of fashion. When one of them comes out in a new costume, no matter what couturier has made it, everybody tries to get a good look at her, just like the first nighters try to get aisle seats for the portentous pieces in the theaters. Eight times out of ten what she wears is confirmed to a state of success in chic.

Certain famous English women made the tweed suit a permanent fixture of fashion. It was the Americans who exposed our beautiful brows by making a notable fashion of the hat worn well back on the head. There are too many others to mention. Parisiennes gave to our stockinged legs the aspect of uncovered flesh—a long lived contribution to beauty and fashion, as well.

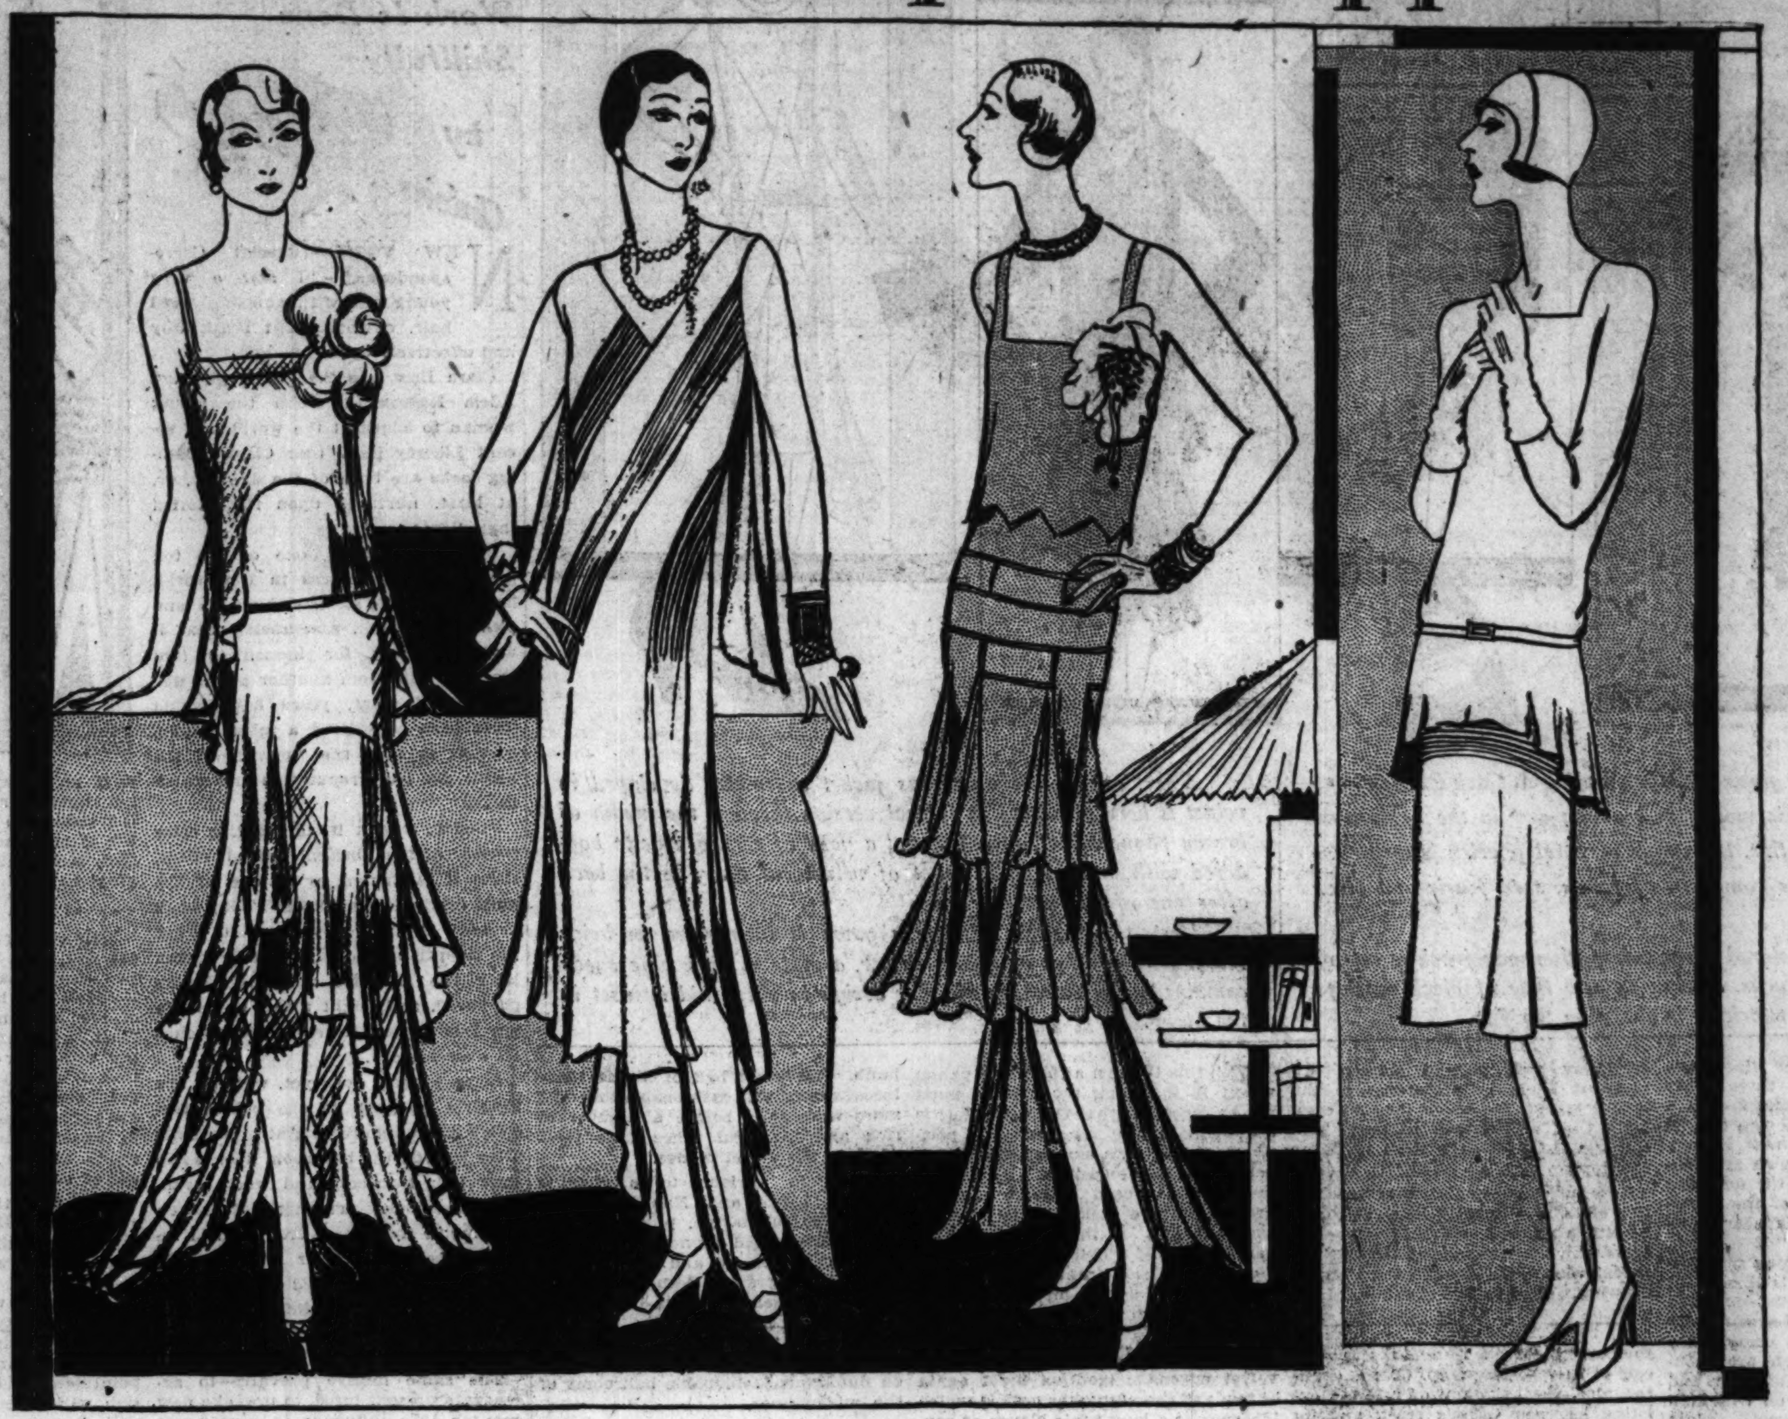
This summer the small, intrepid band of famous fashionables are giving to the world some mighty interesting modes. They have, as one woman, o. k.'d the streamline princess, siren silhouette, longer and more graceful than anything that has been seen in clothes for lo! these many moons. They approve, and give laurel leaves to, the page boy peplum—that slight flare at the waistline which so charmingly enhances a slender, graceful figure. They discard the perishable tulle and make famous coarse, but distinctive fishnet fabrics and nets. They restore the flower to its lost position at the shoulder and hip of the evening gown and, in fact, they have caused to be grown bigger and better flowers for this purpose.

These same imperious ladies have taken inches off the heels of smart daytime slippers, and reduced them to sandal and Chinese clog proportions. They have reduced the life of the printed silk fabric to a scant three months of hot weather, finding far greater distinction in plain materials for the more elegant occasions of life.

They have turned their particular backs on certain too popular exposures, refusing to accept bare back modes, even for the beach, and not at all for the summer frock. They have, in the same way, denied the chic of the exposed knee cap, wearing their skirts a good five inches below for even the most strenuous occasions. They have reversed the usual order by wearing sleeves at the dinner table and leaving 'em off in the morning. They absolutely refuse to see red, turning to blues, greens, whites, browns, blacks and yellows.

These are the women who have insisted upon the unfailing chic of the tailored suit for town, whether it be of tweed, and tuned to a temperature of sixty, or of cotton for ninety in the shade. They believe that brown has a great future, particularly in its winey and reddish tones. They hold firmly to black, leavened by white, pink or yellow. They like the brilliance of satin for the formal evening, and the lighter, more fragile fabrics for the graceful steps of the dance, and the sartorial repartee of dinner.

They wear their gloves longer, allowing them to cover at least half the forearm. They like real jewels, and the humble, semi-precious quite as well as the flashy diamond and burning ruby. They eschew fussiness and adopt femininity. They are through with the flapper two piece straight line costume, and that doesn't mean maybe.



The lovely Marquise de Polignac wears this black fishnet evening dress with its ostrich plume on shoulder that Lucien Lelong has designed. It is shown at the extreme left.

Electric blue chiffon and pin tucks are part of this Patou gown's chic. La Marquise del Merito first introduced it to smart gatherings. Sketched second.

Third, the Hon. Mrs. Reginald Fellowes chooses brown fishnet and a capucine flower as big as a pie plate, from Molyneaux.

Fourth, beige in crepe and extreme simplicity are the choice of the Princess Theodore of Russia. Designed by Lelong.

Paris Snapshots.

By Bettina Bedwell.

Smart undertones are given to the silhouette by Paris lingerie with a definite waistline, and with buttons and buttonholes supplanting the old time elastic.

The jacket that accompanies many a smart frock has embarked on a downward career, ending usually somewhere around the knees.

The flares on the smart skirt are becoming really low down, beginning these days around the knees and extending as far as the length of your skirt permits.

The smartest of sports costumes do not go in for tweed by its wild lone, but combine it with flannel or shantung.

Much chic depends on a piece of string. String lace is making many fashionable frocks.

They choose their evening dresses for the grace and allure thereof. They find that the extremely porous fish net is something just too charming for the dinner and dance frock, and numerous examples prevail. Our first figure shows Lucien Lelong's conception of the black fishnet dress. The mesh is not large enough to be coarse, but it is completely transparent so that each of the descending tiers of bolero jacket and drooping skirt can clearly be seen through the other.

A black satin slip is worn under this unusual frock which was first presented to smart gatherings by the Marquise de Polignac. Her lissome grace helped to carry it to the top wave of success and, whether the white fluff of ostrich feather on her left shoulder was Lelong's inspiration or not, it had just that touch of personality which made it her own.

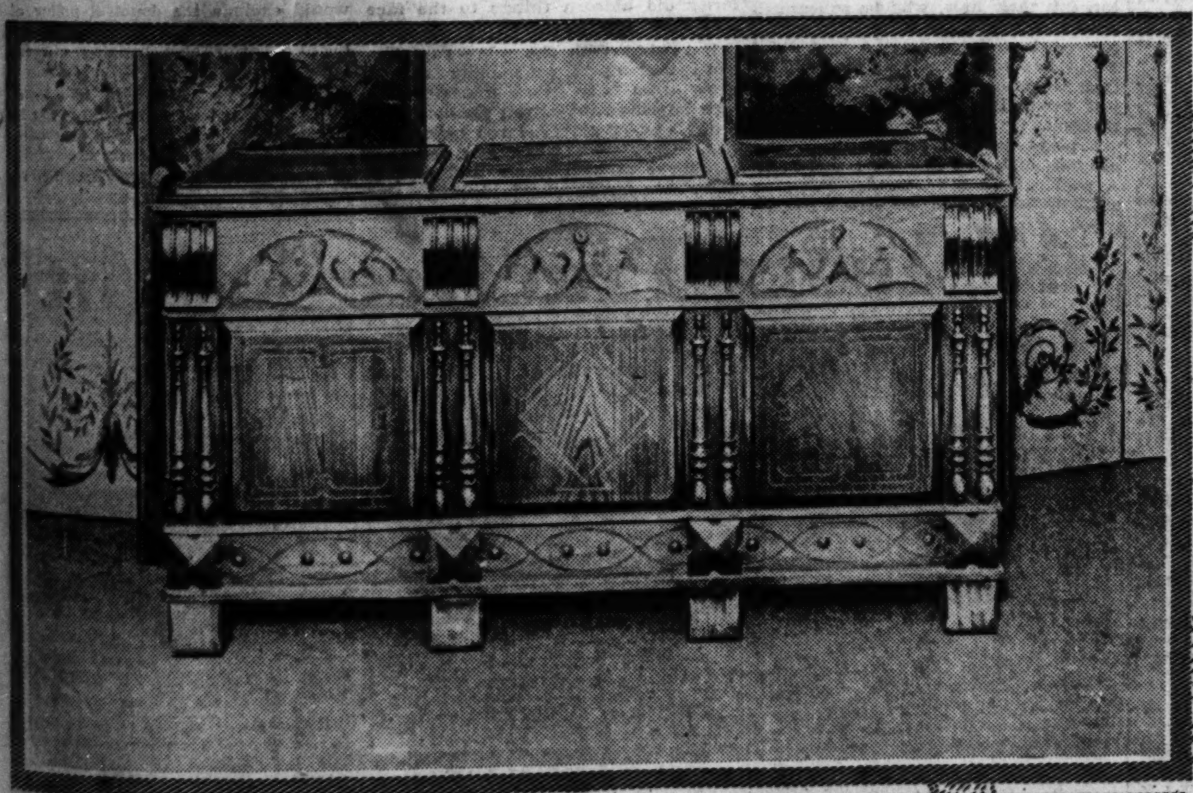
La Marquise del Merito chose a Patou model in chiffon of bright electric blue. She is shown wearing it in our second sketch. It is only a woman of rare presence and fascination that can wear a dress as simple in line as this one is, and as daring in color. The front of the dress is no more than a soft loose panel, while the back panel hangs to the floor. The fitted corsage and waist section is trimmed solely by three bands of finely stitched tucks, which run diagonally to the hips. This is the sort of dress with which jewels can be beautifully worn.

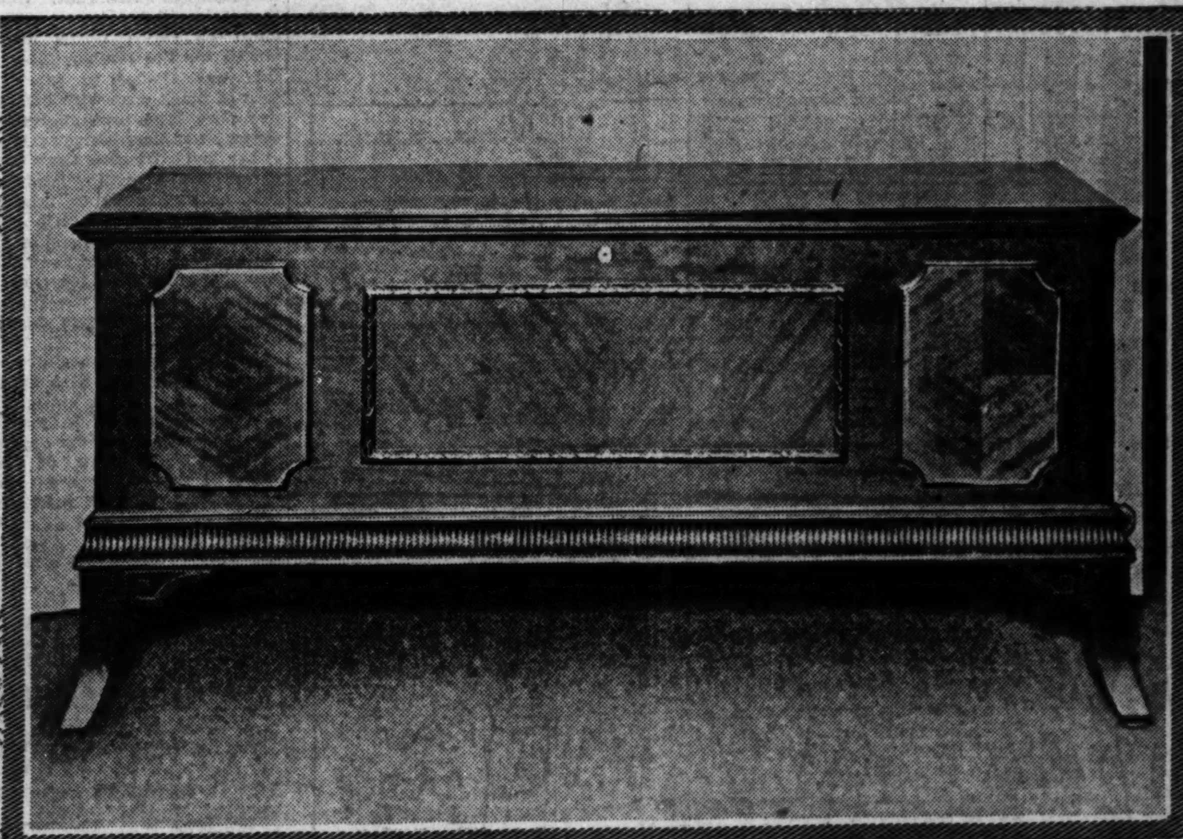
The third sketch on the page shows the Hon. Mrs. Reginald Fellowes, that unerring selector of clothes in good taste. It required the beauty and the fame of just such an internationally known and admired woman as Mrs. Fellowes to help Molyneux prove to the world that flowers as big as pie plates could enhance feminine charm. Molyneux had put one on the left side of this brown fishnet frock, tinting the petals of it in capucine shades. But it took the wisdom of a Mrs. Fellowes to carry this striking frock as if it were an every day affair.

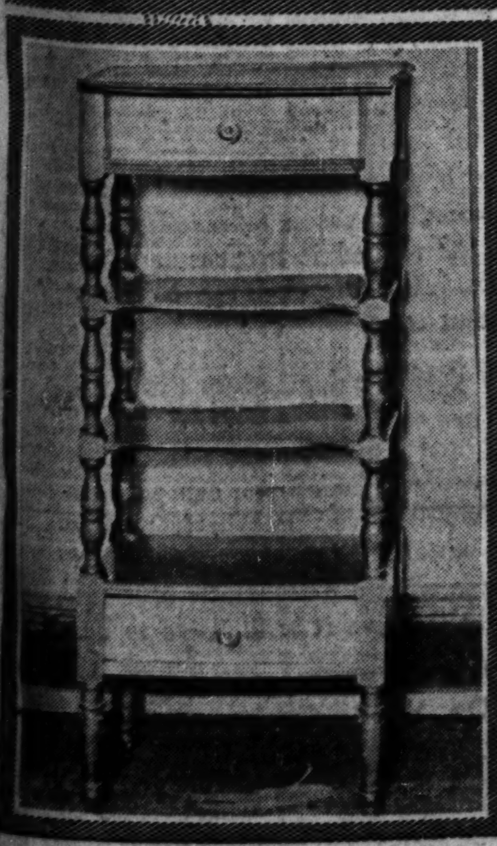
Our fourth and last figure shows the Princess Theodore of Russia wearing a Lelong street dress. It is made of beige crêpe with a series of little pin tucks around the skirt just under the bolero flare of the long blouse. Lelong's inevitable narrow leather belt in the same tone as the frock it accompanies is again evidenced here, and the smartness of the costume is accentuated by the gloves which slip on without any buttons at all and reach half way up the arm.

This dress is further proof of the fact that the greater you are, the more you realize the sterling worth of simplicity in all its forms. A neckline and a hemline that would never, all by themselves, start a sartorial revolution are here the acme of impeccable good dressing.

Chests and Tables Add Touches of Comfort







By Edith Weigle.

THE articles pictured today are the little incidentals—and not so little, either—that go to create an atmosphere of comfort in a home. Chests, a serving table, a screen, a mahogany sewing table, a comfortable chair, a satinwood magazine and book stand—they are pieces that would fit into almost any scheme of decoration with an unobtrusive air. They have that quality of homeyness that makes them appealing to the average man or woman.

Take the sewing table, for instance, that is photographed in front of an attractive screen. This convenient piece of furniture is sure to please the woman who admires quality, beauty of line and wood, and simplicity of design. It is a type that has been extremely popular in this country from revolutionary days to the present time. Indeed, it is called the Martha Washington.

The two small leaves may be extended, as shown in the picture, or dropped at the sides of the table. Notice the two drawers with their rounded fronts and the ball ornaments at either side below them. The base is also particularly artistic with its single pillar and its curving feet. A correspondent wrote me recently that she owned a little table almost exactly like this one, which came from Lincoln's old home in Springfield.

The two chests pictured today are lined with cedar. One is made of chestnut, a wood that has great possibilities and shows to advantage in a rustic atmosphere or in an English type of house. This wood has a silvery tone that is charming and this particular piece is built in the style of the Tudors.

The other chest is mahogany, with particularly graceful feet. The panel breaks the monotony of the front. This would look well in a bedroom or in an upper hall. A cedar chest is always a joy to have. Ask the woman who owns one!

The comfortable chair with the low arms is ideal for a bedroom or living room. Covered with striped moire, it has a removable down filled cushion and comes in all the popular light colors. The little ruffled flounce around the bottom gives it a feminine touch.

All of these articles were seen and photographed at the American Furniture Mart.

The lovely little magazine stand is a copy of one by Sheraton which is in the Metropolitan museum in New York. It is made of satinwood.

Another copy of a famous small table by Adam is the one next it, which combines beauty of wood with excellence of workmanship. Note the graceful fluted legs.

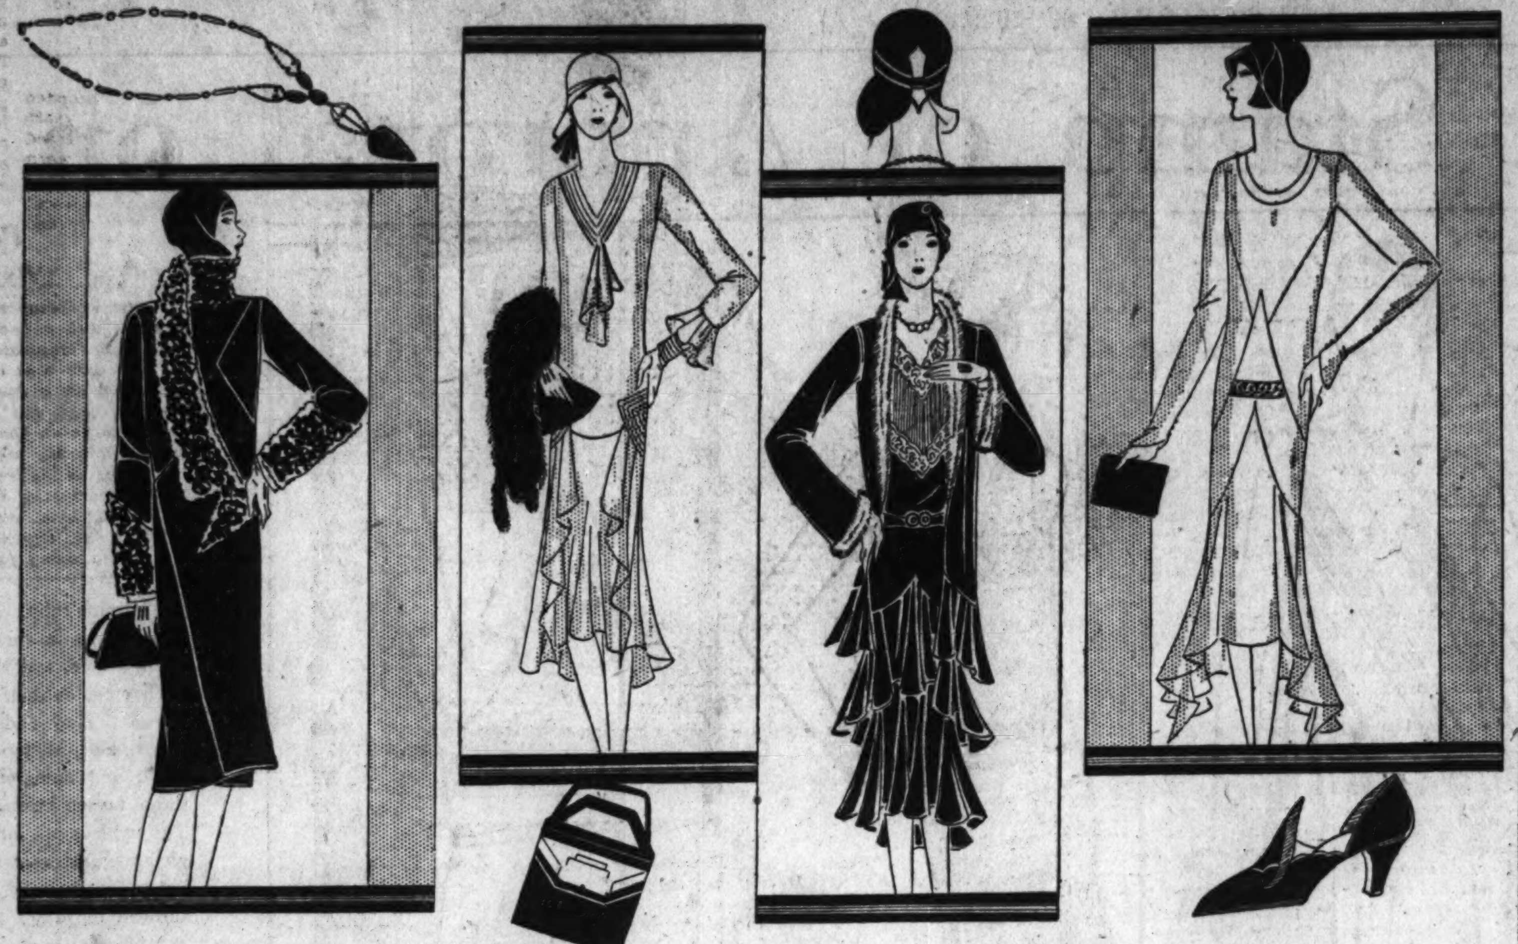
Velvet Conforms to the New Lines

Longer Skirts and Higher Waistlines Predict That the Princess Mode Is Back to Stay

By Lolita.



A coat of bottle green velvet trimmed with black Persian lamb benefits by geometric motifs in seaming and in the application of its fur. Above this, the vogue of coral jewelry is again apparent in a necklace composed of corals, seed pearls and black enamel.

Next, a plum-colored sheer velvet afternoon frock is set off with minute hand tucks. Below, a new type of black antelope bag insets a mirror matching in shape on the flap.

Next, one of the numerous jacket ensembles developed in velvet is here presented in formal version through the media of brown panne velvet, fitch fur and a yoke of ecru georgette bordered with lace. Above, a hat of velvet cut away in the back after one of the new theories.

Last, the princess afternoon gown is interpreted in beige velvet with touches of gold. Below, a mule in dark blue suede combined with matching kid. A design in silver kid is inset in the vamp.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is a great deal of back talk in the new autumn modes. One does not refer to skirt lengths only, which even in the case of certain sports frocks are emphatically pronounced in the back. One refers to the differences of opinion that exist between some of the most eminent couturiers.

As an indication of such strife, let us speak of Molyneux and Chanel. The former clings to a longer waist line and a previous brevity of skirt. Feeling that any radical change in the silhouette should be submitted to individual factors, that in other words the short waisted and long skirted mode is not becoming to many women, he has resisted the more sweeping lengths of many new skirts.

At the other end of the sartorial pole is Chanel. This eminent couturier, who has for seasons clothed many women of the haut monde, goes unreservedly with a revival of more elaborate modes. The princess—this you will find chez Chanel. Indeed, there you may locate a trend even more emphatic. Look over the autumn offerings prepared by Chanel and trace in them a definite sympathy with the modes of the First empire.

Although there are such differences of viewpoint expressed by the most famous designers of Paris, there is, nevertheless, sufficient force behind the protagonists of the new normal waisted and long skirted modes to justify saying that we have "a new silhouette." What is it? Some folks denominate it as "the long limbed silhouette." Others, with an equal talent for slogans, refer to "the romantic silhouette."

There is really no difference between the two terms. Did anybody ever claim for these penny skirts, which we have been wearing this many a day, that they were romantic? If he or she did, the claim deserved no more respect than a similar one made for a stage curtain stubbornly halted midway between the footlights and the balconies of the street scene.

Let us hail therefore the new "long limbed silhouette." Let us greet with tambour and with drum the garments which permit us to take our place—at least on a ballroom floor—with the heroines of the past. To the revived pomp of the skirt—to those blessed lengths of drapery which make the tiny woman look taller, and the woman of nigh six feet look appropriate—go up our unreserved jubilations.

With the romantic aspect of dress is linked an insistence upon more elaborate, more pictorial fabrics, of which velvet—plain, transparent, and panne—is perhaps the leading element. Of course, this is hardly a spectacular announcement. Velvet has been so closely associated with our winter season through more than three years that it has come to be accepted as a leafless tree—merely as a sign of cold weather. Even so, the new importance of panne in both gown and millinery must be taken with novelties of weave as convincing of the superinterest indicated by this year's collection.

Among the most arresting manifestations of the velvet era is the accent placed upon jacket ensembles developed in this medium. Logical heirs to the summer's jackets come these autumnal creations which are fashioned of either black or of color and which are frequently set off with telling touches of fur. Otherwise velvet registers in the autumn suit offerings as a trimming for certain crêpe ensembles with jacket complement.

Right here one is reminded that the jacket wrap of the daytime ensemble is, after all, only one symptom of a general infection. Truth to say, we have caught the idea of the short wrap for every type of wear, and to this fact the number of short, dolmanlike wraps for evening bring one more paragraph of testimony. These dolman wraps are usually made of either panne or transparent velvet, and in some cases they are reversible. Whatever be their fabric or color persuasion, their line is a benevolent one. See them topping frocks which are long skirted and indubitably trailing in the back and you understand why so many well dressed women are choosing them in preference to the longer types. Somehow they do complete the full trailing draperies and the femininity of suggestion as do no enveloping folds of velvet.

The jacket ensemble, so representative of today's interest in velvet, may be either tailored or exceedingly elaborate. To the latter group belongs the model sketched in our third large drawing. Here in this costume, so applicable to afternoon reception or concert, to all the formal afternoons of the coming season, we find the apotheosis of the shorter wrap. We encounter, also, the harmony of interest existing between today's frock and its accompanying coat.

Brown velvet has been chosen as the color and this is offered relief by touches of fitch on the jacket and by the addition of an ecru lace and georgette yoke to the frock. As will be seen, the latter is finely tucked between its bordering touches of lace. A belt of self material buckled in dull gold is placed at the normal waistline.

In the tiers of the skirt the jacket finds its fullest opportunity for complete unison, for it is finished with a flounce dipping in the back, as do those of the skirt. Indeed, its entire mood is conciliatory. Like all of the season's well bred wraps, it would fall into the same flowing lines directed by the accompanying frock.

With this is worn a turban of panne velvet in matching tone, for it must not be forgotten that the velvet hat is occupying almost as exalted a position in the autumn modes as is the velvet frock and ensemble. Sometimes the velvet is used without contrast and on other occasions it is harmonized with felt. In this instance an ornament of gold echoing the buckle appears at the side front of the crown, marking the source of a backward draping of self material terminating at the other side.

Before we have done with the formal velvet ensemble mention must again be made of the numerous models which incorporate a long tunic blouse of contrasting material as part of their development. A great number of sumptuous fabrics have been recruited for his purpose, and it is interesting to observe how many of these are inflected with metal, for the metal touch is omnipresent and is reflected in sports wear, as well as in the more formal provinces of dress. Among its manifestations is the coarse large gold mesh which Paris has utilized for both afternoon and evening creations.

Black with touches of white needs no Boswell. Every act of this alliance has been so thoroughly celebrated that we can do no more than refer to the fact that it is still as good as ever and has received new confirmation in certain black broadcloth coats trimmed with collar and cuffs of white shaved lamb. But brown has, of course, made inroads upon this fashionable tone and more than ever before a number of rich and beautiful tones take their place in the velvet modes.

Green in various tones shading through bottle and Nile to lighter tints; blue in marine, powder and a new shade called Monet; various interpretations of red and the capucine range; lavenders and deep purples—all these take their positions in the new pageant of color. Especially, however, must one allude to that deep, old fashioned plum tint which was noted on numerous fashionable ballrooms of the midsummer.

Plum is decidedly on the velvet list and is unbelievably effective in both afternoon and evening creations. Eloquent of its impingement upon the color card is our second model, an afternoon frock choosing plum colored sheer velvet as its medium. No touches of contrast are considered necessary to the success of this model. Sufficient are the draped overskirt, the groups of fine tucks accenting the hip line sleeves and decolletage, and the sleeve flounces echoing the jabot of self material.

A style expert I know has brought back with him from Paris the idea that on this side we are due to borrow a prevailing Gallicism. It is the penchant which the smart Parisienne has long displayed for the separate black coat worn over a silk frock of brilliant coloring. Red faille or blue crêpe, green surah—one may prolong the list of frock possibilities endlessly. A similar latitude may be given to the separate black coat. However, in the realm of the latter, either broadcloth or velvet forms an excellent choice for the somber outer garment.

If one wishes to carry out this idea of black coat with brilliant frock, one may turn profitably to our first sketch, for black velvet trimmed with either black Persian lamb or with the newer shaved white lamb would be just as applicable to this silhouette as is the original bottle green with trimming of black Persian lamb. So long as you preserve the adroit seaming of the garment together, and sustained geometry of the fur scarf and the gauntlet cuffs you cannot err in a translation.

For both afternoon and evening the princess line finds a desired complement in the pliable clinging folds of transparent velvet. A glance at the afternoon model in our last sketch is sufficiently assuring of this fact. Beige is the tone chosen here and it is enriched by tiny gold buttons on the fitted sleeves and by an inset belt of gold embroidery. Again you will see how firmly lodged are the geometric motifs in our autumn modes.

Coloring Hair Successfully

Dyed Locks Are Nothing to Be Ashamed Of, in This Day and Age, if the Work Is Done Skillfully

by Antoinette Donnelly

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—"I saw a very young girl with amazingly red hair, obviously but beautifully and effectively dyed."

Clara Bow was the young girl and Adela Rogers St. John the young woman to acquaint the world in a recent Liberty issue that Clara's flaming locks are born of the dye pot, or, at least, nurtured upon its colorful ingredients.

"Charlie Chaplin, one of the ten greatest news figures in the world, had the graying streaks about his temples made black, announcing that it was necessary for immediate film work." This from another public disclosure of what, years ago, would have been considered a most private matter; in fact, the "private-r," the better, for one's reputation and standing.

Foolish, wasn't it, to practice color transformation behind sealed doors, since it is known to be one of the most original of artifices? 'Way back in 4,000 B. C. they were at it. What the Egyptian gals did with hair stains, later the Hellenes and the Greeks practiced, and, right along up to the gay Louis who left great dye splotches all over history.

Some women, even yet, wait till the family's all gone to the beach, furtively mix up store bought ingredients after locking the bathroom door, swab their hair hurriedly and worse even, inexperiencedly, trusting to heaven meanwhile that the secret be held inviolate between Maker and amateur performer. Why should they feel any more delicacy about painting their hair another color than painting their lips or cheeks?

The same motive prevails—to accentuate present lures, to provoke new ones or [the influence in ninety per cent of cases] of obeisance to the current demands for youth, which cannot be ignored, speaking from the purely economic standpoint.

Business Women Do It.

I have it on reliable authority that the patrons of hair dyeing establishments are largely business women who see in their first gray hairs the handwriting on the wall. It is tragic and it is sad that this is the state of affairs, but all you have to do is to ask employment agents about gray hair prejudices and be convinced that all is not silly vanity by an overwhelming per cent of the dyed heads.

Such being the case, then, let's be honest about having the hair dyed. Consider it something to be ashamed of only when the awkward, amateur hand shows in the work. Being honest about it will forestall these amateur attempts that give dyed hair its questionable name. If two of the world's greatest box office attractions can dye their hair, why be squeamish about it? Certainly a woman trying to wrestle a living from a prejudiced world has more right to the subterfuge than one whose reason may be just a whim or a startling, added attraction.

I plead for the frankness on the grounds of better looking heads only. A poorly dyed head is just about as ugly an ornament as a woman can put upon her person. There's nothing uglier, in fact. It offers none of the youth advantages coveted. In fact, it is infinitely more ageing than gray hair.

It Pays to Have the Best.

Hair dyeing is an art. And it is an art you have to pay for. Good work you simply cannot get done cheaply. Because she hasn't eyes in the back of her head nor on the sides of the head, an amateur cannot attend to her own hair with an even distribution of the dyestuffs. Another thing: the proper choice of shade calls for an experienced eye, an eye practiced in exact matching of the original shade of hair. Herein lies the real secret of a good hair-dye.

It is true that many women have an innate desire for a shade of hair other than their own, and when a few gray hairs show up the discovery is their alibi for the desired shade. Then, other women choose a shade for its beauty rather than because of its becomingness. But if one wants to be guaranteed the least disappointment and the greatest satisfaction with dyed locks, her choice lies with her own original, natural shade of hair.

There is a current run on what is known as the white hennaed blonde. You've seen the tow headed lass, young and pretty; so young and pretty in fact, that she'd have to paint black polka dots on her face, almost, before her youthful charms could be entirely dimmed. But an older woman taking this kind of dye and putting it against her not fresh skin and her not brilliant eyes, accomplishes nothing to her beauty's credit.

Natural Color Is One to Choose.

A well known author, some little while ago, in a personal confession told of choosing the blonde dye because she believed light hair made her, at 40, look younger. But one would have to have very young skin, young eyes, young teeth, and a young figure to carry out the illusion. The brilliant red shades of earlier popularity did hideous things to the face no longer young.

But what with the more conscientious hair dyers persuading women away from false colors and woman's own improved taste, you see comparatively few of old type red monstrosities. Once in a while you see that grotesque pinkish shade that is self-advertiser for bad home dyeing. But women are learning—mostly because they are becoming more and more honest about their dyes and rinses and bleaches.

Anything you can discuss frankly and openly leads to a better understanding of the nature of things influencing it. Women have learned to makeup better because they discuss makeup without reservation, about shades to use, about the various products and how to apply them most cleverly. Maybe, later, women will acquire the same skill with hair dyes and be able to give their own treatments. But they are not ready for it yet. It is one of the things a woman simply must realize that, if begun, it is going to take money to keep up. But then money doesn't stop her in other ways in which she could economize to the advantage of her appearance.

Attention to Details.

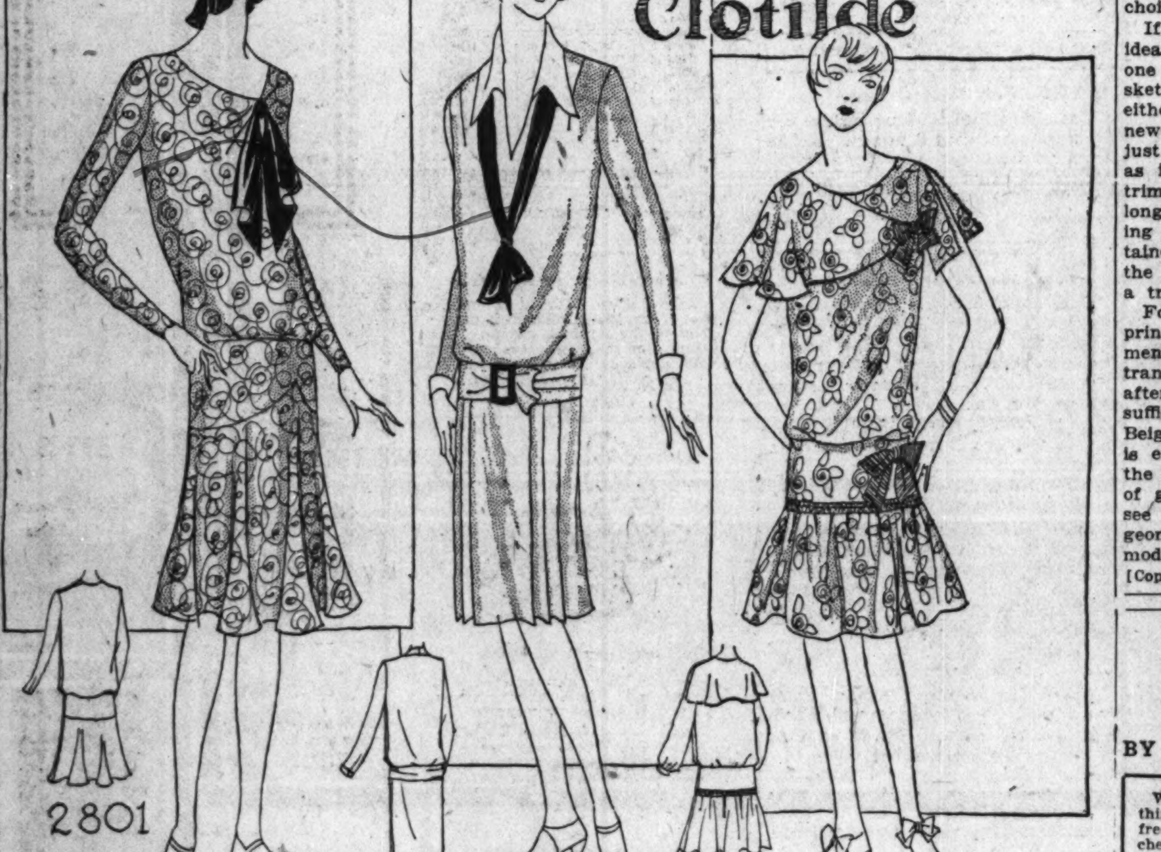
A good hair dyeing establishment will not have careless operators experimenting on their clients' heads. And negligence on the part of a professional operator can be just as destructive as crude home attempts. A good house makes it a rule to investigate the scalp thoroughly for any eruptions of pimples or scalp ailments of any kind before attempting to dye the hair.

Hair dye clients, they tell me, invariably have used hair color restorers secretly at home with resulting discoloration, brittleness, and so on. Metallic compounds used in the product have such effects. It takes an experienced person to detect the hair condition and to prescribe such pre dyeing treatment as may be necessary to accomplish a good, even dye. And of prime importance is the product.

The best one in the business will tell you that no matter how clever the hairdresser is the success of the dye application depends upon the product that is used and the dependability of the manufacturer. The trade, naturally, is more aware of the camparative virtues of dyes than the layman. And upon the hairdresser's reputation, then, the innocent must rely. This would exclude the doubtful policy of running into the first place with a beauty parlor sign hanging out for your work.

Hair dyeing, I repeat, is one of those things that, done at all, must be done awfully well, and the best operators in the houses of best reputations are none too good for so ticklish an operation.

HOW TO USE THE PATTERNS



2801—Woman's and misses' dress. Sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 40 inch material, with ¼ yard of 27 inch contrasting.

3450—Woman's and misses' dress. Sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inch bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅜ yards of 40 inch material, with ½ yard of 40 inch contrasting.

3462—Junior's dress. Sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, and 16 years. Size 8 requires 2⅜ yards of 36 inch material.

A CONSPICUOUSLY smart and slender design is shown in pattern No. 2801, and it will be most attractive made of one of the printed silk crepes. The new arrangement of the jabot frill at the end of the diagonal neckline, slipped through a bound opening and tied in a knot, creates a flattering sunburst effect. The hip yoke shows a pointed treatment, corresponding to the neckline. The all around circular skirt is cleverly shaped so as to keep the silhouette slender, with a fluttering fullness at the hem. Completing the dress are long, close fitting sleeves, having a dart up the outside from just below the elbow to the waist.

Always be careful in handling anything circular, for it doesn't take much to stretch an edge out of shape. After the dress is cut and you have put the skirt seams together, hold the skirt towards you in pinning it to the skirt yoke. Pin at each side, at the center back, and at the point in the front. You can make this a wrong side seam, overcasting the edges together; and after stitching, lay the seam towards the yoke and stitch once again from the right side, letting this stitching come about three-eighths of an inch above the seam stitching. Or you can have a right side seam and cover it with an evenly folded bias banding, stitched to the dress on each edge. Bind the bottom of the skirt, or have it picoted, which ever seems more appropriate.

Flowered sheer crêpe, plain silk crêpe, printed rayon voile, crêpe Elizabeth, crêpe de chine or wool crêpe will all be lovely for this dress.

A good many inquiries come in about preventing sleeves from twisting. Use a lapboard or table and lay the open sleeve on it, having the upper seam edge away from you. Letting the sleeve remain on the table, bring the edge next to you over to meet the other, pinning it together from the top to the elbow, and then from the elbow to the wrist. If there are gathers at the elbow see that these are arranged so that the slight fullness radiates straight across. Hold the sleeve up and see how the fold down the outside looks. If it isn't an absolutely smooth fold, release the necessary pins and shift the position of the under seam edge on the upper, so that the fold will be smooth.

If the sleeve is made with a dart, baste that together in a seam first, and see that you do not stretch it—then proceed as before. A sleeve may be too large or too small—too long or too short—but it will set smoothly if the seam or seams are put together properly.

Pattern No. 3462 is for a dainty, chic frock for young girls who like grown-up fashions. The skirt and waist are cut separately and the skirt is finished at the top with several rows of shirring. This shirred edge is set on to a hip yoke that fits quite perfectly. Capes, collars, berthas, etc., are very much in vogue just now, so that the collar to this dress emphasizes the fact of its being up-to-the-minute. The collar is irregular in shape, taking a diagonal line at the front where it fastens with a pert bow. The pattern provides for long or short sleeves, and is suitable for wool crêpe, crêpe de chine, voile and challis. This last named material is very nice for the classroom, as it launders perfectly.

Pattern No. 3,450 is for a dress that will be especially becoming to the woman who is inclined to be over weight. The wide girdle gives a tight hip effect, while the plaits at either side of the front of the skirt lend a panel effect to the front; and without disturbing the straight line these plaits ripple at each movement of the wearer. For novelty and chic, a scarf tie completes the youthful neckline with a turn-over collar. The sleeves are full length, close fitting and finished at the wrists with turned back cuffs. The entire dress will be pretty made of one color and material, although something contrasting could be used with good effect. Silk crêpe, crêpe satin and sheer woolens are suggested.

Answers to Beauty Queries

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What's your beauty ill? Too fat? Too thin? Shy on hair? Oily hair, oily skin, freckles, pimples, or blackheads? Flat-chested or flat-footed? Write to me. I have a tonic, a diet, or a set of exercises for what ails you, and you're welcome to them and to all the advice I can give you. If you wish a personal reply send a stamped, addressed envelope. Address Antoinette Donnelly, The Tribune, Chicago.

P. W.: HERE IS A LOTION FOR oily skin: Orange flower water, 6 ounces; tincture of benzoin, half ounce; witch hazel, 2 ounces. Mix the witch hazel and orange flower water, shake it lightly and add the tincture of benzoin. Apply with absorbent cotton both night and morning.

L. G.: FOR CALLUSES, SOAK the feet in hot water for half an hour each night before going to bed. This softens the spots. Then rub with a piece of pumice stone to take off the hard skin. Apply vaseline or cold cream to the spots during the day to soften them. Send a stamped addressed envelope for my leaflet on the feet.

M. N.: HERE IS AN EXERCISE for reducing ankles: Suspend a pillow in the doorway on a level with your shoulders. Stand back about two feet and kick the pillow—first with one foot, then the other. Be sure to kick hard. Gradually increase the height of the pillow. Other exercises may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative!

He prescribed a certain mixture of laxative herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in numerous cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. And the children liked its pleasant taste.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that Dr. Caldwell permitted it to be bottled and sold by drug stores. Today you can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drug store in the world. Get a bottle and see what a delightfully efficient family laxative it will prove to be.

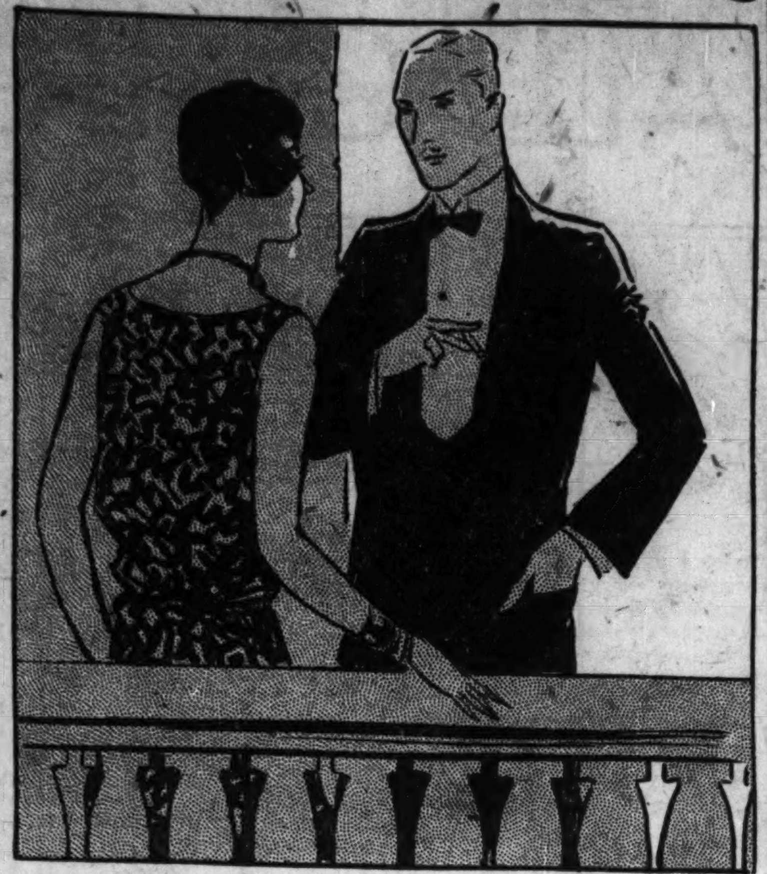
Smartness Goes Begging

The Clever Girl Who Can Talk a Blue Streak About Anything, but Who Hates to Listen, Often Lacks an Audience of One

By Doris Blake



"WHAT'S the matter with me, Bill?" a 20 year old asked a boy she'd known for years. "Tell me the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but! I'll take it standing."

"All right," Bill responded, "I'll tell you. You're too darned smart."

The girl told the story on herself. She told it two years later when a friend of hers, 19, put the identical question to her that wrung the truth from Bill. The 19 year old was suffering similar ostracism, and for a similar reason.

"Too darned smart!" said the girl Bill so frankly censored. "It takes some living to find out that you have to play yourself down, not up, with boys. I lost a few good years. Not much time, though, since Bill told me when to get off.

"Just try to sell that cocksure, smartalecky stuff to the boy friends and you eat, when you eat, ALONE."

Juanita's Complaint.

The incident occurred to me with the reading of Juanita's letter. Juanita tells of her interest in sports. She goes to tanks in winter and to beaches in summer. She plays golf. She makes a stab at tennis, and thoroughly enjoys the exercise she gets out of it all.

She sees nearly every movie and show in town. She reads all the new fiction and doesn't forget to mix in a few good old books with them. She knows the difference between a dime novel and a novel that is beautifully written. So she can talk intelligently, and if she does say so herself, she has an unusually good line.

"But, do I see any males flocking after me? Lykell I do," she says. "I worked for two years. Did I meet any men—good, bad or indifferent? Lykell! The office was full of females. The only man in the place was the president and he was married and old enough to have grandchildren."

Juanita went through high school. After that, she picked out a university that has 20 men to every woman. "In an entire year all I managed to interest was a Filipino, and I never went out with him. I did make a slight impression on a medical student, but his intentions proved anything but honorable, so I dropped him."

"As far as conversation is concerned," says Juanita, disclosing her weak suit, "why should I be expected to gush over everything that a man says, just because he is a male? I can't see why I should sit in open mouthed wonder at a story that sounds like a Grimm's fairy tale just because the teller of the story happens to be a man.

"In conclusion, I'd like to remark that the girls I know that have the husbands—well—well—well! They may be interesting to their husbands, but they do seem duds to me."

Not So Smart.

Instead of offering Bill's reform censure, I might suggest instead to my correspondent that she isn't so smart. Not so smart! Not half so smart as she thinks she is. And really and truly, not so smart as the "dud" wives referred to.

A girl is not expected to gush over everything a man says just because he is a male. Neither is she supposed to sit in open mouthed wonder at a story that sounds like a Grimm's fairy tale. But when a young woman has the attitude of mind toward the opposite sex that provokes such remarks from her, you know, without guessing, that she wants the speaker's chair. She wants the gushing over everything she says and she wants her Grimm fairy tales listened to with wide open ears if not with open mouthed attention. And that's not so bright. It isn't bright when the listener happens to be one of her own sex, even, because it is missing an excellent opportunity to learn from the other fellow.

Nor is it so awfully clever to classify wives as duds, a common enough disposition of the female of the married species by the slightly disappointed because she is an unappreciated single one. All wives are not brilliant. All wives are not interesting. Neither are they all duds. But they have this claim to distinction over their critic—they succeeded in making one man, at least, believe they were interesting enough and smart enough to take on for life. And that little fact might be digested slowly between bites into the new and the old fiction by little girls like Juanita.

They Must Know Something.

There's some information they got from somewhere about being attractive to the opposite sex, indicating, at least, that they're not so dumb. And I don't know but girls like Juanita might take a brief course of study with them, to their advantage.

One of the dud wives, indeed, might just be tactless enough to say: "You are too darned smart, Juanita. That's your trouble. You know it all from Hollywood to Broadway, from potboiler to Carlyle, but maybe we could tell you quite a few things you don't know—even about the screen and stage. And maybe the boys could tell you things about science, war, history, sports you never dreamed of.

"Maybe one of them has a Grimm's fairy tale that will come true for him in the airplane invention he is working on. Maybe another one foresees his hand in improved sound projections in connection with the radio or film industry. Of course, you have no idea what contributions to the world's advancement are being nursed in a youth's brain when you won't sit open mouthed and eager to learn."

The smart men of affairs are not notorious for their garrulousness. In fact, they constitute the body of our best listeners. They bring intelligence to bear upon their listening, a privilege extended to our modern young women in the presence of modern young men. But they neither disconcert nor overpower their audience by a demonstration of their own greater ability. That is not the way to draw people out, nor to warm them up, nor to have them like you and give the best that is in them.

What Your Birth Date Means

By Nathalie Aldrich.

PERSONS born between Nov. 28 and Dec. 22 of any year come under the astrological sign of Sagittarius, the archer. It is a dual, fortunate sign, with higher attributes of love and introspection, corresponding in numerology to the number 9.

Such persons are sympathetic, energetic, enthusiastic, genial, happy, even jovial. Like all 9 people, they like everything on a large scale. They can aim and actually hit the mark, like good archers. With this characteristic goes a gift of prophecy, an ability to foretell from the beginning of an enterprise its outcome. When following their own inspiration they seldom make mistakes, while they are almost certain to go astray if they rely upon the advice of others.

A December or Sagittarius person is born busy and keeps busy under all conditions. He likes to finish one thing before commencing another. Neatness and order are characteristic of him and he is ordinarily careful in money matters. One will seldom find a Sagittarian without money. Their talents are so many and so varied that they seem able to earn while, or where, others waste.

December-January.

Those born on or between Dec. 21 and Dec. 27 in any year have a mixture of the December [Sagittarius] and January [Capricorn] traits. From a numerological standpoint they are a combination of the numbers 9 and 10.

These people are, as a rule, happier than the Capricorners, and the social and intellectual ambition of the latter is modified by the more spiritual and the domestic attributes of Sagittarius. Among them are found fine thinkers and workers. They are, as a whole, just, exact, methodical, and efficient in all they undertake whether they like it or not. As teachers of the young they are especially inspired, being more fond of children than the usual Capricorn or January person, who is inclined to expect them to be always on good behavior.

People of this month are keen observers and fine critics, more just and kindly in criticism than either the Sagittarian or the Capricorner. They are always lovers of music and many are musically gifted. They demand the best of everything from life and seem able to attract the good things to themselves. They do not fall in love easily and when they marry it is usually because of true affection. And they are good dancers and the best of traveling companions.

January.

Any one born between Dec. 27 and Jan. 20 is astrologically under the sign known as Capricorn, the goat. The characteristics of it numerologically belong to the number 10. The higher gifts or especial possibilities of this birth time are absorption and inspiration.

If you were born in any year on one of these days you have an insatiable respect and desire for intellectual knowledge and growth. If anything, you will have too deep a respect for intellect. You are independent, forceful in bearing, executive in type, with much ingenuity and fine organizing ability; an indefatigable worker, you often tire yourself out by trying to do too many things at one time.

It is a sign of solitude and meditation, characteristics of the number 10, and it makes its subjects deep thinkers, leaders, writers, and teachers. Its members are the most brilliant and the most depressed of any people. When jolly you are very jolly, when depressed you are extremely so. You can be, and usually are, kind hearted, loyal, and secretive, and your promises are sacredly kept.

It is important for a Capricorn person to have a good business education, for he is adapted to carrying out large projects, and has unusual continuity.

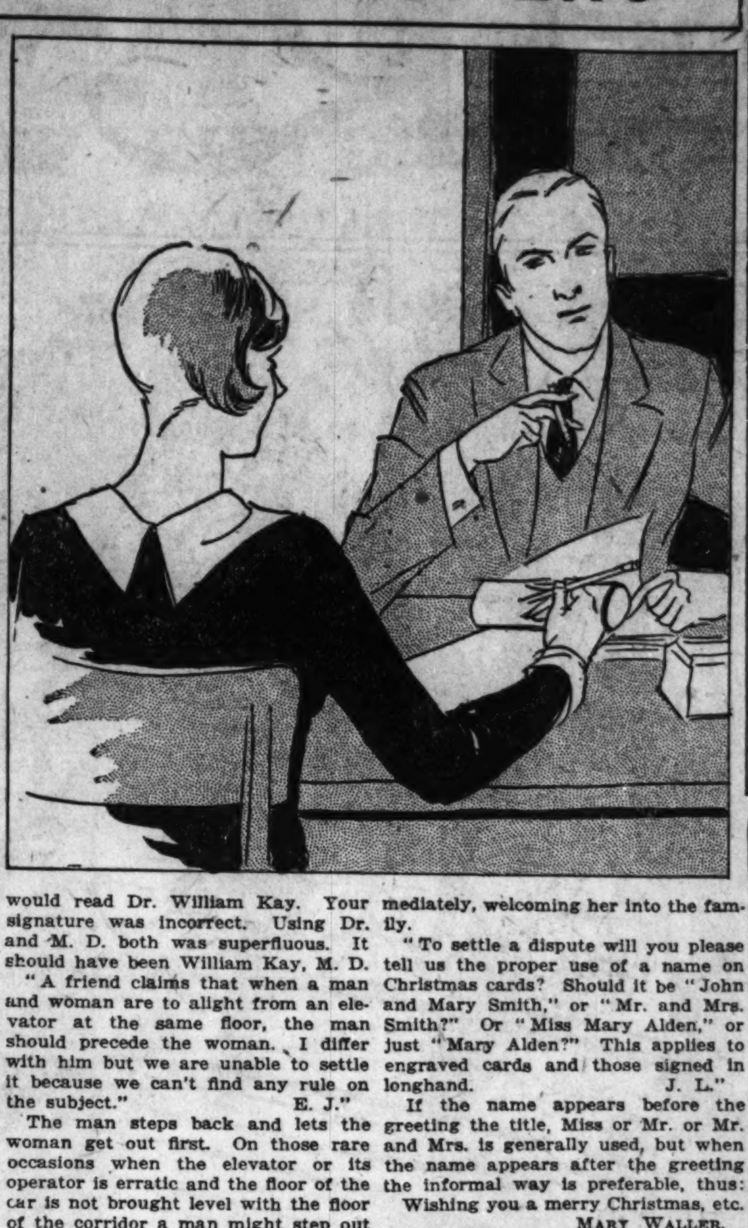
Good Manners in Business Put Contacts on the Right Plane

It is the aim of this department to serve as a practical guide in problems of every day etiquette. Self-addressed, stamped envelope must accompany each request for information. Send your letters to Miss Helen Bartlett, Sunday Department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.



BY HELEN BARTLETT.

ONE of the tragedies of the age is the prevalent notion that good manners are essential only in our social life; they are donned and doffed, so to speak, with our go-to-meeting clothes.

Proof of the fact that courtesy, or etiquette, is a necessary attribute in all aspects of life can be found in a letter to this department from the head of a large business organization. The writer is aghast at the lack of even the most elementary expressions of courtesy in business. This man hasn't a complex on the subject; he isn't one who puts too much emphasis on courtly conduct, he is merely one of those well-bred presons who feel that manners are important in making contact with others an enjoyable and well balanced business. He finds, he says, that young people in business feel that to be civil is to be servile.

He asks that I give some do's and don't's to young persons in offices, and to older ones, too, for that matter. Here they are:

To begin at the root of the matter, and to repeat what has probably been said a thousand times before: Be considerate. Consideration, in an office, wouldn't mean running about getting foot stools for the women, or in placing their chairs, or bringing them apples. It needn't take that empty and silly form. Be considerate in those every day, casual contacts that fill your day. Don't scream into the telephone—that is anything but considerate both to your listener and those who must be in an office with you. Don't slam doors; don't push into elevators or out of doors, almost trampling those around you; don't be rude to those bewildered persons who come seeking information; don't gossip about your boss or your co-workers. Behave politely, dress demurely, do your work and you'll be the perfect office worker. You'll be indispensable.

Treat the office boy with as much sensible politeness as you would the president of the firm. Only the ignorant express feeling of superiority by arrogance toward those in less exalted positions. When an older member of the firm stops at your desk to talk, stand up; when you can disentagle a difficulty for some one else, do it. It is the simplest form of consideration and decency to others.

Business officers are to be treated with sensible deference. Fawning and yes-ing is revolting, but their position demands courtesy and willingness at all times in the office. Girls should treat them with pleasant formality, even if there is little difference between them in age. Flapperism in the office is not to be borne; coquettishness is despicable.

Answers to Etiquette Questions.

"How does a doctor sign letters? How are letters addressed to him? How would his name appear on formal invitations or announcements? Is my signature to this letter correct?

"DR. W. KAY, M. D."

The doctor's signature would be William Kay, M. D. Letters are addressed to him as William Kay, M. D. or Dr. William Kay. On formal invitations or announcements his name would read Dr. William Kay. Your signature was incorrect. Using Dr. and M. D. both was superfluous. It should have been William Kay, M. D.

"A friend claims that when a man and woman are to alight from an elevator at the same floor, the man should precede the woman. I differ with him but we are unable to settle it because we can't find any rule on the subject."

E. J."

The man steps back and lets the woman get out first. On those rare occasions when the elevator or its operator is erratic and the floor of the car is not brought level with the floor of the corridor a man might step out first to assist the woman if there was a large gap of space that might be considered risky. Otherwise not.

An Introduction Puzzler.

"What is the proper form for a man to use when presenting his wife to another man? Should he speak of her as "my wife" or "Mrs. So and so," or use her first name? Sometimes it is necessary to let it be known that she is his wife.

"AN INTERESTED READER."

Before he brings the man up to be introduced, out of his wife's hearing, the husband could say, "I want you to meet my wife." To his wife he would say, "Marie, this is Mr. Jones," and turning to Mr. Jones say with a changed inflection, "Mrs. Smith." Or he could say "Marie, this is Mr. Jones; my wife."

"In addressing a letter to the older of two people who bear the same name is it not proper to write "Sr." after the name?

J. B."

Never. The elder has a right to the name. Only the younger need be distinguished. "Jr." is written after his name.

Engagement Procedure.

"Which of the two families makes the first call on learning of the engagement of two young people?"

"MRS. K. H."

The groom's parents call immediately on the parents of the bride, who return the call immediately. The man's family writes to the girl's family if because of distance, calls are out of the question. The man's mother should write to the girl immediately, welcoming her into the family.

"To settle a dispute will you please tell us the proper use of a name on Christmas cards? Should it be "John and Mary Smith," or "Mr. and Mrs. Smith?" Or "Miss Mary Alden," or just "Mary Alden?" This applies to engraved cards and those signed in longhand.

J. L."

If the name appears before the greeting the title, Miss or Mr. or Mr. and Mrs. is generally used, but when the name appears after the greeting the informal way is preferable, thus:

Wishing you a merry Christmas, etc.
MARY WALLER.

In the Feminine Realm

More than 400,000 women and girls in Vienna, Austria, earn their own living.

Forty-one per cent of passenger automobiles sold in the United States are purchased by women.

The legal marriage age for women in Egypt is now 16. In the past a girl could be married at the age of 11.

Despite the operation of the divorce mill in Reno., Nev., marriages exceeded dissolutions by 1,573 in the state last year.

Since the Barbara Fritchie museum was opened at Frederick, Md., on May 3, 1927, it has been visited by 60,000 people.

The first woman to become a member of a police force in Jugo-Slavia is Miss Milana Illitch. She is attached to the Belgrade prefecture.

In Russia, women are now employed in offices, in government departments, and in the law courts as lawyers and often as judges.

The only woman dentist in Shanghai, China, is Dr. Antonia Kazimiroff, a Russian, who fled St. Petersburg when the Bolsheviks overthrew the czar.

The first cotton bloom to be shown in Mississippi is credited to Mrs. Lillian R. Thompson, owner and operator of a large plantation in Marshall county.

Mrs. Ruth Shipley is now serving as chief of the passport division of the United States state department. This year she is supervising the issuance of 195,000 passports.

After 20 years of seclusion without having left the convent grounds, the nuns of Princethorped Priory, Rugby, England, went to the polls and voted in the recent election.

Women hold the important official positions in Johnson, Kas. The sheriff of the county, registrar of deeds, county treasurer, superintendent of schools, and newspaper editor all are women.

At least 75 per cent of the rag-pickers in Paris are women, who are often controlled by a "boss," usually a woman who has herself grown rich from the rakings of ash-cans and has established a monopoly.

Although foot binding is still prevalent in the rural regions of China, the Chinese club women are doing all they can to abolish the practice. An anti-opium campaign also occupies the new women of the republic.

Doris Blake's Answers to Love Problems

Have you a perplexing love affair on which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care The Tribune, Chicago. If you wish a personal reply please send a stamped, addressed envelope.

Mother Knows Best.

"Dear Miss Blake: I go with a boy who my mother said is stingy. All he does is go walking. WORRIED."

Mother is usually correct. One who wants to monopolize a girl's time and do nothing in return can't be classed as generous.

No Evidence of Fondness.

"Dear Miss Blake: I met a fellow to whom I took a liking, but never heard from him since. How can I renew his acquaintance? BETTY."

He has shown no evidence of his fondness for you, Betty. Don't you think he would have called you or come to see you if you had made an impression?

Tell Him Frankly.

"Dear Miss Blake: I know my boy friend likes me, but when he calls he talks about other girls. What can I do? BLONDE."

Tell him frankly you don't want to hear about his other girls.

Save Your Gifts.

"Dear Miss Blake: Would it be right to give a monogrammed handkerchief to an old boy friend of mine if I am engaged to another fellow?

"THELMA."

If you're engaged save your gifts for your fiance.

Best Parties

Tell us about the nicest party you ever attended and we'll pay $1 for each letter printed. Address Parties, Chicago Tribune.

A Two-faced Party.

The nicest party I ever attended was a two-faced affair many years ago. The club members came dressed to conform with type of masque worn on the back of their heads.

Included were a gypsy, several squaws, very fat baby, witches, and other comical faces.

A comical little hat or scarf was worn throughout the evening. The gypsy sang a gypsy love song and was accompanied by the fat baby.

There was dancing, too, and many preferred to watch those who did dances as it was indeed amusing.

Refreshments were served at midnight and all agreed it was a most successful party. M. C. W.

A Unique Surprise.

The most unique and joyful party I have ever attended was a surprise party given for a recent graduate from evening high school by her sister. When the nine guests arrived each one was told to don a schoolgirl costume provided for her. This consisted of gingham apron, hair ribbon and socks. After becoming schoolchildren again, we were ushered into a schoolroom by Principal Claptrap, garbed in ankle length skirt and severe waist, and were told to sit down, according to the alphabet in back of a long board extending across the room, and serving as our desks.

Huge signs adorned the wall: "Don't whisper, shout," "Veni, vidi, vici," "Park your chewing gum here," and others equally foolish. In front of the room was a desk with bell on it, to the left was a dunce's stool and huge red cap. Needless to say, it was very much occupied that evening.

We had three teachers, one with huge tin ears, and all dressed outlandishly. After the guest of honor had arrived and been overwhelmed by the sight of both teachers and pupils, examinations began. We were tested in oral and written arithmetic by one teacher, Miss Bunkem, in drawing and composition by another, Miss Varicose. Merit was rewarded by huge gold stars pasted to the winners' aprons. Recess was then announced. Rubber balls, jacks, apples, candy and gum—some sticks were rubber—were passed around. Next came an old fashioned spell down and recitations in poetry. Shades of our English teachers, the variety of subjects chosen! Miss Camouflage conducted this exam.

Finally the principal modestly announced that since we knew everything in the world now we were ready to graduate. We each received a diploma, a gaily painted tin box with two handles, containing an enameled cup, tin spoon, cup cake, sandwiches, pickles and olives. We were also given a spray of cloth flowers from some imaginary relative. Out in the auditorium—the dining room—coffee was poured into our cups from thermos bottles and as we ate and drank a few gifts were presented to the sweet girl graduate, who happily opened them and passed them around.

As we bade each other good-night we all agreed that it was the best party we had ever attended.

A. E. B.

A Housewarming Party.

A friend of mine who had built a new home in the suburbs sent out invitations to a housewarming party, requesting my presence "at the lighting of the hearth fire." After all of the guests had arrived, the host and hostess proceeded to take us through the new home, and with all pomp and ceremony stopped in the library and "lit the fire."

Toward the end of the evening we were escorted to the dining room for delicious refreshments, the place cards consisting of small kodak pictures of the new home. After the last course the host and hostess were presented with a shower of useful gifts from the guests.

The last room to visit before we took our departure was the music room. The piano was opened up and all joined in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "Home, Sweet Home." J. R.

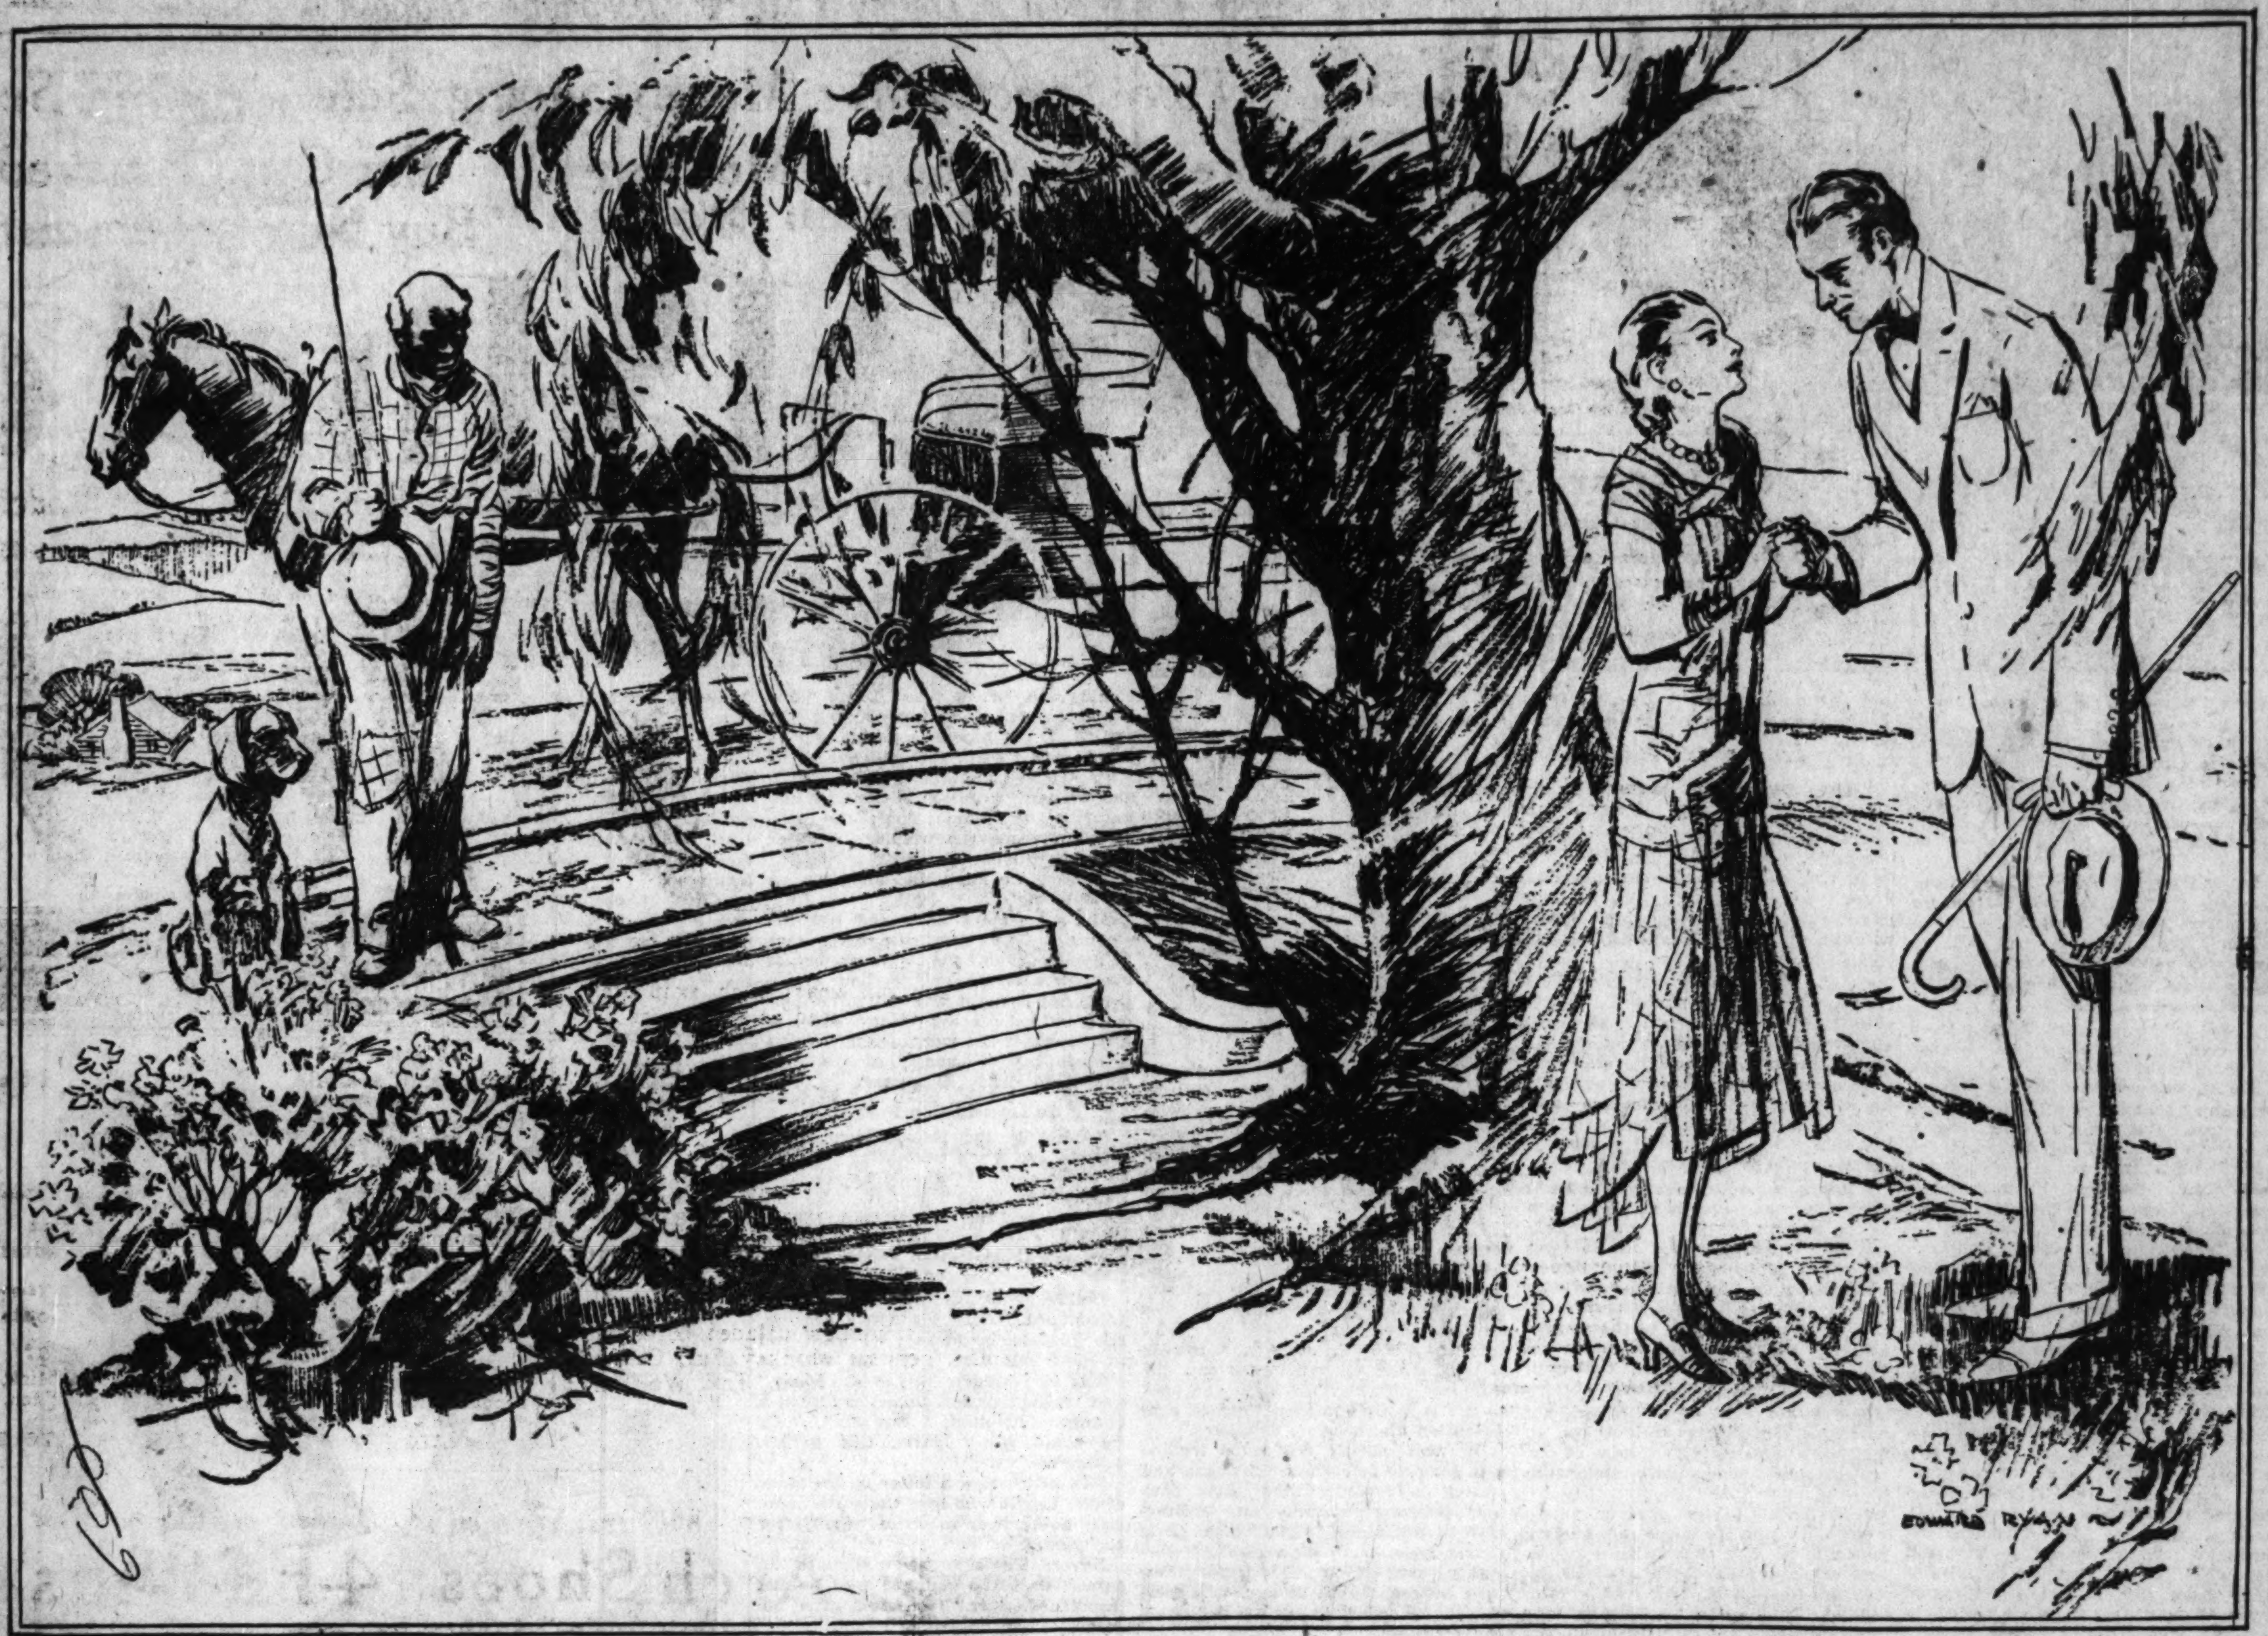
MIDAIR by WALLACE IRWIN

Joan's Had Been a Loveless Marriage. George Wharton Grew Rich, died of a Long Dull Illness. Then "Baron" Igor Petrovsky Gave Her the One Perfect Month of Her Life—and Vanished with $30,000



She forgot everything but her desire to pour her life blood at his feet.

ON THE station platform all the time that Joan was fondling her son's hand, talking brightly, her thoughts were saying: "Dear Johnnie! Now your'e in business you're seldom home. And I hoped you'd spend your vacation with me. Sweet boy, you say we're like brother and sister. You know we're not. You don't really want me to go with you. You've been bluffing, so I won't feel badly. Why should I go with you? You're young. I'm old. I say I want you to be happy and marry that girl. That's a bluff, too. Wonderful boy! Two years out of college and doing so well. But sometimes you talk like your father. That bores me. O, my Johnnie, don't grow into another George."

But her light lips said, "You'll have so much better time without me, dear. I'd feel lost."

"Mom, you give me a pain." Thus the commanding Johnnie. "You're the prettiest girl I know."

"Shall I wire Bee what you said?" Laughing. "But she's an exception, isn't she, Johnnie?" Passengers were gathering, the Whitmans' chauffeur brought up sporting paraphernalia. In haste Joan asked, "Have you fixed it, you two?"

"I'll fix it this trip." Definitely, George's way. Then flushing, not at all like George. "Isn't she wonderful!"

"She shows brains to like you," said Joan.

"She's got those all right. That's why she's different, Mom. No nonsense about Bee." Like George, that remark.

"Johnnie——" Joan had taken his lapels and was looking up with shining eyes. "Promise me one thing."

"Sure."

"Let her have just a little nonsense, Johnnie."

"O, that's easy to get." He kissed her. "I hate to think of you alone in the house." The train was coming in.

"Don't worry. I won't be in the house very long."

"What?" But the conductor was shouting. Joan pushed her son aboard. She felt sure she was crying. Not in her eyes—her heart, maybe. Selfish of her to begrudge one hour of happiness to Johnnie's vacation. He was having youth. That was it. Having the youth which life had never granted her.

JOAN went down to her car and was let in by a chauffeur whose every perfect button twinkled an assurance that Johnnie's inherited ability would never let the estate go to the dogs. But today this brought no comfort. She was fighting resentment and a new fear. An infallible specialist, she felt, had just condemned her to old age; capacity for enjoyment withering. And she had missed so much. Her girlhood had been spent with an invalid mother; marriage with George Whitman had been no release. Dear, conventional minded George had grown rich in a long, dull business and died of a long, dull ailment.

She wasn't going to stay alone in that house. Not for another day. The dream that had flashed over just now, kissing her son good-by, returned clearly. What was the name of that queer little Arcadia? Lady Springs! A rather shabby pillared hotel on a Virginia mountain—so many, many years ago, and she only a girl. Romance had brushed her like the flick of a bird's wing. She recalled brief days of freedom; by moonlight on the small, winding lake you could hear the plop of oars, the distant beat of dance music. Again she thought of the pale young biology instructor from Cornell, their walks along the shore, his talks of expeditions into enchanted countries. Joan would have died to follow him—until he spoke of his wife. Then a conventional girl accepted George Whitman's proposal, which had come by special delivery.

Today, driving smugly along a rich country road, she remembered Lady Springs with eagerness. True, she had become engaged to George there. But behind that accident she felt the reverberation of a moment's ecstacy on which she might have thrown herself away. "I was so pretty then," she thought.

"What a dingy old thing I'm getting to be!" She had taken a mirror from its case, and was regarding herself when her chauffeur opened the door at the handsome arrangement of brick and stone which, she now felt, stood as the reward of a loveless marriage. Vaguely she gazed across an emerald lawn, faintly she breathed the scent of flowering shrubs. Perfume blown out of the past. Lady Lake. How long had she been young there? A dozen days?

Lady Lake's flattering photograph appears in the Fifth avenue buses now. A syndicate, owning many resorts in many places, has demolished the old fire-trap and supplanted it with something architecturally colonial. It has been landscape gardened. Therapaths, hydropaths, osteopaths operate variously in a small Grecian temple beside the crystal water where athletic gods do jackknife dives and make love in the standardized manner. Lady Lake has lost its accidental charm; there are no unexplored corners.

Mrs. Whitman's arrival there had all the secretive quality of a circus parade. The hotel's press agent tried to interview her for a syndicated column. She was photographed. Joan wrote to Johnnie, satirizing the brave modernism of the place and adding, "You'd love it here." Herself, she was feeling at least ten years her senior, beginning to wonder if the hydropaths and kindred witch doctors would restore her vitality. Being the very rich Mrs. Whitman, she was pursued by casual friends, forced into stupefying bridge games. Worse, Miss Henrietta Wiley, a spinster whose mole starred face explained her virginity, chose Joan. The choice was violently one-sided and drove Joan to lonely rambles among the hills, where she often threatened to break the bargain with herself, pack, and go home.

All her thoughts were turning inward; if they broadened beyond her own horizon they dwelt on middle age. She had read that American women beyond forty are restless, nomadic, always on a pilgrimage toward nothing. And Joan, after forty—how would she behave—Johnnie married, domestic interests gone? She had been so sheltered; not by a green bay tree, but by the hard rock that was George.

"I don't know anything," she confessed on one of her solitary walks. That morning the woods had been sensuously beautiful. But she thought on, "Even now I can't balance my accounts unless Johnnie helps. George kept me in a harem. Undeveloped. Un——"

A great blue boulder was looming out of the forest; garlanded with vines at its base she saw it, studied the face of a half remembered friend. The hotel management had stuck up a sign, "Observation Rock." Label everything! That was her spiteful thought, and she could have spurned the placard with her foot.

Something like yesterday she had been on the brow of that old blue rock—so many years ago! He and she alone had known its winding approach through the tangly wood. Joan, middle aged and thoughtful, remembered his pale face under the moon, his eyes black and glowing. "Go back to your mother, Joan." The harsh tone still clutched her. "Don't remember me. Don't remember anything, understand?" He had almost dragged her to her feet. Down the trail she had followed, obedient as a squaw.

"Foolish old hen!" said Mrs. George De Kolb Whitman today, mentioning herself. But she climbed reminiscently up the rock and perched there. Observation Rock. The name lost its distaste for her. Certainly, in its time, it had shown her vistas.

A RIFFLE in the foliage and she looked down to see a man sketching on a small pad. She had an impression of a gentle, rather Mongolian face, burning gray eyes, dark hair. A noble head, she thought. His sudden appearance, his shabby clothes, might have frightened her; but the apparition seemed normal as leaves on the trees. Then he looked up without embarrassment.

"Ah, madame!" He was tall, distinguished. "I did not know——"

"This isn't my rock." She laughed at his proud apology.

"No. It is the hotel's." With the throatiness of an educated Russian. "I do not belong to the hotel, unfortunately."

She was getting down. "May I help you? It's a bit steep." He held out a fine hand, a well bred gesture. After the leap she said, a little confused, "You don't have to belong to the hotel—I mean there's no law against drawing pictures."

He ripped a page from his pad, tore it into shreds, let the fragments flutter away like small white butterflies. A youthful gesture, it set her wondering about his age. Under thirty-five. Yet there was a touch of gray at the temples. His smile was whimsical, white as ivory; she tried to compare his eyes with something. How do windows look draped inside with rich gray velvet?

"I could not let you see the botch I was making." Sweeping his hands toward the flying paper.

"You come here to work?"

"To work?" His brow puckered until he understood. "To paint, you mean? Ah, madame, I do not paint any more." Then, almost in a whisper, "They took that away from me, too."

Curious meeting in this significant spot! It fell in the fourth dimension of emotional experience; almost from the first Joan had a feeling that life was restoring that of which she had been cheated in girlhood. Sensations still unformulated into thoughts, her conventional self was urging her not to linger. A hundred yards away she could hear people talking their way to golf.

"Who took your painting from you?" she asked.

The man shrugged his shoulders. "There are so many stories like that in this sad period."

"But you can't steal a man's talent," she objected. "That's part of you."

He looked toward the shimmering lake, his eyes more beautiful than the water. "I should so like you to believe me," he said. "But that would be a little difficult. War is cruel in other ways than bullets. It often kills without wounding."

Aching to question him, she was afraid to seem too curious.

"You like Russian cigarets?" he asked, showing his brownish ones with long paper tubes.

"I like the idea rather than the taste."

"Perhaps that describes my country." Puffing moodily.

Romance crept through the forest. He had been in the war, a Russian imperialist. She remembered one tormented woman who had come to New York and begged the world to believe she was the Grand Duchess Anastasia. "You've been here long?" asked Joan.

"Quite a while." He seemed indifferent, then like a flash of heat lightning, "There is no reason why a lovely lady should hear these things. If you know nothing of war, why should I tell you?" She recalled her own mild efforts as a canteen worker; her husband had occupied a shipping board desk.

"I have no real idea of it," she said. "But how could they take your painting away from you? The way you spoke——"

"Maybe it is arranged by destiny that I should tell you." His strange eyes seized hers. "I do not tell many people. Madame"—words seemed to flood—"I was a young officer in the imperial army. Under Kerensky I became a major. Then the Reds captured us at Kiev. Those bloody days became—what shall I call it?—a stockyard. I can always see them as I did from my window waiting to die. Hundreds of brother officers standing before the butchers. Also, they killed women. My young wife. I saw that."

HIS interesting, slightly Mongolian face was blank. His fingers moved; she saw a ring of lapis lazuli, faintly carved. Joan could have cried out for his pain, yet she sat stonily.

"After that I stopped seeing or hearing. One day I seemed to awake. It was in the port of Archangel among my friends. They told me those Reds, like monkeys, got tired of shooting; when they found me lying there in my room they thought I had died. One of my servants in their uniform took me away. You do not believe that, madame?" Childishly appealing.

"It is true." She was touched to the quick.

"Thank you." He arose and bowed, a beautifully foreign bow. "My name," he said, "is Petrovski. Igor Petrovski." For identification he brought out an envelope with the crabbed address, "Baron Igor Petrovski, Castle Glen Hotel." Castle Glen was a seedy boarding house up the valley.

"I'm Mrs. Whitman." She felt they should exchange cards. He received her statement with, "Madame Whitman," and bowed again. Then, "Perhaps you think I am odd to talk so like this."

"I was only wishing," she said, "that I could do something to help you."

"You have done that already." No false manner in this, but a homely directness. "Russians talk too much, but I have tried to make myself an exception to the rule. I am very grateful to you, Madame Whitman. If I had not met you this morning——" His melancholy look traveled toward the lake.

"You must talk to me when you feel like that."

"Thank you, madame." He was addressing an empress. "But perhaps the hotel will not permit tramps." His whole face lighted as he added boyishly, "I have better clothes than these."

SO they sat there smoking. She employed her ingenuity to pump him, to learn more of this fascinating wreck of war. Bit by bit he let her know of a priceless thing the enemy had taken from him. Before the world went mad young Baron Petrovski had been growing in reputation. His pictures had been shown in Petrograd and Vienna.

"You know, madame, I am of a family of warriors. But I do not like this killing business. When the time came, quite naturally, I went. See what it did to me." He held out the hand with the blue ring; she saw its twitching. "After those days at Kiev I could only paint trash. Something had broken. They tell me to live in quiet places so it will mend. That is why I am here."

Then, with a comic sort of fatalism, he described his efforts to paint during his first bad year in New York. Two of his old canvases had wandered into America and sold for next to nothing. His Russian friends had tried to help.

"Who are your Russian friends?" she asked.

His face was Mongolian again. "They do not count now." A secret lurked in the denial, but he talked on.

Then Joan looked at her watch. A quarter of two. "Goodness!" she cried, "I'm lunching with people." But she wondered about Igor Petrovski. Where would he eat? His title notwithstanding, she lacked courage to take him to the hotel in those clothes.

"You ride, of course." A sudden idea.

"I belonged to a Cossack regiment, madame." Grinning good naturedly. And when he caught her looking at his tramplike trousers, "I have riding clothes. But——" He laughed.

"I have horses," she said. "And my car's not doing a thing this afternoon. Why not take it over to Castle Glen, get into your things, and come back about half past three? We'll ride along the ridge. It's lovely there."

"Madame Whitman." He stood, regarding her seriously. "It is I who should be doing services for you."

"O, I'll appreciate it immensely if you'll come." She tossed this off, trying to conceal excitement.

"Then au revoir." Gracefully he raised her fingers to his lips. The light, adoring touch carried her into the age of chivalry. She saw him ablaze with armor; and this within an easy pebble's throw of a modern jazz hotel.

Joan showed him a place by the drive where he could meet her car; then, with a commonplace smile, left him. But she knew that her cheeks were like summer roses; when she glimpsed herself in a mirror by the hotel's entrance she saw a girl brightly vivid with an urge which would not be denied.

Petrovski rode like a Cossack—not standing in the saddle, but with an equestrian's mastery of a rather mettlesome sorrel. Once, when her own horse shied at a whirling leaf, he leaned over and calmed it as only a horseman can. He was a splendid figure in his worn, well fitting riding clothes.

And he was her constant, worshipful champion. That was the feeling which seemed to caress her with invisible hands during their weeks together. He was so completely hers, yet too deferential to annoy her with crass lovemaking. He never referred to his own life tragedy; he made her feel that he had put it aside for her sake. Once he had laid that wounded thing at her feet, then hidden it away so that she should not be sad with his sadness. He was mercurial as an Irishman. Up in the high hills he would bell out wild cavalry songs, then laugh shyly when he could not translate the merriest stanzas.

"Some day," he said, "you will make me paint again."

"I'd be so proud Igor, to give that back to you."

"And I have nothing to give in return, Joan." Curiously he pronounced that Joan—a little like Jawn.

And if he knew what he could have given in return. Or did he, behind those candidly mysterious eyes, see what their intimacy was beginning to mean? She would catch him in sudden phrases, unconsciously poetic, half expressive of adoration. Then the snows of his wild country seemed to hedge him in.

TWICE she invited him to dinner. His evening dress, like his riding clothes, was elegant and a little worn. They danced together time after time; he went over the floor as effortlessly as a cloud. Conventionally clad, she thought, he showed more breed than he had in the baggy, patchy things he was sketching. She longed to cheat his pride, to invent an excuse to send him to a good tailor.

But her formal appearances with him were limited. When she took him into the hotel she was obliged, of course, to introduce him as Baron Petrovski. Her own circle, she saw, was covertly aflutter. His story he had intrusted to her; she explained him away as an artist who chose to live among the hills. This went well enough, but she had some trouble with the inquisitive nose of the hotel's press agent. Miss Henrietta Wiley, every mole in her facial firmament alight with curiosity, was harder to banish. She sniffed and she intimated and mentioned a list of barons who went in for art and wondered why he didn't stop at the hotel. Joan was brutally short; but that was not the end.

Joan got around Igor's pride when she coaxed him into keeping her sorrel at Castle Glen. They had a regular place of meeting, half way up the ridge, and every morning she would spy his mounted figure, statuesque and handsome, waiting for her. Once at his side they would laugh and joke together, hilarious with mountain air, young pulses speeding. Can I be, she thought, the pokey old widow of George de Kolb Whitman and the mother of a business man? I'm young as the green grass, I'm young as Igor—then with a creeping coldness she would wonder how young he really was.

NOW summer was growing heavy as a bumble bee. Igor had never asked her to ride with him to Castle Glen. He had often spoken of its beauty; the relic a resort which had been fashionable in the '60s. It had an ancient and holy look, he said, untroubled by old ladies, trooping to medicinal baths. But when she pointed her horse that way he always found an excuse to turn into a bypath.

Then one morning—they were on a hilltop, gazing toward the purple ranges, he asked, as if he had never thought of it before. "Won't you lunch with me at Castle Glen? I should so love for you to see it." Like a nobleman, making little of his estates.

At noon they reached the old resort; not since girlhood had Joan seen the place. A pillar had fallen from the colonial porch of the small hotel and been replaced by a barked pine pole. In the cup of ground which had been a lawn colorful weeds rioted. A crescent of cottages, perched against the rolling hills; their ornamental lattices were falling down. Lovely and desolate, but without the depression which loneliness brings.

"It's like a little garden!" cried she.

"It is too sweet a person to feel sorry for itself," he said. "And it sleeps, doing nothing. Just giving breakfast to the worms. In that hotel are a few old people, too tired to see. Nobody to live in all those cabins but myself and a great many small squirrels. It is too bad to waste so much beauty when there are beautiful eyes to see it." He was looking at her; she felt the young flush on her cheeks.

From the hills came a steady sighing, sighing; the voice of rushing waters. "O," she said to break her embarrassment, "I remember. The falls are over there."

"Then you've seen them." His voice deadened.

"A great many years ago. When I was a girl."

"You came here with your nurse maybe?"

"I wasn't so young as that." Was he laughing at her? Apparently not. "I came with somebody who loved this valley."

"Much as I do?" His look burned into her.

"Come on, let's see the jolly old falls again!" Rather wildly she scampered across the weeds with Igor following.

Now he was destiny. She ran ahead, afraid, yet hoping to be overtaken. At last they reached the steep descending rill, spurting over minature cliffs; ferns and brakes overhung like faery palms. Up the boulders ran a rustic stair, Victorian remnant. Recklessly she caught a wobbly rail and began to climb.

"Be careful, Jawn," he cautioned. "Those boards are rotten. Yesterday my foot——"

But it had already happened. A board gave way, Joan caught at a rail which crackled. Then she felt his arms around her, knew his strength as he pulled her down to safety. Just an instant she lay against him, afraid to open her eyes, afraid to move. She could feel his breath on her cheek. What should she do if——

"I think we should not go any higher," his voice was curiously gruff.

"Of course, not." She planted her feet securely, and her look was cold.

"One of our colored men will be our butler," he said, leading the way toward the cabins. "It will be al fresco, on the lawn." And his laugh restored her.

"And which is your cabin, Igor?" He pointed to one at the center of the crescent. Outside, under a tree, a Negro man was spreading a cloth over a rough table.

"It is a sort of slum, the way I live," said Igor, letting her peer into his cabin. "But I am used to worse."

SHE ventured in, again afraid of herself. But the Russian's monastic surroundings drew her interest. A cot bed with a lively coverlid, a wildly painted chest against the wall, and above the window a small silver crucifix. That was all, save for two rough chairs and a rather handsome wardrobe trunk shoved in one corner.

"It is amusing how one gets along on so little. I learned that in the army. And I sleep as well as——" He bit his under lip and said suddenly, "I do not sleep so well as I did."

The challenge was personal, and Joan a coward. "You haven't any paintings to show me?"

"Only the trash I do now. See?" Through a window he showed a pile of cinders. "I had a pogrom of those last week." He turned to her with a sudden embarrassment, then his face lighted. "I have something to show you." Opening the painted box he brought out a little religious picture in an elaborate silvered frame. It was a primitive painting, richly colored. "An ikon. I saved this from the guns. It was in the church my great great grandfather built. I want you to take it."

"But, Igor. I couldn't——"

"Take it for me. Please, Jawn, I have mountains of fine things in storage at New York. I do not like to sell them because they were from my mother's family. And some day those Jews in London will give me a house to put them in."

Vaguely this disappointed her. She had ached for his poverty, his powerlessness to make his way in the world had had known. But the thought of him, his dignity restored, returning to his fortune somewhat dulled that fairy story in which he and she had been the principals. This feeling was momentary.

"Igor, I'm so glad they haven't robbed you of everything—that you still have a little——"

"A little!" His grin broadened. "But these Russians, Jawn, are curious people. They have so many irons in the fire."

This explained nothing; and the old Negro came to the door with the pompous announcement that dinner was served.

THE food was luke warm, mostly out of cans. Usually fastidious, Joan ate uncritically. The exhilaration of feasting with Igor under the trees lent a pastoral beauty. She guessed his passionate love for this lost spot. It was a sanctuary from haunting memories. She found herself longing to straighten out his jumbled life. Little as she understood money, she knew several financiers. She could send him to New York, have him talk to Judge Rodman. She would consult Johnnie. But no. Her boy, too much like his father, had the 100 per cent American's contempt for foreigners.

Igor was talking along about his darling Temple Glen. "Jawn," he said when they were lingering over Russian cigarets and poor coffee, "I could not tell all these things to everybody. I think not anybody else."

"I'm glad," she said. There fell a pause. Very daintily with his ring finger he tapped the ashes. "American business men know about steel and bricks. They have not time to care for that." With a flourish toward the weed starred lawn. "I could not tell them about it." She followed his gaze along the pretty crescent of broken cabins. "No golf courses here or swimming pools. But I think it is wicked to let these cabins rot when so many beautiful people—I mean poets and painters and composers—could find peace together and be away from the noisy cities. Artists starve in America. That seems strange with so many skyscrapers."

She looked swiftly around her, wondering what Johnnie would say, then asked. "You mean an art colony?"

"Why not? Nobody needs this place. The boarders over there are all nearly dead. I have thought much at night." Then very simply. "When I get my money from London I shall buy Castle Glen."

"It would be a nice philanthropy," she admitted, and was calculating. How much would such a place cost?

"No. It would be business. I could charge a small sum to live here and make money from the investment. That must mean repairing all these cabins. And that boarding house could be made a club. Handsome, with a porch very Greek."

"How much do you think this would cost?" Feeling that Igor's idealism might sweep him again to ruin.

"The land will be so cheap! I have

Child's Room, Too, Should Be Furnished with Taste

So Many Delightful Things for Children Are Made, Nowadays, That It Is No Task at All to Make His Nursery Pretty

By WillElla de Campi.

NEVER before has the importance of early impressions upon young minds been so strongly stressed as it is today. Parents and teachers unite in an effort to wisely direct and guide the activities of children, that they may have a true appreciation of all that is honorable and beautiful. And just as the child's manners are influenced by those of the older people with whom he is thrown in contact, so are his understanding of beauty and good taste influenced by the surroundings in which he is placed.

It is of the utmost importance that every child's room be planned in accordance with the laws of good balance, color harmony, and suitability, as well as with those of sanitation and convenience. To have the rudimentary pieces of furniture in the room all kept spotlessly clean and hygienic is not enough in itself. There must be also a sensible arrangement of furniture and a pleasing use of color. In this way the child may easily become conscious of what is good and restful in decoration, as well as in bodily comfort.

If a child is old enough to have personal likes and dislikes in the matter of colors, it is wise to encourage and indulge his whim—tempering it always with good judgment and an appreciation of proportion. If red is his desire, for instance, that need not mean that the walls of his room should be painted red to satisfy his want. But red he may have, with modifications. Being a strong color, a little red goes a long way. Curtains of large checked red and white gingham, and Navajo rugs in black, gray, red, and white, would be sufficient to bring in the touches of red necessary to create a personal note in the room of a boy who favors that particular color.

Little children, like most of God's young creatures, thrive best if given plenty of light and air, so whenever possible the room turned over to a child's use should have a southern exposure, with plenty of windows for sunlight and fresh air. Furniture should be comfortable and strong—comfortable so that the young body need not be hampered by uneasiness, and strong so that the various articles may withstand the onslaughts of many make believe battles and imaginative uses.

Materials for curtains, bed covers, etc., should be durable and washable. For the diminutive overstuffed chair or sofa there should be a gay slip cover which may be frequently removed and laundered. Figured materials are more satisfactory, as a rule, than plain ones, as they do not show uneasiness so quickly. Gingham, organdy, Swiss, linen, calico and chintz all are pleasing for use in the child's room. Any one of these, bound with contrasting colors, may be made up to carry out the desired scheme of decoration.

Linoleum is successfully used as a floor covering, as its seams are sealed, completely covering floorboard cracks which might harbor dust and germs. Good linoleum wears well and may be easily mopped and quickly dried. A few small rugs of suitable texture and weave, like braided or hooked rugs may be used in conjunction with the linoleum.

Well designed and sturdily made furniture for children's rooms may be bought unfinished, ready to be painted or enameled any color. In some instances the unfinished pieces are stained and waxed or varnished, instead. However, it is usually better in a small child's room, to have the furniture painted, as scratches and scars are bound to be frequent, and it is not difficult to apply a new coat of paint every now and then.

In the matter of wall decorations there are many interesting treatments. Plain paint may be mixed into any desired color. Mural panels are especially designed for the walls of children's rooms and there are many really pleasing friezes and borders showing beloved characters from Mother Goose or animals and actors of the circus in all their glory. Washable wall papers are designed to please childish tastes. Many of the youthful, small patterned floral, polka dotted or star spangled papers, too, are suitable for decorating the walls in a child's room. Any of these papers may be made washable by means of a coating of waterproof shellac.

Built-in features, or some sort of accommodations for the storage of books and toys must not be overlooked. Cupboards should be of a convenient height so that the child may be taught orderliness in the matter of putting away his own playthings. Shelves should be deep enough to hold all of those electrically run toys which require so much room. A window seat, built over a toy cupboard or book shelves is a delightful feature. With the window protected to prevent the child's falling out, he may pass away many an otherwise long moment, watching the events which take place outside and letting his imagination turn them to suit his own fancy.

Filled with interest for a little boy is the room shown in today's first illustration. The walls are painted light yellow and the woodwork, including wainscoting and doors, is light, dull, gray-green, a shade which does not quickly become soiled. Placed just above the wainscoting, so that the child need not crane his neck to see it, is a delightful nursery frieze, depicting a joyous circus procession. The background of the frieze matches the woodwork.

At the windows there are yellow and white striped voile glass curtains, with shaped lambrequins of gayly colored cretonne. Underneath a double window is a wide, cushioned bench, with cupboards below for toys. The fitted cushion may be easily dragged down from the bench for those who love to lie on the floor, and at times it may serve as an adventurous ship on a deep, deep sea! A cover of dull green rep, boxed to fit the cushion, is removable and washable. The same rep, finished with narrow multi-colored upholsterers' fringe, makes a tailored cover for the bed.

All of the furniture is jade green, lacquered to withstand hard usage. Braided rugs on the deep green linoleum floor are in two shades of green, black, and a little yellow.

The second illustration shows the same room decorated to suit the taste of a little girl. Woodwork and wainscoting are painted peach pink, and the upper walls are done in a paper showing scattered gold stars on a peach ground. This paper has been shellacked so that it may be washed along with the woodwork.

Glass curtains at the windows are of crisp organdy, in peach color, with dainty ruffled edges. A washable cretonne with a quaintly flowered design on a turquoise ground makes draperies and valance. The same cretonne is used for a slipcover on the window seat cushion, and on a baby wing chair, and for a bedspread with a deep flounce. Furniture is painted turquoise, and the floor is covered with deep peacock blue linoleum. Supplimenting this are hooked rugs showing rabbits and ducks in fanciful designs.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

Here Are Recipes for Preparing One of the Oldest and Most Delicate Vegetables—Cucumbers.

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

By Jane Eddington.

CUCUMBERS may have been growing on the banks of the Nile and in Palestine coincident with the Garden of Eden. At any rate, in Isaiah 1:8 there is mention of a "lodge in a garden of cucumbers." These lodges have been explained as little huts in gardens of cucumbers for the man who watched over this fruit and kept people from stealing it in those long ages B. C.

John Gerarde (1545-1612), who was a surgeon and a gardener and for twenty years had charge of great lords' gardens, in his "Herball, or General Historie of Plantes" (1597) has a chapter on cucumbers, which he says the English call "cowcumbers." Old time Americans in the memory of people still living also said "cowcumber."

Old Gerarde's description of the cucumber plant is very pretty: "The Cucumber creepes alongst upon the ground all about, with long rough branches; whereupon doe grow broad rought leaves uneven about the edges; from the bosome whereof come forth crooked clasping tendrels like those of the Vine. The floures shoot forth betweene the stalkes and the leaves, set upon tender footstalkes composed of five small yellow leaves: which being past, the fruit succeedeth, long, cornered, rough, and set with certaine bumpes or risings, greene at the first, and yellow when they be ripe, wherein is contained a firme and solid pulpe or substance transparent or thorow-shining, which together with the seed is eaten a little before they be fully ripe. The seeds be white, long, and flat."

Under the title "The Vertues," he says: "The fruit is cut in pieces or chopped as herbes to the pot, and boiled in a small pipkin with a piece of mutton, being made into potage with Ote-meale, even as herb potage are made, whereof a messe eaten to break-fast, as much to dinner, and the like to supper, taken in this manner for the space of three weeks together without intermission, doth perfectly cure all manner of sauce flegme and copper faces, red and shining fierie noses with pimples, pumples, rubies, and such like precious faces."

The next paragraph of this description describes a cosmetic made of the cucumber, so we see that cucumber creams for the complexion are not so marvelously new as some people think.

Cucumbers for Health.

From the time of Isaiah till this day there seems to have been a difference of opinion as to whether cucumbers should be eaten at all. Old Thomas Muffett (1553-1604) in his book (first printed in 1665), "Health's Improvement; or, Rules Comprizing and Discovering the Nature, Method, and Manner of Preparing all Sorts of Food Used in this Nation," says that cucumbers "growing in hot grounds and well ripened with the sun, are neither moist nor cold. They agree well with hot Stomachs, being eaten with Vinegar, Salt, Oil and Pepper; but if you will boil them, whilst they are young, with white Wine, Vervain, Dill, and salt Liquor, they are not a bad Nourishment, as Galen took them, but ingender good Humors, and settle a very cold and weak Stomach, as by much Practice and long Experience I have proven in divers persons."

We should credit this famous Thomas Muffett, doctor in physick and fellow of the College of Physicians in London, also an M. P. of his time, with knowing what he was talking about, and it is interesting that so many years after his death his book was printed by the College of Physicians. His little paragraph on cucumbers is headed "Cucumbers Melopepones."

Ancient Way of Dressing.

John Evelyn, who is famous because he wrote a diary and also wrote a great deal about gardens, forest trees and fruit trees, wrote a marvelously precious book with the title "Acetaria; a Discourse of Sallets," which takes up each and all of the salad ingredients in what we may consider in many cases an exceedingly modern and delightful way. Of the cucumber in one place he says: "The cucumber itself, now so universally eaten, being accounted little better than poison, even within our memory." Then he tells us in No. 21 of the salad ingredients, that, though it is cold and moist, it is the most approved salad alone, or in composition of all the Vinaigrets, "to sharpen the Appetite and cool the Liver," if rightly prepared.

As he uses the word vinaigret, it means simply that the cucumber is served with the French dressing. Then he goes on to tell what it means to have it rightly prepared, that is, he says, and, I for one, am delighted that he says it, that you must not make the vulgar mistake of extracting the juice. He also says it should not be over oiled, because that abates its flavor and it becomes palling to the taste. He gives a reason for this that is hard to see through from our modern point of view. Then he gives the following directions:

"In short, I am so well satisfy'd of the wonderful, though yet undetected Virtue of Plants and Vegetables, applicable to all human Infirmities whatsoever, [extreme old Age excepted, and the irrevertible Decree, that we all must die] as shews, that GOD, by his Omniscience, knowing that Man would transgress, and that spontaneously, [though left entirely free], providentially endow'd the Vegetable with those admirable Properties we daily discover in them, and yet remain'd conceal'd; since otherwise [had our first Parent persisted in his Integrity] there had been no use of Remedies, no Sickness or Disease requiring them: But to return, as to what in the present State Things are, supposing with Cardan, that Plants nourish little, they hurt as little. Nay, Experience tells us, that they not only hurt not at all, but exceedingly benefit those who use them; endu'd as they are with such admirable Properties, as they every Day discover: For some Plants not only nourish laudably, but induce a manifest and wholesome Change; as Onions, Garlick, Rochet, etc., which are both nutritive and warm; Lettuce, Purselan, the Intybs, etc., and indeed most of the Olera refresh and cool: And as their respective Juices being converted into the Substances of our Bodies, they become Aliment: So in regard of their Change and Alteration, we may allow them Medicinal; especially the greater Numbers, among which we all this while have Skill but of very few [not only in the vegetable Kingdom, but in the whole Materia Medica] which may be justly call'd Infallible Specifics, and upon whose Performance we may as safely depend, as we may on such as familiarly we use for a crude Herb-Sallet; discreetly chosen, mingled, and dress'd accordingly: Not but that many of them may be improv'd, and render'd better in Broths and Decoctions, than in Oil, Vinegar, and other Liquids and Ingredients: But as this holds not in all, nay, perhaps in very few comparatively [provided, as I said, the Choice, Mixture, Constitution, and Season rightly be understood], we stand up in Defence and Vindication of our Sallet, against all Attacks and Opposers whoever."

Plain Cucumber.

And so do I stand up in particular defense of the plain cucumber, as plain as an apple in the hand; but never in defense of the cucumber or anything else pickled. I maintain that the smallest garden cucumbers, when fresh, are those sold for gherkin pickles, and best of all those that are about double the size of the gherkins, are delicious, skin and all, after they are well washed and crisped, if necessary, but cold.

They are pleasanter to bite than crisp celery, and they contain over ninety-five per cent of pure mineralized water. I love to call them a little mineral spring. They are as wholesome as their first cousins, the melons. They have their sweetness, too.

To Preface Them.

Slices of cool or crisp cucumber wilt almost while you are cutting them up; therefore, when they are to be used in a green salad, the cucumber should be peeled and sliced after all the other greens are in the bowl and then the whole dressed at once. Unless we use a salad with a good deal of vinegar—with tomato and oil I use no vinegar, at all—the cucumber will be as safe to eat as apple. One of the most wasteful habits, dietetically, has been to serve cucumbers in well peppered and salted vinegar. To me this is not quite as sensible as it would be to put a large portion of vinegar and pepper into drinking water.

Never peel a cucumber without washing your hands both before and after peeling it, as well as washing the cucumber first.

Salad Accompaniment.

Cucumber salad is quite generally considered to be the first choice as a boiled salmon accompaniment and good with any boiled fish, yet fresh from the ice box and perfectly plain it is wonderfully refreshing with the fish and it is quite as much so with hot stewed beans or something of that type. It is even tonic in this connection and we can serve it in junks, strips, or curves.

The following recipe has been printed in this column for two or three summers, and many people have lost it and written again for it. The husband of the friend who gave it to me considered it better than ice cream. The version of the salad that was given her in Philadelphia is this:

Peel and cut three cucumbers in the thinnest possible slices and cut one onion in the same way. Add salt enough to make with a small quantity of water a heavy brine or a small handful of salt to a quart of water and a piece of ice. Let the slices of cucumber stand in this from half to three-quarters of an hour, then pour them into a colander and squeeze out the water with a potato masher. Put them into a serving dish, add a little pepper and a dash or two of vinegar and cover them with a thick, sweet cream.

There is a similar recipe in the cook book, "Mary at the Farm," under the title Dutch Cucumber Salad. The great chefs have made cucumber sauces with cream that in principle are exactly like this salad.

Cooked Cucumber.

Cucumber must be quickly cooked if it is to keep its characteristic flavor, and it has so little substance that it requires but slight cooking. However, it also will take the flavor of combinations and so is particularly excellent in meat stews. To insure short time cooking it is best to slightly blanch the cucumbers and that also makes them soak up the flavors of the stew better.

Greens are only a cooked salad anyway. Cooked cucumber may be more attractive than either squash or vegetable marrow, that is, have more pleasing flavor and be just as wholesome. Large, ripe, yellow cucumbers can be cooked in exactly the same way as the English marrow with meat sauces or stuffed with vegetable and meat minces.

Blanching the Cucumber.

Drop the peeled cucumber into boiling water for about five minutes after cutting it in two or three pieces crosswise, or slicing it lengthwise. After that it may be cooked in no end of ways. If we egg and crumb it and cook it in butter we may call it cucumber cutlets. When we are to serve the cucumber in cream just the solid part is cut into small dice, blanched quickly and then cooked in hot cream with dainty seasonings.

Activities of Women

Women in Russia are now on a par with men as far as wages, duties, and rights are concerned.

American women spend nearly $600,000,000 a year for the "upkeep" of their hair.

There were 71,130 marriages and 8,084 divorces in Pennsylvania in the last fiscal year.

Miss Harriet Camac of New York City is the first woman passenger of the recently inaugurated air service in India.

Dr. Edith Hoffman, deputy chief of the museum of fine arts in Budapest, is a connoisseur of the historic treasures of Hungary.

HER MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT

I WENT TO THE BACK STEPS WITH A BOWL OF WATER FOR THE DOG AND CAREFULLY ARRANGED MYSELF TO APPEAR AS THOUGH I HAD FALLEN
I CALLED LOUDLY FOR MY SWEETIE, BUT WHEN I LOOKED UP I FOUND THAT HE HAD OBSERVED ALL MY PREPARATIONS

asked questions, you see. The Lady Springs company desires to buy it. But I know how to straighten that."

"Igor." Now was the time of decision. "If you had money in the bank. Would that make things easier?"

"Money from you, Jawn?" He arose, offended. "I could not think of such a favor. You are——" Tears were clouding his eyes.

"No favor, my boy. Just an investment."

"It is an ideal," he said sadly. "And those are dangerous. I found that in the war."

But as they were moving away to where their horses stood among the trees he caught at her, drew her to him, crushed her lips with a kiss which made her faint with joy.

"I cannot dare to ask you now," he said. His face was white as he helped her mount, then vaulted into the saddle and followed through the woods.

BUT next morning brought its change. She had arisen late from a restless bed; dressing carefully for her ride up the bridle path, she saw herself in her glass and asked if this could be the woman who had come to Lady Lake six week ago. Eyes glowing violet, cheeks bright—for the first time in twenty years she was looking toward a future. She was prepared for headlong leaps; she and Igor had kissed on an unspoken bargain. Poor boy, hereafter he need not chafe his fine spirit with business worries. She would wheedle away his foolish pride, give him everything, everything within her power to give.

Finally, in her habit, she was out on the veranda. A groom was leading up her horse when a very old Negro left a ricketty buckboard at a respectful distance. He was the man who had served their luncheon under the trees at Lady Lake. "Good mawnin', Mis' Whitman." He was bowing his tonsure of white wool and holding out an envelope. "De baron he done tole me——"

Before she could open it the old man was limping back to his rig. The yellowish, slightly soiled paper bore a fine crest with a Russian motto. "My dear"—in the penmanship she could hear Igor talking—"that man with the real estate must see me. I shall go to him overnight, and when I come back I think I can say something wonderful. This is a hurry, but I am remembering you."

At first blush it hurt her to think that he had taken this move without consulting her; yesterday they had been like partners, today he had withdrawn again into his mystery. After all, he had told her so little. But once in the forest, her horse moving upward under the heavy branches, she was glad that Igor's plan was ripening so soon. Castle Glen had become a sort of religion to this beaten wanderer; in those dells and waterfalls he had conspired to re-create an earthly paradise for souls as fine as his own. And in time he must come to Joan for help. This she knew, and it filled her with exultation.

For hours she followed bridle paths, up hill and down. At last, by the familiar slant of oaks and the turns of a brook, she felt her nearness to Castle Glen. Strange, she thought that Igor had never asked her there until yesterday. But now she had a share in his kindly plot, it seemed a part of her. Distantly through trees she could see the long row of cottage roofs, symmetrically placed like a quaint string of beads. Then the broken face of the old hotel.

THE bridle path took her up among thick shrubs back of the cabins. She could hear a woman's tittering laugh and a man's deep belling basso. Igor had spoken of the inhabitants as very old people; yet these were not old voices. Not American voices. Seated high, Joan could peer through a little hole in the shrubbery. Beside Igor's cabin a table was spread where she had lunched with him yesterday; a huge man with a black beard was passing a bottle to Igor, who was handsomely dressed in a suit of gray flannels. A little man with a blonde goatee sat sipping, and a young woman with yellow hair and narrow eyes leaned forward as one listening carefully to secret talk.

Joan turned her horse's head uphill. She was no spy, but what was this? Igor had taken such pains to inform her of his absence, yet there he sat, beside his own door, drinking and plotting. With Russians undoubtedly. And one of them a woman. All the way back Joan rode through tangled groves of puzzles. Whatever Igor was doing, she said, was in pursuit of some large kindness. But what was this? Then, locked in her room, lunch forgotten, she came to a fantastically reasonable conclusion. She thought of the Grand Duchess Anastasia lurking in America with a claim on the Russian throne. Miss Henrietta Wiley, always probing, had once hinted at Igor as a disguised conspirator. And why not? This theory placed him still higher in her regard. A martyr to his caste, he had turned upon his tormentors.

That afternoon she sought out Miss Wiley, but Henrietta had developed another disease and gone to New York in pursuit of specialists. So Joan played bridge through a long dull day and into a long dull night. Next morning she neglected her horse and loafed on the veranda, pretending to read. As it neared noon the creaky buckboard drove up, and beside the old Negro sat Igor in his new gray flannels. When he came up to her with his adoring smile, she forgot everything but her desire to pour her life blood at his feet.

"I must get the 12:06 for New York," he began breathlessly. "But I thought to stop and tell you my luck. I have seen that business man and got a surprise, he was so cheap." Crowing with delight, like a boy who has spun a new top.

"I'm so glad," said Joan, and hoped her voice didn't sound dead. "What will he sell it for?" Bluntly.

"It is complicated to tell. And I must catch that train. He is in a lumber business, this man, so he also makes contracts. He will build all those houses over, bring back gardens, walks, everything—also two hundred acres of land. Fifty thousand dollars."

"But, Igor, you haven't got——"

"Jawn, there I surprise you. This real estate man will take $20,000 dollars first payment. He only must have it Thursday because this hotel wants also to buy that property. But I know how to get that money. I have so much valuables in storage at New York and a rich Russian friend promises to take it over——"

"The one who came to see you yesterday?" involuntarily.

"How do you know that?" He turned slowly toward her, and she guessed again at an imperialistic plot.

"I went by your cottage yesterday. I thought you were away. I saw friends there, so I didn't come in."

"It was just as well." His brow clouded. Then, lowering his voice. "Please do not speak of that to anybody. We Russians have many things to arrange. But this man is very rich, and to give me money for my valuables in storage will be nothing——"

"Igor," she broke in. "Don't sacrifice your beautiful things. You don't need to go to New York. I've more money than I know what to do with. Igor, I want to be in on your plan."

"Jawn, you are so sweet." Suddenly, he kissed her hand. "But I must love you not because you pay me." Then, leaping to his feet. "My Scott! See how late that clock says. The train is getting restless. When I come back Thursday we shall own that Castle Glen. You see," A pause. "Then I shall be brave and ask you."

HE hurried across the lawn toward the station; for days she did not see him again. Dear idealist! That was how she thought of him all the time. Accepting nothing from her, always giving the best he had. She entertained a fear for him, adventuring in New York. He knew less about money than she did. Less than nothing. There had been a sinister look about the big, bearded Russian.

Wednesday morning brought a vaguely disturbing telegram:

Fixed everything with Bee ask your blessing. Stop. What's the big idea? Question. Don't do anything till you see me. Coming down Saturday. Much love. Johnnie.

Again it was like Johnnie, and like his father. Always true to type. So he had engaged himself to dear little Bee, almost as young as Joan had been when George came to take her from romance. Johnnie would marry Bee, that his mother knew, and the little bee would cease to hum. Only sting, perhaps; Joan invented that bitter pun. But there was something else. "What's the big idea. Question." It sounded ominous.

She thought of putting him off with a telegram. Johnnie's entrance into the scene this week might be disastrous. How she could not tell. But little as she knew of business, she knew that the Castle Glen project would hold no charms for the stony realism of the Whitman male. And Igor. She couldn't bear to think of her son's look of disapproval, his hard common sense view of a case he lacked the tolerance to understand.

THURSDAY morning she decided not to point their intimacy by meeting Igor at the train; but when the passengers came strolling up the piazza she looked vainly among the arrivals to find her Russian. Then she searched the lobby, thinking that she had overlooked him. Yesterday he had written one of his brief, peculiar notes, saying that he would surely be back Thursday morning; he had said nothing of his success with the banker.

She had an uneasy feeling that Igor had come, that he was lurking somewhere outside; and driven by this unreasoning theory she walked among the twisted paths of the hotel grounds, thinking every minute to see him coming out from behind the shrubbery. Then foolishly she went down to the village, visited the station, and came at last upon a little square facing the Lady Lake National bank. She saw him there seated on a bench, a leather bag at his feet, his head in his hands.

"Igor, my dear——"

He came to his feet, and she marked the change in him, his drawn, tired look. "Jawn, it was all wrong," he said, and slumped back. "I could not come to you with bad luck."

"You mean your Russian friend——"

"I have no friend, Jawn. Unless——"

"You know you have me, Igor." His eyes were moist. She could have gathered him up like a little boy as he explained. "Jawn, this banker was right in refusing me money. At New York I found everything—all in my storehouse—gone."

"They've robbed you?"

"A brother officer said he would watch my valuables when I was away. He was a gentleman, you see." He laughed, his teeth shone. "Well, now my Castle Glen is in the air. That real estate man gave me until five today. It is now nearly noon. Shall we go for a ride and talk about something else?"

"Who is your real estate man?" She'd never asked before.

"Mr. Tilton at Bernardsville."

"Igor, listen to me." Now she was riding him down in her haste. "There's the bank, right across the street. I want you to make a deposit that you can draw on——"

"Jawn, are you joking at me?" Regarding the bank with lack-lustre eyes.

"There's no time now for an argument," she said, and her tone was rough. "You can deposit my check and draw on it"—clumsily she tried to work out the business of it—"so that the money will be coming from you."

"Jawn! You mean your money? I have told you——"

"Igor," she resumed, desperately, hastily. "I'd hate to lose Castle Glen as much as you would. You can have the money as a loan if you want to. Or you can make me your partner."

"And can we be married, Jawn?"

"Yes, dear." But there was no time to lose. She had taken him by the arm, was leading him across the street. "Now listen. Bernardsville is a long drive, even by car. We'll have an early lunch and go together, right up to Mr. Tilton's office. On the way home we can dine at Castle Glen. It'll be yours, Igor."

HE was murmuring something in Russian; endearing words, she knew. So together they entered the bank and found Mr. Moody, the vice president, sitting in his glass room. At sight of the very important Mrs. Whitman he was more than pleased to favor Baron Petrovski in every possible way. Joan found a desk outside and scratched off a check, and when she handed it to Igor she could hear his breath catch.

"Jawn, dear," he whispered, "this is too much. Thirty thousand——"

She put her finger to her lips. "You'll need the balance to get things started." Then, because he stood there stupidly studying the Bankers Trust company's blue check, "Now there'll be some fuss about pass books and signatures."

"Yes," he agreed stumblingly, "and we must hurry things. Shall you go to the hotel and order lunch?"

"I'll meet you on the veranda."

Her last impression of him was of a man stunned, his eyes fixed upon scrawled numbers which meant magic to him.

She ordered lunch for two, then waited for Igor. She was flushed with excitement, dizzied with plans. Finally she went out on the veranda and lingered there for him to come up. Looking down over lawn and shrubs she could see the yellow Pullmans of the twelve-six pulling out of the shed. It filled her with dreams of adventure. Possibly it would be better not to wait for Johnnie's coming, but to get married tomorrow, break the news to her son when it was too late for him to interfere.

In a quarter of an hour she abandoned that plan as treacherous to Johnnie, who had always played so fair. Then at last she came out of her dream to realize that a half hour had gone by and Igor still delayed. She began to think of the distance to Bernardsville and decided to get Mr. Tilton's house by long distance and tell him they were on their way with the money. "I'm Tilton," said a rough voice at last. "I'm speaking for Baron Petrovski," she said. "Baron who?" "Petrovski." "I guess you got the wrong number, lady." "But aren't you Mr. Tilton, the real estate dealer?" No answer. He had hung up in her face.

At half past one she tired of sitting on the veranda and started in to lunch. She remembered the twelve-six drawing out of the station. And what possible connection could that have with her case?

ON Saturday afternoon Johnnie Whitman missed her at the station; therefore he burst into her room to find his mother lying on a couch. She looked languid and haggard. He knew, he said, that this fool place wouldn't agree with her. Then he permitted himself to be kissed in congratulation. Bee was wonderful, he admitted, and dismissed her as finished business. He sat down, crossed his hands in the George manner, and metioned a lot of things to talk about. In the first place he had found forty thousand dollars of hers lying idle in the Bankers' Trust. "It ought to be working," he said, and out of a faultless memory brought the names of several sound securities. "If you'll draw on that money, mom, I'll wire in your order."

A pause.

"That's a loose way of doing business," he persisted, "having a lot of surplus kicking around." And [illegible] she said nothing. "Haggerty and I have about agreed on how to play it. Motors are due for another rise, and we ought to take advantage of it. What say, mom?" Not that it mattered. She knew nothing about it.

"I don't think I want to invest now," she said weakly.

"O, don't be a sill. The money's lying around. Forty thousand——"

"Johnnie, there isn't any forty thousand." She had yielded to his stubborness, and the admission came like a cry.

"No forty thousand? It was there Thursday. Haggerty——"

"Yes. Most of it went Thursday."

HE rose, stood over her scowling. "Moms, listen to me. Has it got something to do with that spiggotty count?"

She hadn't intended to tell him. She had vowed to keep her lips sealed, yet here was Johnnie buying her into the truth.

"How—how did you know there was—?"

"I ran into Henrietta Wiley at the Plaza. I thought it must be loose talk. But I came down to find out."

"Don't worry about him now," she said faintly. "He's dead."

"Dead?" With George's uncompromising, bending looks.

"There's a funny little creature running around in his shoes somewhere. But this Baron Igor was splendid. You'd have loved him. But he could change himself into something else, dirty and horrid."

"Mom, are you going nutty?"

"Johnnie, dear, I look old. But I'm the youngest thing that lives. This is the first time I've ever gone anywhere alone. And see what's happened." Tears filled her eyes so that he must draw her head to him and scold, "Don't be a sill, Mom. What's wrong?"

The story of Castle Glen, as she told it, was as vague as any woman, unlettered in finance, could make it. Igor hadn't deposited her check; he had cashed it and taken the 12:06.

"But you didn't let him get away with it! You jumped out and informed the police——" Johnnie's mouth was open.

"I just let it go."

"Mom! Are you dreaming?"

"Yes. I've been doing that too." Her eyes were following some floating ideal, high above the world.

"You can't let a crook like that walk out on you. Not on your life." He was pacing, blustering. "Is that all you know about him? That and his war stuff?"

"About all."

SHE ddin't tell him how she had visited Castle Glen yesterday and found that Igor had slipped away with his belongings and given up his room before his first trip to New York. Or how he had sold her beautiful saddle horse to pay his bill. Or how the toothless landlady had identified the yellow-haired Russian woman as Igor's wife; the garrulous witch had mentioned Petrovski's exploits with rich widows in other resorts.

So here in her bedroom sat Joan, hands folded, eyes blank, facing her handsome son; he clenched his fists, swore and paced, thirsting for a conventional revenge. Then suddenly he melted to his knees, put his head in her lap, and cried as he used to when he confessed his schoolday troubles. She stroked his hair, and it was very hard for Joan then. But still her eyes were fixed on the unattainable, far away.

"Mom," said the passionate, dangerous head in her lap, "nobody can treat you like that. I'll find the crook. I'll find him if it takes the rest of my life. I'll kill him, mom. That's all I want to do. Kill him."

"No, son." She sat like stone, save for her restless hand, stroking his hair. "We mustn't do anything to him. Mustn't. Please make it easy for me, dear."

Johnnie sat back, glaring, murderous. "You mean just let him get away with it? Do that to you and get away——"

"Honey, you won't let the world know what a fool your old mother's made of herself. Nothing we could get back would be worth that."

"After what he's taken." He crouched there, fists tight.

But she shook her head, opened her lips to speak, closed them and looked away. She couldn't tell her boy that Igor had taken nothing comparable to what he had given her. For he'd given me, she told herself, the only perfect month I have ever known.

A Dollar for Your Dreams

Have you ever had a dream which later came true? If you'll mail us an account of your prophetic dream we'll pay you $1 for every dream published. Address "Dreams," Chicago Tribune.

Sees Teeth, Loses $100.

About six years ago, while in Germany, I dreamed one night, that I saw a large number of white, grinning teeth. Next day I told my fiancée about it. She became very serious and said that my dream meant bad luck. I laughed at her and at female superstition in general, but the same afternoon my wallet containing $100 in American money was stolen and I never got it back. At that time $100 was quite a fortune in German marks. J. S.

Leads Her to Money.

For several nights I kept dreaming of finding money in the most unheard of places, even seeing bills under stones, as I had heard my father tell of childhood days when he would watch an old aunt hide her money in stone piles back in Pennsylvania.

I could not get these dreams out of my mind for they were so vivid and yet I knew of no place where bills might be found and did not even take the trouble to look for them.

But one day this spring the rag man came for old clothes and so I decided to rid the store room of old suits not even good enough for rugs, but the thought came to me that I had better go through the pockets. So I did and there in an old vest pocket was a fat roll of bills none the worse for their long hibernating which must have been over ten years for my husband remembers that he had saved to buy another bond but had to give it up because he did not have the money as planned. J. M. H.

Finds Her Diamond.

"At a dance last winter I lost the diamond out of my ring. The floor was searched and even swept, but the stone was not found. Several days later I decided to send the dress I wore to the dance to a cleaner, and went to sleep thinking about it. I dreamed I went to the closet, removed the dress bag and, as I turned on the light, something twinkled and sparkled at me from the ruffle on the skirt. I awoke, thinking of the dream, but told myself that dreams were only illusions, and went right back to sleep—and dreamed the same dream over. Again I awoke—or was awakened—by something persuading me to consider the dream. Skeptical, yet conscious of the vividness of some influence, I arose and went to the closet and switched on the light. As I removed the bag there my twinkling, sparkling diamond lay in the top ruffle of my gown. E. J.

The LONG NIGHT

by FRANK R. ADAMS

In Retrospect:

THE steamship Rangefinder, bearing Prof. Eric Dahlstrom on an arctic voyage of exploration, has been wrecked and is drifting in the ice, with Prof. Dahlstrom, Judge Cavendish, and Capt. Anderson as sole survivors. Stephen Hard, war correspondent, is dispatched with a relief plane by Mike Levens, managing editor of the New York Chronicle. Hard drops from the plane by parachute. He finds two men in the cabin, both unconscious or dead. He is struck down senseless by an unseen assailant. By dirigible arrives a second relief party, led by Eve Dahlstrom, the explorer's daughter, and including Leroy Collier, whom Eve has promised to marry in return for financing the expedition; Herbert Beverleigh, John Gael, Christopher Brinker, Scandinavian newspaper man; Dr. Waters, and Karl Maussler, a German mechanic. The dirigible is compelled by storm to cruise away, leaving these members of the party aboard ship. Dahlstrom is found dead, Cavendish and Hard unconscious—the last named with a crutch in his hand. The captain is missing; the ship's log reveals that the crew has departed under the leadership of the mate, Bill Dayne. Dahlstrom's death is attributed to Hard. Collier convinces the others that the motive might have been a phial of radium. Dayne returns to the ship. Hard is placed on trial, with the mate as judge and Eve as jury. During a struggle that results when Hard defends Eve from advances by the mate Dayne falls on Hard's knife and is critically injured. Eve pronounces Hard guilty and he leaves the ship without supplies. Dahlstrom's dictaphone records, taken to New York by Collier's dirigible, reveal Dayne as the slayer. Radio brings the evidence to the ship. Dayne ends his life as he hears himself accused.

INSTALLMENT IX.

In Which Eve Atones.

THE self-inflicted death of Bill Dayne and the fact that it solved the mystery of the killing of her father left Eve unmoved. Everything in her life seemed to be standing still in a sort of static nightmare. Things happened, affairs of tremendous importance in her life, including probably the most dramatic incident with which she had ever been connected, and yet they registered only as a succession of tableaux, stage pictures in which the characters were frozen into certain tense attitudes and did not move.

The dead man in the cabin meant nothing to her. She did not even go to look at him. His proven guilt and death were incidents which did not impinge upon her consciousness at all.

What really stood uppermost in her phantasmagoria was the dreadful fact that she, Eve Dahlstrom, had presumed to sit in judgment on a fellow human being and, thus sitting in a high place, arrogated to herself in a mood of revenge, had made a decision that had cost a man his life.

She wondered in her dreadful waking dream, how Steve had died, if he had perished of cold and hunger or if, blindly fighting a blizzard, he had stumbled through a hole in the ice Or, worse yet, if perhaps he had fallen from a hummock and injured himself so that he could not proceed further and meet his death standing.

The men of the party were inclined to regard the miscarriage of justice in Steve's case as one of the misfortunes of war. Even Judge Cavendish, when Eve appealed to him, attempted to soothe her with the statement that innocent men were often sentenced to punishments which they did not deserve, even by courts which had all the machinery of the law working to help them arrive at justice, and that rendering a verdict was not a personal thing at all, but rather the interpretation, to the best of man's limited understanding, of the voice of God.

"All we know is that usually we are right. The occasions on which we are wrong do not lower the average greatly, and the innocent who suffer have to make the sacrifice for the general cause of human justice.

"Men are not callous, my dear," he told her, "at least not in their hearts, but we have to avert our eyes a little from our mistakes in order to go forward at all. On the face of the evidence and of Mr. Hard's actions afterward—specifically in his fight with Dayne—you could not have rendered any other verdict. He must have known, then, that Dayne was guilty."

"Then why didn't he prove it to us?"

THE old judge thought for a moment. "He probably knew that he couldn't prove it. The chances are that the only proof he had was some inadvertent admission of Dayne's or something he could not substantiate after Dayne's death."

"But Dayne wasn't dead."

"Mr. Hard thought he was. I am sure of that, or else he would never have left us with a murderer alive in our midst."

"Did it seem to you," asked Eve, "that he acted as if he didn't care?"

"Who? Mr. Hard?"

"Yes."

"Why, now that you mention it, that was rather the way he took it, but that is a heritage from his Anglo-Saxon ancestors. In fact, from a long experience in criminal jurisprudence I have found that most real men, whether they are criminals or not, take the death sentence that way."

But her talk with the judge did not convince her. Eve felt that the only expiation she could offer, the only way she could balance the account, was to forfeit her own life.

That was silly, she knew, and a useless waste. She put it from her mind. There must be something she could do. There must be. What, she wondered, would Steve himself do under similar circumstances?

The answer to that question came to her almost instantly. She knew what she would do and she would do that, too. But she dared not tell any one else of her intention or she could not carry it out.

So it was with the utmost caution that she surreptitiously gathered together as much of the stock of supplies as she felt to be her portion, if they were rationed out as long as they would last. It did not make a large bundle. Her cabin was near the companionway, and she stowed the package on her bed.

The problem of getting on deck with it seemed at first not very easy of solution. A good deal would have to depend on chance. She rather thought she might have to wait till the others had retired, before she could try to get away, but fortune favored her in that respect.

The men wanted to make some final arrangements for the disposal of the body of Dayne, and Roy suggested that she go out on deck for awhile. It was quite clear with moonlight.

UNNOTICED by the others, Eve appropriated one of the flashlights, took her bundle, and left. On deck she paused, uncertain what to do. Her intention was clear. She would go on across the ice until she found Steve, either alive or dead, and then bring him back or—well—she didn't know what the alternative might be.

That it was a foolhardy adventure, Eve realized. Even if she could find his tracks, he could walk much faster than she and it would take a long time to close up the lead which he had gained, unless, of course, he were injured in some way and unable to go rapidly.

She stood at the head of the flight of icy steps that led down to the frozen surface of the sea. The dogs, tethered to a tie line, half welcomed, half menaced her with barks and snarls.

The dogs! She hadn't thought of them. There might be a solution. She had handled dog teams before under the guidance of friendly Esquimaux who had accompanied former expeditions of her father. She wasn't afraid of them and, while she'd never harnessed a team, she thought she would be able to do it. The sledge was there, a rather light affair. A snow knife and a whip were fastened to the handles. She knew how to use them.

With her unaccustomed fingers, harnessing the dogs took much longer than she had expected, but she got it done at last. They were setting up a dreadful uproar, anxious to be starting somewhere, and she did not doubt that in a few moments some of the men would be up to see what the disturbance was all about. If it had not been for that, she would have gone down to the cabin again for more supplies and a couple of fur robes. As it was, she dared not wait.

"Mush," she shouted, which is north country for "Let's go," and cracked the whip over the leader's haunches.

It worked. The sledge started, the dogs leaned into the tugs, and they began to proceed at a speed of at least twice or three times that of a walking man.

Just in time, too. The after companionway spewed forth a crowd of men who waved and shouted at her. She waved, but her gesture was one of farewell, and she saved her breath by not shouting explanations. Let them guess what they wished—even that she had deserted the party in a solo dash for the mainland. She rather thought they could guess where she had gone and why. Collier would not believe it, but the judge would doubtless explain it to him.

Eve smiled to herself. Even then, Collier would not understand. Well, let him think whatever he wished of her. There was little chance that she would ever return and that thought, strangely enough, was comforting. For the first time since she had made her compact with Collier, she felt herself her own mistress. The slavery, though it had been in a good cause, had nevertheless been intolerable. She had never realized how intolerable until now. Better to be free in an arctic wilderness than chained to a bed of luxury.

As soon as she had placed a hundred yards or so between herself and the ship, she turned right with the intention of making a complete circle until she picked up footprints in the snow. This was a sound and practical plan. She was far enough from the ship so that the men could not catch her, and she believed any footprints she found would be Steve's, as none of the party had strayed far afield since the last storm.

She was studying the snow intently for signs of Steve's prints when a sharp crack from the right startled her and caused her to look toward the ship. A man was standing on the deck with a rifle leveled in her direction.

It was Collier. Her lip curled with scornful amazement. Surely he would not shoot to kill her.

Crack, crack, crack came the reports from the rifle. The snow sprayed up ahead of them and at another shot the lead dog jumped in the air with a wild howl and same down only a twitching body around which the other dogs tangled with ferocious, wolf-like snarls.

So that was his idea. Collier had thought that by shooting her dogs he could stop her.

Perhaps his was a humane scheme, perhaps it was even the sensible thing to do, to frustrate her intentions at all costs because obviously she was headed for certain death. But that did not keep Eve from expressing her feelings toward him in language even the dogs understood.

SHE left her position at the handle of the sledge and went forward. The lead dog was quite dead. She had a knife in her belt and she cut the traces and straightened out the hopeless tangle of dogs.

There had been no more shooting, perhaps because Collier thought she would be delayed long enough for them to reach her. He would scarcely have fired at the dogs, anyway, while she was in their midst. Probably, also, the magazine of the rifle was empty and required reloading.

At any rate, three men were running toward her on the ice. Collier himself, still stood on the deck of the ship.

Obviously Eve should have put more distance between herself and her pursuers. She headed her team left again. "Hi!" she shouted and cracked her whip once more. The team straightened out and the sledge started off with a run. Perhaps half a mile away she felt safe in resuming her circle. She could not see her pursuers and rather imagined they had abandoned the chase entirely. She was now out of rifle range. She turned to the right again.

The team had not gone three hundred yards before she picked up footprints.

She halted and looked at them with a flashlight. They seemed to be fairly fresh and in some places the snow had not drifted over them at all to speak of.

With a feeling of exultation in her heart she swung left again and started off. There might be time yet.

. . . .

The publication in the Chronicle of the verbatim transcription of Professor Dahlstrom's last phonograph record, together with the follow up story consisting of the deductions made by different public personages from the implications in the professor's statement, was a genuine sensation. Even Mr. Frobisher, owner of the Chronicle, admitted the exclusive story justified the expense.

"But I don't see what we can do further," he said. "If the German captain of the dirigible wants to keep on hunting, that's all right and we'll get the news as soon as anybody, but I see no reason for keeping that aviator of ours on the trail any longer."

"Why, listen, Boss," argued Levens, earnestly. "I was about to suggest that we hire a lot more aviators. The thing to do now is to cover the territory with a sort of a net."

"I suppose you would like to have a lot of airplanes bumping into each other up there," suggested Frobisher, sarcastically. "That would make good news, even if they don't find anything."

"No, but this idea of mine is practical. I've thought it all out, and it will work. There are a half dozen airships or more outfitting at Spitzbergen for a Norwegian military patrol, and there is that bird, Pitkin, who is doing some exploring from Point Barrow. We can reach them all by wireless and get them to concentrate within a radius of a hundred miles of the last map position of the Rangefinder.

"But our own aviator says there's no hope of seeing anything unless it's illuminated," protested Frobisher. "What could ten planes do that one can't?"

For a moment Frobisher's argument seemed to floor the irrepressible Levens, but Mike was an ingenious soul and he could always find a way out of everything, even if it didn't always work.

"Can I have those planes for one day?" he asked, earnestly, "if I can show you a possible way to find the Rangefinder?"

Frobisher snorted. "You show me a way to illuminate that ship so that it can be seen from the air and I'll agree, but don't spring any cock and bull idea on me. This has got to be good, or I won't play."

"All right," said Mike. "Listen to this."

At the end of ten minutes Levens demanded, "Do I get the planes?"

And his boss said, "You do."

STEPHEN HARD was probably the only pedestrian north of the Arctic circle that night who was not going anywhere in partciular. He might have been strolling along the avenue with the indefinite intention of eventually dropping in at his club somewhere, except that he had to walk just a little faster in order to keep comfortable. "Comfortable," of course, being a word that is used relatively in this case.

He was not so terribly cold, though, and not at all rebellious at the cards which life had dealt him. On the contrary, Stephen Hard belonged to that small company of men who feel that no matter what happens they have already had all the best of it—that there may be more happiness in store, but even if there isn't the balance is still in their favor.

He felt no particular resentment over the last hand he had picked up. In a way, it seemed as if he had lost, but, looking it over in retrospect, he came to the conclusion he had played it to the extreme limit. If, by a different turn of circumstances, he had been freed and allowed to remain on board the Rangefinder, it would most certainly have meant an eventual clash with Collier. Not that he really hated Collier, but he couldn't help annoying him, and Collier certainly hated him. There was no question in Steve's mind but that eventually he would have nagged Collier beyond the limit of the latter's endurance, and that the ill feeling which would have resulted would have ruined whatever peace there might have been for the others. No, there certainly was not room enough on the Rangefinder for himself and Collier—not room, indeed, for Collier and any one save Collier's own satellites.

In that respect he had done Callier and all of the others a service by removing Dayne. The death of the latter had made the ship safe for Eve.

Eve! He had done her that last service. There was nothing more he could offer her. Why he should want to offer her anything he did not exactly comprehend, unless it was that she was the first woman to whom he had ever applied the adjective "brave," the only one he had ever thought of as worthy of the fellowship of adventurers.

He wished he had not been obliged to leave without clearing himself of her father's murder, but it was silly to want to clear himself in her eyes. What difference did it make? Suppose he had made her like him? She was Collier's fiancée.

STEVE had no plan, except to keep on walking. He had the chocolate Eve had given him, which kept him from being very hungry, but he had no fuel or sleeping bag. With either of those he might have looked forward to prolonging life for several days. Without them, the outlook was only one of hours, because he dared not lie down or even rest.

He had walked a good many hours before fatigue began to drag him down. The chocolate had helped a lot, and he had eaten it prodigally, because there seemed to be no point in saving it. It was strange it should taste so good and his system should crave nourishment at all, in the face of the helpless death that lay ahead of him. But, then, condemned men are supposed always to eat hearty meals within commuting distance of the gallows. Steve had never seen a man on the morning of an execution, but he had read about them often enough. And it certainly was true that soldiers about to attack concerned themselves inconsistently with rations which might never have time to digest. That was different, though. A soldier always has hope. Otherwise, no one would ever enlist.

But Steve had not a calculable chance. Except for that dogged quality in mankind called variously, "self-preservation" and "the will to live," he might just as well lie down and quit one time as another.

It was easier to keep on walking—to fall from exhaustion rather than to freeze deliberately seemed like the difference between a natural death and committing suicide. Steve had never had the suicide impulse. All through his life he had been accustomed to face whatever came along and stand up to it while he had sufficient strength.

Progress was really easy. If he had been trying to get anywhere, it would have seemed miraculous. There was no wind to speak of. The snow was so hard he did not break through, and there were no hummocks that could not be climbed or avoided—and no leads of open water. It was ridiculous to find conditions so simple and easy in the wasteland. It was no worse than taking a long winter walk in the country back home, except that there was no place to go when he got tired. And now he was getting very tired. The chill that goes with weariness was creeping through his veins. A stimulus of some sort, an incentive, a goal to be reached would have kept him going for another hour or so. But there was no goal. His goal was wherever he happened to be.

Steve sat down in a drift. It was a beautiful, clear night. The moonlight was strong enough to cast great black shadows and to blue the snow and ice, a faintly flickering aurora somewhere to the south, and there were millions and millions of stars that are never seen even on the clearest of nights in the north temperate zone.

Steve began to feel warm and sleepy. He knew what that meant. The arctic was folding him gently to her great white breast forevermore. After the next snowstorm he would be a part of the drift, an infinitesimal atom in the polar ice cap, to remain just as he was for centuries.

He did not bother to think over his life. Instead, he reveled in the fact that death was so pleasant. Strange and not disagreeable noises beat upon his ears—not music exactly, but there was a rhythm none the less—a rhythm he knew. Like the beat of motors.

That was strange. Probably just the action of his heart attempting to overcome the slowing up of circulation of his extremities. But it grew louder, more insistent. What the deuce? Why annoy him now with anything that made him rouse and look about? But he had to do it. Curiosity impelled him to open his eyes and turn his head.

There was nothing in sight anywhere, but the noise was there somewhere. He looked up. Overhead floated a great silvered fish of the air, a dirigible with flying lights agleam, nosing it way only a few hundred feet above the ice.

Steve got up and waved his arms. He shouted. The dirigible was just above him, proceeding at a moderate rate of speed.

Suddenly a searchlight flashed on. It rested inquisitively on a huge dark shadow only fifty yards from where Steve stood, dissolving it into glistening barron snow. Steve ran stumblingly toward it.

The light went out. The dirigible swam lazily on. The motors beat like wings, and grew gradually fainter. Steve could not see it or hear it any more.

"Christ!" he called.

As if in answer, a swirl of snow swept across the ice. Reinforced by other tiny little whirlwinds the flying flakes began to sting and bite. The moon disappeared in a cloud. If you looked down, you could not see as far as your feet.

JOHN GAEL and Christophe Brinker, who had pursued Eve as far as the place where the dog had been shot, returned to the Rangefinder.

"No use to try to catch her now," Gael reported to Collier.

"But, of course, we'll follow her," offered Brinker, presuming he was speaking for the entire party.

"I suppose so," replied Collier. "I can't imagine what the little fool is up to."

They left Judge Cavendish in charge of the doctor. All the other men turned out in full equipment and with small packs to follow on foot where Eve had led. With electric torches the trail of the sledge was not hard to follow, although the men on foot did not move so fast as the sledge had traveled. Where the sledge had turned to the right, Collier halted his party.

"Now I wonder what she did that for."

"Looks like a perfectly definite angle, doesn't it," commented Brinker. "Must have done it on purpose. Perhaps she decided to come back."

"But she didn't come back," objected Beverleigh. "She turned at a right angle."

"Come on," said Collier. "I doubt if you can account for the behavior of a woman in the arctic, any more than you can in the temperate zone."

They labored on slowly. After ten or fifteen minutes the tracks turned again to the left. Brinker was first to notice it was not only a dog trail that led ahead.

"Confusions and complications," he exclaimed, pointing mock dramatically to the prints of big reindeer skin boots. 'Cherchez l'homme,' as I understand ladies say after thirty-five."

THE party stopped.

"Those would be Stephen Hard's tracks," said Collier.

"And she is following them," deduced Mr. Beverleigh.

Collier bit his lip, and then issued his orders. "That will be all," he said. "We won't go any farther. She's made the choice. If she wants to follow him, let her." He started back.

"Here, wait a minute," interposed John Gael. "You can't let a girl go off alone like that."

"Well, I'm going to."

"I say," said Brinker, "you can't mean that you——"

"But that is what I mean, so what are you going to do about it? Either I'm leader of this expedition or I'm not. As I recall it, you all agreed to accept my command, and I think you will recollect also that no one else is putting up any money for this weekend houseboat party but myself. I say we are not going to go on. Anybody who thinks different can hand over his equipment to me and join the merry honeymoon and suicide expedition just ahead. That is, if you think you will be welcome when you get there. But don't come back."

The other men paused irresolutely, and Brinker started to unfasten the straps of his pack.

"Don't make me laugh," sneered Collier. "Where will you be when you get your spats wet? And if you're going just to get a good feature article for your scandal sheet, don't forget he's a newspaper man himself and has scooped you just as he has me."

"The thing I jolly well don't want to forget is that I'm a man," Brinker drawled. "Seems to me you are coming awful damn close to that yourself."

"When you think anything like that, just keep your mouth shut." Collier reached for him and hit him across the front of the face with his fur mitten.

The blow didn't hurt much, but the impact of it and the surprise disturbed the Dane's balance, and he tumbled backward into the snow.

"Get up and come on back to the ship," ordered Collier.

"Take your blooming ship and go to hell with it," decided Brinker, without getting up.

"I DON'T think I'll go back with you, either," said Gael unpleasantly, and that was the first time any one had ever known that the big picture actor could be unpleasant about anything. "If you've got any bill against me for transportation and subsistence since the time we've been on this party, I'll write you a check for it when I come back."

"Don't be silly, Jock," returned Collier, in a more conciliatory mood. John Gael was three inches taller than himself and fifty pounds heavier. "It isn't a case of money with me. You know that."

"I'm beginning to wonder if it isn't," said Gael, half to himself.

"Why, of course not." Collier was again the genial host. "But I have to look after you fellows, too, you know. We wouldn't have a chance trying to follow that sledge. We'd only get lost and separated."

"Yeah, maybe you're right, but one of the things we don't do is to let a woman run into danger and not try to pull her out of it."

"You're talking moving picture talk."

"No," returned Gael, thoughtfully. "I am simply repeating the code of humanity."

For a moment that struck a responsive cord in Collier's memory. It was so like what Eve had said that night when she had determined upon this adventure into the arctic to find her father. The simile she had used was that of a wounded soldier between the lines.

But Collier thought of that for only an instant. His vanity needed bolstering too much. The fact that every one was rebelling against his headship undermined the principle of life in so far as he was concerned. What was the code of humanity to him by comparison with his carefully nurtured pride in power over the lives and conduct of every one with whom he came in contact?

"Well, forget your damned code of humanity, and do as I tell you. If you are too sentimental to save your own skin, I'll save it for you. Go on back to the ship."

"The hell you shout out."

Except in the extreme of childish anger, Collier would never have made even a gesture of hostility toward John Gael. As it was he forgot himself and lifted his arm. The big man caught it in a paralyzing grip and held Collier absolutely motionless.

"Gentlemen," interposed Mr. Beverleigh, placatingly, "for our common good please do not resort to fighting."

"Keep out of this," suggested Brinker. "I think it would be deuced amusing to settle this thing right now."

Gael relaxed his grip and dropped Collier's arm.

"Hit me if you think you'd better," he suggested.

Collier was of two minds. He was still angry, and his vanity never would recover unless he fought it out with Gael. Without his vanity, he had little excuse for existence. And yet he dared not make a physical issue of it against John, not if he did not expect to lose.

FORTUNATELY for Collier the decision was momentarily taken out of his hands. A distant crack from somewhere in back of them caused everybody to turn. They were too far away to see the ship distinctly, but they knew where it was and from that direction there came in sucession half a dozen flashes of light followed at a few seconds' interval by a similar number of reports.

"That means trouble on board," declared Gael. "What can it be?"

"The ice may have opened up," suggested Brinker. "When it does the ship's going to drop through."

"Do you suppose any one's attacking them?" asked Beverleigh, nervously. "Maybe we had better go on after Eve."

"We will start back just as I said," ordered Collier.

Without argument the others turned and followed him at a dog trot, not entirely in compliance with his orders, but because the press of circumstances seemed to indicate that their presence was needed immediately on board the Rangefinder. The pursuit of Eve could wait. Half an hour more or less would not make much difference in finding her, not with the start she had and the superior speed she could make with the dogs.

"Mush," she shouted . . . and cracked the whip over the leader's haunches.

Women the World Over

A historic mansion, believed to be the oldest house in Washington, D. C., built by Lord Baltimore in 1772, was recently purchased by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont as a gift to the National Woman's party. The house is to be known as the Alva Belmont house in commemoration of her leadership during the suffrage campaign and her continued aid in the present work to obtain complete equal rights for women.

The Island of Bunnar, near Australia, is inhabited solely by women. It is a training school for native girls.

Maine, Minnesota, Montana, and Oklahoma are the only states in the Union having clubs composed entirely of Indian women.

Girls and young women are sold at prices ranging from $5 to $40 each in certain districts of China. Girls below the age of 10 bring about $8, and those older, from 15 to 16, sell for $30 and $40—the more comely, the higher the price.

Dr. Marianne Beth, leading Viennese woman lawyer, is engaged in a campaign to give Austrian women equal property rights with men under the law.

Starting out in politics as a county school superintendent, Mrs. Louise H. Coe of Glencoe, N. M., is now in her second four year term in the state senate.

Acting as courier for the Santa Fe railroad is the duty of Miss Mary Tucker. She is guide, counsellor, and hostess to parties of travelers who want to see whatever of interest is to be seen in New Mexico and Arizona.

Because women vote in England and other British possessions, the Women's Suffrage society of Bermuda is preparing a bill to be introduced at the next session of the colonial legislature asking for the same rights.

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

Telling the Truth to an Adopted Child; There Are Many Ways of Doing It Gently

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 60 cents. Two booklets by Mrs. Bevans, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children and another on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IT had been my intention not to publish any more of my wonderful collection of letters from foster parents and adopted children until I was ready to write my intended series on information about adoption.

But in going over these letters there was one that has such a special point that it seemed too bad to hold it back, because it offered in unusually concrete form what many foster parents write me for again and again.

They say, "I want to tell my little boy (or girl) that he is adopted, but I cannot find words in which to do it. I feel helpless and I am so afraid I may make a mistake." Here is a story of this kind in detail, just as it was told to one little boy long ago:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I have followed your column with interest each day and was especially interested in your letters concerning the adopted child. I presume you have had so many pros and cons concerning this subject that another contribution may seem superfluous, but as I once knew an adopted child I shall pass this along for what it may or may not be worth to others.

Adopted When a Baby.

"This man of whom I speak was adopted when less than 6 months old by a middle aged couple who had never had the pleasure of children of their own, although they had been married many years. As to telling or not telling the child that he had been adopted, his foster mother met the situation in this way, and most successfully.

"When he reached the 'tell me a story' age (perhaps being 4 or 5 years old) she told him this story about himself. He liked to hear it best of all his bedtime stories, even though he knew it by heart after many tellings:

"'Once upon a time there was a man and woman who had been married a long time but had never had any little ones of their own to love. Since they very much wished to have babies, they decided to adopt some little baby that had no one else to love and care for it. So they went one day to an orphans' home where there were many children of all ages.

"'Among them was one wee little boy tinier than all the rest. He had eyes as blue as the sky and yellow hair, and they fell in love with him at once and took him home to live with them, and being so tiny he was very helpless and dependent upon them. As each day went by they grew to love him more and more until it soon seemed as if they had had him always. He grew strong and became a fine, manly little boy whom they were very proud and happy to own. Who do you suppose that little boy was?'

"At this point he would expand his chest a little more proudly and beamingly would pretend he didn't know, just to get her to finish the story. Then she would say, 'That little boy was you, and the man and woman were mother and daddy, and so now you are our own little boy and no one can ever take you away from us as long as we live, for we will love you always."

He Knew the Truth.

"He grew to manhood fully informed of the truth concerning his adoption, but loving them as entirely as if he had been born to them, and respecting them all the more for having told him at an age when the knowledge of it wouldn't affect his affection for them. And as he had never known any other parents, they seemed very real to him and he to them. This seems to me to be a beautiful way of bridging the gap, and, as it had no ill effects in this case, perhaps others might find it effective, also."

Surely those foster parents who need help could easily model a story on this one with what variations of their own they thought best. And, incidentally, it must help to convince them of the wisdom of telling their adopted children, instead of tacitly deceiving them about their parentage. The agencies which have charge of adoptions make this course of action one of their strongest admonitions to foster parents, as they have seen so much unhappiness result from doing otherwise.

When I Am Big.

By Eleanor Jewett.

Goldenrod is a funny fellow,
Yellow and gallant and bold.
He can make us sneeze
And our eyes to weep,
When we haven't the sign of a cold.

Goldenrod is a pretty fellow,
But nurse begins to scold
If you sniff just a whiff
Of his golden crown—
You'd think the world was tumbling down
For fear of a Worse-Than-a-Cold.

When I am big I'll have a vase
Full of goldenrod, yellow and bold,
And people like nurse who come to call
Will see the jar in my waiting hall,
And then they'll smell
And I'll say: "Well,
Now YOU'LL have the Worse-Than-A-Cold."

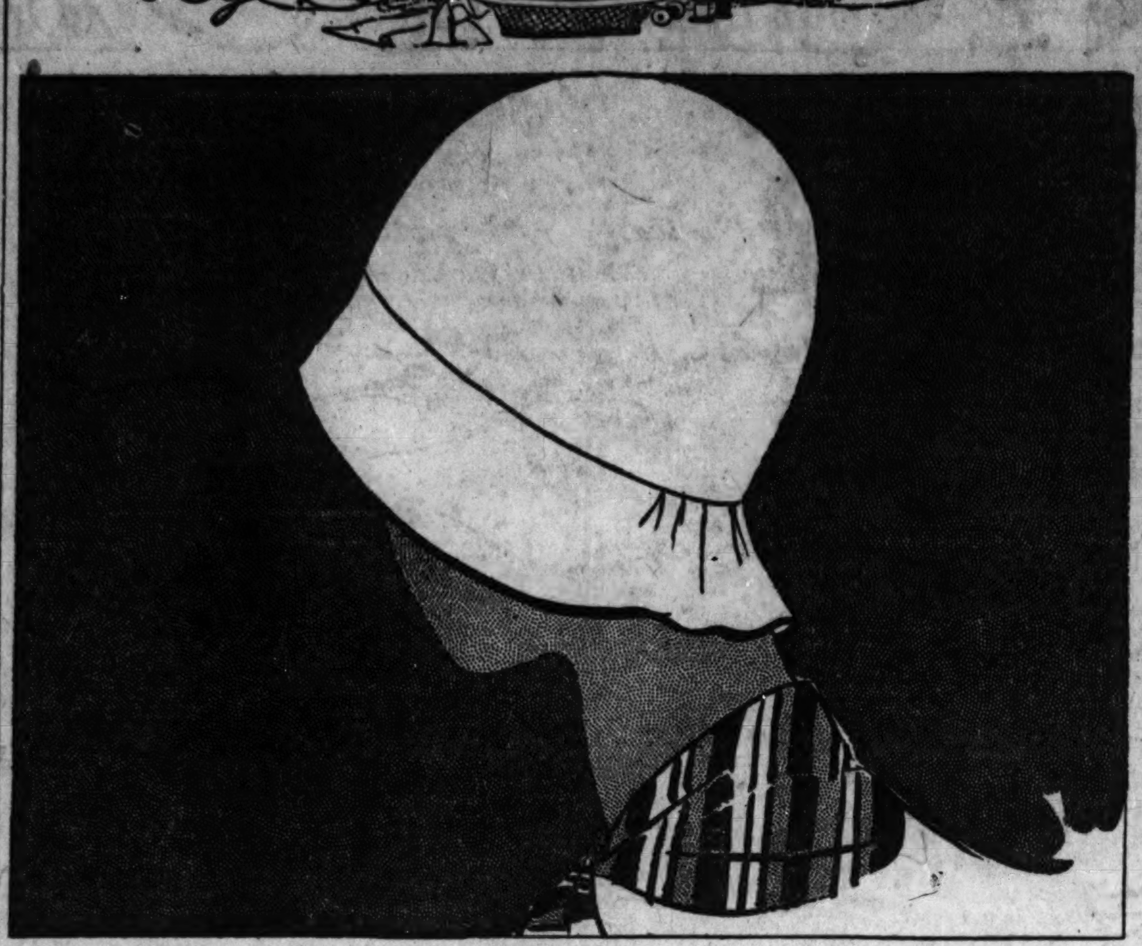
Practical and Fancy Needle Work

By Clotilde . . .



New Millinery Runs the Gantlet of Autumn Colorings.

THE smart hat shown is made of parchment colored felt, this new shade being quite the thing, this season. It is much like the eggshell tones but has a bit more tan in it. The brim is cut off over the face and left long on both sides, while the back is left much longer over the neck line. The fullness of the brim is shirred into the back of the crown with four rows of shirrings, no trimming being used on this hat.

Following is a list of new fall colors. The light tones of blue are Byrd blue, polar and navigator blue, and deeper tones are homage, independence and santander blue. In light tan shadings are parchment, clicquot, golden beige and burnt buff. In light orange shadings there are Indian orange, sun god, totem, all of which are good again this season.

A reddish brown called cedar is in great demand. The atmosphere is thick with anticipation for reds and browns this fall. The two tones combined make a wonderful shading called rust. Some of the browns have a little more orange in them, giving that warm terra cotta tone.

Brown again runs into a wonderful shade called pottery. This has more rose in it than the other tones have. Cinnamon is a cozy tint that keeps the cedar tones. In the past only the vivid tones were used for sports wear. Now the quiet, tame colors are shown and worn at both indoor and outdoor sports.

There are three new shades of red: Carmencita, a light daring red; Castillian, a bit darker, and Goga, a light wine coloring. A warm red is always a good winter shade.

What is your sewing problem? Do you have trouble in following a pattern? Do you find difficulty in making a skirt hang evenly or making a sleeve that doesn't twist? If there is anything you would like to know about these or other problems of needlework, write to Clotilde, The Tribune, Chicago, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope if a personal reply is desired.

Barbara stood anxiously by the crib. Larry, the new arrival in the household and still quite a novelty, was crying most lustily.

"But, muvver, why does he cry like that?" she implored almost in tears.

"Because he needs some exercise, darling," her mother replied.

"Well, div it to him quick then," advised her young daughter.

I. L. H.

Little Sue, aged 4, had been seriously ill for some time and had demanded her mother's constant attention. After she was on the road to recovery her daddy offered to relieve her mother so she might get a much needed rest.

Sue asked for her mother but was told that daddy would give her what she wanted. Thoughtfully and tearfully she replied, "Yes, but daddies don't make good mothers." J. G. H.

One of the smaller neighbor girls is considered a "tag" by the older children and often they resort to harmless pranks to get away from her.

Margie, my curly headed niece, had said little Belle was too small to be in their "gang," so I then asked how old Belle was.

"W-well, when we don't want her to know where's we're goin' we spell. That's how old she is, aunty," came the truthful rejoinder. E. A. P.

FRIEND IN NEED

By Sally Joy Brown.

I want to be the medium through which the friends in deed and the friends in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy and you would gladly give it. Write to me and I shall be happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send article to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Offers Fifty Boys' Books.

"I have about fifty boys' books including the Tom Swift series, some of the "Frank" books, the "Khaki Boys," and many others not of any particular group. They would be interesting to any boy from the age of 10 to 14 years. As there are so many I think some organization, boy's club or group should have them. I will be glad to give them to any one you recommend. N. C."

Here's a find, indeed, for the library of some settlement house, club, playground or family having boys of this age. And they're just the sort of stories normal and healthy boys "eat up." Write me, if you'd like part of this collection. Please do not telephone.

Home Furnishings Needed.

"I wonder if your readers can be of some help to a family we are interested in. The father, an ex-service man, was recently discharged from Speedway hospital and is trying to find suitable work but it is difficult to do so because he has heart trouble. There are four children—boys 11 and 9 years of age and two girls, 7 and 5. They have been living in three furnished basement rooms and would like to move into their own flat but they have no furniture. Do you think you could get them the necessary pieces? Mrs. F. Z.

Living in such crowded quarters must be a most unsatisfactory arrangement for this afflicted veteran and have managed an organ but we and his family and going into an unfurnished apartment would be an excellent move. Those of you who have surplus articles of furniture and pieces you are about to replace can help to make such an arrangement possible.

A Plea for a Destitute Family.

"I am writing you in behalf of a family that seems to be having more than its share of trouble. The father has been out of work for a long time, getting only odd jobs now and then. The mother must undergo a serious operation next week and the five children will have to be separated until she is able to care for them again. The children consist of a baby boy 10 months old, boys 2 and 9 years, and girls 5 and 8. They are all destitute for clothing and I wondered if you could help them get what they need.

"E. C."

Here's a pitiful case, indeed, where unemployment and ill health have joined forces to wreck the comfort and home life of this unhappy family. If the children are comfortably clothed the parents will be relieved somewhat of their distress and worry. May they not have the garments your children are no longer able to wear?

Plea from Mountain Music Lovers.

"I wonder if your wonderful work reaches to the Ozarks. We are a small mountain church and school combined are anxious to obtain a "fiddle." Nearly every man and boy here plays by ear when able to get any kind of a stringed instrument. Is this too much to ask? A. S."

Such talent and zeal for music should be fostered especially in this mountain country where conditions have made higher education almost an impossibility. If you can donate the violin they want, won't you please do so?

Wants Dressmaking Instructions.

"I wonder if one of your readers has books on dressmaking and designing she has finished with. I am interested in both but cannot afford to pay for a course. I. D."

If you have completed the correspondence course which was so helpful to you in learning to make and design your own clothes won't you pass it on for the benefit of another potential dressmaker? She'd be delighted to have it.

Asks a Violin Bow.

"I am a young lady, 25 years old. Although I have been working the expense attached to illness has kept me from buying a violin bow I would like to have. I know your readers have offered such things at times and if I could get one now it would certainly make me happy. S. H."

The violinist who recently invested in a new bow can place his old one where it will bring a great deal of happiness. This young woman who cannot play her violin until she gets one would be a most deserving recipient.

Request from a Tennis Enthusiast.

"I am applying to your column for a tennis guide—a book of rules for tennis and directions for playing the game. I have tried to get one in several stores but so far have been unsuccessful. If you can secure one for me, I would be most grateful.

"J. M."

Have you such a book for this aspiring tennis player? Or can you supply him with directions and rules? This information would be most gratefully received, I know.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underneath skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines we recommend a face lotion of unusual merit. One ounce powdered saxolite and one-half pint witch hazel,

Pet Economies

Tell us about your pet economy or an odd economy of some one you know and we'll pay you $1 if we print your letter. Address Economy, Sunday Tribune.

More Like a Joke.

I have a friend who saves every garden seed from years back. Once she planted a late garden of string beans. About a week later they traded houses and she couldn't stand the thought of loosing out on the beans. She scratched around in the ground until she had retrieved all her seeds to take to the new place.

Call it economy? My husband termed it the best he had ever heard.

W. P. D.

A Strange Trick.

My idea of real economy is a trick my aunt has practiced for years. She saves the little strips of gummed paper from sheets of stamps which she uses to repair torn book leaves, sheet music, etc. She points the finger of scorn at us who buy gummed paper for the purpose and says we will "end up in the poor house." D. D.

Sticks to One Job.

My pet economy is in holding a position that my relatives and friends advised me against, rather than lose any time in permanently placing myself in other employment. I have now held this position for eleven years. Many of my acquaintances have shifted their duties countless times during this period of time, and a few of them have advanced by such changes. However, I keep at the same old "grind" steadily, and get my salary in full for time off on account of illness, summer vacations, and week-end trips home [out of town], which I deem economical in the long run, as compared to seeking the possibilities offered elsewhere, which, of course, cannot be definitely understood until the positions are tried out.

J. S.

Here's a Record.

In fifteen years' office and bank work, I believe the following economy, under the circumstances existing, takes the prize:

My employer was a banker, said to own practically all of a small town near Phoenix, Ariz.; but the office furniture was home made, and the files were shelves of plain, coarse wood, unpainted; and he had me cut off all unused paper from letters that he received and keep it for scratch paper.

Yet he sent his wife and child to Long Beach every summer and paid $100 a week for hotel expenses.

GOOD MORNING!

Here you have one of those pieces that presents college life as college life isn't but proves acceptable entertainment just the same.

"Words and Music" (altalker) is lively, young, pert and gorgeous after the manner of the stage revue, "Good News." It isn't nearly as good as the latter, but, as I said, is lively and young and pert and gorgeous and will undoubtedly please the majority of movie patrons. It has some pretty music—not a great deal; much patter—clever and otherwise; some stunning revue scenes, glitteringly staged and costumed, and it moves with enough speed to blur its shortcomings.

In Love with the Girl.

The story's stage is a co-educational college campus where the students are working hard on a musical comedy writing contest. The principal competitors for the $1,500 prize are two youths in love with the same popular girl—Mary Brown.

She turns down an invitation to act in the big number written by Pete and agrees to play the lead in Phil Denning's pièce de résistance—a hunting scene. Phil is poor and working his way through college, but Mary Brown thinks he's pretty grand, while he is in love with her.

A certain maiden who is jealous of sweet Mary Brown and has a horrid way of tattling to the rigid spinster dean, learns of a prank in which Mary has become involved. She so pulls her strings that Mary finds herself out of the number into which she has thrown herself with all her heart, while her enemy steps into her place.

That's the nucleus about which the action of "Words and Music" revolves.

Lois Moran is splendid as Mary Brown. She's a very versatile child—can sing, dance, talk—and what have you, besides always looking so fetchingly like a startled kitten. Helen Twelvetrees as the spying tattler does good work, though of course you don't like her for a minute. Tom Patricola adds considerable savor to the ensemble as one Hannibal, and the supporting cast of young players all do well what they have to do. Elizabeth Patterson caricatures a perpetually disapproving dean admirably and amusingly.

This production is hot weather fare that should prove pleasing to nearly everybody.

Bits ABOUtem.

WILLIAM TAYLOR, 101 years old, has been given a part in the altalking version of "The Vagabond King," produced by Paramount and starring Dennis King. He was born in 1828 and is a veteran of three wars. He has never married and is reported as having remarked with a jovial wheeze: "If I'd married I'd 'a' been dead long ago!"

* *

MAURICE CHEVALIER has gone home to France for a two months' vacation. When he returns to these shores he will immediately start work on another picture for Paramount. One hopes the producers will hand him a better vehicle than they did in his first venture, "Innocents of Paris." He has just completed "The Love Parade" under direction of Lubitsch, about which we cannot comment—not having seen same.

* *

LAST WEEK a call went out at the First National Studios at Burbank, Cal., for:

One stuttering man.

One stammering woman.

One hare-lipped man.

One handsome young man with a cold in his nose.

One lisping Negro girl, 12 years old.

The last item has to do with Marion "Peanuts" Byron, Follies comedienne, who is now in pictures. She lisps the name of her lover in a football picture called "The Forward Pass." The little Negro girl is used to mimic her.

This news note just rolled in: Richard Wagner's overture, "The Flying Dutchman," first of a series of "famous screen overtures" conceived and produced by Robert B. Wilson and Henry Bollman, will be released by Sound-Films Distributing Corporation September 9th.

These overtures are intended for not only the musically educated, but also for the masses. They are designed with box office appeal and to satisfy the unexpressed emotions of the soul of the man in the street. They are made to make him want more.

Because psychologists have proved that undivided attention can only be held a little over ten minutes, "famous screen overtures" will not exceed one reel in length. Patrons are not bored with endless credit titles, or personalities, but are immediately plunged into the realm and splendor of attention gripping music.

Sounds interesting!

Gossip Nearly Wrecks Life Career of Eric von' Stroheim

By Rosalind Shaffer.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Special Correspondence.]—Barring not even stars, Eric von Stroheim probably is the most talked about man in Hollywood. With a reputation for extravagance and temperament and risque ideas for filming which has grown like a snowball rolling downhill, he stands as a rather plain example of what gossip can accomplish toward wrecking a career.

Von Stroheim's pictures always made money. There were "Foolish Wives," "The Merry Go Round," "The Merry Widow," and "The Wedding March." Lately the unfinished picture of Gloria Swanson's "Queen Kelly" now lies in neat boxes on the shelf, awaiting the next chapter in the life of this interesting personality, the director.

When "Foolish Wives" was made it was told that $7,000 worth of caviar was used in the scenes where von Stroheim, who was both actor and director, drank ox blood for orange juice and ate caviar for breakfast bacon. When I asked him about this at his modest bungalow home in Hollywood he denied the story had any foundation in fact.

Defends Extravagance.

"When the shots showing me eating the caviar were made the glass dish holding the caviar in a block of ice was made with a black painted box which looked like caviar. On top of this was spread a layer of caviar which I was shown eating. A 90 cent box was used, renewed perhaps four or five times a day for four days. It was necessary to renew it because of the heat and the caviar spoiling. I think the cost was much less than $7,000."

Tales of Von's supposed extravagance have caused producers to tremble with terror when some one sug-

Hollywood Spenders Trek East; Learn About Film Timeclock

By Tom Pettey.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The revues are the big It films today. They are as popular on Broadway as a Paul Poiret frock on a débutante. The revues came along with sound and the color cameras and remained to smash a few box office records, then they began to multiply in the print rooms and prepare for road work.

Nearly every company has a big song and dance film under way now, and the eastern studios have an opportunity to yank Hollywood by its lavender necktie. Revues can be made quicker, better and cheaper among the chimney pots of New York than out in Bungalow land—and they will be.

The recent trek of talkie directors eastward has not been just to try out the combination air-rail schedules. It is hot in New York, and the movie folks hereabouts have no marble swimming pools to cool off in on sultry evenings. The directors have been trotting into town, combing a few cinders out of their hair and calling on the Payoff Man for a little chitchat about production costs. I have been told that the Payoff Man has won more arguments than John McGraw.

Payoff Men Irked.

There is a little whisper in the air—the microphones have caught it—that the social life of Hollywood with its clubs, garden parties, and colony festivities, is beginning to irk some of the eastern payoff men who have had a peep into the workshops beside the Atlantic. Movie folks go about their jobs in this town as if there was a time clock just around the corner—and there may be one. They are just actors in the eastern studios, and on the lot for a day's work. Since the talkie has become the little brother of big business, speed and economy in production have held a particular fascination for the checked-suit men with the check books.

The talent market for revues and other motion picture spectacles is only a nickel ride from the eastern studios. The big orchestras are here ready to play for any film and go back to their dinner club jobs the same evening; the trained dancing and singing leads are available on a moment's notice, and nobody ever noticed a shortage of chorus girls along Broadway.

All of which is a magnet to the magnates that ultimately will draw a considerable volume of the picture manufacturing business away from Orangeland to the place where they squeeze the oranges.

It's Different Nowadays.

"It is like this these days," said Victor Schertzinger, the director, who talked frankly, "they are cutting the corners. It costs a lot more to make a talkie than it did to make a silent picture. The producers are going to save whenever they can do so without injuring the picture. It is going to make a difference in some of the salaries, too. It takes more than a pretty profile in the talking pictures to make good. It used to be that a director could take almost any one and make a picture, but now the actors have to face the camera and talk right into the microphone. If any one thinks conditions in the motion picture business have not changed, then they had better begin looking around."

Even the trade papers are taking notice of the propaganda from the west coast against the eastern stars and studios. Variety says:

"It is no longer possible, as it used to be, to close the doors on new talent, to snub the legit stage. And at the same time it is no longer possible to artificially prolong the careers of stars and directors who have become passé. Short sighted executives in Hollywood who fight against the inevitability of eastern production may also discover that their reputations are getting a bit tarnished."

Stock to Enter 25th Year as SymphonyHead

Orchestra Plans to Pay Special Tribute.

By Edward Moore.

THEY have not said very much about it yet, but the chances are that they are getting ready for something extra special when the Chicago Symphony orchestra goes into its new season. It is something of an extra special occasion. That wise musician, potent conductor, progressive personality, Frederick Stock, is going into his twenty-fifth year as conductor of the organization.

It was back in 1891 when Theodore Thomas came out from the east to Chicago, which he had been in the habit of visiting, and founded the great orchestra which, by the way, is about to begin its thirty-ninth season. With its early struggles, deficits, artistic successes, one need not be concerned at present. It is enough that the organization became a continuing one.

Somewhere about 1896 Mr. Thomas picked Mr. Stock out of the municipal orchestra of Cologne, Germany, and brought him to Chicago as a member of the viola section. In 1901 Mr. Stock became the assistant conductor of the orchestra, and when, on Jan. 4, 1905, Thomas laid down his earthly baton forever, Stock picked it up and has wielded it ever since.

Leads a Busy Life.

It is a busy life, that of a symphonic conductor these days. Think of conducting between 115 and 125 concerts a year and then looking back on a quarter century of that sort of career. And this means not only conducting but preparing, picking out the music, rehearsing, learning new scores, keeping up to date with new music as it is produced in the musical world, and frequently lending a helping hand to that downtrodden but vocal person, the American composer.

When he has nothing else to do, Mr. Stock composes music. How he

George Cohan Sets Style in Stage Modesty

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—Give George Cohan credit. He can take up as little room in the center of his own stage as any other actor I know.

Accused frequently of being one of the most persistently self-exploiting of stars, he is actually more modest than 90 per cent of his contemporaries.

George is not opposed to taking the center of the stage when he is rightfully entitled to it, but once there, if you will take the trouble to observe him, he lets his associates do most of the acting around him.

He does the questioning and they do the explaining. He does the listening and they do the talking. He writes the good lines but most of them are spoken by some one else.

This is particularly true of Cohan in his newest play, "Gambling," which has given the New York theater season such impetus as it has gained to date. The story swirls and centers around the author, who plays the leading rôle, but he is careful never to get in the way of it personally, as you might say.

Only in the first act is Cohan at all loquacious. There he is called upon to reveal sections of his life in order to give the play its foundation.

Faces a Nasty Problem.

As Al Draper, who is such a gambler as John Oakhurst might have been if Bret Harte had sent him from Poker Flats to Broadway and he had lived here long enough to acquire local color, Cohan faces a nasty domestic problem.

His adopted daughter has written him from shipboard that she is returning suddenly to America from her year's study in Europe; that she is with a young man named Braddock; that she has taken a room in an obscure hotel and that she will the following day call upon her "dear daddy," and ask him to help her make a momentous decision.

Stunned by the news, Draper begins an immediate investigation. At 2:30 in the morning he sends for his old friend, Connelly. Connelly knows young Braddock and Draper wants to have reliable information as to what kind of man he is before he decides what to do.

In confidences tensely spoken, Connelly admits his acquaintance with Braddock and Draper reveals the cause of his anxiety. For sixteen years he has guarded this girl. She has had his protection ever since she

This and That Thing About the Theater

And This Means About the Actors, Also.

By Frederick Donaghey.

ONE of the notable plays written in recent years is added this week to Chicago's slim list of things to be seen and heard in the theaters. As yet, I know "Journey's End" only through having read it: I was not in the mood for a play in kind when, last month, I spent three or four days in New-York. Doubtless, I should have been eager to see it had it not been for the expectancy of soon seeing it here; and it may have been that my mood had some of its reason in a desire not to see it first with a cast other than the one formed for Chicago. The repute which the play quickly obtained in London has spread round the world in a brief time; and it is easy to detect high curiosity here concerning it. That Mr. Sherriff, who wrote it, is in great demand I have related in THE TRIBUNE; and it seems fair to estimate that, even if he never again write a success for the stage, he will be a well-to-do fellow from the royalties of his first effort. . . .

An aspect of "Journey's End" which interests me is the circumstance that all the characters are male. Another play with none save male personæ is to be the second of the five plays in the Blackstone season of the Theater Guild of New-York—"Wigs Over Europe." (It is an unimportant coincidence that Maurice Browne, who is one of the owners of the right to perform "Journey's End" everywhere in the known world, is part-author of "Wings Over Europe.") Back in 1912, when I was serving as Chicago pro-consul for George C. Tyler, he sent hither in my keeping and as an obligation imposed on my industry "The New Sin," which lacked feminine characters. The play was unusual in that and in other respects, and was not lacking in a measure of merit as drama; but night after night men and women walked from their seats in Powers' Theater to the box-office and asked for the refund of their money on the plea that they didn't care to see a play without women. My recollection is that the play in London was what used to be called a succès d'estime (meaning something liked by the heavy thinkers among the play-reporters for the newspapers); and I am certain that it was a quick failure in New-York, where it was shown after its slim weeks in Chicago. And there is no point to this bit of recollection save that dramatists ever since have persisted in writing plays wherein they have discarded the motto of Place aux dames!

Mr. Browne announces that he has engaged Paul Robeson, the Negro singer and actor, to appear in London later in the present season in the title-rôle of "Othello," and adds that he has an option on the performer's services for like service in the United States, Canada, and the films. For all I know, Mr. Robeson may be quite capable of acting Othello: some of my colleagues in New-York are of the rapt belief that he is among the most gifted of living actors. He is popular in London,—largely, I believe, for his having sung "Old Man River" in the run there of "Show-Boat." Mr. Browne's announcement says nothing to the effect that he thinks Mr. Robeson will be good as Othello because of the actor's coloring; and he may have no notion like that. However, that he is animated by that notion will be the popular reaction to his announcement. There is no more reason why a black man should, because he is black, be good as Othello than there is reason why a Dane should, because of his nationality, be a good Hamlet, or a baritone afflicted with curvature of the spine should be a good Rigoletto. Some of us remember the absurd excitement that followed the casting of the little Japanese singer, Miura, as Madama Butterfly—a rôle calling for an Italian lyric soprano dressed in Japanese clothes. And some of us remember the twaddle that was printed by the column when it was told that the late Jacob Adler, the Yiddish actor, was to learn the rôle of Shylock in English.

Miss Jean Lowell, who had her little day of excitement when all of us were reading "The Cradle of the Deep," seems bent on going through with her scheme of acting the principal rôle in "The Star of Bengal," a play of her writing.

One of the Messrs. Selwyn—the one named Arch—says that the immediate reaction of play-producers in this country toward the absorption of actors, directors, and writers by the sound-movies will be increased importation of plays and actors of English authorship. . . . And I should say that the flaw in Mr. Selwyn's reasoning lies in the fact that London isn't and for some years hasn't been so hot in the matter of plays and actors. Our exportations in both lines have exceeded our importations.

And Edgar, the other of the Messrs. Selwyn, cables from London to say finds time to do it must forever remain his secret, but the catalog credits him with a symphony, a set of symphonic variations, a symphonic poem, two overtures, an "Elegy," an "Improvisation," a symphonic sketch, a symphonic waltz, a "Festival Prologue," a "Festival March," a "March and Hymn to Democracy" (not to the democratic party), a concerto for violin, and a concerto for cello, not to mention a large number of orchestral arrangements which include, among others, a complete new orchestration, 150 pages long, of Schumann's "Rhenish" symphony.

He is in Europe just now with two main errands on his mind. One is to take the cure at Bad Gastein, the other to hunt up a new first cellist for the orchestra. The first requires a month, the second as much time as may be necessary until the end is reached. In between times he will look over what important music may have been brought out in Europe since he was there last summer. Whether he himself is doing any writing has not been made public. All that is known now is a little about the coming season.

Brilliant Season Is Promised.

They say it is going to be a brilliant one. One of its notable features will be the importation of the Cincinnati May Festival chorus for three concerts with the orchestra.

Two visiting conductors will appear during the season. One is Serge Prokofieff, who has been here before; the other is Alexander Tansman, a composer well known in Europe, who is making his first American tour this season.

The list of soloists is incomplete at the time of writing this, but so far it includes the names of Alfred Cortot, Gitta Gradova, Vladimir Horowitz, and Jose Iturbi, pianists; Mischa Elman, Jascha Heifetz, and Paul Kochanski, violinists; Gregor Piatigorsky, cellist, and Margaret Matzenauer, mezzo-soprano. Others classify among uncompleted negotiations.

Season to Start Late.

The season will start quite a bit later than usual this year, but otherwise no radical changes are in prospect. As in past seasons, there will be twenty-eight pairs of Friday afternoon and Saturday evening concerts with identical programs beginning Oct. 18 and 19, and twelve Tuesday afternoon concerts beginning Oct. 22 and continuing on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The Friday afternoon series is completely sold out and only a few seats are left for Tuesday afternoons and Saturday nights.

The popular concerts on approximately alternate Thursday evenings will continue as usual. The children's concerts, now grown up into young people's concerts, may undergo some change. This is due to the coöperative plan perfected last season between the Chicago school board and the orchestra. The only change made, however, will be in the number of concerts; this may be increased as conditions may demand before the season comes to a close.

Manager Voegeli sends word that some recitals may take place under his direction. The first of these will be the first artist recital in the new Civic Opera house. This will be on Sunday evening, Nov. 10. The attraction will be a piano recital by Paderewski.

London "Proms" May Close.

The Musical Courier has something to say about the present season of "proms" at Queen's hall, London, and insinuates that this season may be the last. It would be a pity. They were one of the most interesting musical events in all Europe when I visited them a few years ago. But this is the article:

"The Queen's Hall proms, London's most popular musical institution, have started their thirty-fifth consecutive season. Sir Henry Wood, with his famous elongated baton, white button hole, and all, is again in command. The old time prosperity seems to have returned: There are again to be eight weeks of six nights each, and the orchestra has been augmented to 100. It looks as though there would be capacity audiences every night.

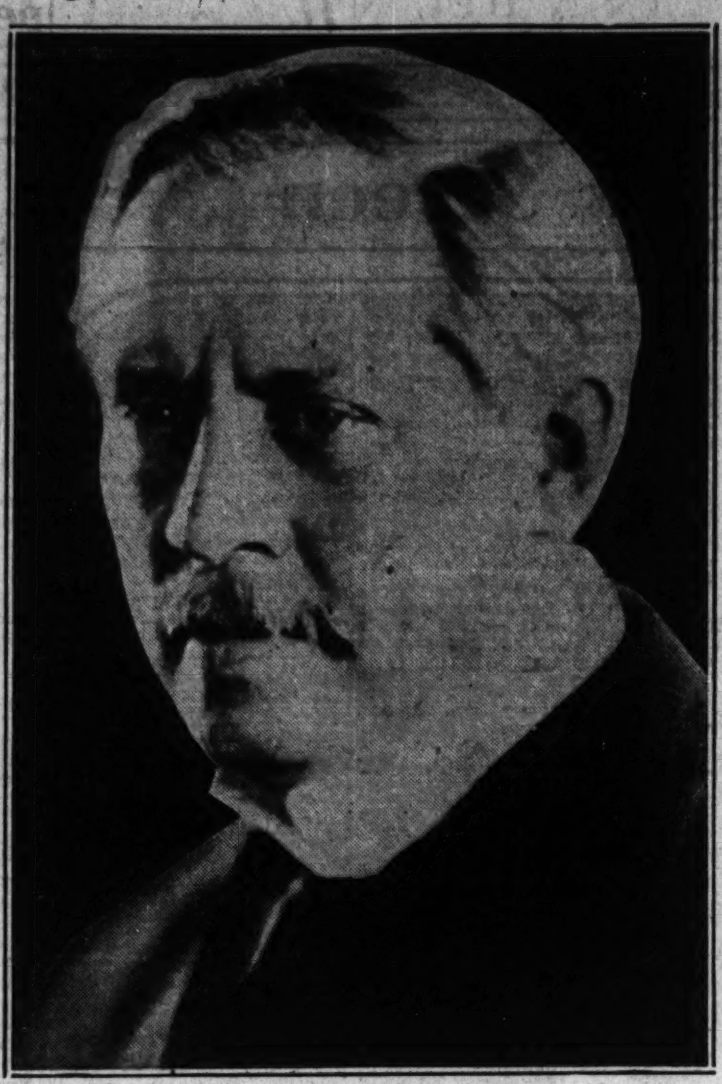
"Yet there is a difference. The proms are no longer the exclusive possession of the old habitués—that unique type of concert-goer which in other cities inhabits only the gallery but at the proms takes complete possession of the hall, mostly standing up in closely serried ranks without budging for two hours and a half. [A prom season without some women fainting from the heat and the crush would not be complete.] Now there are eavesdroppers; all over the country some two or three million people are listening in, turning the music tap on or off, as they please, listening to a snatch of Mozart or a chunk of Beethoven here and there. It is incompatible with the religious fervor of real listening, with sacrifices of both energy and cash.

End May Be Near.

"Moreover there are disquieting rumors that this is the last season under Sir Henry. The British Broadcasting corporation is the real boss and it wants complete control. It wants to use its own orchestra and Sir Henry wants to use his. At present it looks as though they will have to take him, orchestra and all, or not at all. If so, who will succeed? Sir Thomas Beecham? Or a galaxy of "guests"? That would be the death of the old proms, as Londoners have learned to love them. The secret of their success is one central, picturesque, and purposeful personality.

"What that personality has done for London can be seen by one glance at this year's programs. The old popular, semi-popular, and "light classical" stuff has gone, gone the way of the shop ballad and the William Tell overture. Bach and Beethoven are the chief gods; Tschaikowsky is tolerated on two nights out of forty-eight. Every Monday is Wagner night—that's the popular one. Every Friday night is devoted to Beethoven. Then there are Haydn-Mozart nights and Mozart-Schubert nights in alternate weeks; and Brahms nights and Bach nights ditto. One night each week is British composer night and these have most of the eighteen novelties. But the non-British are there too—Honegger and Hindemith and Miaskovsky. Also two Americans—Frederick S. Converse, with his Flivver Ten Million, and Leo Sowerby, with his Northland Suite. Until October 5 Queen's hall will be a lively place."

A QUARTER CENTURY OF MUSIC



FREDERICK STOCK

[(C) De Gueldre Photo.]

NEXT January it will be twenty-five years that Mr. Stock has been conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, having taken it up when death claimed Theodore Thomas, its founder and first conductor. During that quarter of a century he has built up a reputation which now acclaims him as one of the world's foremost symphonic directors. They are saying over at Orchestra hall that a specially brilliant season is in prospect. Not that most of Mr. Stock's seasons have not been brilliant, but this is in celebration of the event.

Thirty-One in Opera Ballet.

Twenty-one girls and ten men will make up the personnel of the Chicago Civic opera ballet of the 1929-'30 season. Laurent Novikoff, world famous dancer and ballet master, is the premier danseur étoile and director of the ballet. Ruth Pryor, who came to the Chicago Civic opera first as a member of the corps de ballet and who shortly thereafter was chosen for solo work, is to be première danseuse. Edward Caton, also known to Chicago audiences, will continue as premier danseur. The soloists will be Harriet Lundgren [classical], Julia Barashkova [character], and Sven Larsen [character].

New engagements for the corps de ballet include the team of Kerenoff and Marie [Marie Arrowsmith], whose artistic and beautiful adagios have made them known as two of the brilliant dancers in America; Leila Haller, formerly première danseuse of the Paris Opéra and a member of the Diaghileff company; Leon Varkas, well known to European and American audiences; Kathleen Crofton and Barbara Bradshaw, former members of the Pavlowa Ballet Russe.

Also an Auxiliary Corps.

In addition to these members of the regular ballet there will also be an auxiliary corps de ballet to augment the regulars in the big productions and to take small parts in operas which require rôles mimes.

The Civic Opera ballet school which will open on Sept. 30 is attracting students of outstanding attainments for Mr. Novikoff's master classes. Registrations have been received from all parts of the United States and from England and continental Europe as well. The school marks the first step in the program of artistic education planned as an adjunct to the regular activities of the Chicago Civic Opera company. In time, it is hoped that a chorus school and an orchestra school also can be established. From the ballet school will be drawn the talent necessary to maintain and continually improve the high standards of the Chicago Civic Opera ballet.

In a booklet published by the Chicago Civic Opera company, describing the school, the management says:

"The Chicago Civic Opera company, believing in the identity of its ballet school as a civic institution, will offer classes that will be especially designed to meet the needs of physical culture teachers in social center playgrounds and schools. Special attention will be given to plastic and dramatic dancing, along with those developments of the dance which are now interesting Europe so much.

"Teachers from the various schools and playgrounds will thus have an opportunity to continue their studies under advanced conditions. In fact, the school will be a great laboratory to which teachers may come to counsel with the artistic and technical personnel of the school and the opera company regarding their problems, ideas and plans for community service."

Caton and Larson to Assist.

In addition to Mr. Novikoff, the masters of the ballet school will be Edward Caton and Sven Larsen.

In order to broaden as much as possible the scope of the school and to afford every opportunity for its students and graduates, the Chicago Civic Opera ballet school will maintain a students' service bureau, to which producers and impresarios can come at any time to secure the services of trained artists or groups of artists for productions anywhere in the world. This service bureau will be maintained absolutely free of charge to students or producers, its purpose being to further the careers of these young artists in their chosen profession.

Raisa, Rimini Book Passage.

A cable from Rosa Raisa advises that she and Mr. Rimini have foregone their plans to return to their villa at Verona prior to coming to the United States and that they have booked passage from Buenos Aires on the steamship American Legion, due in New York Sept. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Oberndorfer have been appointed educational directors of the Associated Civic Opera clubs in the forty-two districts of metropolitan Chicago. Five operatic programs are to be presented under their direction, though they will be able to appear in person only at the first and last of the series.

It is a line of endeavor in which they are experienced and expert. Mrs. Oberndorfer presents the material by word of mouth, he follows with piano illustrations. They have done it for the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Civic opera, which took them twice to the Pacific coast, for the Metropolitan opera in New York, for Ravinia, and over the radio.

"Don't Forget to Relax"—Sousa.

"Keep busy but do not forget to relax," is the rather open secret of the remarkable physical and mental vigor of Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa, which has made it possible for the march king at the age of seventy-five to undertake the rigors of a tour with his famous band.

Half a decade beyond the allotted "three score and ten" Sousa will not admit that there is anything unusual in his ability to stand four to five hours a day on the conductor's stand or to make railway trips averaging 200 miles each twenty-four hours. He has been doing just these things almost every day for thirty-seven years as the head of his own organization and for half a century altogether.

He Rests Easily.

Years ago Sousa began to train himself to avoid useless worry and tension. He has that rare ability to sleep anywhere and at any time of the day or night. He rests as comfortably in a theater dressing room or in a straight backed chair offstage before the beginning of a concert as in the easy chair in his home at Port Washington, on Long Island. Between concerts and even during fifteen-minute intermissions in his programs he habitually has attended to his voluminous correspondence, written books and magazine articles or even worked upon new compositions of others.

That Sousa's prescription has been a sound one is indicated by the fact that during his entire career he has been incapacitated but twice. In 1898, during the Spanish-American war, he was stricken by typhoid fever. More than twenty-five years later he was unable to conduct for two weeks as the result of a fall from a fractious horse.

The seat sale for the two Sousa concerts on Sept. 22 will open at Orchestra hall tomorrow morning. Word comes that advance orders have been unusually heavy.

Gershwin Piece Amuses.

Of the novelty of the program, never before played outside of New York, Richard S. Davis in the Journal says: "George Gershwin's 'An American in Paris' was the stunt of the night, a lively, amusing stunt like doing the cabarets after the opera. The piece is Gershwin as a more or less serious musician and not a playboy, but still raising the devil with what the professors teach, which is fun if not conviction. He should now construct 'A Frenchman in Chicago,' which ought to be an even more impish diversion. As for the tone poem on Paris, the orchestra played it rather spunkily and with obvious enjoyment of its heresies."

Plays and Such of Ten Years Ago in Chicago Theaters

SUBJOINED are news of and comments on plays and shows printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of September 7, 1919—the date most nearly corresponding to today. The excerpts are verbatim, and not rewrites or summarizations.

The crisis in the actors' strike is at hand [writes Burns Mantle from New-York]. This week, I believe, will see the turn—either in a more-or-less complete victory for the Actors' Equity Association or in the issuance of a final defi by the managers and the squaring-away of both forces for a long-drawn-out and excessively-costly fight, in which the organized-labor issue will be freely admitted and squarely met.

If the managers hold firm in their refusal either to compromise or to arbitrate, there is nothing that can keep the strike out of every city in the country in which there are theaters and representative groups of men affiliated with Mr. Gompers' federation. The managers, encouraged by George Tyler's success in Chicago, began the week full of pepper and determination. Rehearsals were called for a half-dozen companies. As fast as the actors appeared, they were signed up to the new Fidelity Association contract. If they failed to appear, their places were filled with an anti-Equity player.

It is no longer the actors' fight. The stage-hands and the musicians have taken it over. Both the Hippodrome strike and that which put an effective quietus on the announced productions of the Gallo Opera Company were called not by the actors, but by their scrappy associates. The Equity Association had given both these attractions a clean bill of health, and advised them to go ahead. But the stage-hands and musicians, discovering that, if they did go ahead, the Messrs. Shubert, in the case of the opera company, and Charles Dillingham, then manager of the Hippodrome, would share in the profits, calmly but firmly announced that there would be nothing doing—and had their way.

Hippodrome back in line. Mr. Dillingham resigned. Management increased salaries of chorus-girls from $25 to $35 a week. Accepting this concession, Marie Dressler, president of the Chorus Equity Association, blew her little whistle, and the girls returned to their jobs. But the opera company is still idle.

Twenty Years Ago

GOING back through the files to twenty years ago, or to the corresponding Sunday of 1909, the interests of theater-goers were catered to in THE TRIBUNE of September 5 by the paragraphs that follow.

"The Deluge," a play translated by Frank Allen from the Swedish of Henning Burger, is under consideration by Wagenhals & Kemper. It is an allegory in one scene, representing a Chicago saloon of the better class. Burger is an eccentric. After the first night of "The Deluge" in Stockholm, he playfully shot a friend by way of celebration.

"The Deluge," a powerful and an unusual play, was tried in New-York, where it failed; was tried again, when it failed; and in the Spring of 1924 was tried in Chicago, where it failed.

Another recruit for the New Theater of New-York is Jack Wendell, well known as an amateur, and a brother of Professor Barrett Wendell, author of "The Privileged Classes."

When the writer of these memoranda thinks back to the New Theater of New-York, he doesn't recall Jack Wendell.

At the Gaiety Theater (New-York), last night, John Barrymore appeared as Nat Duncan, the leading rôle of Winchell Smith's "The Fortune-Hunter," a rural play, with Miss Mary Ryan visible in a sunbonnet characterization of a village belle. One of the sympathetic types represented was a rural inventor, impersonated by Forrest Robinson.

'Twas in "The Fortune-Hunter" that John Barrymore really clicked as a star. The piece was through a Chicago run that season, in the Olympic, with Thomas W. Ross in the Barrymore rôle. Later, Will Deming acted the rôle here, in McVicker's. And, in the course of time, "The Fortune-Hunter," tricked out with songs and dances, was given as "The City Chap," which was a failure in New-York and Chicago.

De Wolf Hopper is engaged in the rehearsal of his new musical comedy, "A Matinée-Idol," in which he will appear as an actor and a clairvoyant.

Recollection is that the piece was named "The Matinée-Idol." It was a loose make-over by Augustus Thomas of one of Molière's farces. Hopper was not especially happy in it; but the populace seemed to like it.

Alexandre Bisson, the author of "Madame X," which is rather a tragic affair, won his eminence in Paris by his comedies and farces. It was from the works of Bisson that "On and Off," "Because She Loved Him So," "The Nominee," "Settled Out of Court," "The Masked Ball," and "The Lottery of Love" were adapted.

Yes: Bisson was famed for his comedies and farces rather than for plays like "Madame X."

Vincent Serrano, it is announced by Liebler & Co., has been selected to "create" the principal man's rôle in Joseph Medill Patterson's "Little Brother of the Rich," now on the threshold of production. Not long ago, one of Mr. Serrano's previous managers was watching his performance from the rear of McVicker's Theater. "It is not 'The Sins of Society,'" he said, as he turned wearily away: "it is 'The Sins of Serrano'!"

The failure of "The Sins of Society," its American importers believed, should be blamed on somebody other than themselves; so, they blamed it on Serrano, who, to be fair, was just as bad in the principal part as any other actor might have been.

SOUBRETTES IN SEPTEMBER SHOWS

MISS THELMA TEMPLE — MISS MADELINE M'MAHON

MISS TEMPLE is to be seen and heard in "Rain or Shine!" in the Grand Opera-House. She is not a celebrity; and the management explains that she comes into her present employment from the varieties and the night-clubs. To her falls the ditty called "Oh, Baby!" which was admired by the first Chicago audience for the show. . . . Miss McMahon is in "The New Moon," in the Great Northern. Her chore therein is to take part with Roscoe Ails in scenes and episodes of comic love-making, with the appropriate songs and dances. She seems to be an unknown in Chicago; but the management provides a bit of biography which indicates that Miss McMahon has been in "My Maryland" and other operettas.

Music Notes

From all accounts Frank Laird Waller got away to a good start when he conducted the first concert of the Milwaukee Philharmonic orchestra at Milwaukee's Pabst theater Tuesday night. The orchestra is newly organized and operating on a profit sharing basis, and both press and public would seem entirely pleased. The soloists were Yvonne Gall, soprano, and Edward Johnson, tenor, who went up after the close of the Ravinia season, and William Phillips, bass, who journeyed from Chicago, and they, too, came in for many pleasant remarks.

C. Pannill Mead in the Sentinel says: "The orchestral program was an ambitious one and there had been only five rehearsals, but the possibilities shown in the excellent renditions indicate that there is material there for that long looked for Milwaukee orchestra, provided, of course, that it receives sufficient support.

"There were, naturally, rough places, and not much opportunity for those exquisite nuances which Frederick Stock has trained our ears to look for, but there was enthusiasm, clean attack and release, close attention to the director's baton, and vivid rhythm. Mr. Waller proved that he has it in him to get results, for it was no small achievement to give as capital a performance of the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony as he did with players entirely new to him and largely new to each other."

Jessie B. Hall announces the opening recital of the Young American Artists series, Oct. 10, in Curtiss hall, with Beatrice Welter, pianist and Lewis Wareham, baritone, continuing Thursdays throughout the season. Miss Hall announces a Tuesday series in Kimball hall, opening with the homecoming recital of Audrey Call, violinist. Others immediately following are Margaret Lester, soprano; Quentin Ulrey, tenor, and Gilderoy Scott, contralto, in an all English program; Aldo Del Missier, violinist; Helen Protheroe, soprano; Frances Grund, soprano; Ethel Waterman, contralto. Oct. 28, in Orchestra hall, Barré Hill of the Chicago Civic Opera and Eva Gordon Horadesky will combine their annual recitals to benefit the Student's Music league.

BRUSSELS.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth, who is a first class violin player, has taken the initiative in creating a "musical foundation," for which she has subscribed 100,000 francs. The organization aims to promote the work of Belgian composers abroad and to provide means for young musicians to study in foreign countries.

about "opening nights" and the like is just publicity talk, but if any movie may be said to have opened the New York "season," then three rousing cheers and a couple of whoopees must be accorded to "Hallelujah," King Vidor's all-Negro masterpiece, which has set the motion picture critics here chattering away at such rate they have not subsided yet. "Hallelujah" and its story of the colored boy who came to town and lost his money and got religion is a Negro epic. That Louisiana suffle has my old dogs patting but I'll say no more about it for there is too much shop talk on hand.

"Laughing Lady" Mr. Schertzinger's latest job, is in the making out at Paramount's Long Island studio, with Jeanne Eagels and Clive Brook reporting for work every day.

"The Big Pond" with Charles Ruggles in the lead and Hobart Hanley directing will begin shooting in a couple of weeks and then—they are going to make a new movie of "Kid Boots," Eddie Cantor's former stage show. Jackie Oakie and Helen Kane will have important parts.

As soon as Maurice Chevalier gets back from his Paris home he is going to help Paramount pick out a piece that will give him an opportunity to sing and make the picture right out on Long Island. A lurid melodrama also is reported on the fire, but no one appears to know what it will be called or who will do the dastardly deeds." Then, of course, they are going to make another musical comedy film. Monte Brice is continuing his shortie average of two to three a week, and the studio has been experimenting with a couple of foreign language fillers. French and German have been the only tonque twisters so far attempted.

Broadcasting from Reels.

Broadcasting from reels of film instead of phonograph records will be tested next month by the Columbia Broadcasting system. Music and speeches will be recorded on films and sent to the stations for use whenever the management desires. Of course, whenever reproduced music or speeches are broadcast they will be announced as such.

New York lost Rudy Vallee to Hollywood last week, but in return some of the boys and girls are hurrying home to Broadway. Among them are Dudley Digges, Norman Kerry, Marilynn Miller, Paul Whiteman, Vivienne Segal, and Billy Rose.

This week's Broadway slang that has not yet found its way into the talkies includes.

"Up to now,"—properly used when a fellow asks you if he hasn't always been your pal, etc.

"That's your old age," to be chirped on occasions when somebody wants to go home or refuses to take a third drink.

And to describe one of those very young things trying to crash a Broadway party: "Why, her grandmother came over on the Graf."

New in Manhattan.

Six novelties are listed for the week in the New-York theaters. They are "Scarlet Pages," by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer, with Miss Elsie Ferguson, Miss Claire Luce, Robert Williams, Lee Baker, Miss Jean Adair, and David Higgins; "House-Party," by Kenneth Phillips Britten and Roy Hargrave, with Miss Penelope Hubbard, Miss Anne Sutherland, Miss Harriet Macgibbon, and Mr. Hargrave; "Remote Control," by Clyde North, Albert Fuller, and Jack Nelson, with Frank Beeston, who was here in "Excess Baggage"; "Murder on the Second Floor," by Frank Vosper (of London), with Miss Leonore Harris, Miss Florence Edney, O. B. Clarence, George Probert, and Laurence Olivier; "Heigh-Ho!" (a revue), by Dolph Singer and Leo Donnelly, with J. C. Flippen, Miss Grace Hayes, and Neville Fleeson; and "The Comedy of Women," by Leo De Valery, with Mrs. Theresa Maxwell-Conover.

that he has taken for use in this country "Her Scarlet Ladyship," which is a comedy by Geoffrey Kerr, who may be identified as the husband of the engaging Miss June Walker, although he has an identity of his own as a player of what are known in show-business as "polite juveniles." Miss Walker and he were together in Chicago last Winter in "The Bachelor Father."

Kenneth MacGowan, who takes the Theater with deadly seriousness, has written "Footlights Across America," which is his record of a trip involving five months of time and 14,000 miles of travel. The purpose was to make a survey of little-theatres, college theatricals, and what he calls "touring conditions" for the Carnegie Foundation and the American Association for Adult Education. When not engaged in that or cognate activities, Mr. MacGowan produces plays.

Jack Donahue, through with Mr. Ziegfeld, is not going to perform for Earl Carroll in a new issue of the Vanities at $6,000 a week, but is going into a song-and-dance piece called "Tin Hats." It is about a millionaire who enlists as a private, only to find that his former butler is the sergeant in immediate command. . . . And that sounds to me as if I had seen it all long, long ago.

One of the new bulletins from New-York is that a corporation has been formed to take over one of the all-too-many theaters down there, put on twelve plays on what traction-workers would call a three-weeks headway, and ask but two dollars apiece for the best seats. . . . Well, twelve plays three weeks each would take care of thirty-six weeks; and that would be quite a season, as seasons have been running in recent years.

John Golden, who is believed to have made millions in a brief time as a producer of plays, is quoted as saying that he will stage six new pieces this season. He was the lucky fellow who put on "Lightnin'" for the late Frank Bacon.

Francis Wilson has been trying out a new piece he has written. It is called "Camille's Companionate Marriage"; and that isn't much of a title, as I see it.

Miss Claiborne Foster, also looking for something to act in, is experimenting with a piece named "Love Me, Love My Dog!" It is by John B Hymer, the variety-stage actor who helped to write "East Is West."

Melwyn Douglas is to take over the rôle in "Jealousy" acted here last Spring by John Halliday. Miss Fay Bainter is to continue in the other rôle.

A play named "True Colors," listed for early exhibition in New-York, is by Jack McGowan, who wrote "Excess Baggage" and helped to write "Tenth Avenue," both known in Chicago. The piece was formerly named "Parade." . . . And another piece of his, "Nigger-Rich," is in the Messrs. Shubert's catalogue of things they may put on.

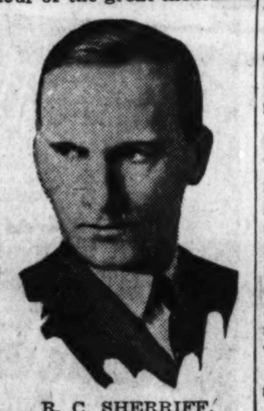
Lionel Atwill is to make another try in "Stripped," a play he tried out late last season. The title is now "Intrigue." . . . Mr. Atwill's name is in the prospectus just issued by the Dramatic League of Chicago.

THE ARMCHAIR PLAYGOER

By Fanny Butcher.

IN CHICAGO.

TOMORROW night there comes to Chicago the most talked of play in the English speaking world, "Journey's End." There will be, with the Chicago company, a cast playing it in all four of the great theatrical centers which cater to English-American audiences—one in London, one in New York, one in Chicago, and one in Paris [any one who has been in Paris in the late spring and summer must of necessity admit that it ranks then as one of the great American cities].



R. C. SHERRIFF, Author of "Journey's End."

By those who have the most right to speak—the soldiers themselves—it is said to be the best world war play yet written. Its almost unparalleled box office success proves that not only is it a picture of war but a picture of such universal human emotions as to touch every one.

I saw it in London with what seemed to me almost a perfect cast. I had read it [as you may do] and I had been so torn by it that the pathos and beauty of it was almost too much to bear. Presented, the pathos was none the less poignant, but there was such an inevitableness, such a reality, such a sort of rightness about it, and withal such a fundamental humor and good-fellowship, that it was not the terrifically heart-wrenching evening I had anticipated. There were moments when life and loyalty touched one as grippingly as the utter and complete futility of it all. It is a truly great play.

To those who remember the war only as something that happened when they were children, the play is a curiosity.

With us in London were the two little Laughlins, Betty and Mary, Clara Laughlin's nieces, through whose eyes Miss Laughlin has written the "Where It All Comes True" travel books for children. They were fascinated by the play, but emotionally untouched by it. In front of us sat a woman who looked perhaps 45 [it is so hard to tell in these days of synthetic complexions and hair]. During one scene she began to cry. It was not long before she was in hysterics—in that terrible, tense kind of hysterics that has no relief of actually giving way, but yet has little control over its expression. She was shattered with stifled sobs. To the children the play was only a play. To her it was a memory relived.

The story of the play itself is unprecedented. R. C. Sherriff was an insurance adjuster in London. He wrote "Journey's End" for amateur production by a provincial group that had no women players. They turned it down. It floated around for a while, until it came into the hands of Maurice Browne, who had himself, with Robert Nichols, written a play with no women characters, "Wings Over Europe," and who had achieved an enormous personal success as an actor and producer with "The Unknown Warrior." He believed in "Journey's End," and backed its production.

Mr. Browne is here to see the initial performance of the new company in a town where he was much loved [and much hated, as crusaders always are] when he was head of the Chicago Little Theater, the first little theater venture in the United States. He and Miss Ellen Van Volkenburg are to be guests of honor at a tea which their old friend, Alexander Greene, is giving in his bookshop this afternoon.

When R. C. Sherriff came to New York to the American première of "Journey's End" he hastened back to London the moment his leave from the insurance company expired, so incredulous was he of the success of his play and so fearful that he would lose a living. And it is earning something like $10,000 a week for him in royalties!

The season opened for Armchair Players with "Kibitzer," lately published by Samuel French and discussed a couple of weeks ago in this column. "Kibitzer" delighted New York audiences last spring—it opened on Feb. 18—and it seems to be the first dramatic hit of the Chicago season.

It is the advice of this leader of community singing not to read the play if you are going to see it, for it is the kind of dramatic carpentering that depends upon the tricks of the trade to make it amusing, and a surprise at the end is one of the oldest and most effective of all the tricks. If you read the play beforehand the surprise is like a nice bright balloon with a hole in it.

Jo Swerling and Edward G. Robinson are the joint carpenters.

Current Chicago Playbills.

"Paris-Bound," Kedzie, this afternoon, for the week. . . . "The Jade God," Playhouse, starting tonight. . . . "Journey's End," Adelphi, starting tomorrow night. . . . "Rain or Shine!" with Joe Cook, Grand Opera-House, second week. . . . "The New Moon," Great Northern, second week. . . . "Kibitzer," with George Sidney, Woods, third week. . . . "Follow Thru!" Apollo, seventh week. . . . "Pleasure-Bound," Majestic, thirteenth week. . . . "The Nut-Farm," Cort, nineteenth week.

Gossip Wrecks Life Career of Von Stroheim

No Longer Is He Working as Director.

gests hiring him. The Austrian is a well known stickler for authenticity. "It costs no more to have things exactly right than to have them wrong, yet because I have insisted that producers get every cent's worth for their money which I expend, I am called extravagant," he said.

One way in which Von was supposed to have proved famously extravagant was in shooting scenes too risque to pass the censor.

He complains bitterly about stories of indecent things he was supposed to have filmed.

"I am not feeble-minded and I certainly would not do such blatant things as those with which I am charged. Only the other day on Hollywood boulevard a clerk questioned me about an incident related to him by another director, who had left the store as I entered."

Risque Scenes Blamed.

There have been various stories circulated about why von Stroheim was called off the "Queen Kelly" production. One was that he had filmed a scene, estimated to cost $10,000 to $100,000, in which the star did not even appear. Another was that he insisted on la Belle Swanson falling face down in such a heap in a court yard as the A. E. F. shoveled about from place to place. A third was that Gloria and Von quarreled over a hat she was to wear, he insisting on an authentic but unbecoming one and Gloria preferring one that was unauthentic but becoming.

Traced to Will Hays.

The scene shot at some expense, was, according to von Stroheim, one which Gloria herself asked to be made, to give the production some of the pomp of "The Merry Widow." It cost $7,000 and followed the budget arranged and agreed upon.

The truth of "Queen Kelly's" absence from the screen is traced to Will Hays, film czar, who raised objections, to things in the story, such as a colored priest, which he felt would affront devout religious followers and Caucasian audiences.

He also objected to what he considered caricatures of the ex-kaiser and ex-German crown prince, says von Stroheim.

Meanwhile Von Stroheim is not working as a director, but is doing some acting.

Best Movies

If you will tell us what movie, in your opinion, rates above all the others you've seen, and why this particular movie is deserving of praise, we'll pay $1 for your letter if we print it. Address Best Movies, Chicago Tribune.

A Boost for Realism.

Because of its realism, I consider "The Woman of Affairs" the best movie I have ever seen. I doubt that it would inspire the children of today to lead better lives or preach a moral lesson, but it is a story of very human people and in the short time I spent in the presence of these screen characters I felt as though they had become old friends and acquaintances. I liked the fact that this movie had no villain. People made mistakes and the lives of the hero and heroine were wrecked, but the wreckers were doing what they believed was right.

John Gilbert as the man torn between esteem, affection and duty toward his pretty and devoted little wife, and his wild love for the girl he'd always wanted to marry, played his part well. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. gave a convincing characterization of the dissipated and reckless brother of "The Woman." Greta Garbo was wonderful. No one else could have played as she did her part as "The Woman of Affairs," who was not as good as she might have been, but certainly was a brave and very lovely lady. F. W. B.

A Vilma Banky Fan.

The best movie, in my estimation, is "This Is Heaven." Vilma Banky as Eva played her part splendidly. Besides being able to act she is good looking. James Hall certainly deserves a great deal of credit, too. Lucien Littlefield added humor as well as pathos. All of the actors talked exceedingly distinct and Vilma's accent was delightful and appropriate. The theme song was beautiful, completing a marvelous picture and a talkie.

What more can be said? E. M.

George Cohan Sets Style in Stage Modesty

Gives Fine Example in His New Production.

By Burns Mantle.

was 4 years old and her father was shot in a gambling raid in Seattle. If she is in danger now he must know it.

Works Up to Dramatic Climax.

Connelly admits that Braddock is a fast traveling youth, but insists his record is fairly straight. True, he has been providing an apartment for a couple of young women, to one of whom he is supposed to be engaged, but otherwise there is little against him.

Police Inspector Freelock breaks up these confidences. He is looking for both Connelly, Braddock's friend, and Draper. He is plainly suspicious of their being together at this hour.

He has just come from a room in an obscure hotel in which a young girl has been murdered by a blow on the head.

In her pocketbook a gold-framed picture of Draper has been found.

It is perfect melodrama, this scene. The situation builds tensely, the revealment of the murder of Draper's daughter comes as a crashing climax following the sentimental interest in her that Draper's story has created. It is, I think, one of the best first acts Cohan has ever written. That any melodramatist has ever written, for that matter.

Before the act is finished the police have questioned the two girl friends of Braddock; have shifted their suspicions from Connelly and Draper; have heard and considered Braddock's statement that he knows nothing of the girl's death, that she was the best influence that had ever entered his life and he loved her.

There is a lapse of ten months between the first and second acts. The trial of Braddock, accused by the police, is over, he has been acquitted and has sailed for South America. Everyone has forgotten or is forgetting the murder mystery. Every body but Draper. He is still on the trail.

Runs Down the Murderer.

Now he makes the acquaintance of the two girl friends of Braddock. Gradually he becomes the protector of both, working to make one jealous of the other. When he thinks they are ready to talk he agrees to a raid of his gambling house that the girls may be arrested and taken to police headquarters for questioning.

At the climax of the investigation, the district attorney is put in touch with young Braddock, returned to San Francisco, and he confesses the murder.

"He gambled with his conscience and it beat him." That's Draper's explanation.

It is a good play. Like all melodramas with strong first acts it is never quite as good again as it is during the building of its foundation, but it is never dull and there are amusing stretches of comedy.

One of the girl friends is a "tough baby" type, hard boiled and worldly wise. She commands most of the flippancies. Mary Phillips plays her splendidly.

Cohan is nicely suited to the honest gambler rôle. He slips into it gracefully, characteristically, his chin out, his black felt hat pulled down over his eyes, his shoulders swinging after his long stride. He is intently questioning, vividly alert, and never intrusively the star performer. "Gambling" should top the early season competition in drama and stay past holiday time.

New Plays Are Appearing.

The season ambles awkwardly through a delayed opening. August brought eight new attractions, as against the usual fifteen or sixteen. Of the eight, three have started well and five have not. The three are Anderson's "Almanac," Belasco's "It's a Wiz Child," and Cohan's "Gambling."

IS IN IT

MISS LYLE STACKPOLE

She's in "The Jade God," which will be used tonight for the reopening of the Playhouse. The play is one of those who-done-it compositions; and the nature of Miss Stackpole's employment will, doubtless, be disclosed in the performance.

There are four more scheduled for the week to come—Arthur Hopkins' "The Commodore Marries," fashioned by Kate Parsons from a Smollett original; "Soldiers and Women," featuring A. E. Anson and Violet Heming in a story of men and women driven slightly mad by the loneliness of a distant army post; "Sweet Adeline," which the out of town reports favor extravagantly and which is going to disappoint Arthur Hammerstein seriously if it fails to register as big a success as did "Rose Marie," and a comedy called "Great Scott," about which comparatively little is known.

I have heard that B. H. Burnside would like to bring in the huge revue he staged to open the new convention hall in Atlantic City. He has been dickering for the Century theater, which has four or five weeks of life left before the wreckers tear into it, but the Chanins, who are to do the wrecking, want $5,000 a week rental and Burnside refuses to pay that. Particularly, as it would take at least $2,000, he says, to get the theater in fit shape to receive company. Small boys have already started demolishing the place by throwing stones through the cathedral windows that once were the pride of New York's first citizens.

Another Change in "Show Girl."

I assume there will be a new comedienne playing the name part in "Show Girl" when Mr. Ziegfeld sends it touring toward Chicago. Dorothy Stone will be obliged to stick around New York getting ready for Papa Fred's return in a new Stone show. Dorothy isn't much help to "Show Girl" anyway. The part, as you know, is that of a flip and wise young woman who ascends the Broadway grade largely on her nerve and escapes the predatory males who pursue her by being both too wise and too foxy to be caught. Dorothy is not the type. She dances and she sings better than most soubrettes in her class, she is pretty and graceful and uncommonly wholesome. But to me she does not suggest at all the wise Broadway show girl that "Show Girl" demands.

. . . I shall be interested, too, in seeing what the road thinks of Jimmy Durante, the show's chief comedian. There is a Durante cult down here. He is the favorite of the night clubs. But average folks and those from the far places beyond the Hudson are inclined to think him a noisy fellow and just a little daft.

The Voice of the Movie Fan

If you would like your letters printed in this column, please write on ONE SIDE of the paper ONLY. If you want a personal reply send stamped, self-addressed envelope—PLEASE.

Likes Whipped Cream.

My dear Miss Tinée—Some one in last week's "Voice of the Fan" disliked the unreality of so many movies. "Madame X" and "Mary Dugan" I have not seen, but I considered "Charming Sinners" one of the cleverest, most sophisticated movies it has ever been my pleasure to see.

Perhaps Katharine Mills was rather an overfetched character; I have never known a woman of her type, I am sure, but I wish I had. To me it seemed she handled a difficult situation most skilfully. Most women in her place would have cried hysterically or nagged incessantly, or refused to speak to the erring husband. Think how many divorces could be prevented if women acted like Mrs. Mills did.

As far as the picture's being unreal—isn't it rather delightful to go to a movie and be able to forget your own troubles? "The Crowd" was a great picture, yet I am sure it was not a box office success, largely because it was unpleasantly realistic.

Perhaps I have too great a fondness for "whipped cream" movies, like "The Last of Mrs. Cheney"—what a splendid actress Miss Shearer is!—"Fashions in Love," and others like them, but they are most entertaining and amusing.

Like most of your correspondents, I am sincerely sorry to have written such a lengthy letter for I know you have thousands to read, but I did want to justify one of my most enjoyable films. Sincerely yours,

MARGARET SCHLUNDT.

Editor's Note—You mustn't be sorry when I am so glad!

We Can't Help That.

Dear Miss Tinee: I have always made allowances for P. A. exuberance when reading of coming film masterpieces, but it seems that there should be a limit to lying advertisements. I read the ads and reviews of "Four Feathers," and the line that sold me was the one claiming 7,000 animals in the picture. I have been a wild animal picture fan since the beginning, and simply dropped everything and went. Naturally for the animals and counted the following:

Not more than fifty monkeys. Not more than seventy-five camels. Not more than forty hippopotamuses [hippopotami?] The only way I could account for the differences would be that perhaps the P. A. figured each scene as having a different group of animals [the same animals]. Also perhaps I could not see the fleas, bugs, worms, and birds, which I understand are also classified as animals.

Yours very truly,

MAX M. BERK.

Editor's Note: You and the P. A. should get together and work the puzzle out between you.

It's an Idea.

The Tribune advertisements Sunday morning inform us of the presence in the loop of two more pictures barred from the eyes of children. They are talkies. It seems to me we have had an unusually large number of "adults only" pictures recently, and all have been in sound.

How come? Is it that words speak louder than actions in presenting the hush-hush little items of human activity? My suggestion is—when the characters are being naughty let them spell the words out—just like Mrs. Jones in the presence of Willie tells Mrs. Brown that Mrs. Green is a big li-a-r. Sincerely, J. A. SUTTS.

Editor's note: An idea!

Always Finds the Comedy

Dear Miss Tinée: During the last two years we have been following your advice in regard to movies and with an exception or two have always enjoyed the show. After this, however, we'll stick to the six best per month and cut out the honorable mention stuff.

Just took in the "Bridge of San Luis Rey" and consider it the best "comedy" we have seen this year. Got more laughs to the minute out of that than we do with Buster Keaton.

We always do get a big kick out of the sickly, sentimental stuff and half the fun is watching the crowd wiping their eyes, but sometimes the producers overdraw it so that even the most maudlin get a laugh out of it.

If they'd produce more of O'Henry's stories and end them as he ends them, they'd bestow a blessing on mankind.

Respectfully yours,

C. H. HOLLISTER.

Editor's Note: I certainly saw nothing funny about "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

Shaw Uses His 'Apple Cart' for Heavy Pelting

And Some of His Crabs Strike Uncle Sam.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—[Special Correspondent.]—These are rather eventful days in the theater, for within the space of a week we have had Yeats in the rôle of a writer of ballets and Shaw turning devil's disciple with a new play blasting away at much of the bunkum he finds in modern democracies.

Yeats' new piece, originally written as a play under the name, "The Only Jealousy of Emer," now appears as a ballet, "Fighting the Waves," with music by that intrepid young American, George Antheil, who will be remembered for his "Ballet Mechanique," set to sixteen electrical pianos, five airplane propellors, scores of drums and various other noise making implements which caused something of a riot in New York two years ago and necessitated the calling of extra police when it was first meted out in Paris.

"Fighting the Waves" was presented at the Abbey theater in Dublin recently, and apparently was received with a good deal of enthusiasm and with practically none of the hostility which usually is showered on the music of Mr. Antheil.

Most of the characters wore masks, made by the Dutch sculptor Hildo Krop. They gave a strange rigidity to the countenances of the actors, an effect evidently desired by both Yeats and Antheil.

Tongue in Cheek Again.

There was considerable ballyhoo attached to the opening performance of Shaw's new play, "The Apple Cart," a devastating travesty on democracy which hints that the author of "An Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism," like Anatole France, writes a good deal of the time with his tongue in his cheek.

Shaw, or perhaps it was his producer, chartered a special train for all the London critics and foreign correspondents who could be rounded up. He transported them in a body to Malvern, where a Shaw festival was taking place, and gave them a private look at his latest ware.

Some of them were angry at having been induced to lose so much of their valuable time. Most of them, however, called it an amusing day. And they wrote for their journals that as a play it was shamelessly discursive, but as an argument it was interesting, if dishonest.

Here is Shaw in the lively vein of getting married. He depicts England 30 years hence under the guiding hand of democracy. He sees the Peepul's cabinet as only filled with clowns, buffoons and ignoramuses, and he halts his cart and indulges in his favorite pastime of pelting crab apples at them.

Two Women in Cabinet.

There is Boanerges at the Board of Trade, an amiable fraud who blows about in Russian blouse and boots and shows a childish vanity in all things. A choleric old topper runs the home office, a bewhiskered nanny-goat is in charge of the colonies, and so on up to the prime minister, a touchy, pompous old bag of wind.

Only one of the two women cabinet members, "Lizzie," an ex-school marm, has a touch of character, but Shaw makes her admit her inability to make a stand against corruption, in her capacity as power mistress-general. The other woman is post mistress-general, a silly girl who might have come from the music hall and who owed her political success or rather electionearing success to her singing of funny songs which went right to the heart of the Peepul.

In short a government of ninth-rate brains, the inevitable result, according to the Socialist Shaw, of the processes of modern democracy.

King Magnus, the ruler of England, is a different sort of a fellow, a good and great man, the possessor of a superior intelligence who in the end upsets the apple cart and prevents the stars of democracy from robbing him of his kingdom.

The Cabinet Surrenders.

The play ends with the abject surrender of the cabinet, and there you have the whole story except for two curious interludes.

The first, occupying the whole of a short second act, shows King Magnus dallying with a charmer called Orinthia, who would like the king to rid himself of the ugly, home loving Queen Jemima and take upon himself a real, beautiful, fun-loving girl like herself. Magnus is interested but perhaps afraid. He decides to remain free and push his own apple cart.

The second interlude shows the arrival of an American ambassador, dressed as Uncle Sam [goatee and everything] and gives Mr. Shaw an opportunity of expressing his belief that even Britain soon will succumb to the Americanizing process which is taking place the world over.

The United States, with its philosophy of better bathrooms and radios and autos has conquered the world financially and socially. Why should it not crown its achievement by running the British empire from within as well as from without. The ambassador declares that the Yanks have decided to tear up the Declaration of Independence and become a part of the British empire, the biggest and managerial part of course.

Old King Magnus is no fool. He detects Irish influence—perhaps Big Bill Thompson—and anticipates that the Americans plan to move the capital to Ireland, with England soon to become but a small star in the new American flag.

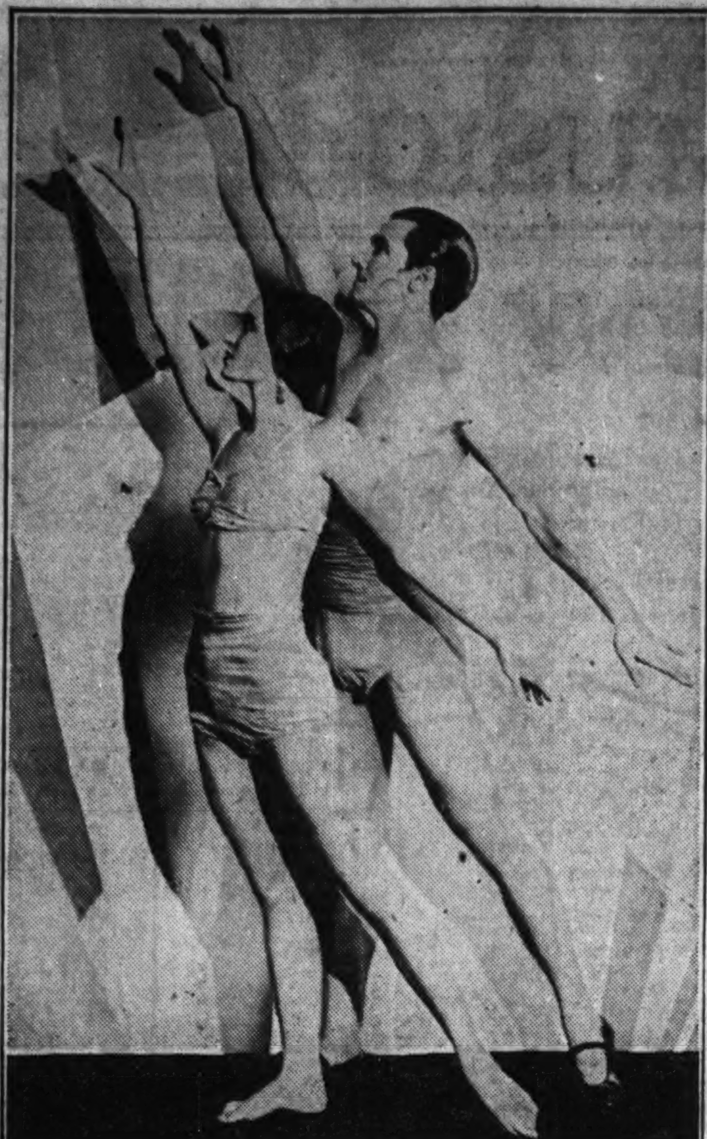
Costuming Is Interesting.

The costuming by H. K. Ayliff, the producer, is interesting, though most of the English critics objected to it. The troupe of oafs who sit in the cabinet wear gaudy green and gold uniforms which remind you of the First Empire or the impertinent ushers in a movie palace.

The least that can be said of the piece is that it is highly interesting at times. Here Shaw's political raillery is at its best and the dialogue has all the cut and thrust and fancy of the Shaw of other days.

The Theater Guild has purchased the American rights and intends to put it on the road in America right away, possibly opening at Chicago, before taking it back to New York, where it is counting on a long and profitable run.

IN RHYTHMIC LINES



KERENOFF and MARIE.

[Todd Photo.]

IN the real order, reading from left to right, the names should read Marie and Kerenoff, and if you would address her by her full name, it is Marie Arrowsmith. The two have reputations for what is known in the language of the ballet as adagio dancing, that is to say, where pose and line have quite as much to do with the case as brilliant execution of difficult feats. The picture indicates that their reputation may be justified.

WITH SOUSA

MISS MARJORIE MOODY

She's the soloist again this season with Sousa and his bandsmen, who will be in Orchestra Hall for afternoon and evening concerts two weeks from today. Miss Moody is billed to sing the Shadow-Song from Meyerbeer's "Dinorah."

Blind, Crippled Musician Not to Go Unsung Long

London Plans to Honor Him at Festival.

LONDON.—(AP)—Frederick Delius, often called the greatest British composer and who was once a Florida orange grower, will come back to London Oct. 12 for the first time since his voluntary exile to France several years ago.

Utterly helpless because of paralysis and totally blind, he will be carried into Queen's hall to open the Delius festival, which will last until Nov. 1.

For several years Delius, who, many think, is without sufficient honor in his own country, has lived in seclusion at Grez-Sur-Loing, near Fontainebleau. Each year he has grown a little more helpless until now, at the age of 66, he cannot even move his hands. Yet he refuses to be bedridden. Each day he is carried downstairs or into the beautiful garden which he cannot see. There he receives visitors and dictates his work from which he will not rest.

"One of the Greatest."

The festival will mark the climax of 20 years' work on behalf of Delius by Sir Thomas Beecham, who regards the paralyzed, blind musician as one of the greatest composers of all time. Several works are to be performed for the first time and there will be others which have not been heard in England since 1911. Some of the pieces to be given their premiere were dictated laboriously during his tragic illness.

All his life Delius has kept rough penciled sketches of every work he has written. A few weeks ago his secretary, a young Yorkshire music enthusiast, ran across the music for "Cynara," which the great composer had forgotten. It needed only a few bars for completion. This is one of the works which will be heard during the festival, and a critic who has heard the music describes it like this:

"To those whose ears are surfeited with strident expressions of the spirit of the present age this music of Delius will seem an oasis of pure and ageless beauty."

Another one is a little air and dance for strings and a song entitled "A Late Lark Twitters from the Quiet Skies"—the latest work he has written.

Although the journey will be trying, Delius has long looked forward to returning to England, which he has not visited since 1923, when he was wheeled into a theater to hear his incidental music to "Hassan." He will stay near Queen's hall so that he can easily be wheeled across to each of the six concerts and listen to his music.

Once in Florida.

Delius was born in Bradford, England, in 1863. He was educated at Bradford Grammar school. When he was 21 he went to Florida, where he became a fruit grower. After two years he went to Leipsic to study.

His best known works include his incidental music to Flecker's play, "Hassan," produced at His Majesty's theater, London, in 1923. His "Dance Rhapsody" also is well known. Other works which will be heard again at the festival include "Appalachia," "Songs of Sunset," "Arabeske," and "Requiem."

War on Speed.

HAVANA.—(AP)—Mounting death lists from automobile accidents and omnibus crashes led the city authorities to inaugurate a war on speeding. Within one week there were 743 arrests for speeding, 269 for violation of parking ordinances and 56 for reckless driving. Heavy fines were imposed.

SINGS AND DANCES AND SUCH

ROY HOYER

HE'S what is regarded as the "juvenile" of "Pleasure-Bound," which once had a plot, as has been told ere now in The Tribune. Mr. Hoyer helps to perform what is left of the plot, and incidentally sings and dances. He may be recalled as the "juvenile" of "Stepping-Stones," the show wherein Fred and Miss Dorothy Stone last appeared in Chicago.

Drill Clad Cuba Refuses to Take Up Pajama Cult

HAVANA.—(AP)—While certain sections of the United States are casting about for costumes providing more comfort during the summer months and engaging in a general contest for first place in pajama street parades, the Cuban clings to his customary white drill suit, always worn with waistcoat and coat.

There is no such procedure in Havana as going coatless on the main streets. When such a sight is encountered, it is usually of a tourist whose peregrinations have caused him to seek relief from all excess clothing. This, to the Cuban, constitutes the ultimate breach in good manners.

No matter how hot the day, the Cuban is fully attired, but, strange to say, never evidences any effect from the heat. He is always calm and cool looking. Nor does he doff his coat at the office.

Tourists wonder and seek some excuse in the belief that white drills are cool—which is not a fact. They only look cool. The drill is not only closely woven, but is stiff with starch and there are no air vents in the fabric.

514,878 on Pay Roll.

ROME.—(AP)—Italy's government functionaries number 514,878 and cost the taxpayers $300,000,000 yearly. The lists include a number of army officers and clerks in the auxiliary services and a few reserve officers subject to recall to the colors.

Bumper Wine Crop.

PARIS.—(AP)—France's 1929 wine crop, whatever may be its quality, in quantity will be a bumper one. Reports from Champagne, Burgundy, Bordeaux, and the other regions say the shoots are of phenomenal dimensions and plentifully garnished, promising a big yield. The effect on prices is another matter.

My Greatest Thrill

Just Before the Crash.

I am a member of a jazz orchestra, and I travel around to the neighboring suburbs a good bit.

One night we were peacefully motoring to a small town where we were to play that evening. We were rapidly crossing a narrow bridge in the road when suddenly the blinding glare of bright headlights loomed before us. The driver slammed on the brakes, and I, sitting in the front seat with him, hugged my instrument from sheer suspense.

The headlights loomed larger and larger, until they seemed to come directly up to us. There was a deafening roar, a moment of unconsciousness, and then the stinging sensation of pain.

I was helped out of the wrecked car by some of my companions who came through unharmed, and rushed to a neighboring farm house.

My knees were bandaged, the glass from the windshield having cut them, and the swelling on my head, lessened by cold applications.

I will never forget the suspense, the thrill of uncertainty during the brief moment between the glare of the headlights and the crash. J. G.

Caught in Ship Fire.

Perhaps the greatest thrill of my life was experienced when, as a child of seven, I found myself trapped in the Baltic sea on a Swedish ocean liner whose hold was aflame with a perilous fire. Chaos and confusion were paramount. Sailors dashed about on the decks intent on manning the pumps and extinguishing the fire that was threatening to send us all to watery deaths. Women clasped their howling children in panic, weak men, completely beside themselves, swore madly or fell on their knees in pitiful prayer. Others, calm and stoical, went about fastening on lifebelts. The crew finally gained control of the fire, put it out and, after skillful reparations, the liner resumed its voyage to the United States.

Of course I was thrilled by the Statue of Liberty, the New York skyline, and the new land with its alluring promises, but none of them quite erased the earlier hazard with its possible shipwreck. G. C.

Just in Time.

Last summer I took a special course in chemistry and had a thesis to write at the end of the course. I was requested to hand in a drawing of the apparatus used in an experiment I was to discuss in the thesis. Unable to draw anything myself, I pressed a friend to do the drawing for me. He did. The instructor praised my work, and especially the diagrams, all of which I accepted smilingly.

On the last day of class thirty minutes remained, and the instructor asked me to read my paper to the class and quickly draw a sketch of the apparatus on the board. I was to be limited only by the ringing of the bell.

Shakingly, I arose, wondering how I would stretch such a thesis over thirty minutes of time, for I knew well that I would never be able to draw anything before the whole class.

Just as I finished reading the last line the bell rang. THRILLED—was I? H. A. K.

KONJOLA

—Many say: "This is the medicine I always needed."

Strange, but true, Konjola, the new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, seems at its best when pitted against the stubborn cases that have held on year after year with bulldog-like tenacity.

This is explained by the fact that Konjola works with the sufferer's food, going directly to the very fount and source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness.

There are no promises made for Konjola . . . it stands only on its record of achievement.

All that is asked for Konjola is that it be given a chance to prove its merits.

If Konjola did not measure up every way as a medicine it would not be found in the Walgreen and Economical drug stores.

The Konjola representative is explaining the merits of this new medicine to large crowds daily at the Walgreen Store, State and Washington. Other Konjola representatives may be seen at the following stores:

Choose a Big Pay Job

Go Into Electricity~Learn To Earn $300 to $600 a Month

"Before I finished School your Employment Department placed me in a good position with the Russell Electrical Company of this City. Now I am Chicago District Manager of the Beardsley & Wolcott Company. When I look back, I realize that when I answered your ad, it was the greatest day of my life."
Nolan H. McCleary
Chicago District Manager, Beardsley & Wolcott Mfg. Co.

Electricity is the biggest, fastest-growing industry on earth. Sixty-thousand new Trained Men needed every year. Thousands needed NOW for openings paying $60 a week and up. Recently one concern called on us for 150 Coyne Graduates. And calls for more men are coming in almost daily. So why stay tied down to some blind-alley, no-future job? Go into Electricity, where salaries of $50, $60, and $70 a week are just the average.

Three Evenings a Week - for a Few Short Months will put you in the Big Pay Class

You don't have to quit your present job. You don't have to spend six months or more studying a lot of dry, uninteresting books. Just spend three evenings a week—for a few short months—working on the fascinating electrical equipment in the Big Coyne Shops—AND THEN STEP RIGHT INTO AN ELECRICAL JOB LEADING TO BIG PAY.

Education or Experience Unnecessary

You need no advanced education, because I don't teach you out of books. And because you learn BY DOING, you get all the experience you will need right here at Coyne.

Expert Employment Service - Free

Don't worry about a job—Coyne training settles the job question for life. Our expert Employment Department will help you and back you up as long as you live—without one cent of cost to you.

Special Aviation - Radio - Auto Offers

Right now we are including Special Training in Aviation Electricity, Radio and Auto Ignition, without extra cost. Also, we are making a special tuition offer, with small weekly payments. But to get these big advantages, you must act at once.

Call—Phone or Write So visit the School NOW. Come today, or any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday night. Go through the Shops. Examine our big outlay of Electrical machinery. INVESTIGATE FOR YOURSELF. This costs you nothing and does not obligate you in any way. Start NOW and in a few short months YOU will be ready to step into an Electrical Job.

THERE will be an unusually large number of garden debut teas along the north shore this month, many of the buds-to-be departing soon after their presentations for their respective colleges. Miss Christabel Ward Wheeler will be presented formally by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, at the Wheeler residence at 1291 North Elm Tree road in Lake Forest on Thursday of this week. Miss Lois Truesdale's tea dance, given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Day Truesdale of Winnetka, took place on Friday at the Indian Hill Country club, and was the first of the series. Miss Emily Brown Pope is to be presented by her mother, Mrs. Henry Pope of Winnetka, at a dinner dance at the Skokie Country club on Friday. Miss Janet Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Willing Kirk of Glencoe, and Miss Anne Small, daughter of Mrs. Ralph H. Small, are to have a joint debut later in the season.

Younger Society Hails Advent of Hunting Season

Onwentsia's Steeplechase Set for Sept. 22.

By Mme. X.

THE hunting season is drawing near. This is one of the year's high spots to the younger element in Chicago's gay set. There are several hunts in the countryside lying about Chicago. In Hinsdale the horse has long been a sacred animal. The late Francis Stuyvesant Peabody was the founder of the hunt club there, and his tradition has been well carried out by his son and namesake, Stuyvesant II. In Winnetka, also, there is a lively hunt club in which the younger set there are much interested.

For over thirty years Lake Forest has been the setting for equine sports. It first established a hunting set in 1897, when the men and the more adventurous of the women of that community organized a hunt with a lively pack of hounds.

In fact, for a brief space of time they had two packs, one the traditional fox hounds, and, for a week or so, a pack of beagles, which Arthur Aldis instituted so as to have milder runs for the youngsters of the community, who hampered the regular hunt runs by crowding the outskirts of the company and creating a dangerous situation. But the beagles were so very slow that they got under the feet of even the slowest horses and were therefore soon discarded.

A Valiant Lot.

These early hunters were a valiant lot of men and women. Knowing nothing of cross country runs, or of jumping and other equestrian stunts, they nevertheless tore madly about in the wake of the yelping pack, and though there were many bad spills, there were none of the fatal disasters that often adorn the annals of such gallant raiders. The men chiefly instrumental in founding this Lake Forest Hunt club were Arthur Aldis, Frederic McLaughlin, the late Frank Junkin, and the late Vernon Booth. Mr. Aldis was the first M. F. H. Mr. Junkin was next in command [does that mean whipper-in?]. Louis Swift was noted for his extreme consideration of and courtesy toward the women riders. He would stop and dismount at the slightest indication of trouble for them.

Among the women riders of that time were Mrs. Arthur Aldis, an intrepid horsewoman; Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney; Miss Gwethalyn Jones; Miss Mary Lord, now Mrs. Prentiss Coonley, who rode a spirited horse named Gray Eagle; Mrs. Preston Gibson [now Mrs. Algernon Burnaby]; Mrs. William Farquhar [formerly Marion Peck, a great belle in her day]; the late Alfred Baker, who was a plucky, but inexperienced rider. He used to say that no one but himself knew how many times he fell off his horse, and he'd never tell.

Horses were personalities in those romantic years and such steeds as Lucan Bell, Skylord, My Lady, Canadian Belle, The Parson, and their equine mates are remembered today by some of the participants in the hunting runs of that era who have forgotten in the intervening decades the names of the men and women who rode with them.

A Primitive Barrier.

Jumping was an unknown art for both horses and riders, so for the instruction of both an ingenious member of the company, I think it was Arthur Aldis, devised the scheme of stretching a board across two barrels set in a gateway and putting the horses over this primitive "panel."

Anxious to carry out English traditions to the uttermost the Lake Forest Hunt club donned pink coats [scarlet, we Americans would naturally call them]. The women wore the traditional skirt and coat of that age. Seldom did any of them ride astride or "cross saddle," as is the technical term. One exception to this rule was Mrs. Arthur Aldis, who delighted to ride in this fashion. But so ahead of her time was she that she and her husband, when in town, used to take their canters at 6 o'clock in the morning in Lincoln park to escape what would have been the excited comments of the general public at the sight of a woman in breeches on horseback. What a change has come in many points of view since that era!

Some of the hunting men of that day in and around Lake Forest, not only had smart pink coats for cross country riding, but they also imitated their English friends by having evening dress coats, swallow tailed, imposing and bright crimson, made for swell dinners in the country. These, however, proved almost too much for their courage. Mr. Aldis, according to his wife, only wore his once, though it cost him a good, round $30, and $30 in that day was a much larger sum than it is today. For twenty years his thrifty and loyal spouse packed and repacked that splendid garment, keeping it free from moths at the expense of much time and attention, until finally came the time for revolt and she took it out to dispose of it. He vainly remonstrated, reminding her of the original cost, but finding her firm consented to parting with it. She was about to give it away, when the late Mrs. Russell Tyson, always practical and wise, suggested dyeing it and disposing of it to some butler, which was done accordingly. Perhaps that once radiant and costly garment is still extant and present at Chicago's swell parties, who knows?

More Professional Nowadays.

Hunting in this age is much more professional and à l'Anglaise than it was in those earlier, simpler days. The head and front of this great sport in the west is to be found in the lovely, wooded, rolling countryside around the little village of Millburn, some twenty miles or so northwest of Lake Forest. Here the Onwentsia Hunt club has betaken itself to escape the increasingly urban conditions of its native town, Lake Forest. Col. Noble B. Judah is president of this hunting outfit and Austin Niblack is M. F. H. Its membership numbers near a hundred and it includes some of the best horse men and women of this region. It has acquired several hundred acres of land and built for itself a stunning set of stables, kennels and other necessary buildings. In the spacious court of these structures its meets take place and it is a gay and gallant sight when the members gather there and mount their horses preparatory to a cross country drag hunt. Always a perilous sport for any hunters, for the Onwentsia Hunt club it is especially so as there is added to the customary dangers a complete outfit of gopher holes into which it is easier than not for a rushing horse to stick his foot and go head over heels. Though there have been tumbles, and bad ones, too, the worst possibilities of these pitfalls have not been met.

Plan to Build Clubhouse.

A delightfully simple old farm house has been turned into a club house for the members of this club. It is furnished with an odd and picturesque assortment of furniture and adornments, almost every piece of which has been lent it by some one or other of the members. The effect is both cosy and charming. It is the height of the sophisticated which has the air of the utterly naive. There is a plan to build a more up to date club house on a knoll near the club stables, but until this is accomplished the members have as attractive a home as could be desired.

The Onwentsia Hunt club steeple chase, an annual event of great importance, is billed to take place this year on Sept. 22, after which the regular bi or triweekly cross country runs, and drag hunts will begin. These will continue through the autumn until winter weather puts an end to them.

Season Opens Thursday.

Chicago's social season opens in Lake Forest this coming Thursday when two afternoon receptions for this season's debutantes will be given. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson Poole are presenting their daughter, Miss Barbara Poole, to their friends at their residence on Green Bay road from four to seven o'clock. At the same

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

MRS. JOHN KAMPER.
[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]
Mrs. John Kamper was Miss Harriet Sherrill of Evanston before her marriage on Aug. 22.

MRS. JACKSON WYMAN SMART.

THE marriage of Miss Dorothy Delle Byrnes of Honolulu to Jackson Wyman Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Smart of 4610 Drexel boulevard, took place on Aug. 30. The former Miss Byrnes is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University and Mr. Smart was graduated from the University of Michigan. On their return from a trip to Canada they will reside at 7639 Colfax avenue.

time Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler are giving a reception for their daughter, Miss Christabel Wheeler. Each year's crop of buds is one of the great features of Chicago's social life. I wish those fine old pioneers whose children and grandchildren make up our society today, could return and see their splendid descendants. The race improves in stature, beauty and general air of vigor as scientists discover what makes for health, and the general conditions of daily existence contribute to the same end.

A Fair Suggestion.

To depart entirely from matters social, and admitting that it is not in the province of this p. p. p. to meddle in matters of civic import, as a private, a very private citizen, the provider of this column would like to call the attention of her readers to the far more suitable date for the proposed Chicago World's Fair than that now selected. If instead of holding it in the summer of 1933, which is merely the centennial of the time that Chicago was granted the right to a charter as a village, the fair should be held in the summer of 1937, which celebrates not only the centennial of her becoming incorporated as a city but which is also the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the acceptance of the constitution of the United States of America. This event in 1787 was the birthday of the young republic. It is one of the nation's most important dates. It ranks next to July 4, 1776. If our proposed fair commemorated this as well as the centenary of the city's birth, it would make of the celebration a national festival that would draw to its support all of the furthermost outposts of this great republic.

Also it would give Chicago time to set her house in apple pie order. We shall not have our streets and boulevards in order by 1933. The street railway system can not possibly be functioning with subway and overhead roads completed by then. The matter of building that fine archipelago of islands along the lake front, on which the fair buildings are to be erected, cannot possibly be accomplished in three years. Also, it gives us more time to achieve and establish a decent city government, every department of which is today inadequate to handle the huge business which should be the city's task when the proposed exposition is on. We would like to show to the world on that occasion a beautiful city run with supreme ability and utterly safe for guests, as well as citizens.

To do this we must have an honest and capable administration of all departments. The present rule of gangland must be a thing of the past by that time, or few will care to come here. The Chicagoan who now goes to other places both on this and the other side of the Atlantic is always questioned as to how he or she dares to live in a city so ridden by crime and violence. I myself have met people who have told me of making wide detours while going from the east to the western coast so as to avoid the dangers of passing even from one train to another. It sounds ridiculous to us Chicagoans, but on thought it isn't so absurd. Seven people whom I have known or of whom I have heard through friends have, within the past few years, been attacked and beaten or violently robbed by the criminal classes who here ply their infamous trade, more unmolested than in any other great metropolis. This is a situation that can not be cleaned up overnight.

Also the proposed superhighways which are planned to encircle the city and make better going from place to place can not possibly be completed in three years. Nor can the proposed great structures that will house the exposition be completed by that time when the very ground on which they are to be erected is not yet in existence.

More Time for Aviation.

By 1937 aviation will be so developed that the world can fly to our front door in safety and with speed. Also, perhaps the great inland waterway via the St. Lawrence, the great lakes, and the Mississippi river will be an accomplished fact. It will be a splendid picture of today's wonders that can be then shown the rest of the world. The Chicago of that day ought to be the greatest city of the globe.

In creating the new city it is to be hoped that the matter of street naming will occupy more attention than has hitherto been the custom. For one thing it would not be a bad plan to make it a rule never to name a street or park or public square for any living person. Until a life is completed there may be many things to happen to make it inadvisable to accord that person the distinction of having such a permanent memorial. Look at the trouble it caused several European countries because they named highways and parks for President Wilson. In not a few instances these names have since been canceled and new ones substituted, with a certain amount of ensuing confusion.

Old Names Give Distinction.

Also, it would be a good rule never to take an old and well established name from a street and replace it with one only associated with the moment. Ancient names give a quality, a distinction to municipal topography impossible in any other way.

MISS LILLIAN MAE BURKHARD.
[Gibson Photo.]
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burkhard of 518 West 62d street announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Mae, to Carl A. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Olson of 7134 Normal boulevard. Mr. Olson attended Armour institute and is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Look at Thread Needle street, London, and other such quaint and historic nomenclature, how much they add to the historic associations of those localities.

Also, in choosing names for our fine avenues and stately buildings it would be well to look to their euphonious character. Some, I will not mention which, now borne by conspicuous structures and much traveled thoroughfares are the opposite of the impressive or musical. If the powers that be continue to honor living citizens in high places by naming city features after them it will become necessary to consider carefully whom we put in positions of importance. They will have to be selected because their names will look and sound well on street lamp posts. In this connection I beg to say that it is a pity that those in power have never seen fit to put the name of that very fine citizen, the late Daniel Burnham, on any of the thoroughfares affected by the city plan. "Burnham road"—how handsomely that resounds! And how well merited would such an honor have been! It is here suggested that it be given to that splendid new outer driveway that will connect the south and north boulevards. And, for heaven's sake, street namers, take away no more fine old names that have been in existence longer than the city itself. That is vandalism of the rankest kind.

The writer was much amused at the quoted comments on Chicago made by that famous world traveler, Count Hermann Keyserling, in an article he recently perpetrated recounting his experiences in and impressions of this country. It happened to be this scribe's privilege to sit next to the querulous count at a dinner given him by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, whose house guest he was during his two-day stay here. He made a profound impression on all his fellow guests. We were not used to his kind. In fact, none of us had ever seen any one at all like him. He announced to his hostess that she must have dinner early for him; that he must go to bed at nine o'clock. So those invited to meet him were admonished to come early and depart early. We did so, but even before our exit the count was seen rapidly, though stealthily, mounting the front stairs.

At the table, instead of silently declining the dishes of which he did not care to partake, which is the privilege of all guests, he waved them away and said in a loud voice: "I do not eat dose tings."

Keyserling a Viking.

When asked as to the condition of the Baltic provinces (the land of his birth), he replied in unmistakably angry tones: "I vill not talk about dat." When the writer, more to pass the time o' day than because she cared an iota, inquired as to whether he considered himself a Russian or a German, he replied:

"Tank God, I am neider. I am a Viking, und de Vikings dey conquered efery one, de English, de Chermans, und efery one else. Und dey discovered Nord America long before dat Eyetalian, Colombus."

I wonder just how much that courteous, somewhat terrified company at dinner that night was responsible for his impression of Chicago. We did not mean to show "ill will and malice," nor were we conscious of an "ungenerosity" in our attitude towards the distinguished guest or his view of life. We were, however, conscious of a good deal of underlying difference in our points of view, and were interested in extracting his from him.

In appearance he was every inch a Viking. One could easily imagine him in the prow of a Viking ship speeding westward, long hair and beard flying in the ocean breeze, his stalwart figure erect and ready to leap from the ship upon any foe who might cross his path. Modern garments seemed to sit uneasily on his broad shoulders, shoulders that to one guest seemed specially trained to carry chips. He had a finely modelled head that would be better adorned by a Viking helmet, surmounted by an eagle, than by a modern derby hat. In fact, he seemed a hark-back, both in his air and manner, a return to those primitive days when, as he said, the Vikings ruled the seas, especially the north Atlantic. But, which, O which of us gave him that sour, dour effect that caused him to write Chicago down as afflicted with a spirit of "ungenerosity, ill-will and malice?"

Chicagoans Visit Vichy to Take Famous Cure

Paris a Rallying Place as Autumn Nears.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—[Special Correspondence.] — Daniel Webster once said "I shall pronounce no encomium upon Massachusetts, she needs none." For that matter neither does Vichy. If this excellent resort needed an encomium we would not hesitate to pronounce it. The continued success of this celebrated thermal place has, however, rendered some of her rivals less encomiastic than they might be.

Vichy authorities have been able to prove that the rumors regarding typhoid fever in this vicinity are entirely a matter of malicious propaganda. There has been no epidemic of any kind here this summer, the actual figures showing the number of deaths of any malady during the month of July this year exceeded those of July, 1928, by only two, which disproves the epidemic rumors.

New Bottling Plant Popular.

One has only to look at the shining, stupendous new installations here to realize how perfect are the sanitary safeguards. The whole world is invited and quite a percentage comes to inspect every new phase of Vichy, which is growing rapidly since the renewal two years ago of the contract with the French state.

A huge new bottling plant was opened in June, which was visited daily by hundreds who found it particularly interesting. Nearly 200,000 bottles of the celebrated Vichy waters are drawn from the springs and sent out daily to all countries, with the result that the whole consumption of these health giving mineral beverages amounts to more than 50,000,000 bottles annually.

Chicagoans Taking Cure.

Several Chicagoans are taking in this resort in their travels, such as Landon C. Rose, who is now taking the cure.

Sept. 1 finds Paris picking up a number of Chicagoans from all directions. Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick is here after spending weeks at Antibes on the Riviera as a guest of Viscountess Frankfort at her beautiful villa. Upon her arrival here she gave a tea at the Union Interallies for her fellow Chicagoans, including Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, who have just returned with Arthur N. Wheeler from Carlsbad; Thomas Hinde and his wife, who are taking a long sojourn here; Mrs. Warren Fairbanks and her daughter, Cornelia, who will be a debutante this season; Mrs. Jacob Baur and her daughter, Rosemary; Mrs. Francis Jewett Johnson, who has just arrived at the Ritz hotel from Germany and is sailing for home in October; Edward T. Blair, who has been at Dinard during the summer, where he recently entertained at dinner the Grand Duke Cyril, pretender to the Russian throne, and the latter's wife, who happens to be a sister of the queen of Roumania; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, and Princess Elizabeth Soutzo.

ENGAGED

MISS ESTHER CHRISTIANSEN.
The marriage of Miss Esther Christiansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Axel Christiansen, to Charles Herbert Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wall of Milwaukee, will take place today.

In the Feminine Realm

It is estimated that no fewer than 800,000 women and girls are employed in London, England, 300,000 of whom are in the central districts.

Miss Annie Matthews, serving her second term as registrar of New York county, receives one of the largest salaries paid a woman—$12,000 a year. Miss Genevieve Cline, associate judge of the United States Customs court of Ohio, gets $10,000 a year and has a life commission.

Newport Lures Many as Fall Season Arrives

Newport, R. I., Sept. 7.—[Special.]— Despite the fact that Labor day has come and gone, Newport activity shows no signs of lessening. One of the features of the week was the presentation of the "Blue Butterfly," a children's operetta given at the C theater.

Many members of the younger set acted as ushers, including Countess Cornelia Szechenyi, Oliver Whitney, Hope Bennett, Lilias Moriarty, Elizabeth Johnston, Gwendolyn Armstrong and Alexandra Gardiner.

Among the Boxholders.

The boxholders at the performance included Countess Laszlo Szechenyi, Mrs. Moses Taylor, Mrs. Henry B. Ripley, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. Franklyn L. Hutton, Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. James Lenox Banks Jr.

Included among the patronesses were Mrs. Vanderbilt Church, Mrs. Dudley Davis, Mrs. William Fahnestock, Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie, Mrs. Charles L. Harding, Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. Henry Parish, Mrs. Herbert Claiborne Pell Jr., Mrs. E. Morris DePeyster, Mrs. J. Fred Pierson and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Many are arriving to spend the early autumn at the Rhode Island spa. Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Ferry returned this week at Broadlawns. Countess Szechenyi and her daughters are again occupying the Harry Payne Whitney villa, where they will remain until November. Mrs. Whitney and her daughter, Mrs. Barklie McKee Henry, have returned to New York for the polo and racing.

Back to Gotham by Yacht.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville, who were the guests here of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Carley Harriman, sailed on their yacht Hi-Esmaro for New York. Percy B. Pyne II departed in his Romona with Percy R. Pyne III and Bruce Hollister Jr. as his guests.

Comtesse De Chambrun, wife of the French military governor of Tunis, Africa, arrived this week to be a guest at Beaulieu. Henry T. Sloane, is the guest of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener.

Short Skirts Show Bowlegs to Japan

TOKIO.—(AP)—The erstwhile demure maids of Japan, like their obese oriental sisters in Turkey, are finding considerable distress in the mode for short skirts.

Time was when the graceful, clinging kimono, trailing the ground, wrapped Japanese femininity in a kindly obscurity. But the advent of occidental hosiery displays has brought pitilessly to public attention the fact that the average Japanese girl would scarcely qualify for the front row of a Broadway revue. Legs here are usually fleshy, lumpy, or bowed.

So the girls are going to the surgeons. This started when Miss H[illegible]ako Hato went to Aichi Medical University hospital and emerged with such improved appearance that she is going on the stage as a dancer. Now the university has two or three applications daily for similar operations.

Smart Society Gets Its Stride for New Season

Highways and Byways Peopled with Elite.

By Mildred Jaklon.

THE smart highways and byways of this, our city, are once again beginning to be peopled on bright sunny mornings by fashionable women hustling on their way to meetings. Notebooks in hand, they wear that bright, ambitious look that presages bigger and better efforts for various "causes" and are a symbol of the resumption of the social routine after the summer quietude. The opera box committee of the Friends of Opera held its first meeting last Wednesday at Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's residence, and will be in session regularly now.

Mrs. Waller Borden, president of the American Opera society, which is making such a strenuous effort to promote the cause of opera in our own language, in general, and the one week season of the American Opera company, in particular, has been coming into town for executive meetings and teas from Lake Forest where she and Miss Betty have been staying at the new Deerpath inn.

Secretaries Have Hands Full.

The committees for the St. Luke's fashion show, scheduled for Oct. 22, haven't yet convened for joint action, but various individuals on the committees have been getting into early bird stride on their own.

I expect to be hearing any day about Service club plans for their annual revue, although it is set for Nov. 15, about a month and a half later than it usually is. The social secretaries are having their hands full making out date lists, sending invitations, and making arrangements for the numerous debut parties, and there is quite a lot of activity going on, although half the town is still away.

Miss Rosemary Morrisson's wedding to John Waddell Chase is to take place quietly on Tuesday at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W Morrisson at 1341 State parkway, and Miss Louise Winterbotham is to be married the same day to George Schieffelin of New York City. The latter nuptials will be in New York, to be sure, but the bride and her numerous relatives here are so closely associated with Chicago that it seems like a Chicago wedding.

Parties for Two Debs.

Two of the month's most attractive and important debutantes, Barbara Poole, the Ralph H. Pooles' daughter, and Christabel Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, are to have coming out parties on Thursday afternoon at the respective dwellings of their parents, and on Saturday there will be two debut affairs in Winnetka, which seems to be fairly alive with buds this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lynde are to present Miss Margaret Emily Lynde at a tea at the Indian Hill Country club, and she will have as her assistants about a dozen and a half of the new debutantes and other friends.

Miss Susan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, and Miss Louise Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Conway, will have a joint presentation at a tea dance, also at the Indian Hill club.

WEDDINGS

No wedding or engagement announcement will be published in The Tribune unless it bears the signature, address, and telephone number of a parent of either the bride or bridegroom. Announcements should reach the society editor not later than the Tuesday morning preceding the Sunday they are to be published.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton T. Olson of 6138 Kenmore avenue announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Eunice Ruth, to Daniel Swanson, Jr. on Saturday, Sept 21, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the United Evangelical Lutheran church of Oak Park. The reception will be held at the Medinah Athletic club. After November 1, they will be at home at 5721 North Kimball avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Canning of 830 Sheridan road, Hubbard Woods, announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence, to Rowland Benjamin Wehr of Allentown, Pa., which took place on Aug. 28 at Christ church of Winnetka. The uncle of the groom, the Rev. Roy Hartman of Pittsburgh and the Rev. Ashley E. Gerhard were the officiating clergymen. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wehr will spend their honeymoon in England. They expect to return to Winnetka about July 1, 1930. Mrs. Wehr received her M. A. degree at Northwestern university and since then has been active in church and educational work on the north shore. Mr. Wehr is a graduate of Columbia university and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chessen of 2618 W. Schubert avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Emma, to Milton J. Bauman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bauman of 2537 North Spaulding avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. August Fenske of Genesee announce the marriage of their daughter, Clara Johanna, of Riverside to Rev. Theodore Monhardt of Milwaukee, which took place on Sept. 2 at the Concordia Lutheran church of Berwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stockwell of 410 Winneconna parkway announce the marriage of their daughter, Josephine, to Wilbur Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kraft of Roseland, which took place on Aug. 24.

The marriage is announced of Miss Eleanor Eastwood, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Royston B. Bigelow of 6737 Paxton avenue, to Horace Holmes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Holmes of Harvey.

The marriage of Miss Rhea Brockhausen, niece of Mr. and Mrs. H. Mills Kanagy of 821 Oakdale avenue, to Elliott A. Pritchard, son of Mrs. Carey Pritchard and Elliott A. Pritchard of Chicago on Friday, took place Aug. 30. After an extended trip through the Orient Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard will reside in Bombay, India.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav E. Osten of 912 Cherry street, Winnetka, announce the marriage of their daughter, Marion Beatrice, to William Jackson Taylor, son of Mrs. William J. Taylor of Kenilworth. After a short honeymoon by motor they will be at home at 6441 North Richmond street.

BRIDE-TO-BE AND BRIDE

MISS MARION LEE ROSS.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of 1844 South Ridgeway avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Marion Lee, to Joseph C. Lewis, also of Chicago. The wedding is to take place this fall.

MRS. WALTER J. ZAHM.

[Gibson Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Hickey of 6724 East End avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Catherine Dorothy, to Walter John Zahm, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Zahm of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fishman of 4900 Ridgeway avenue announce the marriage of their sister, Esther Betty, to Louis Olswang of Chicago.

Mrs. Marie Peterson of 738 West 117th street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Sonia, to Emil De Marche of 10447 Corliss avenue, which took place on Aug. 29. A dinner at the Caselli House followed the ceremony.

The marriage of Miss Alline Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Murray of 5533 Quincy street to William J. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hall of 3925 West Polk street took place on Aug. 28 at the Resurrection church. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the Stevens hotel. Upon their return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hall will make their home at 5621 North Spaulding avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Woods of 8432 Sangamon street announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to Rogers Biddulph, which took place at St. Kilian's church, Wednesday, Aug. 28. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Hotel Shoreland.

Mrs. Ida Cohen of 4342 Lexington street announces the approaching marriage of her daughter, Mary, to Herbert B. Felsenthal of 7823 Essex avenue of Sept. 11th at the La Salle hotel. They will spend their honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

Benjamin Levine of 7550 Essex avenue announces the marriage of his daughter, Hannah, to Samuel Wasserman, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Wasserman of 3815 Wrightwood avenue, which took place on Aug. 25.

Frank H. Bussie of 337 W. 70th street announces the marriage of his daughter, Florence Elvira, to Bruce G. Bartruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Bartruff of 6802 Perry avenue, which took place on Sept. 7 at the Bishop Cheney Memorial church. Following the reception, which was held at the Hotel Windemere East, they left for the Pacific Northwest and Canadian Rockies where they will spend their honeymoon. After November 1st Mr. and Mrs. Bartruff will be at home at 6802 Perry avenue.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bishop of 4049 West Roosevelt road announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to Arthur Spiwak, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Spiwak of 1340 South Troy street.

The engagement is announced of Miss Charlotte Levy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Levy of 3100 Sheridan road, to Vernon Jacobs, son of Mrs. Julia Jacobs of 454 Galt avenue

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Solomon of 6050 Champlain avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Hazel Corinne, to Bert Falk, son of Mrs. Rosa Falk of 5222 Drexel avenue.

Mrs. L. Krulewich of 7144 East End avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Jeanette, to Emile J. Guttman, son of Mrs. Celeste Guttman of 107 East 68th street. The marriage will take place early in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Edwards of 7254 Ridge boulevard announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Christine, to John S. McLaren, son of Mrs. John S. McLaren of 1340 Greenleaf avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Mandel Friedman announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Francine, to Louis Onixt, son of Mrs. A. Onixt. The wedding will take place in the late fall.

The engagement is announced of Miss Anna Burger, daughter of Frank Burger of 2110 South Halsted street, to Stephen Toth. The wedding will take place on Sept. 28.

SOCIETY PERSONALS

Mrs. L. C. Doggett, formerly of Chicago, and now residing in Cambridge, Mass., is visiting Miss I. M. Pahlman of 5829 Dorchester avenue.

Mrs. Charles Edward Bartenbach of the Hotel Sovereign and her daughters, Mary Angela and Regina Ann, have left for Washington, D. C., to live. The girls are to attend Trinity college.

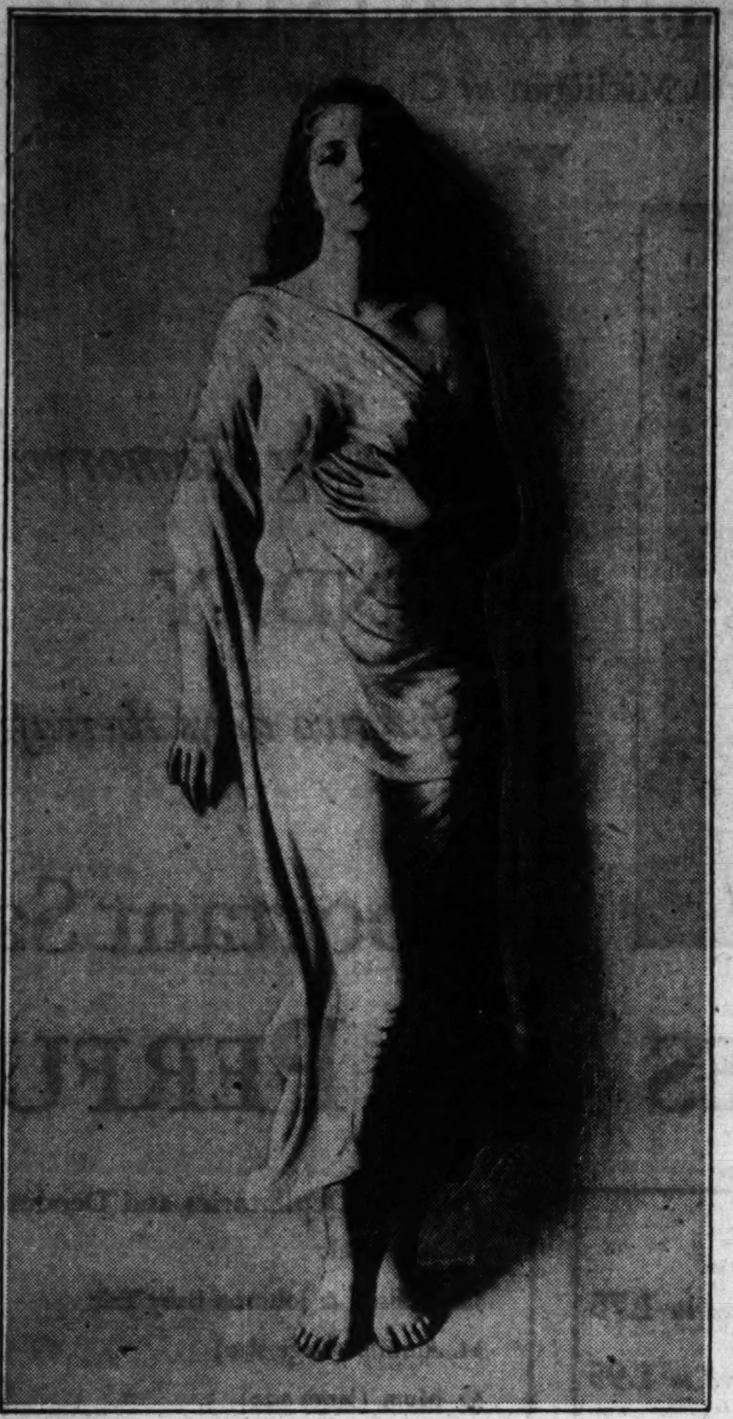
Goodman Company Founds a New Club

Novel Move Is Instituted by Civic Theater

First Nighters to Form Own Organization.

By Eleanor Jewett.



"TRANSITION," by Claude Buck, to be found in the one-man show of Mr. Buck's paintings current in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. This extremely graceful canvas in the Greek tradition is a portrait of Florence Beebe, the Illinois state golf champion. It is hard to reconcile these flowing and classical lines of hair and robe and figure with an assured, taut, young modern swinging a driver on a silent fairway.

AN extremely interesting new move has been instituted by the Civic Repertory company of the Goodman theater. The move is the founding of the "First Night club." There are certain privileges attached to membership which makes the development rather attractive, but it does seem a little as though Americans were being herded into sects in every movement. There are clubs for everything. The greatest privilege, of course, in being a member is that you can stay away and not feel left out.

Eating clubs feed many of us; art clubs show us what we should see; music clubs provide programs; book clubs fill our library tables; drama guilds entice us to the theater—and now the "First Night club" lends a cachet to the premier performances at the Goodman. The jolliest type of a snob today would be the person who would walk the streets dressed in membership cards and resolutely deny himself everywhere to everything.

Pressure of Public Opinion.

It is perfectly understood that there is no pressure brought to bear to induce us to join these clubs, except the pressure of public opinion. There is a certain book club and the impression its members gave was that you were slightly mentally inferior if you were not enrolled on its mailing list. Caught in the amber, I enrolled and stayed fixed with a pin for three months, after which I decided my taste was not that of the club, and I resigned. But there are clubs and clubs, and to pay the expenses of an organization it is helpful to know what the financial status will be from season to season, and the clearest way to determine that is by a list of backers, called, more politely, members.

On the North Shore there is a theater association, amateur talent, but supposedly well trained. The single performance of that which I witnessed last year was the first, and the leading man did not have his lines. Also the play was not worth producing. Being a member, for that season, I could sit through several other plays or not go. The last alternative was much the most attractive. And yet, with a wiser choice of play and a better memory exhibition, that little company has a great deal of talent in it. A number of intelligent people support it and find entertainment in it. The stigma is on the one who rebels.

Danger In These Clubs.

That is the signal danger in the growth of these clubs. The free spirit, the one who does not want to go a certain definite night to anything, be it music, reading, theater, or art exhibit, is in danger of being outlawed. He is an outcast, not in the warm (a bit smug) fold.

One such wild soul buys a theater ticket so that he can feel perfectly free to motor home at 7:45 and let the play go hang. He can walk into the lobby and decide the show's no good; turn on his heel and take a taxi. Little shreds of torn cardboard and white envelope mark his trail as that of a free man.

Perhaps that is excessive, he might more considerately give them to a friend, but the very thought of giving is another shackle. To be free, bars you from consideration. It is something of a puzzle.

This argument is a little digression from the thought of the Goodman theater "First Night club." It seemed impossible, however, to speak a good word for this organization without hinting at the stand we take in the matter of clubs in general and set times for things. The Goodman theater is a step beyond the average association. It is a school for the drama as well as a stage. It is a splendid opportunity for the cultural life of Chicago. It provides good entertainment, capitally set forth, for adults and children.

Acting Is Good.

The beautiful little theater is the work of the late Howard Shaw and is graceful and dignified. The company is drawn from Chicagoans, as well as people of other towns. The staging is unique, the costumes are always interesting, the acting is good. The audience is enthusiastic and kindly. The first performance there is well worth seeing. Their choice of plays is inspired. Time and again you go, late in the run of a play, and if you had gone the first night you certainly would have made it a point to go again, to induce your friends to go. The Goodman produced a play of Sheridan's last year that for comedy blacked out completely the best efforts of Will Rogers and Ed Wynn combined.

It Will Provide Pleasure.

So, if you have the opportunity, this Goodman Theater First Night club is something to join. It will not shackle you, except for a pre-determined date. You will never find the same fare served you twice. You will find pleasure and amusement and, sometimes, food for serious thought. Anything that can help this little theater to a greater success should be the right of the public. It is scarcely a question of duty, more one of personal privilege and a friendly hand. If the warm wishes of this column come true, the First Night club will have more members than the theater can seat.

Agnes V. Fromen is turning the city hall into a studio. She is busily engaged on a bust of Charles S. Peterson.

Louis Weiner and Emil Armin, Chicago painters, have been in Santa Fé the past few weeks, painting and exhibiting. Louis Weiner will hold a one-man show of his New Mexico paintings at the Palette and Chisel club in the near future.

From the National Academy of Art comes this paragraph concerning the Friends of the Austrian Werkbund, about which something was written here a few weeks ago: Clara MacGowan, instructor in art at Northwestern university, writes as secretary of the Friends of the Austrian Werkbund, that during her very recent stay in Vienna she had the privilege of meeting most of the artists who were getting work ready to send over this fall. The Austrian Werkbund entertained her at a dinner and sent through her their appreciation of the organization of the American Friends of the Austrian Werkbund.

The Commercial Art school, 116 South Michigan avenue, is moving into new quarters on the top floor of the building. It is rumored that their new quarters will be second to none in Chicago for art school purposes. They have space and light and air and can accommodate about one thousand students.

The final news letter sent out each week by the Art institute to keep its members in touch with its activities, was that for August 17. The letters will not be resumed before October.

Summer visitors to the Art institute during July numbered 59,453. Total attendance for the seven months ending July 31, was 648,870, an average attendance per month of over 92,000, or for the year, of over 1,200,000.

Miss Elizabeth Fisher, student of the Art institute school and assistant in the Photograph and Slide department of the museum, has just finished illustrating "The Greedy Garoo," a book for children written by Edith Rickert of the University of Chicago. The book is made up of African folk tales. Miss Fisher has recently returned from Europe where she spent three months in Italy and France, studying and drawing.

The Print Galleries of the Art institute contribute the information that the exhibit of "Portraiture in Prints" has proved so popular it will be continued into October. The prints will be found in galleries 12 and 13. Galleries 14 and 15 are being redecorated and are closed temporarily. They will be occupied by exhibitions of prints of Dutch landscapes and the familiar "Four Centuries of Engraving and Etching," bringing the art down from the time of Dürer to the present day.

The Forty-Second Annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture will be held this year at the Art institute from Oct. 24 to Dec. 8. Entry cards have been mailed to all artists who have requested them and to all artists who have previously exhibited. The last day for the return of the entry cards will be Sept. 18 and paintings and sculpture will be received between Oct. 1 and Oct. 10.

This year the practice of collecting works of art in the main sections of the city by the Art institute will be discontinued.

The New York jury will meet at Budworth's, 424 West 52d street, between Sept. 25 and Oct. 2. The works accepted by the New York jury will be forwarded to Chicago and added to the works accepted by the Chicago jury, which will meet at the Chicago Art institute Oct. 15 and 16. The jury consists of Ernest L. Blumenschein, Robert Brackman, Alexander Brook, Claude Buck, Edmund Giesbert, Alfred Hamill and Mahonri Young, painters; John David Brcin, Olga Chassaing, Heinz Warneke and Mahonri Young [Mr. Young apparently appears in two capacities], sculptors.

The committee on painting and sculpture of the Art institute consists of Charles H. Worcester, Cyrus McCormick Jr., Chauncey McCormick, Arthur T. Aldis, Percy B. Eckhart, John A. Holabird, Alfred E. Hamill, and Frederic C. Bartlett.

During the various exhibitions held last year at the Art institute, 129 paintings, 12 pieces of sculpture and 740 prints and drawings were sold.

In the anticipated American show this fall prizes aggregating $7,100 will be awarded. It is to be hoped that this year there will be fewer "invited" paintings on the walls and that the taste of the jury will not lie in one direction. Last year a great deal of criticism, and it was merited, was directed at the American exhibit along those two lines.

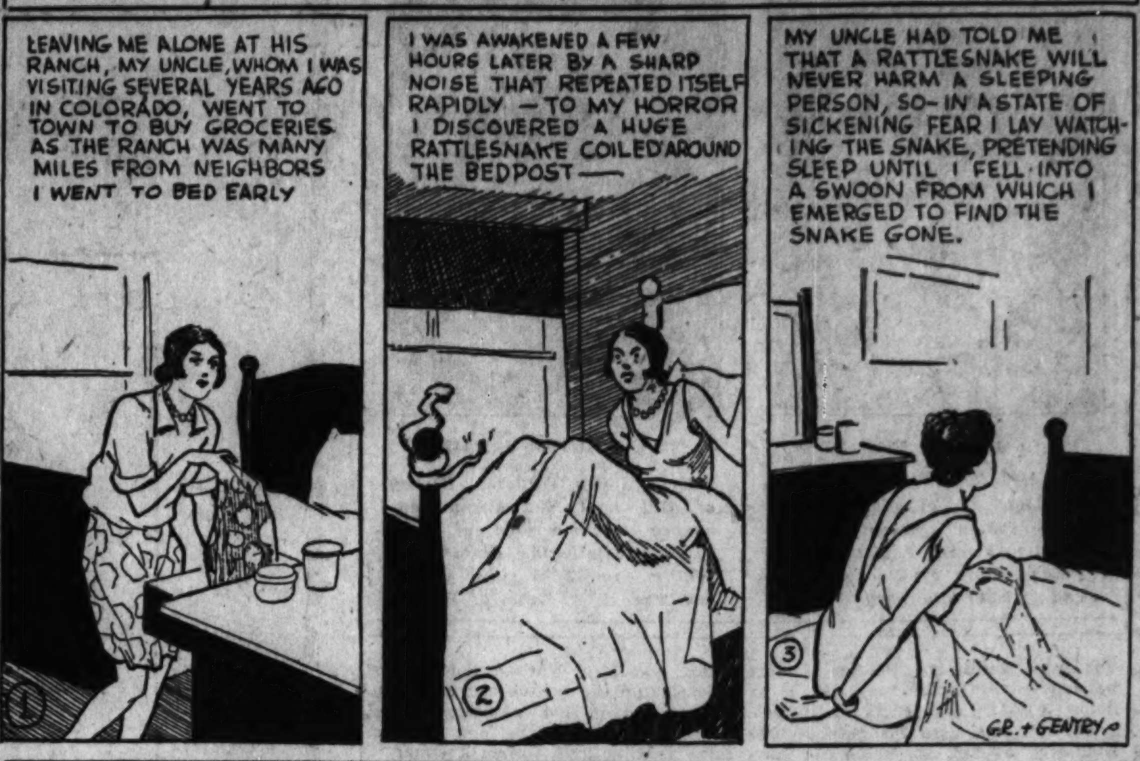
Ireland Puzzled by Social Precedence

DUBLIN.—(AP)—The problem of precedence, which recently disturbed Washington society, is rearing its head in the Irish Free State.

Who is to follow whom, and why, cannot be determined despite the prevalence of titles in Dublin, for the titles are all British and the Free State forbids recognition of any title except those conferred by it.

It has been suggested that a national order of merit be established to maintain precedential order at social functions. It is understood that the government favors this proposition, while an opposition condemns it as undemocratic.

EYE TO EYE WITH A RATTLESNAKE



LEAVING ME ALONE AT HIS RANCH, MY UNCLE, WHOM I WAS VISITING SEVERAL YEARS AGO IN COLORADO, WENT TO TOWN TO BUY GROCERIES AS THE RANCH WAS MANY MILES FROM NEIGHBORS I WENT TO BED EARLY
I WAS AWAKENED A FEW HOURS LATER BY A SHARP NOISE THAT REPEATED ITSELF RAPIDLY —TO MY HORROR I DISCOVERED A HUGE RATTLESNAKE COILED AROUND THE BEDPOST—
MY UNCLE HAD TOLD ME THAT A RATTLESNAKE WILL NEVER HARM A SLEEPING PERSON, SO—IN A STATE OF SICKENING FEAR I LAY WATCHING THE SNAKE, PRETENDING SLEEP UNTIL I FELL INTO A SWOON FROM WHICH I EMERGED TO FIND THE SNAKE GONE.

My Most Embarrassing Moment

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

It Was Her Mother.

On a recent trip to Florida I met a charming young lady, and was allowed the pleasure, on several occasions, of accompanying her to the movies. After an extended telephone conversation with her one day it was agreed to go to a show a couple of hours later, but when I called for her she was somewhat surprised to see me. She denied having had a telephone call during the day, and further stated she had not even been home during the day until a few minutes before my arrival. I was not at all inclined to believe her story until her mother appeared, and at noting the similarity in their voices, it occurred to me that my lengthy, [and I might say, romantic] conversation over the telephone had been with the mother instead of daughter. They all had a good laugh at my expense, but I have yet to look into this woman's eyes without being embarrassed. If you have ever tried to make love over the telephone you know. C. M.

No Coffee in Coffee.

Being rather a young and unexperienced hostess, I was quite anxious for my first bridge party to be a success. Imagine my horror and embarrassment when I found myself offering my guests dainty cups of hot water. In my haste I had forgotten to add the coffee to the percolator.

No Money in the Bank.

Recently I went through the most embarrassing few minutes of my life. For several months I had been counting on using the thirty-three dollars which I have in the bank for my vacation. One morning I went up town to the bank before train time to withdraw the money, as I still had a few more necessities on my list. I made out the withdrawal slip and sauntered over to the payer's window and slid my bank book and the slip under the bar. My day dream of the things I was going to do with that thirty-three dollars was disturbed by the payer's voice saying, "I only see thirty-three cents in the balance." Then I remembered that I had quite a time ago taken out the thirty-three dollars. I blushed furiously and stammered some explanation, though I cannot remember what I said now, and tried to walk out of the bank as though nothing had happened. I never felt so silly in all my life. M. T.

Face Like a Furnace.

My employer had hired the daughter of a good friend as typist and file clerk. Being only a beginner, she was very inferior in typing. One morning an important report had to be done and he asked me to do it. It was a hot day and the report was very trying. When it was finished I took it to his desk, saying as I turned to leave, "I'm afraid you'll think I'm as rotten at the typewriter today as Miss B——." With this I looked directly into her face as she stood at the file. I had not noticed her when I entered.

I couldn't get out of his office fast enough. My face felt like a blast furnace, and I don't know yet who was the most embarrassed, but I believe I was. C. R. N.

Wrong Picture in Frame.

Several months ago I received a photograph, in an elaborate leather frame, from a friend of mine in New York. I was much surprised to receive both photo and frame, as I had not heard from him in a long time.

I kept his picture in the frame for a while, but later removed it and inserted one of a "very close friend" of mine.

Last week the doorbell rang, and there, on the threshold, stood my friend from New York. Of course I was glad to see him and asked him in. Imagine my embarrassment when he looked about the room and beheld the frame he had sent me inclosing the photograph of somebody else. I prayed for the roof to fall in upon me.
A. M.

Still Blushing.

It occurred at a neighborhood musical. A young saxophonist had just concluded the popular melody: "Just One Step to Heaven."

My neighbor asked me a question in no way referring to the number rendered.

The answer happened to be: "It sounded like Hades to me," and I gave it in my naturally clear and abrupt tone of voice.

All eyes turned in my direction. Escape was impossible, an explanation was worse than impossible. I'm still blushing. I. S.

An Unusual Name.

I have a bad habit of forgetting people's names, so I frequently ask how they spell their names when I meet them, and in that way learn the name.

Imagine my embarrassment when, upon asking an acquaintance this question, she replied, "S-m-i-t-h."

Rich Americans Pay High Rents for Scotch Game

INVERNESS, Scotland.—(UP)—America's annual invasion of the deer forests and grouse moors of Scotland is on again, with millionaire sportsmen carrying on the hunt in their customary princely fashion.

It has been a prosperous year in the United States, and the shooting this season is expected to yield a record harvest of American dollars for those who have choice game sanctuaries to lease.

Glentromie moor has been let to Clarence Mackay, the telegraph magnate, while the well-stocked moors of Castle Grant, not far away, are let by H. L. Pratt, head of the Standard Oil Company of New York. C. V. Ogden of New York has leased Ardnagairn in Inverness-shire; Percy Chubb of New York is again tenant of the famous Cawdor moors where King Duncan was murdered by Macbeth, and Edwin J. Baltjer, also of New York, has leased the forest of Glenartney.

The increasing number of rich Americans eager to hunt the stag on Scottish soil has, of course, resulted in rising rentals for choice gamelands. Shooting preserves which a generation ago could have been rented for $100, or a few cents an acre, are snapped up today at rentals ranging from $3,750 to $25,000 each. In some cases as high as $30,000 or $35,000 is paid for the season: but such rentals, of course, are for hunting grounds of which a king could be proud.

One Inverness-shire forest of [illegible] acres, estimated to yield about [illegible] stags and 500 braces of grouse, is rented at $20,000, while another great stretch of moor and mountain whose 64,000 acres are said to shelter [illegible] stags and 1,000 brace of grouse was offered recently at a rental of $35,000 for the season.

Abandon Barren Isles Off Ireland

DUBLIN.—(AP)—The transplanting of sixty-nine farmer families from two islands of Inniskea off North Mayo to the mainland, where they will be provided with fertile farm lots, is to be undertaken by the Free State in its fight to alleviate poverty among Irish farmers.

Each islander will be given a small holding at an economic rent, and the land commission will build a house at a cost of $750 for each family.

When the change is made the islands will be completely evacuated, for it has been proved that even the most industrious families cannot wrest a living from the meager lands there.

"I use lipstick only once a day!"
"My dear, I've discovered the most amazing new Kissproof Lipstick! I put it on once in the morning and know my lips will look their loveliest all day long, no matter what I do! You don't believe it? Here, try Kissproof, my dear—you won't need lipstick again today!"
Kissproof, the modern waterproof lipstick, is changing the cosmetic habits of women everywhere. No longer is it necessary to be bothered with constant retouching—to be embarrassed with ordinary lipstick that stains handkerchiefs, teacups and cigarettes.
Kissproof is such full natural color that just a touch on the lips rubbed in with the finger tips is needed. And you have the peace of mind of knowing that your rich, red youthful coloring is as natural as if it were your very own—and as permanent as the day is long! We urge you to find out for yourself how Kissproof stays on—what healthy coloring it gives.

Society Takes to Long Island for September

'Little Season' Filled with Pleasant Activity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Well, here we are again! with a most successful Saratoga season a thing of the past, society is beginning to stream back to town from Newport and Southampton, to frolic mildly until the cold blasts of winter usher in the new season.

In the meantime, what might correspond to London's "little season" takes hold, and for sheer pleasant activity, the "little season" far excels the "season."

Most every one these days has a residence somewhat outside the city proper, and it is at these places that social activity prevails. The Connecticut towns, the Long Island towns, and swagger Tuxedo Park all are beginning to perk up. Until well into November there will be many informal dances at which the new crop of debutantes will get in their practice for the big affairs of the winter.

Opera Opens Early.

The opera this year, which as usual will usher in the season, begins on Oct. 28, some few days earlier than last year. The first few nights, of course, will be most brilliant, then the opera will sink into a sort of innocuous desuetude, with bored subscribers coming in as late as possible and leaving even earlier.

The opera, while it has not lost too much caste, has certainly lost a lot of popularity. But then, as I have always said, as soon as a new and proper house for music is built, society will once again flock to the opera.

There will be few changes in the personnel of the parterre holders. There were so many changes last year that it is hardly possible for new ones this season. We shall miss the strict and antiquated coiffures of Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly and her sister, Mrs. White, and the Victorian dog collars of diamonds will be even fewer in number than heretofore.

Helen Astor is certain to show up more often, since Vincent's wife, having a jolly tail-end season at Newport, is planning a winter of much activity, with H. R. H. the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia as one of her best guests; Helen, naturally, standing very high in the regard of the Russian colony.

Mrs. Dicky Wilson will grace the Goelet box, though Robert W. Goelet and Roberta are to make a colorful spot of the noted box that was the property of Robert's mother, the late Mrs. Ogden Goelet.

Then Comes Horse Show.

Following the opera comes the horse show at the Garden, which is long since proved to be a far less picturesque setting of the national than the old garden. If only they'd have a decent promenade, instead of forcing one either to remain in one's seat or else step all over people, not to mention breaking a shin or two on the horrible box seats, getting from one side of the arena to the other. Visiting at the horse show these years is a hardship.

But with the horse show opening on the seventh of November, the following night will see the first of the Friday assemblies, the dances for others than debutantes. These buds will already have had the first of their big moments, for the annual Tuxedo ball, most dreaded and longed for of parties, is set for Nov. 2.

Tuxedo will have Halloween parties galore over the week-end, and all the most noted debs of the winter will abandon town for the swagger colony and dance themselves silly.

The Tuxedo party is always jolly, not only because of the way in which it is given, and because of its setting, but from the fact that the girls are full of life and vigor, browned by a summer in the open and filled with a youthful zest for enjoying their first season. What a difference between the way they look and dance at Tuxedo and the way they look and dance, shall we say, at the spinsters, or at one of the pre-Lenten dances during the first week in March.

The first of the junior assemblies comes on Dec. 6 and by that time everything will have settled into its swing. The first rank debs will be going every moment of the day, the others, less important, will begin to sidle out of town—some going to Europe, and others making for the midway resorts.

Belmont Opens Fall Meeting.

In the meantime we are having lots to do. Belmont opened its fall meeting this week, with frightfully hot weather and the summeriest of dresses dotting the lawns of the Turf and Field. The W. Goadby Loews, after an active summer at Newport, where Mr. Loew managed to reintroduce polo, are back at Wheatley Hills, and turned out on Thursday for the racing. The George Barton Frenches, the Hugh Auchinclosses, Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Kress, Prescilla Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. Littleton Fox, and scads of others lunched at the Turf and Field during the first week of the fall racing.

The national open polo at Meadowbrook is also a huge drawing card. Westbury is no easy place to reach by motor, for the roads on Long Island are none too good and are dusty as well. Nevertheless, one meets simply every one, and the stands surrounding the famous international field are comfortably filled for each of the matches.

Little Doing in Town.

There is little doing in town itself. Just at present all the apartments are being put into shape after a long period of idleness. The St. Regis roof and the Ritz Persian garden are getting every one in town, since coolness is decidedly an attractive phase of dining out.

No one is at home at present, and during the daytime the city is utterly dead. Night finds the notables venturing forth to attend an opening night and dine in comfort wherever it is coolest. But not for some time will there be any activity in New York.

Reactionary Punished.

ULAN BATOR, Mongolia.—(AP)—The local soviet has confiscated the property of Tsain Gegen, one of the strongest ecclesiastical rulers in Mongolia, because of his reactionary activity, as well as that of the recently deceased theocrat, Shivashiretu. The property of the dead Khubilgans, representatives of the living Buddha, has been inventoried.

Expenses Go Up; Weddings Slump

CONSTANTINOPLE. — (AP) — A champion ringer of marriage bells in the days of polygamy, Constantinople now celebrates fewer weddings, annually, than any of the great cities of the world.

Out of a population of 700,000 adults, only two-sevenths are married, according to statistics gathered by a Belgian expert, M. Jacquart, who has been conducting the first reliable census ever taken in Turkey. Four hundred thousand bachelors and bachelor-girls and 100,000 widows, widowers, and divorced persons who have not remarried form five-sevenths of the adult population.

In the first three months of 1928 marriages in the city totaled 1,050. In the same period this year the number dropped to 795.

The severe economic crisis which Turkey is traversing is a factor of the amazing widespread celibacy. Taxes are going higher every year, and the cost of necessities every month. Proportionately down goes the ability of the average man to support any body but himself.

Owen Young Finds Fame Is Fickle in Home Town

VAN HORNESVILLE, N. Y.—[U. P.]—Owen D. Young may cut a big figure at Washington and people may turn to stare after him in London and Paris, but he's just one of the boys in this hamlet, the place of his birth and the home of his parents. His goings and comings go by hardly noticed, as witness the personal in the home town paper:

"Owen D. Young of New York spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Ida Young."

3 Young Sisters Run a Ranch and Do Good Job of It

TURLOCK, Cal.—[U. P.]—Three young women, typically modern, have incited the envy and admiration of farmers of this region.

In fact, the Austin sisters—Violet, Lily, and May—have begun what may eventually constitute a serious threat to masculine prestige in rural California.

The old theory of masculine supremacy in agriculture has received a knockout blow from Violet, Lily, and May on their 100 acre ranch near here.

Not content with owning the ranch, the three girls run it. They have scorned male help and in doing so donned the denim and journeyed forth to the fields.

Last year they plowed 100 acres of land, irrigated it, harrowed it, planted it, cultivated the growing crops, harvested them, and hauled to market 200 tons of choice melons, 150 tons of grapes and lesser quantities of other fruits and vegetables.

Not satisfied with that, the three girls milked 40 cows twice daily, filled ditches, raised 30 acres of alfalfa, pitched hay, mended harness, repaired farming implements and the windmill, weaned calves, raised turkeys and did a thousand and one other things that go with farming.

The Austin farm has become one of the show places of Stanislaus county. Leonard Austin, his wife and the three girls, the eldest, by the way, is 20, and the youngest 16, came to this district four years ago and made a down payment on the ranch.

Shortly after that the father became ill. The girls donned overalls, went to work, and met the payments.

Crowded Europe Sending Surplus Peoples to Peru

Turn to South America as a Haven.

VIENNA.—(AP)—Austria and Poland, finding the gates of the United States all but closed to would-be immigrants, have turned to South America as a haven for their surplus inhabitants. Both governments have concluded specific agreements with Peru and intend to approach other republics of the continent which may be in need of strong arms trained to agricultural tasks.

The agreements with Peru resulted from trips by European governments' officials. In each case the plans call for establishment of subsidized colonies of Austrian or Polish nationals.

82 Acres Each.

A syndicate with a capital of $1,000,000 has been formed to carry out the Austro-Peruvian agreement, which was negotiated by the Austrian minister of education. Peru will grant the syndicate 2,500,000 acres, and on this big tract it is hoped that 3,000 Austrian families will be settled. They must all be farmers or cattle breeders.

Each of these families is to receive 82 acres. They are also to receive transportation to Peru, but must refund this at the first opportunity. After a number of years the land is to become theirs in fee simple after they have reimbursed the syndicate for the cost of houses and other buildings, as well as for any equipment that may be bought.

Promoters of the scheme say the land selected is fertile and capable of producing wheat, coffee, cotton, and other crops. The settlers will be free to plant what they wish.

Thousands of Polish.

According to word received here a similar agreement has been completed between Poland and Peru. Count Dzieduscycky, a former Polish minister, has returned from Lima with a draft contract in his pocket.

This provides for the emigration of several thousands of Polish farm workers. The Peruvian government, it is understood, will grant free land to the settlers, while a syndicate composed of Poles and Americans, with a capital of $1,500,000, will shoulder the transportation costs of the emigrants. The fare will be refunded later on, with a small interest.

Imitate Sailors.

GYDNIA, Poland.—(AP)—The dinky white hats of the American navy were highly fashionable this summer at this and other Polish seaside resorts. Men, women, and children wore them, finding them convenient for tennis and boating.

Sultan Plans to Put Talkies in His Harem

PARIS.—[U. P.]—Talkie films may be inaugurated in the harem of the royal palace at Rabat to while away the time of the many wives of the sultan of Morocco.

Sidi Mohamed, 19 year old monarch, has just seen his first sound and talking picture at one of the cinema houses in Paris. Although he did not understand much of the dialogue, which was in English, he was enchanted with the film. He declared that it thrilled him more than anything else he had seen during his present tour of France.

Wives Talk English.

Immediately after the presentation he inquired of the director of the theater all about the talkies. He was particularly interested in the possibilities of installing such apparatus in private homes. He even intimated that he would like to buy the necessary equipment for his palace at Rabat.

According to quarters close to the boy ruler of Morocco, most of his wives know English and would therefore have no difficulty in understanding the talking pictures if he should decide to favor them with such diversion. It was explained to him that most of the talkies are in English.

Hears First Talkie.

The Sultan had only been in Paris a few days, it is said, when he expressed the desire to see one of the much talked of talkies. A special program was arranged for him at which one of the latest films from Hollywood was shown on the screen. He walked to the theater from his hotel, dressed in his white flowing garb and surrounded by members of his entourage. He was greeted at the door of the picture house by high civil and military officials of France.

During his visit in France, he received word from Rabat that one of his wives had borne him his first son. Since arriving in this country from Morocco, he has toured through most of the larger cities and visited a number of health resorts including Vichy. In Paris, he has been given a round of receptions by government officials

Win Highest Beauty Honors of France

—Glycerin the Secret of Their Faultless Complexions

NO woman could possess skin and complexion more alluring than exhibited by the charming French women, voted the most beautiful of their country, who represented France in the International Beauty Contests held at Galveston, in recent years. Both "Miss France" of 1927 (Mlle. Roberta Cusey) and "Miss France" of 1929 (Mlle. Germaine Laborde) have found glycerin the perfect beautifying agent. And by glycerin they mean American Jap Rose Soap. No other cleansing preparation is used by them. Just how they make daily use of this pure glycerin soap for facials, shampoo and bath is revealed in Mlle. Cusey's delightful book of beauty secrets, now available as offered below, to any woman desiring a copy.

"Miss France" 1927

Mlle. Roberta Cusey, voted Miss France 1927, says:

"I use only pure glycerin soap—your incomparable Jap Rose. There is no glycerin soap in all France to compare with American Jap Rose."

The tingle of Jap Rose, Miss France explains in her beauty book, is proof that the tiny nerve endings have been stirred to healthful action—a tonic effect as beneficial as the tingle and glow of increased circulation produced by a brisk walk on a frosty morning.

"Miss France" 1929

"Like Mlle. Roberta Cusey, who won the beauty honors of France, in 1927, I find American Jap Rose the supreme beauty soap because of its pure glycerin base and other beneficial oils. Beauty producing glycerin in this form meets all my needs for facials, shampoo and bath. I found this true with so many of the successful entrants from other countries in this year's international beauty contest."

Newcomers at Sunday Schools Given Welcome

Experts Tell of Religious Urge in Children.

By the Rev. John Evans.

With the opening of the public lic schools there comes a renewed interest in religious education for younger people. Vacations have depleted the membership of many Sunday schools, while others have been completely closed for the summer months. The call of rally Sundays will be heard near and far. A new crop of beginners will enter kindergarten departments in all Sunday schools. Teachers and Sunday school leaders will watch the newcomers and feel an anxious hope that lifelong contacts with the church, together with a growing sense of religious values and a deepening religious consciousness, has begun in many lives.

Notable advances have recently been made in religious educational methods. Chicago leaders, such as Dr. Norman Richardson of the Presbyterian Theological seminary and Dr. George Herbert Betts of Northwestern university, have added new values to the background of teaching experience and methods.

Three Religious Factors.

It is said that effective religious teaching depends upon three things: First, an adequate curriculum, or a well organized and carefully developed course of study; second, an understanding of the pupil as to the workings of his mind and the way in which he "takes" his teaching at each different period in his development, and the last important factor in successful teaching is the teacher.

Leaders assert that the present day emphasis is upon the character, quality, and ability of the teacher. Some successful religious education experts, such as the late Rt. Rev. Dr. Charles M. Beckwith, whose individual teaching probably produced as many ministers of the Gospel and lifelong lay workers as any clergyman of the past generation, declare that religion cannot be taught. Like many other subordinate elements of right character, it is absorbed.

"The Sunday school is a school of influence and not a fact finding, fact acquiring institution," Dr. Beckwith stated. Methods of worship, private and public, should be the fundamental material to impart to the pupils. Religion itself cannot be taught. Religion is already 'in' the child. Right influence is needed to induce the child to lead it out into an active expression under conditions which are conducive to its best development."

Like Learning to Walk.

Religious development is like learning to walk or to perform any other fundamental process. The machinery for walking and the latent urge for the child to walk is present at birth. In order to get the child to walk the parents do not give a series of studies on the theory of walking, nor do they tell long stories from the lives of notable walkers. The curriculum for learning to walk is simple. The child sees his teachers walk. The awakening urge to walk makes his bump of imitation large in that direction. He wants to walk. At the right age the wise parent starts him off and he walks. Theorizing may come afterwards. Improvement in the art of walking comes from walking, plus a very little theory.

Pessimistic Notes Heard.

Many notes of pessimism are being heard in various quarters on the condition of the Sunday schools. Some leaders go so far as to say that as an effective religious force in communities, the Sunday school is practically defunct. Others are saying that its penetration into the lives of pupils is innocuous. The period of greatest expansion of Sunday school membership which is just closing, it is said, has yielded the greatest decline in church attendance, together with a great loss in the arts of both public and private worship.

Oliver R. Williamson, formerly of Oak Park, general director of the department of church relations of the Presbyterian board of Christian education, declares that even though there may actually be a decrease in Sunday school attendance and membership, as reported to the Presbyterian general assembly, yet he indicates that the churches would make a poor showing without the Sunday schools.

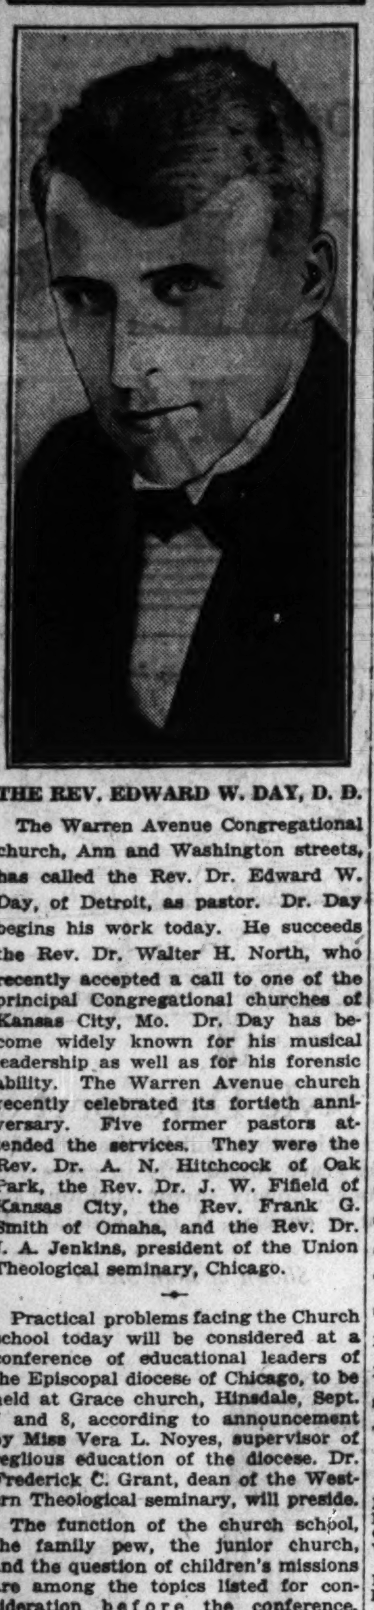
50 Per Cent Increase.

"More than half of the persons added 'on confession' in the Presbyterian church in the year just closed were members of our church schools," Mr. Williamson announced. "These are the real new recruits for the church; additions by letter of dismissal from other churches mean only a shift of membership. Of the 113,995 persons becoming members for the first time when they joined the Presbyterian church last year, 62,431, or 54.7 per cent, were from the church school. And this is based on reports from only 69.4 per cent of the 9,461 Sunday schools. In the Presbyterian church this percentage of admission credited to the Sunday school has been well near the 50 mark for a number of years, reaching 57.3 per cent in 1927, when the total church admissions were only 90,416. The total number of pupils coming into the church last year is 50 per cent greater than in 1924."

Moody Bible institute growth has necessitated an expansion of the faculty. The Rev. J. W. Davis, recently of Barrington, has been called as the superintendent of men. Prof. Frederick Earnest, a graduate of Yale and formerly dean of music at North Park college, has been added to the music faculty, and the Rev. Kenneth West, a graduate of Moody and Northwestern, has been appointed instructor of Bible analysis and Greek. He formerly was a teacher in Brookes Bible institute, St. Louis.

The new parish hall of St. Adrian's Catholic church, Washtenaw avenue, and 70th street, will be opened Tuesday evening with a reception and card party, according to an announcement by Mrs. Peter A. Barnes, chairman of the committee.

NEWS OF CHURCHES



THE REV. EDWARD W. DAY, D. D.

The Warren Avenue Congregational church, Ann and Washington streets, has called the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Day, of Detroit, as pastor. Dr. Day begins his work today. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Walter H. North, who recently accepted a call to one of the principal Congregational churches of Kansas City, Mo. Dr. Day has become widely known for his musical leadership as well as for his forensic ability. The Warren Avenue church recently celebrated its fortieth anniversary. Five former pastors attended the services. They were the Rev. Dr. A. N. Hitchcock of Oak Park, the Rev. Dr. J. W. Fifield of Kansas City, the Rev. Frank G. Smith of Omaha, and the Rev. Dr. J. A. Jenkins, president of the Union Theological seminary, Chicago.

Practical problems facing the Church school today will be considered at a conference of educational leaders of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, to be held at Grace church, Hinsdale, Sept. 7 and 8, according to announcement by Miss Vera L. Noyes, supervisor of reglious education of the diocese. Dr. Frederick C. Grant, dean of the Western Theological seminary, will preside.

The function of the church school, the family pew, the junior church, and the question of children's missions are among the topics listed for consideration before the conference. Classes for all of the various grades of the church school will be held. Among the leaders and speakers will be:

Mrs. Cleon E. Bigler, St. Luke's church, Evanston; Miss Marilla Fellows, Mrs. Walter Corning, Miss Anna F. Murray, Miss Helen E. Cowles, Mrs. Edwin Dennett, the Rev. Thomas Bellringer, the Rev. A. Haire Forster, and Mrs. W. Swift Lord, all of Chicago; the Rev. R. Malcolm Ward, Winnetka; the Rev. F. H. Millett, Wheaton, and Deaconesses Hildegard Dunning and Delema J. King. The Rev. Maurice Clarke of Columbus, O.; the Rev. T. De Witt Tanner of Joliet; the Rev. J. J. Steffens, Evanston, and the Rev. Richard J. Leon, Hinsdale, will be among the speakers at the general sessions.

Bishop C. P. Anderson is scheduled to deliver the final address Sunday afternoon, Sept. 8.

One thousand of the leaders among Chicago Jews, prominent in civic endeavor, were asked last week to be present at the dedication of the Jewish War Veterans' section of Oakridge Jewish cemetery, Roosevelt and Mannheim roads, the first Jewish military plot in the world, today by the dedication committee, the Yarmo-De-Vere post of the American Legion, and the Jewish war veterans of Chicago.

Joseph R. Dorfman, general chairman of the National Jewish War memorial, announces that among those invited from among the leaders in Chicago Jewry are 250 rabbis, the religious leaders of the Jewish faith in Chicago; men and women who preside over such strictly Jewish organizations as the B'Nai Brith, B'Nai Zion, the Haddassah, Progressive Order of the West, the Covenant and Standard clubs, Jewish People's institute, Hebrew institute, and leading personages in philanthropic, social, civic and industrial circles.

These one thousand Jewish leaders, in addition to thousands of spectators, over a thousand military and naval officers, on active duty in the regular defense, the National Guard, and the reserve units in the Chicago area, and every ex-service man in and about Chicago, has been invited to be present at these exercises, when Jewish heroes who participated in the revolutionary, civil, Spanish-American and world wars will be honored.

Fossils 25,000 Years Old Found in New Mexico

LAS CRUCES, N. M.—[U. P.]—Fossils believed to be more than 25,000 years old, discovered several months ago in a cave at Bishop's Cap, 15 miles southeast of Las Cruces, are described as being the "most important historic discovery ever made in America" by Dr. William A. Bryan, director of the Los Angeles county museum in Los Angeles. The fossils have been sent to the museum for study and exhibition.

The fossils were found by Roscoe Conklin, amateur archeologist of El Paso, following the report of John and Joseph Benavedas, brothers, who found queer bones in the cave while searching for buried Spanish treasure.

The natives have a legend handed down from father to son since the days of the Conquistadores that a large store of gold was hidden in this range of mountains when the Spaniards were attacked by hostile Indians and forced to flee for their lives.

Conkling, investigating the story of the Mexicans, found the bones of the prehistoric horse, cave bear, a large camel, a ground sloth and other strange animals, along with the skulls of human beings.

Collection of Sport Prints Latest Craze

LONDON.—[U. P.]—New York and London's mad clamor for old sporting prints and sporting relics of all descriptions has created a bull market here for pictures that a few years ago would sell for a couple of dollars.

It is estimated that more than $300,000 worth of sporting prints were sold in London auction rooms alone during the last few months. This figures does not include a large number of private sales.

The record price for the season is said to have been $75,000 paid by an American for George Stubb's "Eclipse,' which was in the private collection of the late Sir Walter Gilbey. Some years ago this famous race horse picture sold for $3,675.

The origina of the craze for sporting pictures is traced to Lord Woolavington's collection.

Yankee Girls in Knickers Barred from Cathedral

BERLIN.—[U. P.]—Girls wearing knickerbockers may not enter the sacred precincts of the famous Cologne cathedral. When a party of about a hundred American women college students, who hiked through Europe this summer, sought admission to the cathedral they were made acquainted with this rule.

Nothing daunted, and wishing to see the notable edifice from the inside, they besieged the department stores and women's dress shops of Cologne. An hour or two later they returned to the cathedral attired in light summery frocks and consequently were admitted.

They later resumed their hike—in knickerbockers—most of them leaving their suddenly purchased dresses behind as presents for the maidservants in the hotels at which they had stopped.

SENTENCE SERMONS

By THE REV. ROY L. SMITH.

He Is Great Who—

—Has developed his own talents to the greatest usefulness.

—Has rendered a great service without thought of reward.

—Has made an ordinary day a great one.

—Has received no favors without rendering some.

—Has been able to see greatness in the commonplace.

—Has been able to remain great in the eyes of his children.

—Has remained on good terms with his own conscience.

Chinese Order Perturbs Many Mission Schools

Religious Propaganda Is Placed Under Ban.

AMOY, China.—(AP)—Missionaries engaged in school work in China are frankly perturbed over the possible effect of regulations issued by the ministry of education of the Nationalist government in Nanking. Some are advocating defiance of the order, and others are ready to close their schools. But a third element is going ahead in harmony with the government ideas.

Several articles of the new regulations governing private schools have been seriously questioned by leaders among the mission forces but most of the debate centers around one which reads:

"A private school is not permitted to make religion a required subject, nor is religious propaganda permitted in the class room. If there are any religious exercises, students shall not be compelled to participate."

Freedom of Religion.

The element which is advocating conformation to this and the other rules, sees an enlarged opportunity for Christianizing extra-curricular activities. It believes a freer approach to religion will produce the best results and it hopes to win the confidence of the government and thus obtain more liberal concessions in the future.

But the rule against compulsory religious courses involves the subject nearest the heart of every missionary. To deny him the right to teach Christianity in schools which he has founded for that very purpose, raises within his mind the question of the freedom of religion.

Explained by Lutherans.

The point is explained in a letter from the board of education of the Lutheran church of China, addressed to the churches of China and aimed at getting joint action with a view to obtaining freedom of religious instruction. In part, the letter reads:

"The constitution of the republic of China guarantees religious liberty to its citizens. We are aware that this has been construed by many people outside the church, among them men of highly authority, to involve that the individual student should be allowed the liberty to choose whether he wants to take part in religious activities. And from the point of view of non-Christians this attitude is intelligible.

"We believe, however, that the paragraph on religious liberty, as in most enlightened countries of the world, refers to an inalienable right of parents to determine in which way their children shall be instructed as regards religion. This involves the right of the parents to establish schools which give religious instruction in the way which they deem best, provided the standards of the schools thus established are at least equal to those set by the Nationalist government, and that the schools otherwise loyally submit to it. We do not maintain that religious instruction necessarily should be compulsory but that the schools should be allowed to make it so, if it is deemed advisable.

"We believe that religious instruction will suffer gravely if the participation is left to the children to determine and further that the voluntary system would lead to inconvenience."

While the discussion continues, the ministry of education is insisting that all private schools be formally registered. The time limit for this registration has passed and schools which have not complied are being threatened with closure.

* *

As Viewed by Christians.

What Chinese Christians think of it all has been expressed in the Educational Review of the China Christian Educational association, which says:

"The action of the general council of the Church of Christ in China of October of last year, probably represents the opinion of very many, if not of the most educated Chinese Christians. It placed on record this conviction, that private schools should have the right to teach religion and to determine for themselves the best method of teaching it, and voted at a favorable time to present a petition to the government asking for a greater measure of religious freedom in schools."

Doff Hay Helmets.

PARIS.—(AP)—The hatless habit for summertime has made severe inroads on the straw hat sales in Paris. Merchants, however, by offering novel designs in straw headgear at tempting prices, have lured many back to wearing "hay helmets."

What's Wrong With This Picture?

In drawing the picture above, the artist made between 20 and 30 obvious mistakes. How many can you find?

The Chicago Tribune is paying $100.00 a day for the most skillful detecting of mistakes in "Mistake Pictures" published in the Tribune, daily and Sunday.

One hundred dollars in cash prizes every day!

You may indicate the mistakes by drawing on the picture itself or a tracing of it. Or, if you prefer, you may describe them on a separate sheet of paper.

Awards will be based upon accuracy and number of mistakes detected, and neatness and ingenuity in presenting them. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be given.

This offer is open to everyone, excepting professional artists and employes of the Tribune and their families.

Entries should be mailed to MISTAKE PICTURE No. 8, the Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be received in the office of the Tribune not later than 6:00 P. M. three days following date of publication of the picture.

You need not purchase the Tribune to compete. Copies of the Tribune may be examined at the Tribune offices or at public libraries free of charge.

No entries will be returned. The Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject. The prize winners will be announced in the Tribune one week after each picture is published.

Look at Picture No. 8 printed above. Can you discover the mistakes the artist has made in it? Just mark them on the picture or write them on a separate sheet of paper and send in your entry.

Another picture will appear in tomorrow's Daily Tribune.

Cocktail Critics Decry Effect on Parisian Culture

Alcoholism Growing Rapidly in High Society.

PARIS.—(AP)—The cocktail is charged with undermining France's "thousand years of culture."

The "American bar" is accused of crowding out the bookcase in many homes.

Alcoholism, less prevalent among workers since the war—possibly because of the price—is growing rapidly in high society.

And the American cocktail, frequently spelled "coktail," and variously pronounced, is blamed for all this.

Before the solemn and erudite Academy of Medicine, Dr. Georges Guillain laid down all these "facts" and thereby furnished ammunition for newspaper attacks on the new fashion.

Demand Exceeds Supply.

Dr. Guillain, of course, devoted most of his time to the influence of mixed drinks on the human insides. Others, however, worry more about the psychological effects than the physical results.

A mushroom business in ready made "bar Americains," delivered and installed at home, is failing to keep up with the demand for those who want to shake their own. Tea parties still are given, but the tea pot seldom has to be refilled; cocktail shakers are worked overtime.

No longer, says one critic, does the young girl seeking a husband shyly boast of knowing how to run a kitchen; instead she loudly proclaims, and proves, her ability to mix all sorts of fancy drinks.

Society Has Its Fling.

How all this is going to end troubles those who feel called upon to defend art, literature, the drama and all that goes to make up culture. They hope the cocktail crowd will quench its thirst and change its "tummies" and reform, but they say so with such mournfulness that the hope apparently is faint. They fear society must have its fling and they fear their reproaches are vain.

Commercial evidence abounds to prove the bar is "the thing." Dozens of stores have bar departments. They sell the small bars for the corner of a room, the high stools, the shakers, patent ice making devices, and thick, florid books on "cocktails," "cooktails" and "coktails," and also the ingredients.

Landlubbers to See Navy Farce

LONDON.—(AP)—The funny side of the sea, interpreted by a seagoing playwright for the edification of landlubbers who seek their excitement in theaters, is to reach the London stage this fall.

Commander King-Hall of his majesty's navy is the author. His farce, "The Flag Lieutenant," first was enacted by sailors aboard a British warship. It is 100 per cent naval, all the scenes being laid aboard a cruiser in Chinese waters, and the author, as technical expert, making sure that the language and actions of his characters are authentically nautical.

As a concession to managerial taste in titles, the farce will make its London debut under the name of "Sailors' Knots," after a trial cruise behind the footlights of a theater in Southsea.

Spats Passe.

MANCHESTER, England.—(AP)—Spats are becoming unpopular among well dressed Englishmen. Among the hundreds of doctors who attended the meeting here of the British Medical association, hardly a handful wore spats. Nearly all of them, however, wore dark suits and high, stiff collars despite the summer heat.

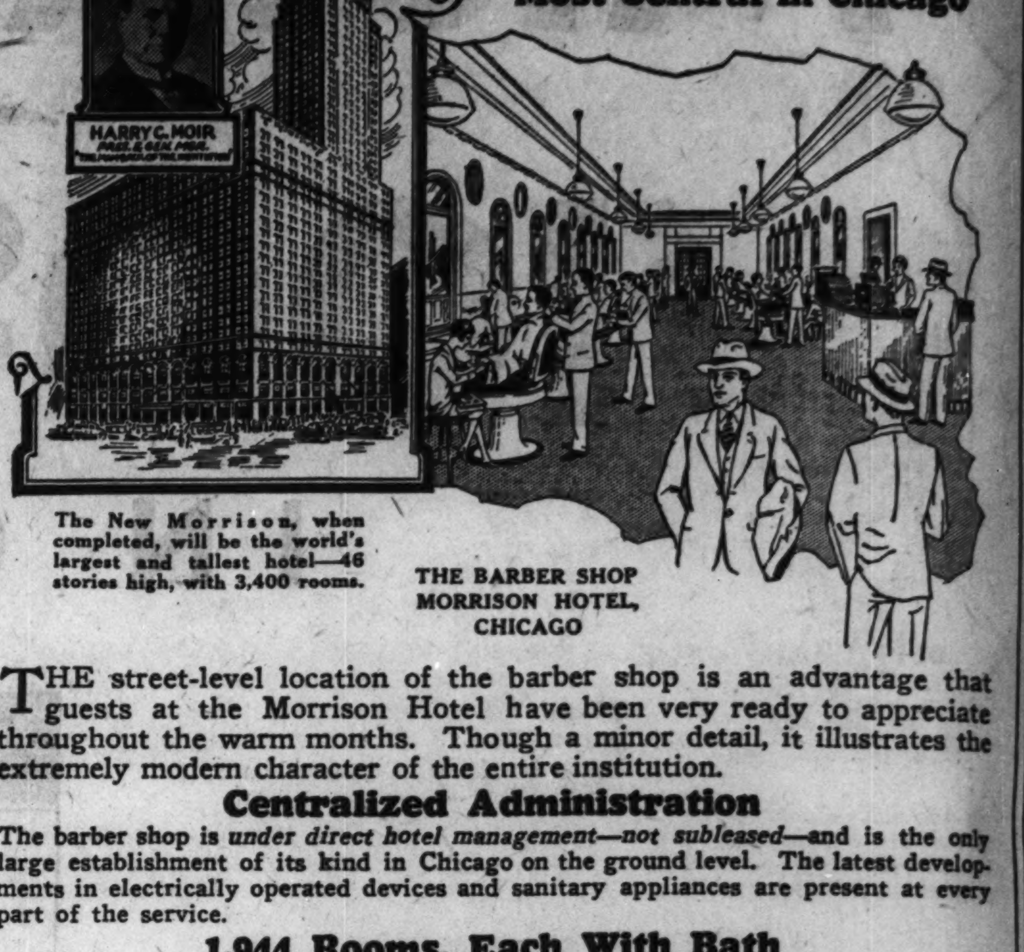
Up-to-the-Minute In Every Detail of Management—Chicago's Morrison Hotel

Tallest in the World
Most Central in Chicago



The New Morrison, when completed, will be the world's largest and tallest hotel—46 stories high, with 3,400 rooms.

THE BARBER SHOP
MORRISON HOTEL,
CHICAGO

THE street-level location of the barber shop is an advantage that guests at the Morrison Hotel have been very ready to appreciate throughout the warm months. Though a minor detail, it illustrates the extremely modern character of the entire institution.

Centralized Administration

The barber shop is under direct hotel management—not subleased—and is the only large establishment of its kind in Chicago on the ground level. The latest developments in electrically operated devices and sanitary appliances are present at every part of the service.

1,944 Rooms, Each With Bath

In other details, the equipment of the Morrison Hotel lacks nothing that can contribute to the convenience of guests. Every room is outside, with bath, circulating ice water, bed-head reading lamp, telephone, and Servidor. A housekeeper is assigned to every floor, and the garage service is up-to-date at every point.

Rooms, $2.50 Up

The extremely low rate-scale is due to the high value of the subleases at this central location. They pay all the ground rent, and the guests enjoy the saving.

Autumn Holiday

THE mountain country of the lower St. Lawrence River presents a gorgeous spectacle in September. Luxurious steamers hug the rugged coast, that from their decks passengers may witness the glory of the changing leaf.

The magnificent Manoir Richelieu, at fashionable Murray May, remains open throughout the month of September; and already loads of birch logs are coming in from the forest to send cheery flames up the great chimneys of an evening.

The famous Manoir Richelieu golf links are in perfect condition. Laid out upon the crest of the oldest mountains in the world, they command an eighty mile vista of the beautiful St. Lawrence River and its rugged barriers.

The complete cruise to the famous Saguenay River, which includes a stop at Murray Bay and Tadoussac, makes an ideal autumn holiday.

For full information apply your tourist agent or M. F. DOYLE, General Agent, 301 Willoughby Tower Bldg., 8 South Michigan Ave., Chicago. Randolph 6337.

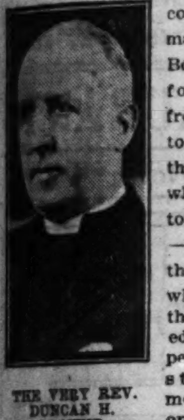
ST. JAMES' EPIC: MISSION IN FORT TO CATHEDRAL

Celebrates Its 95th Birthday in Fall.

1833—Services conducted by Episcopal chaplains at Fort Dearborn.
1834—St. James' parish formed.
1837—First church built.
1855—Eighty thousand dollar edifice erected at Cass and Huron streets.
1871—Church destroyed by great Chicago fire.
1873—New building program is launched.
1928—Cathedral movement instituted.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.



THE VERY REV. DUNCAN H. BROWNE.
[Moffett photo.]

The ninety-five years' history of St. James' Episcopal church, Cass and Huron streets, constitutes a romantic story. Born in a frontier fort, developing from pioneer days to the time of the Chicago fire, when but the tower and a gable—surmounted by the cross—of what was one of the finest church edifices of the period was left standing, the mother of bishops, the scene of fashionable weddings during changing decades, the fountain head of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the victim of a city's population shift, and now—after nearly one hundred years—trending toward a glorious climax in a $10,000,000 cathedral.

Since St. James' church was instituted a year ago as the Episcopal cathedral of Chicago there have been a number of developments leading toward the advancement of the project for the near north side. During this last week the headquarters of the diocese were moved from the Tower building to one of the buildings of the St. James' property. Another recent move has been the purchase by Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the property located at Rush and Huron streets, just back of the present church edifice.

John Kinzie One of Founders.

St. James' church, the oldest Episcopal church in Chicago, will celebrate the ninety-fifth anniversary of its founding in November. For it was in 1834 that a parish was formed by John Kinzie, G. H. Hubbard, Ely B. Williams, Hans Crocker, and others, and the Rev. Isaac W. Hallam was called as rector.

The first services were held in a building located at the corner of Kinzie and Wolcott [now State] streets, afterward known as Tippecanoe hall. Two years later the members of the Kinzie family gave the property at the southwest corner of Cass and Illinois streets for a new church and, in 1837, the first church building was erected there. The bell for the tower was the first to be brought to Chicago with the exception of the one for the Roman Catholic chapel near Madison and Wabash avenue.

Dr. Hallam continued as rector of St. James' until 1843. He was succeeded by the Rev. W. F. Walker. The Rev. Ezra Kellogg served between 1844 and 1849, and the parish grew rapidly under his direction.

Dr. Robert H. Clarkson took charge in the spring of 1849. In 1855 the present church property at Cass and Huron streets was purchased and a new church costing $80,000, perhaps the most magnificent church edifice in Chicago at the time, was erected.

Destroyed by Great Fire.

Dr. Clarkson became bishop of Nebraska in 1866. At the time he left the parish the congregation numbered nearly 1,000, with 300 in the Sunday school. Dr. J. H. Rylance was rector from 1866 until July, 1871. That year came the great Chicago fire which destroyed the church, with only the tower and a church gable in front

IT'S SCHOOL DAYS AGAIN FOR NORTH SIDE CHILDREN

Educational progress goes on, but it never has produced a better word for the first grade teacher to write upon the blackboard on the opening day than "cat." The upper left picture, made at Nettelhorst school, proves that. The teacher is Miss Helen Erickson. The pupils beside the wall are, left to right: Thomas Bingham, Jerome Finkelstein, Ray Johnson, Sally Betty Myers, Allen Aller, Johanna Anderson, Myrtle Kay, Vera Love and Dorothy Kunz. The boys in the upper center picture are checking supplies in the storeroom of Mozart school. Left to right: Francis Dorn, in charge; Arthur Arestad, Howard Johnson and Kenneth Bean. The youngsters in the upper right picture are pupils of Hawthorne school. Left to right: Harold Benson, Evelyn Johnson, Grace Johnson, Margaret Johnson and Kenneth Olin. In the lower picture patrol boys are guarding the safety of kindergarten pupils of Schneider school. The young policemen are, left to right: Charles Gerber, Edward Lietzow and Arthur Heidlaut. North Side P.-T. Council Meeting Called for Sept. 18

The north side council of Parent-Teacher associations will meet at Ravenswood school, 4332 North Paulina street, Wednesday, Sept. 18. Committee chairmen will be appointed and bylaws revised. Mrs. Fred Eckert of the Hayt school Parent-Teacher association is president of the council, which includes all schools on the north side, east of Western avenue. Other officers are: Vice president, Mrs. George Blumenstock; treasurer, Mrs. E. M. Perz, and secretary, Mrs. Earl Godwin.

Norse Throng Today Honors Lief Ericson

Lief Ericson day will bring out most of the Norwegian population of Chicago today in the seventh annual celebration in honor of the Norseman who reached America almost a thousand years ago.

The celebration will be held at Navy pier under the auspices of the National Norwegian League of Chicago and 53 coöperating societies. According to Christian Olsen, 5108 Windsor avenue, president of the league, preparations have been going on since early spring for what is planned as the largest and most colorful commemoration in the day's history.

Starts with Mammoth Parade.

The afternoon program will start with a parade of bands and societies led by Sigurd Huseby, 3056 Diversey avenue, grand marshal, and the drum and bugle corps of Logan Square post, American Legion, which will pass by the reviewing stand, where 20,000 are expected to be assembled.

A. E. Eberhardt, former governor of Minnesota, will be the speaker of the day, talking on "Progress and Achievements of Sons of Scandinavian Countries and Lief Ericson's Adventure." The United Norwegian Singing society, with 150 voices, and the United Ladies' Singing society, with 100, will take part in the program.

$10,000 Boat Contest.

In addition a varied program of athletic contests and aquatic sports is planned with women's swimming contests and sail, motor, cutter, canoe and row boat races. The Lincoln Park Rowing club and the Columbia Yacht club are taking active part in the races with a $10,000 championship outboard motor boat contest offered by the latter club.

The Viking ball to be held in the Navy pier ballroom will close the day's celebration.

In addition to Mr. Olsen, members of the large committee assisting in arrangements include Knute Nelson, 4719 Montana street; Erwin Larsen, 2051 North Albany avenue, and Mrs. Emma Hjelkrem.

A postcard comes to ye ed's desk from Paris, France. On one side is an aerial view of L'Arc de Triomph and surroundings, certainly a mark for our city beautiful planners to shoot at. On the other side is writing, for the card is from our little girl reporter, Kathleen McLaughlin. And this is what Kathleen says: "This is the way Paris looks best. Distance lends enchantment. My illusions are all shattered. But I like the people; they are so much warmer than the British. In fact some of 'em are real hot babies."

Well, our man of letters celebrated a birthday last week. We won't say how young he is, but we will say that Gym and Sue will sashay back to St. Johnsbury, Vermont, next week, to see their old stamping grounds. It is just 45 years since diffident Gym led the blushing Sue to the altar. This trip will be their second honeymoon, and Gym promised Sue to stop under every covered bridge, the way they used to do in the good old days. Only this time, folks, it will be in a Cadillac instead of a horse and buggy.

Pete is lolling around up in Wisconsin, ketchin' and cleanin' fish, while the rest of us swelter. Meanwhile Jerry runs himself ragged from early morn till eve'nsong, doing two men's work, but enjoying himself hugely. Jerry's doctor says he's going to prescribe a partner for him, a fellow named Tom.

18 Girls Seek to Rule Fete in Albany Park

With the official opening of the Albany Park fall festival tomorrow, Miss Helen Swanson, 3017 Ainslie street, has gone into the lead in the race for the title of "Queen of the Festival."

Eighteen girls are still in the running out of the thirty who signed up two weeks ago. Their popularity is to be decided by the number of merchandise certificates, redeemable in the neighborhood stores, sold by them, and the winner will be crowned next Saturday night at the conclusion of the festival, receiving in addition a prize of $500.

Other Girls in Contest.

Other entrants in the contest, in order of their rank, are: Miss Lillian McFall, Miss Roselyn Baum, Miss Dorothy Golden, Miss Ida Jaukofsky, Miss Rose Shapiro, Miss Josephine Friedman, Miss Sarah Citron, Miss Irene Wilson, Miss Lillian Silverman, Miss Diana Goldberg, Miss Celia Davis, Miss Kitty Nudleman, Miss Berenice Storke, Miss Dorothy Crost, Miss Vivian Schroder, Miss Lillian Rasner and Miss Meryle Towsend.

The festival is under the auspices of the Albany Park club, of which J. Arthur Levy is president. Merchants on Lawrence avenue and adjoining streets between the north channel and Crawford avenue are taking part.

Plan Much Entertainment.

Window contests, parades, strolling entertainers and decorated streets, as well as amusement centers spread out around the district, will help make the week a merry one.

Headquarters have been established at 4735 North Kedzie avenue and J. G. Eggo is managing director.

Bank and Store Pay for Widening Wilmette Street

Work on the widening of 12th street from Central avenue north to the first alley in Wilmette has been started with the financial backing of the Wilmette State bank and the S. Van Deusen grocery store, which are located at the corner. The two firms are paying for the improvement and Paul Reschke has the contract for the job, but the work is being supervised by the village. Six and a half feet is to be added on each side of 12th street and the old brick pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt. It was originally planned to widen the street north to Lake avenue, but after complaints of several property owners the two concerns undertook the shorter improvement on their own responsibility.

Lake View Lions Club Opens Fall Activities

The Lake View Lions club, of which W. H. Bolton is president, met Thursday noon in the Lincoln-Belmont department Y. M. C. A., 3333 North Marshfield avenue. It was the first meeting since activities were suspended in the early part of the summer.

P.-T. MAGAZINE MAKES DEBUT IN RAVENSWOOD

"Wanted—A Name," reads the cover page of a new magazine that made its debut with the opening of school, a magazine sponsored and edited by the Parent-Teacher association of Ravenswood elementary school, 4332 North Paulina street.

With its publication comes the announcement of a contest open to children who attend the school for a name for the new magazine, with a prize to the one who suggests the best.

News of the school children, the Parent-Teacher association, and the immediate neighborhood all will be carried in the publication, which is to come out once every school month. Mrs. Thayer Jordan, 4346 North Ashland avenue, publicity chairman of the P.-T. A., is editor, with Mrs. R. H. Saunders, president of the group, and Mrs. Jewell B. Organ as her associates. Mrs. P. F. Griessmer, 4410 North Damen avenue, is circulation manager.

Evanston Boy Scouts Home from Europe This Week

The nine Evanston Boy Scouts who have been traveling in Europe since the close of the International Boy Scout Jamboree on Aug. 13 are expected back in town tomorrow or Tuesday. Most of them attend high school and will be a day or so late for the opening. Under the supervision of Allen E. Towne, scoutmaster, the boys have visited the principal countries of western Europe, including England, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, France, and Spain.

BIDS ON PAVING DEARBORN TO BE ASKED IN MONTH

Chicago Av.-Burton Section Is First.

The widening and paving of North Dearborn street between the river and North avenue will be the next step in the extensive street improvement campaign started by the property owners of the north central district less than a year ago. One of the major improvements, the widening and paving of Ohio street, already has been completed and the second item in the better pavement program, the paving of Walton place, is more than one-half completed.

The County court recently confirmed the assessment rolls for the improvement of the section of Dearborn street between Chicago avenue and Burton place. This strip constitutes the largest part of the improvement, the paving cost of the fourteen blocks totaling $204,000. The board of local improvements is now preparing data on the work to be done in this section and will advertise for bids within a month. The work will probably be started in the spring.

To Be Widened Five Feet.

The plans call for widening the roadway from 35 to 40 feet by cutting two and one-half feet off each curb and the street will be paved with asphalt. The property owners have been given a public benefit by the city to help pay the expense of the improvement, inasmuch as Dearborn street is a main thoroughfare from Lincoln park through the loop to the south side.

The members of the Dearborn street committee of the North Central association led the fight for the new improvement. The property owners include Thomas A. Summerville, Mrs. Theresa Garibaldi, Richard Lothols, Philip Getschow, Mrs. Anna Rascusin, William H. Bush, Orlando Noble, John Marsch, Edwin G. Holloway, Mrs. Emma C. Portman, Stephen A. Crowe Jr., G. M. Reynolds, and Edward Steele. Mr. Bush is chairman of the committee.

Paving and widening of the section of Dearborn street between the river and Ohio street has been approved by the board of local improvements, and is pending confirmation by the County court. A public hearing for a similar improvement of the section between Ohio street and Chicago avenue was held Friday. In addition to the members of the street committee, property owners who signed the petitions requesting the improvement are: Joseph Scanlan, Mrs. F. A. Decker, Mrs. Mary I. Meade, Mrs. Katherine M. Baker, J. N. Volicos, F. A. Wallace, Mrs. Elizabeth Brosseau, Mrs. Amanda Immerhausen, Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Catherine Barrett, Joseph Greaves Jr., Sam Segal, and George S. Morley.

Other Near North Side Projects.

According to William C. Calvert, executive secretary of the North Central association, the following streets are under consideration for improvements:

Cass street—Now awaiting confirmation of the County court.

Clark street—The paving of the section between the river and Division street has been approved by the board of local improvements and petitions are now being circulated requesting a similar improvement on Clark street between North avenue and Division street.

Orleans street—Paving between Illinois and Division streets awaiting confirmation of the County court.

Superior street—Petitions have been filed for paving the section between Clark street and the lake.

Hemenway Woman's Union to Meet Wednesday

The September meeting of the Woman's union of the Hemenway Methodist church, 933 Chicago avenue, Evanston, will be held next Wednesday. New officers, headed by Mrs. U. G. Buck, 521 Michigan avenue, president, will be installed and the devotional hour will be conducted by Mrs. Albert H. Graves. Members of circle three of the group will serve luncheon, followed by a business meeting of the home service department and the union.

LOYOLA U. HEAD ANSWERS SUIT OF PARK BOARD

Breakwater Only for Protection, Kelley Says.

The Rev. Robert M. Kelly, president of Loyola university, in a statement made last week upon his return to Chicago, emphatically denied that the university officials are seeking to add new ground to the north side campus and declared that the breakwater now under construction on the lake shore is designed only to stop the destruction of the school's present property. The statement was given in reply to the suit of the North Shore Park commissioners for an injunction to halt construction of the breakwater. President Kelley first was advised of the park commissioners suit when he returned from a trip of several weeks.

"Loyola university is not seeking to add new ground to its lake shore campus, as was stated in the newspapers recently," he declared, "but is merely attempting to protect its property from the waters of the lake, which have reached an unusually high level this year. The severe storms which have recently caused damage along the entire lake front of the city have wrought considerable damage to the Loyola property. The construction of this breakwater is planned to stop such destruction. It is estimated that approximately two acres of the university property have been washed away in this manner in the last two years. Protection against the storms and rising lake level is absolutely necessary to preserve the existing buildings on the Loyola campus."

Wooden Wall Destroyed.

A wooden retaining wall was built on dry land to protect the university from the lake storms, more than five years ago, according to officials of the school. This wall has been destroyed by the sudden and encroaching action of the lake and the new breakwater is being built on the site of the old wall as a matter of safety.

"In April of this year," President Kelly continued, "application was made to the federal, state and municipal authorities, and to the North Shore park board for permission to erect such a breakwater. The federal, state and municipal permits were granted at once. On May 16, after the park commissioners had apparently decided that the matter was out of their jurisdiction, construction was begun on the breakwater. The work continued until June 30, when the park commissioners served notice on the university that construction must cease immediately.

"On Aug. 23 the commissioners filed a bill in chancery to restrain Loyola university from completing the work on the breakwater. On Aug. 24 and again on the following day a temporary injunction was refused the park commissioners."

Denies Writ Was Granted.

The university president was vehement in denying that the commissioners were ever granted a temporary injunction and objected to the report that the university had not obtained a federal permit.

The answer to the suit of the park commissioners was filed before Judge Stanley Klarkowski of the Circuit court shortly after President Kelley returned to the city and the petition for an injunction to stop the construction of the breakwater was again denied by the court. A cross-bill has been filed by the attorneys for the university to enjoin the park board from interfering with the construction of the new library building, on the lake shore and preventing the university from taking steps to safeguard and protect the property.

President Kelley pointed out that bulkheads on property adjacent to the university and built with the permission of the park board extend far out into the lake. The park commissioners charge that the university breakwaster will interfere with the proposed lake front boulevard.

SEEK TO RETAIN M. E. MINISTER IN LAKE FOREST

Members of the Lake Forest Methodist Episcopal church at their latest quarterly conference adopted a resolution favoring the retention of the present pastor, the Rev. Arthur H. Smith, for another year. A copy of the resolution was sent to Dr. J. Hastie Odgers, district superintendent, for presentation to the presiding bishop at the next annual conference of the northern Illinois district, to be held in October.

The Rev. Mr. Smith was assigned to the Lake Forest church by the Rock River conference of last October. He came from the Woolley Memorial church at 121 East 56th street, Chicago. Some of his previous pastorates had been at Cleveland, O.; Hanover, Mass.; Lynn, Mass.; Butler, O.; Strongville, O.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Cadillac, Mich., and Galena, Ill.

ST. JAMES' EPIC: MISSION IN FORT TO CATHEDRAL

Celebrates 95th Anniversary in Fall.

of the edifice, surmounted by the cross, left standing.

On the Sunday following the fire, church services were held which were attended by fifty members of the scattered congregation. It was decided to restore the church, and a movement was launched to raise funds.

Among the prominent residents at the time who pledged support for the new project were W. B. Ogden, E. H. Sheldon, C. R Larrabee, George L. Dunlap, J. T. Ryerson, Harry W. Smith, F. H. Winston, I. N. Arnold, John De Koven, and Julian S. Rumsey. The rector at the time was the Rev. Dr. Hugh Miller Thompson, who later became bishop of Mississippi.

Dr. Arthur Brooks succeeded Dr. Thompson. In 1873 the rebuilding of the new church was undertaken. Dr. Samuel S. Harris served as rector from 1875 until 1879, when he became bishop of Michigan. He was succeeded by Dr. Frederick Courtenay, who later became bishop of Nova Scotia. Dr. W. H. Vibbert became rector in 1890.

Brotherhod of St. Andrew.

It was about this time that through the efforts of the late James J. Houghteling Sr., the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was founded at St. James'. Another incident of importance during Dr. Vibbert's rectorship was the institution of the vested choir.

Dr. Vibbert was suceeded in 1890 by Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins. It was during his rectorship that, through the generosity of Mrs. Edward Swan Stickney, the parish house on Rush street, now St. James' community house, was erected.

In 1895, Dr. James S. Stone entered on what proved to be the longest rectorship the parish has experienced. He retired in 1923. It was while he was rector that the St. Andrew's chapel was erected by Mrs. Houghteling in memory of her husband. The chapel stands on the spot where the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was founded.

The community was beginning to change now. Members were moving to other sections of the city. The Very Rev. Duncan H. Browne succeeded Dr. Stone in 1924 and continues as rector of St. James' parish and dean of the cathedral.

Ryerson Bequest for Cathedral.

The cathedral movement was instituted following the death of Edward L. Ryerson Sr., who left $50,000 in his will for the benefit of such a project. The proposal was taken up by the Cathedral chapter of Chicago and was accepted. Subsequently, St. James' parish voted to turn over all its properties on the near north side for cathedral purposes. The parish provided that at least $2,000,000 must be raised before the properties actually pass to the Cathedral chapter.

The vestry of the parish at the present time includes:

Wardens—Henry E. Bulock; Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., clerk; Dr. Nathan S. Davis, III, treasurer; and William K. Otis.

Vestrymen—Alan C. Dixon, James L. Houghteling, Eames MacVeagh, Walter E. Miller, R. G. Peck, Clive Runnells, Joseph T. Ryerson, Orville J. Taylor and W. Schuyler Thurber.

Judge Jesse Holdom of the Appellate court is a lay reader of the parish.

The Rev. Alfred Shaw is Dean Browne's assistant.

NEIGHBORHOOD STORE SELLS $7 TORCHES FOR TWENTY CENTS A PAIR

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of a best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargains, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—I was out in this vicinity doing some window shopping not long ago and chanced to stop at a little store that was holding a clearance sale. I asked the price of two pretty Japanese electrical torches and got the shock of my life—a very pleasant one—when I was told that I might have them for 10 cents apiece. I have inquired at shops where Japanese articles are handled and I find that such torches sell for not less than $7 a pair.

PARTY FROCK FOR ONLY $2.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—I wanted something new to wear at a dinner dance our club was giving and one of our local stores solved my difficulty. I bought a lovely piece of orchid organdy for 69 cents a yard. With a piece of lace from an old party dress I contrived a dainty frock that would have cost me at least $15. My friends still think I am joking when I tell them that I made it for less than $2.

EVANSTON COPS TEST BRAKES OF 500 AUTOS DAILY

The manslaughter squad, brake testing crew, and educational sections of the newly organized police accident prevention bureau in Evanston have reported a successful week in their initial try at the new work.

Brake tests on the average of 500 a day have been given at the brake testing station located at Church street and Ashland avenue, according to Frank Kreml, head of the bureau, and in 20 per cent of the cases brakes were found to be defective. Those passing the test were given stickers, and those who failed were told to get their brakes repaired and come back for another test and a sticker.

The testing service is optional now, but may be made mandatory as in Cleveland, which is the Evanston model in the work. Automobiles equipped with four wheel brakes were required to stop within 22.2 feet, and two wheeled braked cars within 37 feet from a speed of twenty miles an hour, in accordance with bureau of standards figures.

Fifteen billboards have been donated for the safety slogan campaign and two platform boards on each elevated station. 'Don't depend on luck—be careful," is the latest slogan and is being used on several fleets of trucks and automobiles as well. A theater will carry a message of safety from the police department in all their programs, too.

CHINESE RED with BLACK and GOLD

Out of the Orient has come the design of this strikingly unusual group. And what could be more appropriate than a lacquered suite done in the manner of the Chinese—first to comprehend the beauty and durability of this finish? It is shown here in Chinese red with black and gold decorations, and also in a slightly different pattern with black as the key color and gold and red for contrast. With twin beds as shown, dresser and hanging mirror, chest and night table, $326.25; with full size bed, $272.75.

The Simmons Beautyrest Mattress and Ace Box Spring

To the unsurpassed comfort of the Beautyrest Mattress, Simmons adds the final touch of sleeping luxury—the Ace Box Spring. No combination affords greater relaxation, yet the cost is quite within reason: for the Beautyrest in a choice of six pastel shades of damask, $39.50; for the Ace Box Spring to match, $42.50.

RENEW CAMPAIGN TO OPEN ASHLAND NORTH OF DEVON

Meeting on Proposal Set for Wednesday.

A meeting of property owners in the Devon avenue district will be held Wednesday noon in the Angela restaurant, 1219 Devon avenue, again to consider the matter of opening Ashland avenue from Devon avenue at Clark street to Schreiber avenue, a distance of a block. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Devon District Business association, of which George Melchin is president.

Action to extend the street was begun more than three years ago, but was halted by property owners who objected to giving up their property for the improvement. Officers of the association declare that the section should be opened to complete the through traffic artery from the south side and the loop to the north city limits.

Widening Below Irving Park.

Ashland avenue south of Irving Park boulevard is now being widened and paved while a similar improvement has been completed between Irving Park boulevard and the intersection of Ashland avenue and Clark street at Edgewater avenue.

The far northern section of Ashland avenue between Pratt boulevard and Howard street is a boulevard and is under the jurisdiction of the North Shore park board.

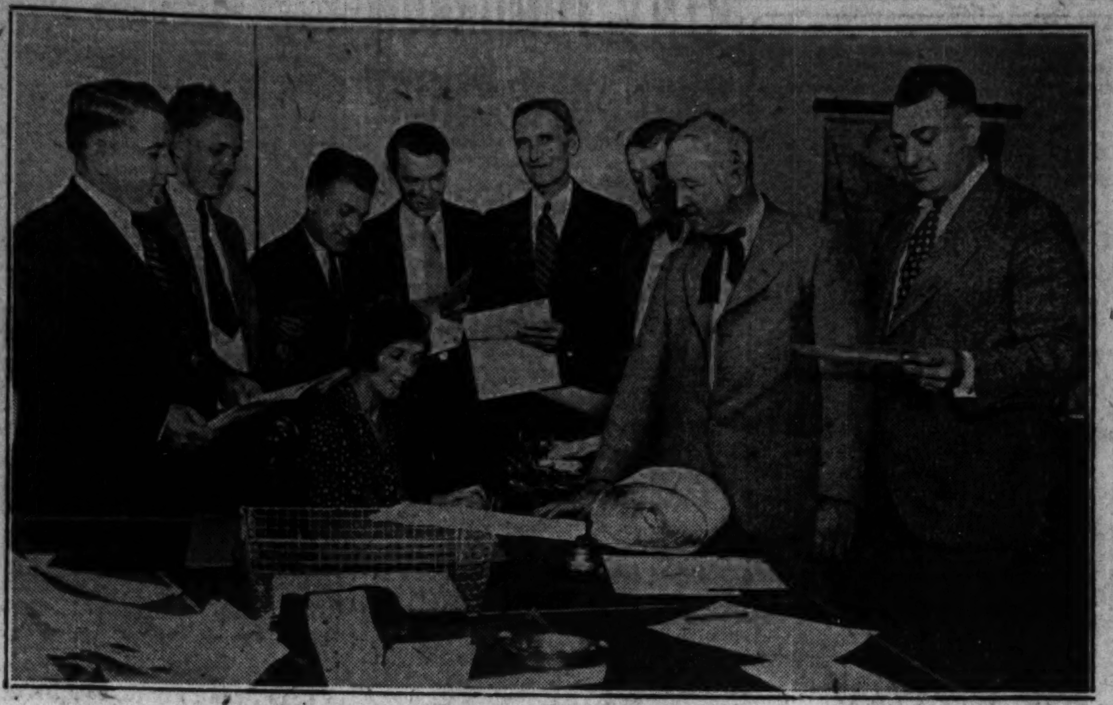
The members of the association also point out that the opening of the one-block stretch will provide another route to the north shore suburbs and will eliminate some of the traffic on Sheridan road in Rogers Park.

Lay Sidewalks This Fall.

Sidewalks on Ashland, between Diversey parkway and Winnemac avenue, a distance of three miles, will be laid before Dec. 1, according to an announcement made last week by engineers of the board of local improvements. The county court recently confirmed estimates of the board and contracts will be let for the work on Sept. 18, with the specification that the entire improvement be completed by Dec. 1. The sidewalks will be six feet wide, the estimate of the cost being $70,790.

The underground work preparatory to the paving of Ashland avenue between Diversey parkway and Irving Park boulevard has been completed, the engineers said, and work will be pushed as rapidly as possible on the paving contracts.

"GIVE US 'L' LINE," 25,000 PLEAD



Leaders of the Fiftieth Ward Citizens' club are shown examining a petition bearing 25,000 signatures and demanding an extension of the elevated railway system to the Devon-Western district. Left to right: M. C. Travis, Roy L. Swanson, Leon H. Tashjian, president; H. V. Hartford, William H. Rose, Charles Devenny, Emmett J. Flood, chairman of the transportation committee, and Charles F. Mattick, secretary. Seated: Miss Mary Johnson.

ALDERMEN WILL GET NORTHTOWN PETITION FOR "L"

Stenographers at the headquarters of the Fiftieth Ward Citizen's club are being kept busy these days copying off the names of the 25,000 petitioners for an elevated extension to the Northtown district—Devon and Western.

The petitions will be presented at the next hearing of the city council transit committee and Emmet. J. Flood, chairman of the club's transportation committee, estimates that if the petitioners were placed end to end the elevated extension could be run over them.

The proposed extension would serve the rapidly growing community west of Ridge avenue and north of Bryn Mawr avenue.

The Fiftieth ward club will formally open its new headquarters at 5124 North Clark street next Friday evening with the whole community as its guests.

Announce Church Reunion.

Members of Englewood Baptist church will hold their annual reunion Sept. 29 to Oct. 6. Seigfrid Nagle, 6701 Parnell avenue, and Mrs. Washington Laycock, 6517 Harvard avenue, are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of arrangements.

HOME DISTRICT PROPOSES BAN ON APARTMENTS

80% in 50th Ward Area Back Petition.

Residents in newly populated sections of the 50th ward who have built homes and beautified their yards with trees and shrubbery intend to maintain the beauty of their neighborhoods and protect them from invasion of apartment houses, zoning ordinances pending before the city council indicate.

Property owners on three streets in the ward are seeking the passage of ordinances restricting building in their districts to residences and repealing existing ordinances which permit the construction of apartment houses as well.

80 Per Cent Sign Petition.

Petitions containing the names of 80 per cent of the residents on these streets have been presented to the city council committee on buildings and zoning. The proposed ordinances, which have been referred to the committee, will be taken up at a hearing in the city hall tomorrow morning.

The ordinances were presented by Ald. Curtis F. Mellin, who will be on hand to urge their immediate passage. Similar ordinances restricting other streets in the ward to residences were passed by the city council at his request last spring.

Construction of apartment buildings will be prohibited on the following streets if the ordinances are approved by the committee and passed by the council:

The west side of Fairfield avenue between Albion and North Shore avenues:

Washtenaw avenue between Albion and Arthur avenues;

Fairfield avenue between Thorndale and Ardmore avenues.

An ordinance restricting the east side of Fairfield avenue is already in force.

Diversey Rezoning Asked.

Another ordinance to come before the committee tomorrow would permit the construction of large apartment houses on Diversey parkway between Halsted street and a line 125 feet west of Clark street instead of apartments of limited size, as provided by the existing ordinance. Ald. Albert E. Loescher [44th], is sponsoring the zoning change.

Central Northtown Trade Exposition Opens on Oct. 1

Members of the Central Northtown Business Men's association met Friday in the Biograph theater to make plans for the first annual trade expansion drive to be held for two months, beginning Oct. 1. Alex Treulich, president of the association, says more than $2,000 in prizes will be given away by the merchants of the business district in the vicinity of Lincoln avenue, Halsted street and Fullerton avenue.

If it be known to your friends that you seek new living quarters, you will probably be asked, "Why not the Pearson?" The reasons why so many prefer the Pearson are quite logical . . . Next-door-to-the-loop convenience . . . in a near North Side neighborhood of almost suburban quiet. Food of a character that draws daily patronage from great distances. Pleasantly-varied menus . . . and an atmosphere throughout of genuine home comfort. The lake is close by . . . and Lincoln Park. Loop-bound buses pass the Pearson's door . . . and Michigan Avenue is only a block away. Prices are agreeably moderate . . . In recognition of the sound reasons why modern people prefer to live in hotels, there are no kitchenettes at the Pearson. A 300-car garage close by. We shall be pleased to have you call today to see some especially choice accommodations. Highly attractive special monthly rates upon application.

Our store is replete with new variations of the Fall mode . . . coats, hats, dresses and accessories . . . all are stamped with conceits of the new season. All are purchased with the thought of harmonious ensembles and, despite their newness and authenticity, these lovely items are surprisingly low priced, and all are dependable quality. That is in accord with Loren Miller & Co. policy of selling style-right, quality merchandise at moderate prices. We invite your inspection of these charming offerings.

Fall Coats
For Women and Misses
$69.50
Smart in Design and Very Modestly Priced

Broadcloth, the most popular coat fabric of the season is used in fashioning these fur trimmed coats. Luxuriously trimmed with such furs as Manchurian wolf, caracul, skunk, fox, natural wolf and opossum, they are most appealing—every one is outstanding in style and quality—and each has its own individuality. All are silk lined and interlined and can be had in black and the season's colors. If you are interested in coats you will be enthusiastic over this group, for they represent a wonderfully high quality.

This model is trimmed with beautifully shaded opossum collar and cuffs which add to the charm of the beautiful broadcloth used in its fashioning.

The center coat is of black broadcloth and is trimmed with brown caracul Johnny collar and cuffs. One of the very graceful models shown in this group.

This flare model coat is especially chic for this season's wear. The black Manchurian wolf shawl collar and cuffs lend real distinction.

An Unusual Selection
Smart Millinery
$10.00
Velvets, felts or soleils, smart with new details distinguish our showing of fall millinery—featuring the new and much favored high-brow mode—youthful lines in small or large headsize—colorings, a most important feature, to blend with the Fall Ensemble. Two are sketched.
Others in attractive assortment priced from $2.95 to $20.00.

Dresses for Autumn
New in Style—New in Color
$29.50
Sketched are two beautiful models of transparent velvet

These attractive dresses are fashioned of the season's favored fabrics such as transparent velvet, canton crepe, crepe satin, georgette crepe and travel prints and represent all the season's newest style features—the longer skirt, the natural waistline, the ensemble with separate blouse, the princess or semi-princess lines—they represent all that is new and desirable from point of quality and style and can be had in black and the season's best colorings.

Other attractive groups feature dresses of silks, velvets and feather weight wools at $15.00, $18.00, $25.00 to $49.50.

DEMAND BUYING OF PARK SITE AT WILSON-ST. LOUIS

Montrose Boosters Say Big Area Is Neglected.

Charging the Irving Park district with long continued neglect of the area bounded by Lawrence, Kedzie, and Crawford avenues and Irving Park boulevard, the Montrose District Boosters' association, headed by B. A. Rooney, this week will demand that the commissioners take steps to provide a park for that section.

S. H. HADDOCK.
[Albany Park Studio.]

Mr. Rooney and his chief lieutenants, S. W. Haddock and A. W. Ormsby, will present their arguments to the park commissioners at a meeting Tuesday and will organize a campaign among residents of the area in question to force the park body to provide the recreation spot, Mr. Rooney announced yesterday.

"There is no park in this entire square mile," he said, "while other sections of the Irving park district are well provided with parks and playgrounds.

Pay Heavy Tax, He Says.

"Although this area pays a larger proportion of the park district's taxes than any other community under its jurisdiction, it has never received any benefits from the tax money."

Mr. Rooney pointed out that the neglected section has higher land valuations than any part of the park district. Other sections such as Mayfair, Avondale and Park View have all the recreation facilities they need, while the Montrose district is without a park.

The Montrose boosters propose, as the best and cheapest site in the neighborhood, the area bounded by Wilson, St. Louis, and Sunnyside avenues, and the alley east of Bernard street, a seven and one-half acre plot. The site was selected because it is accessible to the entire community and is improved almost entirely with frame houses of comparatively low value.

The matter was discussed by the commissioners recently and was referred to T. B. McGrath, attorney, for study. He reported that a park would cost approximately $950,000, and a site could probably not be purchased at the present time because the district is using up its bonding power for other improvements, according to Mr. Rooney.

Assert Cost Is Overestimated.

Mr. Rooney estimated, however, that a park could be acquired and landscaped at a maximum of $750,000, while Mr. Haddock expressed the belief that $500,000 would cover the entire cost. They charged that Mr. McGrath's estimate is so high because a number of the commissioners are not in favor of establishing the park, and caused the estimate to be placed out of sight.

Mr. Haddock charged further that Mr. McGrath went about obtaining his figures in such a way as to cause property owners to place an extremely high value on their homes. Mr. McGrath is opposed to the project Mr. Haddock charged.

Commissioners James W. Hamilton and Paul H. Schlier indicated to Mr. Rooney that they would favor a proposition for a park if funds could be found, but other members of the board have not taken a stand.

Commissioner Edward McClure said yesterday that he favors improvements if the board can handle them, but he declined to make a statement regarding the project under consideration.

D. A. R. REGENT TO BE HOSTESS TO OFFICERS

The board of directors of the Fort Dearborn chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow in the Georgian hotel, Evanston. Following the meeting Mrs. Gair Tourtellot, regent of the chapter, will be hostess at a luncheon and bridge for the officers and board members.

The regular program for the year starts a week from Monday with a business meeting and picnic luncheon at the Meadowbrook Country club, with Mrs. Arthur W. Hickman, social chariman, and Mrs. Alfred Kramer, co-chairman, as hostess.

Included in the program outlined for the year are Commandant E. M. Woodson of the Naval R. O. T. C. at Northwestern university, Col. Charles W. Werks, commandant of the R. O. T. C. at the University of Illinois, and Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who is scheduled for Nov. 30 for D. A. R. state national defense day.

IT'S LITTLE LADIES' WEEK IN PHOTO CONTEST

Right: Sally Jane Lyon, 2 years old, and Suzanne Lyon, 8 years old, photographed by Earle D. Lyon, 1504 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, to whom the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the north side was awarded this week. Left: Mary Louise Slayton, 2 years, at Vista del Lago beach, Kenilworth. Her daddy F. Downing Slayton, 532 Sheridan road, Evanston, won the second prize of $3. Left center: Mary Louise Dyer and Yvonne Chauveau on the beach at Ravinia. For this picture the third prize of $2 was awarded to Mrs. C. J. Dyer, 373 Woodland road, Ravinia. Right center: Ann Austin, 322 Hull court, Waukegan, in a dress made for a three year old of 100 years ago. The picture won an extra prize of $2 for Mrs. Miner M. Austin, 322 Hull court, Waukegan.

LOYOLA U. SPEEDS UP WORK ON STADIUM FOR GRID OPENING OCT. 5

Construction gangs are at work on the new athletic field of Loyola university in an effort to have the 6,500 seats which will constitute the first group in the new stadium ready for spectators before the opening of the football season on Oct. 5. Although the eventual seating capacity of the stadium will be approximately 40,000, only 6,500 seats will be erected this fall in order to permit use of the field for the football games.

Additional seating capacity will be provided in temporary wooden bleachers which will be built on the east side of the field. This will bring the total number of seats available during the football season to about 12,000. In three years, according to Daniel J. Lamont, the circle of the stadium will be completed, bringing it to its full capacity. This will give the lake shore athletic field, which has in former years been cramped for seating space, ample facilities to care for the athletic program as well as regular university activities which require a large seating capacity.

The season will open on Oct. 5 with the Loyola gridders meeting Oklahoma City university on the north side field. Other games to be played in the new stadium will include those with Coe college, St. Louis university, South Dakota State university, and North Dakota university.

PICK ARTISTS FOR LAKE FOREST CONCERT SERIES

School Announces Its 15th Season.

The Lake Forest School of Music, through its director, Miss Marta Milinowski, last week announced its fifteenth annual series of four subscription concerts. The course draws its artists from divergent phases of musical art. These series of concerts have been a feature of Lake Forest's musical life for the last fourteen years.

Following their custom of presenting yearly one young artist of promise, the school of music has chosen Frances Hunter, soprano, to open the series on Sept. 28. Miss Hunter has won praise from Chicago critics for the charm of her singing, for the even and beautiful quality of her voice and for the poise of her stage presence. Miss Hunter will be accompanied by Frederick Schauwecker, a pianist who has served as accompanist for Claire Dux and Heinrich Schlusnus.

Feature Lute Quartet.

The second number of the series, on Nov. 23, will feature the Aguilar Lute quartet. This Spanish family group of three brothers and a sister is considered the most interesting novelty of the coming musical season. They are brought here by the management that introduced such unusual artists to America as La Argentina, the dancer, and Andres Segovia, the wizard of the guitar. The Aguilars have played together from early childhood on their Spanish instruments that in ensemble approximate the volume of a small orchestra.

Elly Ney on Program.

Elly Ney, pianist, comes to Lake Forest on Jan. 11 for a return engagement at the request of the concert's patrons.

The season closes on April 26 when Florence Hardeman, the violinist, will appear after an extended European tour as soloist.

The series, which will be held in the Lake Forest college chapel, is sponsored by many society women of Lake Forest and the north shore.

Tribune Golf Tournament.

The eighth tournament of THE TRIBUNE Employes' Golf club will be held at Big Oaks Golf club tomorrow. The president of the club is R. R. Atkinson.

THE PET PARLOR
Canaries, Harz Rollers, $5.50; Parrots, $10; Love Birds, $6 per pair; Prairie Dogs, $3; Police Dogs, $15; also other pets. Guinea Pigs, $1.50 per pair.

Grant's First Battle in '60s Gave Name to Belmont Ave.

This is the thirteenth of a series of stories concerning the naming of streets and suburbs of the north side.

A civil war battelfield and an early Chicago lawyer and lumber merchant are commemorated in the names of two of the north side's longest east and west thoroughfares—Belmont avenue and Fullerton parkway and avenue.

Belmont avenue was named by Samuel Blanchard Chase, whose home where that street ends at Sheridan road was a landmark for many years in what was until 1889 the village of Lake View. By popular usage the roadway leading up to his home had been called Chase avenue, but he refused to have it so and renamed it for the first civil war battle in which Gen. Grant had command at Belmont, Mo.

Another Street Honors Chase.

But his family name has remained in Chicago street nomenclature. Chase avenue today runs off and on from the lake at 7300 north in Rogers Park, in Teasville and in Norwood Park.

Samuel Blanchard Chase was born in Hopkinton, N. H., in 1823. After his graduation from Dartmouth, according to Andreas' "History of Chicago," "after a couple of years of trying to build up a profitable practice among the law-abiding citizens of his own state, he gave up the effort and came to Chicago in 1850."

But he gave up his law practice here soon and, in partnership with James H. Rees and later his brothers, Horace G. and Charles C. Chase, he directed one of the three abstract companies in Chicago. The 'Great Conflagration' of 1871 destroyed most of the records and the three companies merged, later selling their books to Handy, Simmons & Co., forerunner of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Fullerton an Early Lawyer.

Alexander N. Fullerton, who came to Chicago in 1833 from another New England state, Vermont, as one of the first three lawyers here, gave his name to Fullerton parkway and avenue. He was a member of the first board of health and the first clerk of the town trustees, quitting his law practice to go into the lumber business with Grant Goodrich.

Fullerton parkway was the north city boundary until Lake View was taken into the city. The street just south of it, Belden avenue, was named for Belden F. Culver, secretary of the Chicago Historical society from 1874 to 1877.

Evanston School Gets French Artist's Painting

An oil painting by a French artist, Camoreyt, with the Grand Canal of Venice and the Church of Saluti as its subject, has been hung in the library of the recently completed Nickols school in Evanston. It was ordered several months ago, and painted specially by the French artist for the school.

Evanston Business Women to Open Season Tomorrow

The Business and Professional Woman's club of Evanston will hold its first fall meeting tomorrow night at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Dinner will be served at 6:15, followed by a business meeting and a program of short talks about vacation trips by the members. Miss Mabel Vollmer is president of the group.

SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane or John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur.

It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

Lincoln Park Offers Film Showing Its Activities

John R. Basiger, director of public relations for the commissioners of Lincoln park, announced yesterday that a new motion picture film showing the many activities in Lincoln park during all seasons has been completed and will be exhibited to any organizations free of charge. Business men's clubs, women's clubs and church organizations are invited to make application for the film at the administration building in Lincoln park, Garfield avenue and Lincoln Park West.

SCHOOL BELLS TO RING TOMORROW ON NORTH SHORE

Winnetka High Gets Two Teachers from England.

Their extra week of grace over, North Shore children as well as those who live on the north side and attend parochial schools, will start back to school tomorrow for the fall term.

About 1,700 students are expected at New Trier Township High school; Evanston Township High has approximately 2,250 enrolled already, and elementary schools in Wilmette and Evanston will have between nine and ten thousand.

Very few changes are being made in the teaching staffs of any of the schools. New Trier, with a faculty of more than 100, will take on only six new teachers. But particularly noteworthy is an exchange between the Roan school in Greenwich, England, and the Winnetka High school. K. Binnie of the English school will trade with Roland Wehr of the social science department at New Trier. Miss Kathleen Lockley, who is on a leave of absence from the Putney school in England, will also be on the staff this year in the physical education department.

Evanston Schools Get 42.

The district 75 schools in Evanston, under J. Roy Skiles, superintendent, will take on the most new teachers—42 in a staff that numbers 291. On an average there will be only 30 students to a class.

During the last week all students who hadn't registered before signed up at Evanston High school, with the offices open from 8 until 5 and head room teachers on hand to advise and assist in registering. In general only new residents in the city and those who were not in school last year were among the late registrants.

School work will begin promptly Monday morning, upper class students reporting at 8:30 and freshmen and newcomers at 9 o'clock.

School Addition Opened.

Six new teachers will be added to the staff of the Wilmette public schools. The addition to the Howard school has been completed and will be ready for use tomorrow. The addition includes science, art, music, and kindergarten rooms, as well as an auditorium to seat 300.

New students have registered in the last weeks at the school office.

National Kindergarten and Elementary college and Northwestern university will not open until next week, although special examinations and preregistration work will be carried on this week. In the children's school, which is conducted along with the teachers' school at National, sixth grade has been added to the curriculum preparing children directly for junior high school.

New Highland Park School Ready.

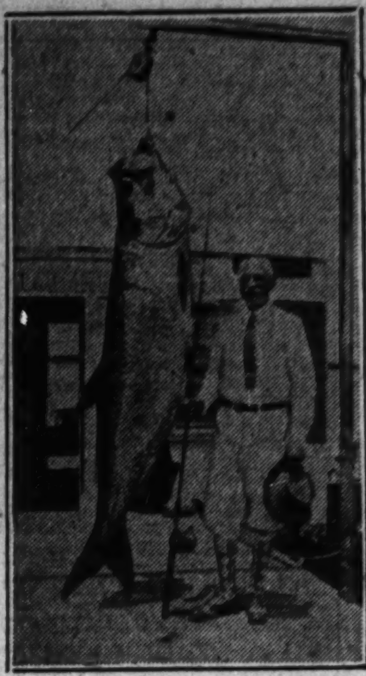
With the opening of Highland Park's public schools tomorrow, children living in the northwest of the town no longer will walk long distances and cross railroad tracks and busy thoroughfares to reach school. The new Bay road school, just completed on a wooded site bounded by Green Bay road, Sunset park and West avenue, will be placed in use at the time.

The building, designed by & Flinn, Chicago architects, provision for present needs and expansion. It is in a domestic of English architecture with brick, stone trim and gables structured of heavy timbers. All class rooms are on the first floor, administrative offices on the second. An assembly room in the center of the building will seat 200 pupils is equipped with a stage for theatricals. Another feature of building is a teachers' suite, ing of lounging room, dressing and kitchenette.

With the opening of Lake Forest public schools tomorrow, John E. gett begins his twenty-sixth year superintendent. During this he has seen the school system from a single small building to modern buildings and a smaller to care for an outlying district.

Deerfield-Shields high school, draws students from Lake Bluff, Forest, Highland Park, Deerfield and Northbrook, opened Tuesday with a record attendance. Richard L. Sandwick continues as principal.

PROVES FISH STORY



Matthias Staska, formerly tailor to Lake Forest's elite, now living in retirement in Florida, sent the above photograph to substantiate his fish story to friends in Lake Forest. His catch is a tarpon weighing 185 pounds and measuring some nine feet in length. The haul was made in the St. Lucie river, which runs in front of Mr. Staska's home in Stuart, Fla.

COMMUNITY CLUB OF FIFTIETH WARD TO PICNIC TODAY

Bathing Girl Contest to Be Feature.

The Fiftieth Ward Community club, one of the largest neighborhood organizations on the north side, will begin another season of activity today when more than 5,000 members and friends of the club will meet at Tessville inn, Lincoln and Touhy avenues, for the annual outing and basket picnic. According to Gustave Betz, newly elected president, the picnic is expected to be the largest in the history of the club and the guests will include numerous city and county officials.

The feature of the day's entertainment will be a bathing girl contest, which will be staged despite the fact that there is neither a sandy beach nor bathing pool within several miles' distance of the picnic grove. Other parts of the program will include several acts of vaudeville, a costume contest for children, and dancing.

Ald. Mellin to Award Prizes.

Harry Bryant, Harry Pinocci, and Harry Chalmers comprise the committee in charge. Ald. Curtis F. Mellin [50th], former president of the community club, will be among the guests of honor and will assist in awarding the prizes to the winners of the various races and contests.

In addition to Mr. Betz, other officers who were elected at a recent meeting in the clubrooms, 2419 Lawrence avenue, are: vice presidents, William H. Pinckney, Thomas H. Stanell, George W. Nye and Mr. Pinocci; treasurer, Mr. Bryant; secretary, Erick S. Syversen; financial secretary, Charles W. Tatge and sergeant at arms, Edward Weiss. The members of the advisory board are Carl L. Lundquist, Clarence A. Bleitz, Patrick J. Cummings, Frank De Letto, Frank A. De Silver, Ernest W. Forsberg, Harry Gooding, Arthur Ingold, Theodore Kirchoff, Harry L. Metzger, Herman L. Newman, Ralph R. Rossiter, Mathias T. Schneider, Harry C. Speatgens and Joseph E. Paulissen.

Make Transportation Survey.

During the summer months the club has been conducting a survey of transportation conditions in the ward.

The report of the committee stated that there is little hope of obtaining an extension of the elevated lines into the district until the city's traction problems are settled. The committee recommended that improvements be immediately made on all existing lines of transportation in the North Town district, particularly the surface lines.

Louis H. Frahm, 5027 Glenwood avenue, built a detailed model of the 100 passenger airplane, Dornier, just constructed at Lake Constance, Switzerland. The model represents three weeks of measuring and whittling and fitting and painting. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

NEWS PICTURES ARE BLUEPRINTS FOR MINIATURE

A model in miniature of the huge German plane, Dornier, just constructed at Lake Constance, Switzerland, is the pride of Louis H. Frahm, 5027 Glenwood avenue, because he made it himself.

Three weeks it took him and his only blueprints and perspectives were the pictures of the twelve engined plane, capable of carrying 100 persons, that appeared in the newspapers.

His baby Dornier is blue and silver, a detailed model, with a 24 inch wing span, and 20 inches from tip to tail. Twenty-two portholes are whittled out on each side and the pilot's cabin with its large [about a quarter of an inch wide] windows is reproduced.

Young Frahm, who wants to take up aviation for his life's work, has made numerous other models, both replicas, as this one is, and flying models. The propellors on his Dornier will whirl, but only with an electric fan or a stiff breeze blowing.

LINCOLN PARK'S NEW BEACH TO COST $390,000

Work on Jetties Starts This Month.

The new mile long beach to be built in Lincoln park between North avenue and Fullerton parkway will cost approximately $390,000, according to a report recently presented to the commissioners of Lincoln park by W. H. Dean, chief engineer of the park board. Work on the construction of the jetties, the first step in the formation of the beach, will begin this month as soon as the permit is received from officials in Washington, D. C.

The estimate of $390,000 includes the removal of the jack knife bridge on the outer drive north of North avenue, but does not include funds for the erection of bath houses to accommodate the millions of bathers who are expected to visit the new beach each year.

Chief Expense for Sand.

Mr. Dean declared that the cost of depositing sand will be the major expense in the construction of the beach, which will be 5,000 feet long. His estimate for this work is $230,000, but the final cost will probably be less as he is unable to figure at this time on the quantity of sand that will be deposited by wave action.

The removal of the bridge will cost $35,000. This item will include filling in the channel and rebuilding the drive at this point. It will be necessary to remove the bridge, because the channel connecting the lake and the lagoon will be obstructed by the beach.

Jetties to Cost $134,000.

The construction of the jetties will cost approximately $134,000. The construction of the jetties was authorized at a public hearing recently held in the office of Lieut. Col. William C. Weeks, government engineer. Eighteen wooden jetties and five rock filled piers will be constructed to prepare for the fill in.

COUNCIL DELAYS EVANSTON LIGHT PLAN ONCE MORE

Continuances Rival Joe Saltis' Record.

Evanston's city council meeting Tuesday was notable in its disappointments. The long awaited lighting ordinance was mentioned in passing by Ald. Albert J. Smith, chairman of the lighting committee, but definite news was postponed once more, putting the ordinance in a class with Joe Saltis and the Willie Druggan trial for continuances.

The airing of the plan for an ornamental lighting system to cost $2,000,000 is now scheduled for Sept. 17 and the mayor and the city attorney met with the committee in special session Friday, so expectations are high.

Another expected item which was conspicuous by its absence was discussion of the zoning board's decision in favor of three story apartment buildings on the disputed tract at Ridge avenue and Central street leased by Gustav E. Seegren and proceeded against in condemnation suit by the newly elected park district in northeast Evanston. The zoning board's approval must be in turn approved by the city council before it is final.

However, a few things were put through by the city fathers. The $1,218,133 tax levy ordinance was passed and four tax anticipation warrants for various city departments were approved.

Discussion of the rumored subdivision of the Evanston community golf course by the sanitary district, which leases the 68 acre tract along its right of way to the city, led to a decision that Mayor Charles H. Bartlett and a committee would wait on the trustees, petitioning them to keep it intact.

The city's lease has a thirty day terminable clause in it and published reports have implied that the district, short of funds, might revoke the lease and sell the property, which is estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is W-G-N, bringing the Mike McTigue-Battling Siki fight to you direct from the Scala theater in Dublin, Ireland! And what an evening it's going to be! Excitement is running high in Dublin because of the troubles between the Republicans and the Free Staters, and when we came into the building we were searched thoroughly by a couple of policemen for concealed weapons. Everybody who's coming in is being searched. It is St. Patrick's night, 1923.

We're all set to go with this prize fight now, ladies and gentlemen. The ring has been cleared and only Battling Siki, Mike McTigue, and the referee remain!

[Bell!]

◆

Here we go! Round one! Both men are coming out of their corners quickly in answer to the first tap of the gong. Siki, who hasn't got much of a defense, is sticking out those long brown arms in Mike's direction, and Mike is standing toe to toe and sparring cautiously. Siki's right darts out and Mike jumps back—the white boy is on his toes—Siki is after him and swinging his arms, but Mike is covering up cleverly. They've gone into a clinch. Now they've parted, and Siki is backing up till they're almost in the center of the ring again. Now they're sparring just easily and gently. . . . Siki tries a left swing across the body, but Mike's footwork is perfect and he dances away. . . . Siki is still grinning and talking to McTigue in French. Now Siki is starting out again! Whee! He connects with a left to Mike's head—the first clean punch of the fight, and Mike has gone into a clinch! Now they've broken again, and as they break Mike almost pushes Siki away. They're sparring again, with Mike still on the defensive . . . he just won't step into Siki, he's waiting for the black boy to come to him!

Siki tries with a right but Mike bobs his head and the punch misses. Now Mike unlooses a left—it's a corking drive that takes Siki on the side of the head, and the Senegalese goes into a clinch. That's the first real punch that Mike has shown so far in this scrap! Siki is now in a clinch—

[Bell!]

◆

Well, that's all of round one. It was a tame beginning for a championship fight and neither man has yet shown what he can really do.

There's the warning whistle! The seconds are scrambling out of the ring once again, and we're ready for round two! There's the bell.

[Gong!]

Siki is out of his corner fast and meets McTigue more than half way across the ring. Siki's cutting loose. His rights and lefts are just like a shower on Mike! Siki connects! He lands a hard right to McTigue's face and the Irishman is going into a clinch. Now the referee breaks them apart, but Mike doesn't appear hurt—the punch hasn't hurt him. Look at Siki! He's ripping in again! He's determined to do something! He's hitting McTigue with everything but the ringposts. But Mike is taking most of the punches on his arms and shoulders and now he lets loose! Look at Siki back away! McTigue drove in a right hander that sent Siki back a few feet! But the colored boy hasn't stopped grinning! Maybe they learn to keep on grinning in Senegal! He's right back with both bands, and Mike is being kept busy! Siki unleashes that right hand—O, it's an awful wallop in the body, and now he brings up his left! One-two for Siki, and Mike has gone into a clinch to gather his wits together. That was a pair of awful socks that Siki let forth, and Mike certainly felt them.

Now the referee is coming in to break them again. The fight has been all Siki's so far and he looks in a fair way to continue as titleholder. They're just sparring easily in the center of the ring—now Siki tries with his right hand—Mike ducks his head and it passes over easily—Siki is almost unbalanced by the force of the blow, and a quick right jab from Mike has him reeling.

[Gong!]

That's all of round two! It's a pretty tame fight. Siki, the singular Senegalese, has all the better of it thus far and we'll have to concede him both these first two rounds by a wide margin.

There's the whistle. Seconds out of the ring! Here we go into round three! There are still eighteen rounds to come!

[Gong!]

Round three! Siki is out of his corner more slowly this time—in fact, his seconds have to tell him to go in and start fighting. Mike waits for him in the middle of the ring, and they're sparring cautiously out there—Whoop, Mike whips one over Siki's guard straight at the big grinning mouth, and Siki lets out an awful howl! Siki is growling, and he's stopped grinning! Into a clinch they go now, and Mike is pummeling Siki's body while they're in close. He has Siki backing away—but not far! Siki is waiting for him, but Mike won't come in. Now Siki is sparring with him! They're goes his right again. Mike takes it on the side of the head and that Irish head of his is bouncing like a cork—Mike's backing up and Siki is giving it to him again—Lefts and rights and lefts and rights—to the body, to the head, those brown arms are going like pistons — Siki socks him a hard right to the body! Mike is groggy!

The referee has a hard time prying them apart. Now they're separated, and Mike looks O. K. again. They're sparring easily over in a neutral corner—Siki is trying to back McTigue into the corner, but Mike dances away and to one side.

There's the bell! That's all of round three! And there are still seventeen rounds left of this fight! Well, you never can tell. Maybe something will happen to make this fight interesting.

[Gong!]

Round four! Siki is out of his corner in a flash again, and oohhh! he's sent home a left to Mike's head, before the Irish boy realized what was coming! Mike's gone into a clinch to weather the gale, and he's locked Siki's arms again, and he's tapping the colored boy's kidneys! Siki's trying to wrench himself loose so that he can keep on punching! Now they are separated, and Siki is coming in close again. Whee! Mike lands lightly to his head with a left, and a right—Mike lands a hard right to his body! Siki doesn't mind—he's coming in! He's in! Ow! He drives an awful wallop at Mike's body—it's a clean right handed blow that Mike takes amidships—Mike is going into a clinch.

Siki's grinning again! Now they're just sparring easily in the center of the ring, with Mike dancing back every time Siki reaches out one of those long arms. The crowd is calling to them to start fighting. Siki lands with his left. It's a light blow that McTigue catches on the neck—now they've clinched again and—

[Gong!]

(Interlude.)

An now for a time we leave our announcer and his prize fight three thousand miles across the sea. The tumult and the shouting dies from our ears for a time, but the fight goes on. Into the fifth round it goes with the son of Senegal retaining his early advantage, increasing it even, and into the sixth, the seventh, the tenth, the fourteenth.

And slowly it weakens as the fight goes into the sixteenth round; Siki grows weaker in the seventeenth, and his strength is fast ebbing when the eighteenth has passed. Can he stick it out? Will he last until the end—until twenty rounds are over? Back we go to our announcer and to the scene of the prize fight as they go into the nineteenth round!

◆

Gong!

Round nineteen! Siki is coming slowly out of his corner—the old bounce is gone! There's no more beating McTigue to scratch. The big black body is burnt out—the only thing that will keep Siki on his feet until the end of the fight will be the lack of steam in McTigue's punches. The Irish boy lost lots of pep in those early sessions, warding off blows, and that loss is going to tell now. They are sparring in the center of the ring, with Mike still on his toes. Mike goes in right and left—one—two to Siki's head, and Siki is bringing up his hands to guard his battered face—Mike is working on his body—O! There's an awful right hand wallop to Siki's stomach—it hurt the black boy—he's hurt—he's almost doubled over—I'll bet the champagne is talking back to him—now Mike is plastering his unprotected head with lefts and rights, lefts and rights, Siki is getting groggy—he's coming in and holding on!

Now they're apart, and Mike is tearing in again. Listen to this Irish audience yell! They're liking it! Mike lands a right and left—he's putting in so many punches, ladies and gentlemen, that we can't keep track of them—Siki is wobbly! Mike has him wobbly! Siki is backing up with his hands down and his legs are quivering! It looks like the finish——

◆

O! I guess the bell saved Siki's skin that time. Mike had him in a bad way at the end of the round, and a few more good punches would have bowled him over. There hasn't been a knockdown yet in this fight, and it looked as if one was surely coming in that frame.

(Gong!)

Siki looks as though he's crying as he comes out of his corner for the twentieth and last round! Mike is coming across the ring to meet him and lands a hard right to the head, as Siki is trying to come into a clinch. He has his head down and just edging forward blindly with his arms outstretched trying to grab Mike. Mike is backing away, and sticking out his left hand, jabbing Siki on the face and neck. Now Siki rushes forward, and Mike slips to one side, and—how he pastes him! What a wallop it was! It almost bowled Siki over. An awful right hand sock on the side of the head! Now Mike is turning on him. He's working in close and giving Siki everything he's got. Siki's right eye is almost closed. Mike is peppering it with his left. Now he connects—with his right—to the jaw—Siki totters, but he won't do down! He doesn't know enough to fall down! Mike is hammering him with everything in the theater. We can't count the blows. Siki's defense is all gone! The knockout's coming! Siki is wabbling again! Mike has him this time! No, Siki is backing away! Saved again! He's not even trying to punch——

(Gong!)

That's all, the fight is over, with both men still on their feet, and in just a moment, we'll have the official decision of the judges. The fighters have retired to their corners—Siki's secords came out and pulled him towards his stool! There's the announcer—he's got the slips!

Mike McTigue gets the decision! Meet the new light heavyweight champion of the world!

An utterly new thing in radio

We've Caught at Last the Fleeting Thing in Music That Millions Respond To When a Master Plays or Sings ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings.

That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that mean entire absence of A.C. hum and interference. So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

RADICAL CHANGES IN RADIO LAWS ARE SUGGESTED

Commission Counsel Has Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweeping changes in the existing laws governing radio communication, which would eliminate sectional representation on the radio commission and would modify the provision which demands equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the five zones, have been proposed by Bethuel M. Webster, general counsel of the radio commission, in a letter addressed to Senator James Couzens, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, in response to the request of the latter.

The amendments suggested are for the Couzens bill for the creation of a communications commission, now under consideration by the senate committee, as well as the radio act of 1927. They are intended to remedy defects encountered in the administration of the latter act, Mr. Webster said, and also embody the opinions of the general counsel on the Couzens proposals without taking any stand on the suggested communications commission itself.

Amply Protect Public.

Indorsing the elimination of section 17 of the radio act, which prevents the merger of wire and wireless companies, Mr. Webster stated that, in his opinion, the anti-trust laws, together with the power conferred by the Couzens bill, would "amply protect the public against the evils of monopoly." As it is now, it is "unintelligible," he said.

This stand is particularly significant, it is considered, in view of the recent agitation for such consolidation in this country to compete more effectively with Great Britain. It was brought out at a hearing before the senate committee several months ago that the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had reached an agreement whereby they would combine their facilities if the government would permit.

Would Modify Amendment.

As to the modification of the terms of the Davis amendment, which requires equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the several zones, Mr. Webster says: "the commission shall make such distribution of licenses, frequencies, hours of operation, and power among the several states and communities as to provide an equitable distribution of good radio reception among the same."

If Mr. Webster's proposals are followed, the Couzens bill will include a provision for the transfer of the functions and the property of the radio division of the department of commerce to the commission on communications. Such a provision would result in giving the commission the power to license station operators, to assign call letters, and to carry on a radio inspection and police service.

Elimination of the use of construction permits before licenses may be issued applicants; revision of the provisions regarding holding of hearings; amendment of the provision prohibiting alien directors of corporations holding licenses; rigid provisions to prevent the practice of "trafficking" in radio licenses, and a "convenient procedure" for revocation and suspension of station licenses, also are recommended.

NYE BOOSTS HIS PLAN FOR U. S. OWNED STATION

Would Keep Channel Free for Public.

The question of whether or not the government should operate its own broadcasting station for the purpose of disseminating information by government agencies was brought to the fore again recently by Senator Nye of North Dakota, who commented on the bill to this effect which he has introduced.

The bill would provide for establishment of such a station in Washington, D. C., with authority for the secretary of commerce to establish additional stations if necessary "to assure that matter broadcast shall reach simultaneously all sections of the country."

Would Broadcast Debates.

In addition to government information, the bill further provides for the broadcasting of debates on important issues from the floors of either house of congress. This would be done whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the senate or house, pending legislation was a matter of wide interest.

"The political campaigns of the future will be largely campaigns by radio," Senator Nye said, "and to prevent the control of public discussion by privately owned stations the enactment of the measure will assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

Enormous Sums Spent.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national governmental owned station all parties can reach the voter without expense; thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion. The cost of such a station would be small compared to the tremendous importance of preserving forever a free channel of discussion for the people. The people must save for themselves this right to the air.

"Over the radio there is no bias. The listener-in forms his judgment from the actual spoken words. His intelligence reacts to the argument, as if he were actually present."

St. Luke's Church Young Folk to Meet Tonight

A reunion meeting of Gamma Kappa Delta, the young people's society of St. Luke's church in Evanston, will be held this evening at six o'clock in the parish house. All members who were present at the conference of the young people's societies of the Chicago diocese held recently at Racine college, Racine, Wis., will give reports on the work accomplished there. Among those who attended were Miss Cynthia Clarke vice president of the conference; Charles Forsberg, president of the St. Luke's club, and Robert Martin, lay assistant at St. Luke's.

Stone Parent-Teacher Group to Meet Monday

The first meeting of the school year for the Stone Parent-Teacher association will be held tomorrow in the Stone assembly hall. Mrs. O. H. Hofmann, 6428 North Damen avenue, is president of the group. The second Monday of each month has been chosen as the regular meeting date throughout the year.

Fast Day Is Observed for Palestine Victims

A fast day in honor of the victims of the recent riots in Palestine was observed by the members of the St. Michael Assyrian church, 1111 Belden avenue, on Wednesday. Special services were also conducted on Thursday and Friday evenings by the Rev. Simon Yonan, pastor.

North Shore Hotel Body to Meet at Noon Tuesday

E. R. Lucas, executive secretary of the North Shore Hotel association, announced yesterday that the next meeting of the association will be held Tuesday noon at the Georgian hotel, Evanston. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the public relations and civic affairs committee, of which E. H. Wood of the Uptown hotel is chairman. Mr. Lucas has been named as the delegate of the North Shore association to the annual meeting of the Northwestern Hotels association, to be held Sept. 18, 19 and 20 at Milwaukee.

SEPTEMBER IN MICHIGAN

That faint sniff of autumn that is first noticed early in September has been incorporated by Blair Walliser into a lovely half hour of songstrous entertainment. The scene for such songs is laid in a picturesque portion of the Wolverine State. "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" is to begin a prancing program of vocalism by Walter Pontius, tenor. The Violin Choir fiddles a sentimental section which includes the "Indian Love Call." Instrumental contributions by the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra include "Hippity Hop" and "Yellow and Blue." It'll be good. 8:45.

DANCE KING AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Jean Goldkette, king of the modern dance muse, points his syncopating scepter at the ceiling, poised ready to signal the start of a big day of dance music. He doffs his crown to a million attentive ears, and hangs it over the end of Bill Herring's trombone. Victor Young, violin virtuoso, has made elaborate, symphony-like orchestrations. Paul Mertz plays the most savage rhythm with the most sophisticated technique at the piano. It's a great band with a great name. 1:30, 2:25 and 11:00.

D'ALMADA APPEARS IN CONCERT

Cosmo d'Almada, one of the most prominent of American operatic baritones in world musical circles, bows his way onto the air tonight. Years of study in France, Italy and Spain have developed an artistic lustre to a phenomenally great natural talent. Not only is d'Almada a proficient singer in English, but he is also fluent in French, Italian and Spanish. In his program tonight this stellar artist includes the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and "The King's Prayer" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." D'Almada sings all of his songs with orchestral accompaniment.

QUIN SEES CUBS GAME

Quin Ryan, crack sports announcer, gives a crisp, direct word picture of the Cubs' battle with Boston this afternoon. W-G-N has obtained the best possible position for Quin and his microphone. The bases and players are laid out before the announcer like a diagram. Across the field Quin can see a scoreboard telling just what the Pirates are doing. You hear all about it. 2:55. Compliments of Baskin—Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

TOM, DICK & HARRY GLORIFY SONGS

Old-fashioned harmony all dressed up in the most modern of raiment is the stock in trade of Tom, Dick and Harry. The three boys have glorified the old business of harmony to a true art. They juggle deft little notes into modernistic patterns, punctuating them with resonant plunks of their guitar. 5:30.

CHILDREN HEAR OF ALICE in MUSICLAND

The wonderful adventures of Alice in Musicland are told about in tunes and talks this afternoon. Short, light classics are chosen to fit the children's taste, and fantastic announcements are read, having to do with the little girl in the strange land of music. 5:45.

PAT AND OLD TIMER SWAP VIEWS

Pat Barnes, known to thousands as the philosopher of the ether, shares twenty minutes with that well known venerable and mature character, Old Timer. Each week the Old Timer presents one of his entertaining observations about this old world of ours. The two cronies—the young and the old—on the air at 7.

BARRY, PIANIST, STARTS SERIES

Edward Barry, concert pianist and staff artist at W-G-N, begins a series of fall recitals today. Barry conducts the annual series of piano lessons by radio.

JOSEPH LEE, 84, DIES; PIONEER IN LUMBER TRADE

End Comes After Illness of Few Days.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday for Joseph Lee, 84 years old, a resident of Evanston for thirty-two years, who died Sunday at his home, 1002 Washington street, after a brief illness.

Mr. Lee had conducted a large lumber business at Lee's Landing, Oceana, county, Mich., and was one of the pioneer lumbermen of the state. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosanna Peregrine Lee; four sons, John V., David R., Joseph E., and James L. Lee, and two daughters, Lillian and Maude Lee. Mr. and Mrs. Lee had celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary last Christmas.

The Rev. Ernest Fremont Tittle conducted the funeral service. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery.

FUNERAL RITES CONDUCTED FOR REV. FR. FIORUCCI

The Rev. Father Carlo Fiorucci, O. S. M., assistant pastor of the Church of the Assumption, 317 West Illinois street for 21 years, died Aug. 30 after an illness of more than two years.

Father Fiorucci was born in Costacciaro, Peruggia, Italy, Feb. 25, 1870, and became a member of the Sainted Order of Mary in 1885. He was ordained as a priest in 1892 and came to Chicago twelve years later as pastor of St. Philip of Benizi church, Cambridge avenue and Oak street, where he remained for four years, until going to the Church of the Assumption.

His only surviving relative is a brother living in Baltimore. Vesper services were held last Monday evening, followed by matins Tuesday morning and solemn requiem high mass. Burial was in Calvary cemetery.

CARLOS ANDREWS, ATTORNEY, DIES IN EVANSTON

Carlos S. Andrews, 1111 Lake street, Evanston, a prominent Chicago lawyer, died Sunday at his home following a lengthy illness. Mr. Andrews had lived in Evanston for the last nineteen years.

He was graduated from Duane college at Crete, Neb., and the Northwestern university school of law in 1895, and had been associated with the firm of Culver, Andrews & King since 1911. He was one of the early park commissioners of North Evanston, and was a member of the Hamilton club and Skokie Country club as well as the Chicago, Illinois and American Bar associations.

Surviving Mr. Andrews are his widow, Mrs. Alice Andrews, and a daughter, Charlotte. Funeral services were held Tuesday at 4 o'clock from the chapel at Rosehill cemetery. Burial was in Rosehill.

MAURICE MAGES, COMMISSION MAN, DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services were held last Monday for Maurice Mages, 934 Winona street, who died suddenly Aug. 30. Mr. Mages was a member of the firm of Kramer Brothers & Mages, 820 West Randolph street, commission merchants.

He was born in Russia 59 years ago and came to Chicago at the time of the World's fair in 1893, living here ever since. He had been working up to the day of his death, when a heart attack while he was sleeping proved fatal.

Mr. Mages is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nettie Mages, a daughter, Alice, and a son, Bernhardt; a brother, Joseph, and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Plane. Services were held at the chapel at 3658 West Roosevelt road under the auspices of Crescent lodge, No. 859, A. F. and A. M., with burial in Waldheim.

Martin T. Malloy, Retired Contractor, Is Dead at 61

Martin T. Malloy, 61 years old, of 2525 Burling street, died Sunday at his home following a long illness. He was a retired building contractor and had lived in Chicago 43 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Peyton Malloy; a sister, Mrs. John Sweeney and a brother, Michael Malley of County Mayo, Ireland. Funeral services were held Wednesday from the home to St. Clement's church with burial in Mount Carmel cemetery.

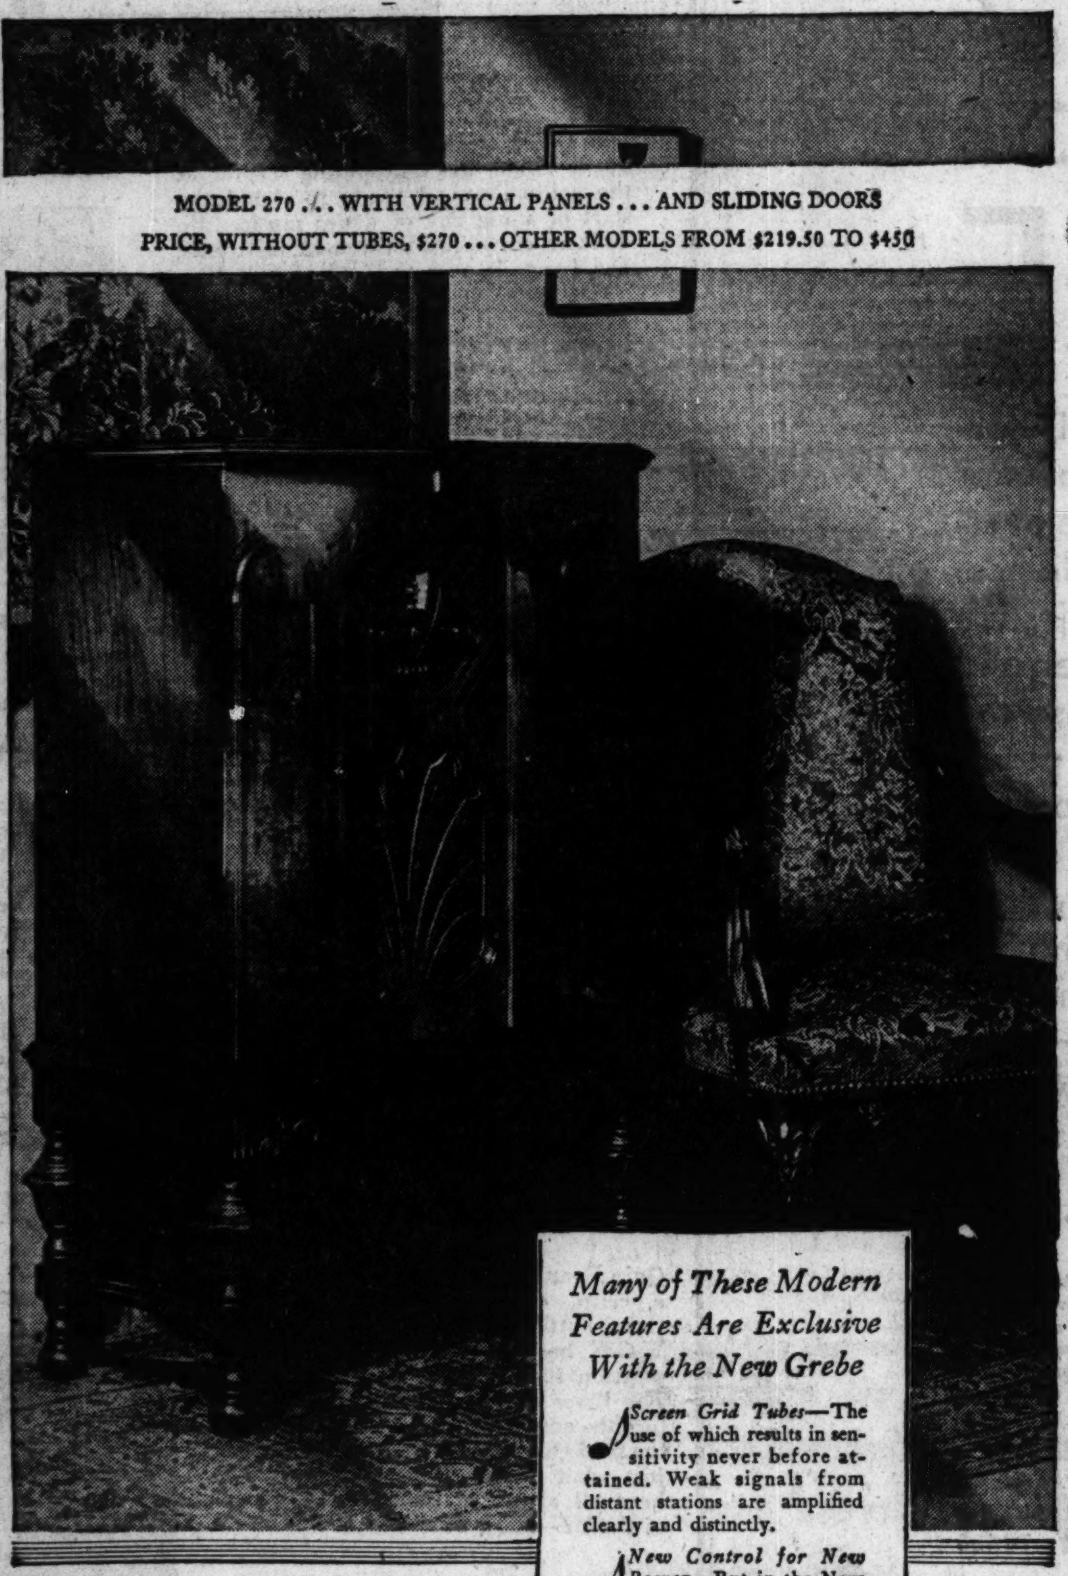
NEWER than screen grid!

Announcing the most modern principle of Screen Grid Radio . . .

Developed by Grebe



MODEL 270 . . . WITH VERTICAL PANELS . . . AND SLIDING DOORS
PRICE, WITHOUT TUBES, $270 . . . OTHER MODELS FROM $219.50 TO $450

To those radio buyers who really place a premium on life-like tone in reproduction . . . who really are looking for quality in reception—whether it be from distant or local stations—the distinct merits of this truly delightful instrument will have instant appeal.

The New Grebe is just out . . . and with it comes the secret of its tonal excellence — the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" used with screen grid tubes. To most people this will mean simply a technical term. But what this exclusive Grebe development does in utilizing all the advantages of the new screen grid tubes . . . controlling their power without subduing it—eliminating all outside noise and interference . . . means very much to every discriminating buyer who is seeking the best and latest in radio.

This New Grebe fully responds to the keenest need in radio today—silent power. For its silent power results in pure tones . . . entirely freed from all distortion of station overlapping or power hum.

Screen Grid Justifies the Public's Quick Acceptance

The many advantages of this new tube insure ever increasing popularity—and point to its long continued use. To quote but one of many prominent radio engineers, "The present indications are that it will occupy an important place in receivers produced during the next few years." Yet screen grid tubes, by themselves, are not enough. Alone, they do not constitute a new order of results. But in the combination of Screen Grid with the Grebe "Equalized Band Pass Filter" a new perfection has been reached.

As a prominent consulting radio engineer puts it: "I regard the appearance of the band selector frequency amplifier as the most important trend of the current season." Here then in a word is the New Grebe . . . another Grebe triumph . . . another instance of Grebe pioneering.

Twenty Years of Craftsmanship and Experience Are Built Into Every Grebe Receiver

For twenty years the words Grebe and Radio have been synonymous. Even before the days of broadcasting Grebe was fabricating fine precision radio instruments—many of which, during the World War, were to be found in the radio rooms of our fleets . . . and those of our allies. Craftsmanship has always been a Grebe creed. With Grebe, radio is not a side line. A pioneer in the industry, Grebe is still pioneering. Always a step or two in advance, this latest step is Grebe's most important contribution to the full enjoyment of radio.

Every Grebe a Finished Musical Instrument

While each Grebe model is especially designed for its acoustic values, each is a beautiful piece of furniture fitting harmoniously into the room where dignity is the keynote. Having always borne a reputation for craftsmanship . . . for quality rather than quantity . . . relatively few Grebes are made each year. So we suggest that you make your selection early. See and hear this New Grebe for yourself. A forty-eight hour demonstration in your home will be gladly given by your dealer. Hear for the first time . . . Tri-toned radio.*

Many of These Modern Features Are Exclusive With the New Grebe

Screen Grid Tubes—The use of which results in sensitivity never before attained. Weak signals from distant stations are amplified clearly and distinctly.

New Control for New Power—But in the New Grebe this added power is controlled. Overlapping of stations is eliminated . . . strays are kept out. You get the full tone value made possible by that exclusive Grebe feature—the Equalized Band Pass Filter.

Single Audio Stage Means No Hum—Grebe reception is so strong . . . so pure in tonal characteristics . . . that only a single audio stage is needed. Hum and microphonic disturbances are eliminated.

Large Diameter Speaker . . . an Original Grebe Idea—Full tone range is effectively accomplished by special large diameter electrodynamic speaker . . . so successfully introduced by Grebe.

For Superb Reproduction of Phonograph Records—You can play your favorite phonograph records by a mere turn of the tuning dial. This automatically connects the electric phonograph pick-up with its specially wound transformer.

Cabinets Designed for Lasting Beauty and Acoustic Perfection—The New Grebe is obtainable in a wide choice of selected walnut and mahogany lowboy and highboy models. Furniture of characteristic beauty and dignity . . . and expertly designed for its acoustic properties. In a word, Grebe craftsmanship.

 What is Tri-toned Radio? . . . .*

Every musical sound has three distinct characteristics: 1. Pitch, by which we distinguish the note as being high or low; 2. Intensity or loudness; and, 3. Tone, or character by which we distinguish the sound of one musical instrument from that of another. In Grebe Radio you have reproduction that gives you perfect blending of all three characteristics without unnatural over-emphasis of any part of the scale . . . Tri-toned radio.

THE REV. LEWIS A. CONVIS.

With the dedication Sunday, Oct. 6, of the new Jefferson Park Congregational church, Giddings street near Milwaukee avenue, an organization which dates back to civil war days and which through the years has played a dominant part in the religious life of the community, will have a house of worship that is both artistic and unique and a center splendidly fitted to meet the needs of the neighborhood's social and recreational activities.

The pillared porch and the tower, whose dome is surmounted by an illuminated cross, are reminiscent of the architecture of the old New England meeting house. The various halls, including Mayflower and Plymouth, have been given historic New England names. The book case in the pastor's study is fashioned after the one that Washington knew at Mount Vernon, and the fireplace of that room is made of brick from the old Mayflower Congregational church. In a glass case above the doorway of Plymouth hall there is to be placed a section of one of the ribs of the old ship Constitution, a gift to the church from the United States navy.

Stained Glass Aged in Making.

The glass in the windows, however, presents a feature such as no church, anywhere, has known before. Into the seven large windows has gone stained glass that has been aged in the making, pitted and streaked with dirt to give the impression of having been acquired over a period of centuries. In each of the widows openings have been left for medallions and shields. These will be of thirteenth century stained glass.

The window over the altar is a me-

Grant's First Battle in '60s Gave Name to Belmont Ave.

This is the thirteenth of a series of stories concerning the naming of streets and suburbs of the northwest side.

A civil war battelfield and an early Chicago lawyer and lumber merchant are commemorated in the names of two of the north side's longest east and west thoroughfares—Belmont avenue and Fullerton parkway and avenue.

Belmont avenue was named by Samuel Blanchard Chase, whose home where that street ends at Sheridan road was a landmark for many years in what was until 1889 the village of Lake View. By popular usage the roadway leading up to his home had been called Chase avenue, but he refused to have it so and renamed it for the first civil war battle in which Gen. Grant had command at Belmont, Mo.

Another Street Honors Chase.

But his family name has remained in Chicago street nomenclature. Chase avenue today runs off and on from the lake at 7300 north in Rogers Park, in Tessville and in Norwood Park.

Samuel Blanchard Chase was born in Hopkinton, N. H., in 1823. After his graduation from Dartmouth, according to Andreas' "History of Chicago," "after a couple of years of trying to build up a profitable practice among the law-abiding citizens of his own state, he gave up the effort and came to Chicago in 1850."

But he gave up his law practice here soon and, in partnership with James H. Rees and later his brothers, Horace G. and Charles C. Chase, he directed one of the three abstract companies in Chicago. The 'Great Conflagration' of 1871 destroyed most of the records and the three companies merged, later selling their books to Handy, Simmons & Co., forerunner of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Fullerton an Early Lawyer.

Alexander N. Fullerton, who came to Chicago in 1833 from another New England state, Vermont, as one of the first three lawyers here, gave his name to Fullerton parkway and avenue. He was a member of the first board of health and the first clerk of the town trustees, quitting his law practice to go into the lumber business with Grant Goodrich.

Fullerton parkway was the north city boundary until Lake View was taken into the city. The street just south of it, Belden avenue, was named for Belden F. Culver, secretary of the Chicago Historical society from 1874 to 1877.

ANNUAL GARDEN SHOW IS HELD IN NORWOOD PARK

The thirteenth annual Norwood Park horticultural exhibition was held last night at the Norwood Park fieldhouse under the direction of the Norwood Park community center council, the Norwood Park Garden club, and the Norwood Park Citizens' association.

Vegetables, fruits, flowers and foliage plants from the gardens of Norwood Park citizens were displayed. Artistic flower arrangements were also of great interest. Bird houses, designed by the grade and high school students, were exhibited and awarded prizes.

Harry H. Hanks, 5854 Circle avenue, was general chairman of the show and was assisted by a committee from each of the organizations sponsoring the exhibition. The Norwood Park Garden club committee included Miss Ida M. Kline, chairman, Mesdames Chester E. Giller, Nicholas J. Even and Thomas H. Slusser. Bernard H. Doering, Harry A. Varnell, Miss Mary Harris, Mrs. Condit Voorhees, Oscar E. Heese, and J. P. Aggerbeck composed the delegation from the Norwood Park community center council. Otto F. Burnitz was chairman of the Norwood Park Citizens' association committee which consisted of George C. Brunkhorst, Dr. Arthur D. O'Neill, and Carl M. Johnson.

Carnival Is Staged by Northwest Park Board

A carnival staged by the Northwest Park commissioners on the night of Aug. 29 at the Almyra Simons park, Wabansia and Hancock avenues, was one of the most successful ever given by the commissioners. Fancy hats were distributed among those present, and street dancing was held from 8 o'clock until midnight to the tunes of a three piece orchestra and to music on the radio.

Brookfield Woman's Club Starts Autumn Meetings

Members of the Brookfield Woman's club held their first meeting of the fall season last Wednesday afternoon at the Brookfield kindergarten. The president of the club is Mrs. C. T. Watson.

Little Miss Caryl Lillian Bader of Park Ridge is decidedly ambitious, the doctor having just announced that although she is only four months old she has four teeth and two more are ready to cut through. Her justly proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bader of 301 South Prospect avenue. Little Miss Caryl has a sister, Gloria Louise, five, who when a year old won a blue ribbon at a Logan Square baby contest. Mrs. Bader is the former Elizabeth Beyer of Jefferson Park. Well, Park Ridge is famous for its twin babies, but we doubt if any of the twins can show four teeth at four months of age.

Mothers' Council to Hold First Meeting on Oct. 21

The mothers' council of Washington school, River Forest, will meet for the first time this season on Oct. 21, according to an announcement made last week. Plans are now being made for the first meeting as well as for a dance to be conducted under the auspices of the council next month. Mrs. J. L. Brink is general chairman of the council.

The Changing World: Children Displayed and Speak No Pieces

"We may not be the warmest bunch
That ever hit the Square;
We may not be as handsome
Nor as swell as you'd declare;
But when it comes to booster stuff
You'll grant that we are there
For good old Logan Square."

The occasion being sons and daughters' day at the Logan Square Lions club, there was a disposition on the part of the guests to agree that their fathers were not only community boosters but "handsome" and "swell" as well. The song was new to the visitors, for it was the first time most of them had attended one of the weekly meetings at the club rooms, 2350 North Kedzie boulevard.

President Milton E. Darr suggested that some of the sons and daughters show what they could do in songs and stories. Oliver Mimmack, speaking for his little son, Jimmie, explained that his memories of being obliged to "speak a piece for company" were so painful that he wished to spare the lad, busy with ice cream, who sat at his side. His attitude seemed to be shared by other Lion fathers, and so the sons and daughters just listened and looked on.

A. J. Verschoore provided the entertainment in the way of recitations, his greatly appreciated "Tony at the Ball Game," and "Tony, the Ball Bearer," smacking not only of the impromptu but of originality in composition.

Forgets Son's Real Name; Razzed.

The sons and daughters were all introduced, Henry C. Haff drawing a fine when he stumbled in remembering one of his son's real names while trying to forget the family nickname. The Haff home was represented by Henry, James, and Donald.

William C. Thorsen, leader of the singing, sat beside his three sons—Arthur, Ray, and Edward. The boys, it was explained, were only three-fifths of the children at the Thorsen home.

With A. H. Cordes was his daughter, Katherine; with Robert J. Nelson was his daughter, Irene; with Otto Luecht were his grownup son and daughter, George and Dorothy; with President Darr, Milton F. Darr Jr.; with Gotlieb Fritz, his married daughter, Mrs. A. Peterson.

The Rev. Walter A. Briggs told of recently visiting his son in Sioux City, Ia., and of having another son in New York City.

Frank E. Jack, vice president of the Chicago Motor club and director of safety, said that it was through education of the children that offered the most hope in doing away with automobile accidents on the highway.

"If," said he, "we can educate these tots on the ideals of safety along with reading, writing and arithmetic, at the age of 16 they will know better how to drive than we older folk did when started. The grownup driver of today is too prone to think the other fellow may have something to learn, but that he, himself, is careful enough.

"Disasters with great loss of life shock us, but we pay little attention to statistics on traffic deaths, most of which are caused because some one did not do what he ought to have done, because they are scattered out over the year."

Roar for Safety Leader.

At the close of Mr. Jack's talk the Lions' roar was given in tribute for the "Daddy of the School Boy Patrol."

Since the patrol was organized in Chicago in 1920 nearly 500 other cities and towns have adopted the idea with the result that some 175,000 lads are enrolled in the movement.

The Logan Square Lions club was among the first organizations of the city to back the schoolboy patrols. There are twenty-two public and private schools in the Logan Square district. For these patrols, the club has been active in providing hats, caps and belts.

Officers of the club are Milton F. Darr, president; Henry C. Spiekerman, first vice president; A. J. Verschoore, second vice president; Elmer H. Puls, third vice president; Alfred W. Jarchow, secretary; C. H. Nygren, financial secretary; William H. Oellerich treasurer; William C. Thoren, lion tamer, and Arnold E. Christianer, tail twister.

ELMHURST OPERA CLUB WILL OPEN SEASON SEPT. 23

The first meeting of the Associated Opera club of Elmhurst will be held Monday evening, Sept. 23. This is one of five lectures offered to the members, to be held each month and extending into January of next year.

The opening meeting in the series will be presented by Marx and Anne Oberndorfer, who will give an opera recital, "Operatic Milestones," a short resume of civic opera repertoire. It is Mrs. Oberndorfer's intention to show that the audience is of utmost importance in giving an opera.

AUSTIN RENEWS FIGHT FOR SALE OF SCHOOL LAND

Delegation to Make Plea to Board.

Immediate plans of the Greater Austin Property Owners' and Business Men's association in regard to the proposed sale of the Austin school land were announced at a meeting held last Wednesday at Eagles' hall, 5245 West Madison street. Representatives of the association will be on hand when the next meeting of the board of education is called; a request is to be presented to Mayor Thompson for the appointment of a resident of the west side to the board; and the campaign for the disposal of the school tract is to be carried on in the press, and, if need be, by radio.

A detailed résumé of the efforts of the association since the beginning of the year to effect the sale of the 206 acre tract was given by J. Frank Lindsey, chairman of the public service committee of the association. In his talk Mr. Lindsey urged the audience to write to the board of education in behalf of the sale of the land, to induce their neighbors to do likewise, and to join the association for the purpose of supporting the campaign.

Public Officials Speak.

The meeting was presided over by R. A. Schiewe, president of the association. Besides Mr. Lindsey the speakers included Edward Moore, deputy commissioner of public works, and Dr. James H. Taylor, alderman of the 37th ward.

"Every business and civic organization on the west side has advocated the sale of the land," Mr. Lindsey said. "Likewise the city newspapers and the local west side papers are in favor of it."

Mr. Lindsey pointed out the fact that residents of Austin have been endeavoring to have the land improved for twenty years. If sold and improved, he said, the tract would bring new people into Austin, further business interests and serve to reduce the present taxes of property owners of the community.

Favors West Sider on Board.

Deputy Commissioner Moore in a brief talk advocated the appointment of a west side resident to the board of education and pledged his indorsement of the efforts of the association.

Ald. Taylor called attention to the fact that a somewhat similar tract, Hanson Park, consisting of 240 acres, is situated in his neighborhood. While not a barrier at the present time, he said, this land may hinder progress in the future. He mentioned also the new spirit which seems to animate west siders and their desire for community improvements.

Peter Kelly, director of the association, spoke in place of Ald. John S. Clark of the 30th ward, who was unable to attend the meeting. Mr. Kelly said that Ald. Clark wishes residents of Austin to write the board of education expressing their indorsement of the proposal to sell the tract.

LOGAN SQUARE BODY OUTLINES FALL PROGRAM

Brightest Lights Outside Loop Sought.

Committees of the Logan Square Business Men's association are preparing this week to launch an extensive improvement campaign by which they expect to bring increased business to the Logan Square shopping district, Charles V. Falkenberg, president, said yesterday.

The trade extension committee is studying plans for advertising the shopping center, and will bring in reports within a few days, according to Mr. Falkenberg. The committee is considering a campaign featuring a slogan, such as "shop in Logan Square," which would appear in all the newspaper advertising done by merchants of the district.

"Such a campaign, according to members of the commmittee, should be continued over a period of more than a year. The group is headed by Syl Goldfinger, and includes Eli Kahn, E. H. Mansfield, Gay C. Lowe, L. W. Harris, Harry B. Forbes, F. S. Kunkel, Lou Ballin, J. Leonard Undem, and M. J. Hurwitz.

Busy on Milwaukee Ave.

The committee on relations between property owners and merchants, whose function is to present to landlords the views of merchants on problems of the district, will also begin its fall activity this week.

That body will work on the proposition to improve Milwaukee avenue between Kinzie and Galewood avenue, according to plans to be decided on by property owners at a meeting later this month. Joseph R. Noel is at the head of the movement to obtain an early improvement of the street.

William Vasilopoulos heads the relations committee, and he is assisted by F. E. Pearson, George Nikolopoulos, H. Garfinkle, Dr. Howard Allen, Mr. Kunkel, Hobart Olson, Henry Spiekerman, and Earl W. Lally.

Seek Better Street Lights.

The street lighting committee, which for months has been working to obtain installation of a new lighting system in the square, will resume work this week, according to Mr. Falkenberg. It will conduct a drive among landlords for indorsement of a plan to give the district an ornamental lighting system superior to that of any outlying business center.

Mr. Hurwitz is chairman of the lighting committee, which includes Mr. Kunkel, H. S. Savage, Joseph Neuman, Frank Kummerow, J. H. Cavanaugh, Leo H. Rammel, Mr. Vasilopoulos, and Mr. Nikolopoulos.

The traffic committee of the association will attempt in the next few weeks to effect improvements in the handling of traffic in Logan square, according to a plan worked out by Leslie Sorenson, traffic engineer of Chicago. The recommendation for making some changes in the layout of the square and in regulating motor traffic will be presented to President Robertson of the west park board.

Traffic Committee Members.

Mr. Kunkel is chairman of the traffic committee, and his co-workers are Ira David, F. J. Fitzpatrick, Benjamin Schultz, Mr. Cavanaugh, Mr. Lally, and Anton Reiss.

The membership committee, which is charged with enrolling in the association every eligible business and professional man and property owner in the community, has promised to bring in forty new members before Nov. 1, Mr. Falkenberg said. This committee includes E. H. Mansfield, chairman, and M. Sanchez, Mr. Schultz, M. Mizes, Dr. John E. Koons, Joseph Farenga, Mr. Neiman, T. Wertheimer, George Bruckner, Otto Haak, and Walter Nissen.

DEMOCRATS PICNIC

M. S. Szymczak and Ald T. J. Bowler were the chief speakers at a picnic held Labor day in Natoma park, 6510 Milwaukee avenue, in honor of Frank J. Wilson, Democratic ward committeeman of the 41st ward. Democrats of the district sponsored the affair. A diversified program of contests, games, races, and similar amusements was held.

VARIED BLOOMS IN FLOWER SHOW AT PARK RIDGE

Club Offers Cup for Best Exhibit.

A wide range of flowers is on display at the fall flower show being given by the Garden club of Park Ridge in the garden and garage of Adolph Silberman, 317 Elm street, Park Ridge. The show started yesterday and will continue today. Entries were received from any amateur gardener wishing to compete.

Rules of Competition.

The rules of the competition specified that contestants might enter as many exhibits as they wished, that all entires must have been grown in the exhibitor's own garden, that no more than one prize should be awarded the same exhibitor in any one class, that first, second and third prizes should be awarded in each class, but that the judges might withhold awards where exhibits are deemed not to be worthy, and that a silver cup should be awarded for the most outstanding exhibit.

The judges are also to award prizes on individual flowers showing the most unusual merit. All entries were submitted yesterday. The committee in charge reserved the right to decide whether all entires were to go on display.

Flowers Are Listed.

The perennials listed by the club for the benefit of prospective contestants included hibiscus, aster spray, buddleya, and pink, red and lavender phlox. The annuals listed included red, pink, white, lavender and yellow asters, any variety of celosia, pink, red, and white cosmos, white, orange, yellow, red and lavender dahlias, red, white, pink, lavender and yellow gladioli, dark blue, light blue and Newport pink larkspur, any variety of lily, marigold, the best display of nasturtiums, the best display of pansies, any color of roses, the best display of scabiosa, red, pink and yellow snapdragons, large pink, red, yellow, orange, and lavender zinnias, and the best display of zinnias.

Shrubs listed for possible entry included hydrangea blooms, althea blooms, snowberry blooms and any other shrubs developed by the gardener.

CHURCH BLENDS COLONIAL GRACE AND MODERN ART

Dedication Set for Oct. 6 in Jefferson Park.

morial to William Dietcher, a former official of the church.

The medallions and the shields, worked out after many years of study by the pastor, the Rev. Lewis A. Convis, who has been assisted by Edward C. Rennhack, artist, attempt to tell of man's search for God through the ages.

Thus there is portrayed the search for God through sacrificial offerings, through the conquest of evil, through beauty, through law, through suffering and sacrifice, through freedom, and through adventure, while the chancel window depicts the finding of God through personality.

Year Consumed in Construction.

H. H. Halverson, a member of the board of trustees, and R. E. Webster, chairman of the building committee, have been especially active in bringing the project, which was launched July 7, 1928, to completion.

The new plant has been built at a cost of $150,000. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 600 with possible expansion providing an additional 200. The gymnasium of the third floor was built at a cost of $25,000. A $12,000 organ is to be installed.

This is the third building project of the organization, originally known as the First Congregational church of the village of Jefferson. The date of founding was 1861, and the first church was built five years later by the Rev. E. C. Barnard, who is still living at the age of 96 in Washington, D. C. The Rev. Mr. Barnard who erected the first church with his own hands, has been invited to attend the dedication services of the new building.

Objected to Swampy Location.

A second church was built in 1896 on land donated by the Roberts family, pioneer members. At that time there were those who said they didn't wish to attend a church in a swamp-land, incidentally that today is valued at $70,000.

Deacon Dunning, after whom the hospital at Dunning was named, was an early member of the church. Also the Falconer family, for whom Falconer school was named, were pioneer members.

Sunday school records for the years 1863 and 1864 show that the condition of the roads had much to do with the size of the attendance.

Mrs. Clara Lowell, now nearing 80 years old, joined the church as a girl of 15 and is still a faithful attendant.

Following the Rev. Mr. Barnard as pastor were the Rev. M. S. Hall, 1871-'72; the Rev. W. H. Burnard, 1872-'74; the Rev. I. B. Williams, 1875-'82; the Rev. W. D. Simmons, 1882-'84; the Rev. C. H. Seaver, 1884-'88; the Rev. A. M. Thome, 1888-'97; the Rev. J. J. G. Graham, 1897-1901; the Rev. G. W. D. Short, 1901-'10; the Rev. Harry Heiman, 1910-'11; the Rev. W. G. Jones, 1911-'14; the Rev. E. H. Gilbert, 1915-'20; the Rev. N. E. Barrett, 1920-'22.

Pastor Has Wide Experience.

The Rev. Lewis A. Convis, who became pastor in 1922, is a man of international experience. He has been a close student of Poland and Russia and has lived among their peoples; and Buriats, and has traveled extensively in Japan and China, India, Arabia, Egypt, Spain, England, Denmark, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia and France.

The church board of deacons is composed of T. E. Bourne, George A. Warne, Grover C. Liggett and Drury Rowan.

On the board of deaconesses are Mrs. R. E. Webster, Mrs. G. A. Warne and Mrs. T. E. Bourne.

Members of the board of trustees are H. H. Halversen, Conrad Bischoff, J. E. Schole, Mrs. Jessie Hill, Mrs. Cady K. Wright, R. E. Webster and J. E. Schuhr.

J. I. Connolly is superintendent of the Sunday school; Mrs. Oscar Kohl is president of the Woman's guild; O. C. Eckdahl is director of music; and Miss Olive Smith, organist.

The Rev. J. A. Clark is assistant pastor.

K. OF C. COUNCILS OF WEST SIDE TO HOLD PICNIC NEXT SUNDAY

ROBERT H. BURNS.

Members and friends of the West Side Knights of Columbus Building corporation will gather next Sunday for a basket picnic in McBride and White Eagle groves, adjoining froest preserves on the Desplaines river at Lyons, to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the organization. Joseph McMahon is chairman of the picnic committee.

Five years ago seven west side K. of C. councils—Setters, Americus, Carroll, Damen, Feehan, Hughs, and Sheridan—undertook the building of a club house that would provide recreational facilities for the knights, their families and friends. The West Side Knights of Columbus Building corporation was formed with Robert H. Burns as president; John J. Collins, vice president; John J. Gorman, secretary; and James Walsh, treasurer.

A site was purchased at 4715 West Madison street. Bonds to finance a building were purchased by the members. The result of the west side knights' enthusiasm is a three story club house, with lounge, billiard rooms, bowling alleys, swimming pool, fully equipped gymnasium, ball room, and council chambers.

NORTHWEST SIDE GETS REHEARING ON FEEDER BUSES

A rehearing of the plea of organizations of the northwest side for feeder buses will be held Thursday by the Illinois commerce commission. Since the commission has been reconstituted by Gov. Emmerson since the hearing that denied the plea, the supporters of the proposal have high hopes of winning a reversal of the former order. The hearing will open at 10 o'clock Thursday.

Mrs. Mathilda Brown and Mrs. Rose Schwede, leaders of the kitchen brigade of the Northwest Women's Improvement and Social club, will lead a delegation to the hearing.

After denying the plea for feeder buses, operated by the surface lines and with transfers to street cars, the commission granted the Chicago Motor Coach company a permit to operate in northwest side streets. The organizations interested in the matter, however, prefer feeder buses because of the lower fare.

18 GIRLS IN RACE TO RULE FESTIVAL IN ALBANY PARK

Event Will Start Tomorrow.

With the official opening of the Albany Park fall festival tomorrow, Miss Helen Swanson, 3017 Ainslie street, has gone into the lead in the race for the title of "Queen of the Festival."

Eighteen girls are still in the running out of the thirty who signed up two weeks ago. Their popularity is to be decided by the number of merchandise certificates, redeemable in the neighborhood stores, sold by them, and the winner will be crowned next Saturday night at the conclusion of the festival, receiving in addition a prize of $500.

Other Girls in Contest.

Other entrants in the contest, in order of their rank, are: Miss Lillian McFall, Miss Roselyn Baum, Miss Dorothy Golden, Miss Ida Jaukofsky, Miss Rose Shapiro, Miss Josephine Friedman, Miss Sarah Citron, Miss Irene Wilson, Miss Lilian Silverman, Miss Diana Goldberg, Miss Celia Davis, Miss Kitty Nudleman, Miss Berenice Storke, Miss Dorothy Crost, Miss Vivian Schroder, Miss Lillian Rasner and Miss Meryle Towsend.

The festival is under the auspices of the Albany Park club, of which J. Arthur Levy is president. Merchants on Lawrence avenue and adjoining streets between the north channel and Crawford avenue are taking part.

Plan Much Entertainment.

Window contests, parades, strolling entertainers and decorated streets, as well as amusement centers spread out around the district, will help make the week a merry one.

Headquarters have been established at 4735 North Kedzie avenue and J. G. Eggo is managing director.

WATER SCARCE AS PARK RIDGE WILTS IN HEAT

All Chicagoland baked last week in the record September heat wave. But Ridge residents assert they suffered just a little more than their neighbors. Added to the discomfort of the high temperature there was a shortage of water.

All day Wednesday the telephone in the city hall was ringing as one housewife after another called to inquire as to the miniature famine.

Call after call came in and all the city hall force could do was to ask their townsmen to have patience. Every drop of water the city water department received from the Mayfair pumping station was available to users, and nothing more could be done. Park Ridge, like other suburban towns, gets its water from the Chicago water mains at the city limits in Edison Park. But the heat wave caused an unusual need for water and many families felt the shortage.

To alleviate the condition to some degree at least, the staff of the Park Ridge city hall advised residents who called to refrain from sprinkling their lawns and to ask their neighbors to do likewise, for although the flowers and lawns of the town stood in need of some refreshment, the people needed it more.

BIDS ON PAVING DEARBORN TO BE ASKED IN MONTH

Chicago Ave. to Burton Pl. Is First Section.

The widening and paving of North Dearborn street between the river and North avenue will be the next step in the extensive street improvement campaign started by the property owners of the north central district less than a year ago. One of the major improvements, the widening and paving of Ohio street, already has been completed and the second item in the better pavement program, the paving of Walton place, is more than one-half completed.

The County court recently confirmed the assessment rolls for the improvement of the section of Dearborn street between Chicago avenue and Burton place. This strip constitutes the largest part of the improvement, the paving cost of the fourteen blocks totaling $204,000. The board of local improvements is now preparing data on the work to be done in this section and will advertise for bids within a month. The work will probably be started in the spring.

To Be Widened Five Feet.

The plans call for widening the roadway from 35 to 40 feet by cutting two and one-half feet off each curb and the street will be paved with asphalt. The property owners have been given a public benefit by the city to help pay the expense of the improvement, inasmuch as Dearborn street is a main thoroughfare from Lincoln park through the loop to the south side.

The members of the Dearborn street committee of the North Central association led the fight for the new improvement. The property owners include Thomas A. Summerville, Mrs. Theresa Garibaldi, Richard Lotholz, Philip Getschow, Mrs. Anna Rascusin, William H. Bush, Orlando Noble, John Marsch, Edwin G. Holloway, Mrs. Emma C. Portman, Stephen A. Crowe Jr., G. M. Reynolds, and Edward Steele. Mr. Bush is chairman of the committee.

Paving and widening of the section of Dearborn street between the river and Ohio street has been approved by the board of local improvements, and is pending confirmation by the County court. A public hearing for a similar improvement of the section between Ohio street and Chicago avenue was held Friday. In addition to the members of the street committee, property owners who signed the petitions requesting the improvement are: Joseph Scanlan, Mrs. F. A. Decker, Mrs. Mary I. Meade, Mrs. Katherine M. Baker, J. N. Volicos, F. A. Wallace, Mrs. Elizabeth Brosseau, Mrs. Amanda Immerhausen, Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Catherine Barrett, Joseph Greaves Jr., Sam Segal, and George S. Morley.

Other Near North Side Projects.

According to William C. Calvert, executive secretary of the North Central association, the following streets are under consideration for improvements:

Cass street—Now awaiting confirmation of the County court.

Clark street—The paving of the section between the river and Division street has been approved by the board of local improvements and petitions are now being circulated requesting a similar improvement on Clark street between North avenue and Division street.

Orleans street—Paving between Illinois and Division streets awaiting confirmation of the County court.

Superior street—Petitions have been filed for paving the section between Clark street and the lake.

NORWOOD PARK MAKES PLEA FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

A committee from the Norwood Park Community Improvement association called on officials of the board of education last week and presented a plea for better school facilities in the district. The action was taken when plans for the erection of the new Smyser school, at Malvina and Montrose avenues, were started and later stopped.

Residents in the district have termed the present school inadequate and have demanded a new building for several years. Recently money was appropriated for the erection of a new school, but was refunded because it was needed for the installation of sewers. Since that time, however, Leyden township has been annexed to Chicago, and that community was promised a school that had been listed before the proposed Smyser school.

The Pruessing school, at Menard and Leland avenues, is the only school in the district besides the present small Smyser building. Many children are forced to walk more than a mile to school.

The committee appointed by the organization included L. R. Cooper, chairman; Robert Neuelman, and Robert Robert. Charles J. Foster is president of the association.

Aurora C. of C. Secretary Addresses Farmers' Club

The Sugar Grove Farmers' club heard H. N. Yates, secretary of the Aurora chamber of commerce, at a meeting on Aug. 30. Mr. Yates pointed out the various duties and activities of an organization such as the chamber of commerce. More than 60 members of the club attended. Following the talk and a program of music and readings, refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer will give the first of a series of programs on Sept. 18 before the newly organized Civic Opera Club of River Forest. The title of their program is "Operatic Milestones: Importance of Opera to You," and will include excerpts from operatic pieces and piano selections. The affair will be held at the Women's club house, River Forest. The River Forest unit was founded at a dinner held at the clubhouse last month, and since that time memberships have been coming in regularly. George H. Jones is president.

NORSE THRONG TODAY HONORS LIEF ERICSON

Great Parade to Start Celebration.

Lief Ericson day will bring out most of the Norwegian population of Chicago today in the seventh annual celebration in honor of the Norseman who reached America almost a thousand years ago.

The celebration will be held at Navy pier under the auspices of the National Norwegian League of Chicago and 53 coöperating societies. According to Christian Olsen, 5108 Windsor avenue, president of the league, preparations have been going on since early spring for what is planned as the largest and most colorful commemoration in the day's history.

Starts with Mammoth Parade.

The afternoon program will start with a parade of bands and societies led by Sigurd Huseby, 3056 Diversey avenue, grand marshal, and the drum and bugle corps of Logan Square post, American Legion, which will pass by the reviewing stand, where 20,000 are expected to be assembled.

A. E. Eberhardt, former governor of Minnesota, will be the speaker of the day, talking on "Progress and Achievements of Sons of Scandinavian Countries and Lief Ericson's Adventure." The United Norwegian Singing society, with 150 voices, and the United Ladies' Singing society, with 100, will take part in the program.

$10,000 Boat Contest.

In addition a varied program of athletic contests and aquatic sports is planned with women's swimming contests and sail, motor, cutter, canoe and row boat races. The Lincoln Park Rowing club and the Columbia Yacht club are taking active part in the races with a $10,000 championship outboard motor boat contest offered by the latter club.

The Viking ball to be held in the Navy pier ballroom will close the day's celebration.

In addition to Mr. Olsen, members of the large committee assisting in arrangements include Knute Nelson, 4719 Montana street; Erwin Larsen, 2051 North Albany avenue, and Mrs. Emma Hjelkrem.

Cicero Rotary Club Golf Winners Are Announced

Prize winners at the recent Cicero Rotary club golf tournament were Joseph Klenha, Walter Reibling, Frank Vonesh, and John Buck. The first of the club's twelve road signs has been installed. The pattern is by John Carlander and it was cast in aluminum steel by Joseph Houze. Judge Harry B. Miller will be the speaker at tomorrow's meeting.

Brookwood Country Club to Hold Pivot Bridge Party

The Brookwood Country club auxiliary will hold its annual pivot bridge party on Sept. 21. Several prizes will be awarded. Members of the club will be permitted to invite guests for the afternoon. A children's party was given at the club on Labor day with Mrs. Webster Corlett and Mrs. N. C. Clausonthue in charge of arrangements.

HILLSDALE HOLDS CELEBRATION OF OPENING OF ROAD

Hillsdale, twelve miles west of the loop, recently celebrated the opening of the new road—Harrison street from Mannheim road to Buck road and Buck road to Roosevelt road—a thoroughfare that runs through the center of the fast-growing village.

County Commissioner Frank J. Kriz cut the ribbon, music was furnished by the Elmhurst American Legion band, a street dance was held, refreshments were served, and the occasion otherwise observed.

DEDICATE NEW GOMPERS PARK PAVILION TODAY

Unions to Conduct Ceremony at Fieldhouse.

The new Samuel Gompers park and field house, at Tripp and Foster avenues, will be dedicated today with hundreds of Chicago union workers and their families in attendance. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, is in charge of the event. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, has been invited to attend and make the principal address.

Each labor union will be represented by five men on the dedicatory committee. A band concert will be held in the pavilion and several speeches will be made by men prominent in Chicago civic affairs.

Pays Tribute to Gompers.

"It is most fitting that this park should be named in honor of Samuel Gompers," Mr. Fitzpatrick said. "If ever a man was interested in the workingman, it was Mr. Gompers. A great part of his life was devoted to bettering the conditions of labor and procuring better educational facilities for the laborer

"With the dedication of this park and the erection of the Samuel Gompers school, we feel that the honor due this great man is being justly realized."

House Costs $90,000.

The new field house, which stands in the 18 acre park, is 113 feet deep and 78 feet wide, and cost approximately $90,000. It contains a large assembly hall, gymnasium, small kitchen, men's and women's shower rooms to accommodate the bathers in the proposed outdoor swimming pool to be built in 1930, and a women's rest room. Present construction allows provisions for the erection of a new assembly hall on the second floor.

Commissioners of the park, under the jurisdiction of the Albany park district and at one time known as Matson park, are C. August Youngquist, president; Fred W. Lee, vice president; Edwin H. Manasse, Albert W. Nelson, and Henry A. Schwartz. Officers of the district, besides the president and vice president, are E. H. Niehing, secretary; Milton H. Manasse, treasurer; Ernest Buehler, attorney; Sam Matson, superintendent, and C. Hatzfield, consulting engineer.

Outdoor recreational facilities which are now provided in the park include tennis courts and a boys' and girls' playground. A large outdoor swimming pool and an 18-hole putting green, both of which will be built soon, will be additional features.

Montrose Boosters Say Big Area Is Neglected.

S. H. HADDOCK.
[Albany Park Studio.]

Charging the Irving Park district with long continued neglect of the area bounded by Lawrence, Kedzie, and Crawford avenues and Irving Park boulevard, the Montrose District Boosters' association, headed by B. A. Rooney, this week will demand that the commissioners take steps to provide a park for that section.

Mr. Rooney and his chief lieutenants, S. W. Haddock and A. W. Ormsby, will present their arguments to the park commissioners at a meeting Tuesday and will organize a campaign among residents of the area in question to force the park body to provide the recreation spot, Mr. Rooney announced yesterday.

"There is no park in this entire square mile," he said, "while other sections of the Irving park district are well provided with parks and playgrounds.

Pay Heavy Tax, He Says.

"Although this area pays a larger proportion of the park district's taxes than any other community under its jurisdiction, it has never received any benefits from the tax money."

Mr. Rooney pointed out that the neglected section has higher land valuations than any part of the park district. Other sections such as Mayfair, Avondale and Park View have all the recreation facilities they need, while the Montrose district is without a park.

The Montrose boosters propose, as the best and cheapest site in the neighborhood, the area bounded by Wilson, St. Louis, and Sunnyside avenues, and the alley east of Bernard street, a seven and one-half acre plot. The site was selected because it is accessible to the entire community and is improved almost entirely with frame houses of comparatively low value.

The matter was discussed by the commissioners recently and was referred to T. B. McGrath, attorney, for study. He reported that a park would cost approximately $950,000, and a site could probably not be purchased at the present time because the district is using up its bonding power for other improvements, according to Mr. Rooney.

Assert Cost Is Overestimated.

Mr. Rooney estimated, however, that a park could be acquired and landscaped at a maximum of $750,000, while Mr. Haddock expressed the belief that $500,000 would cover the entire cost. They charged that Mr. McGrath's estimate is so high because a number of the commissioners are not in favor of establishing the park, and caused the estimate to be placed out of sight.

Mr. Haddock charged further that Mr. McGrath went about obtaining his figures in such a way as to cause property owners to place an extremely high value on their homes. Mr. McGrath is opposed to the project Mr. Haddock charged.

Commissioners James W. Hamilton and Paul H. Schlier indicated to Mr. Rooney that they would favor a proposition for a park if funds could be found, but other members of the board have not taken a stand.

Commissioner Edward McClure said yesterday that he favors improvements if the board can handle them, but he decined to make a statement regarding the project under consideration.

400 ARE ENROLLED AT TRINITY HIGH IN RIVER FOREST

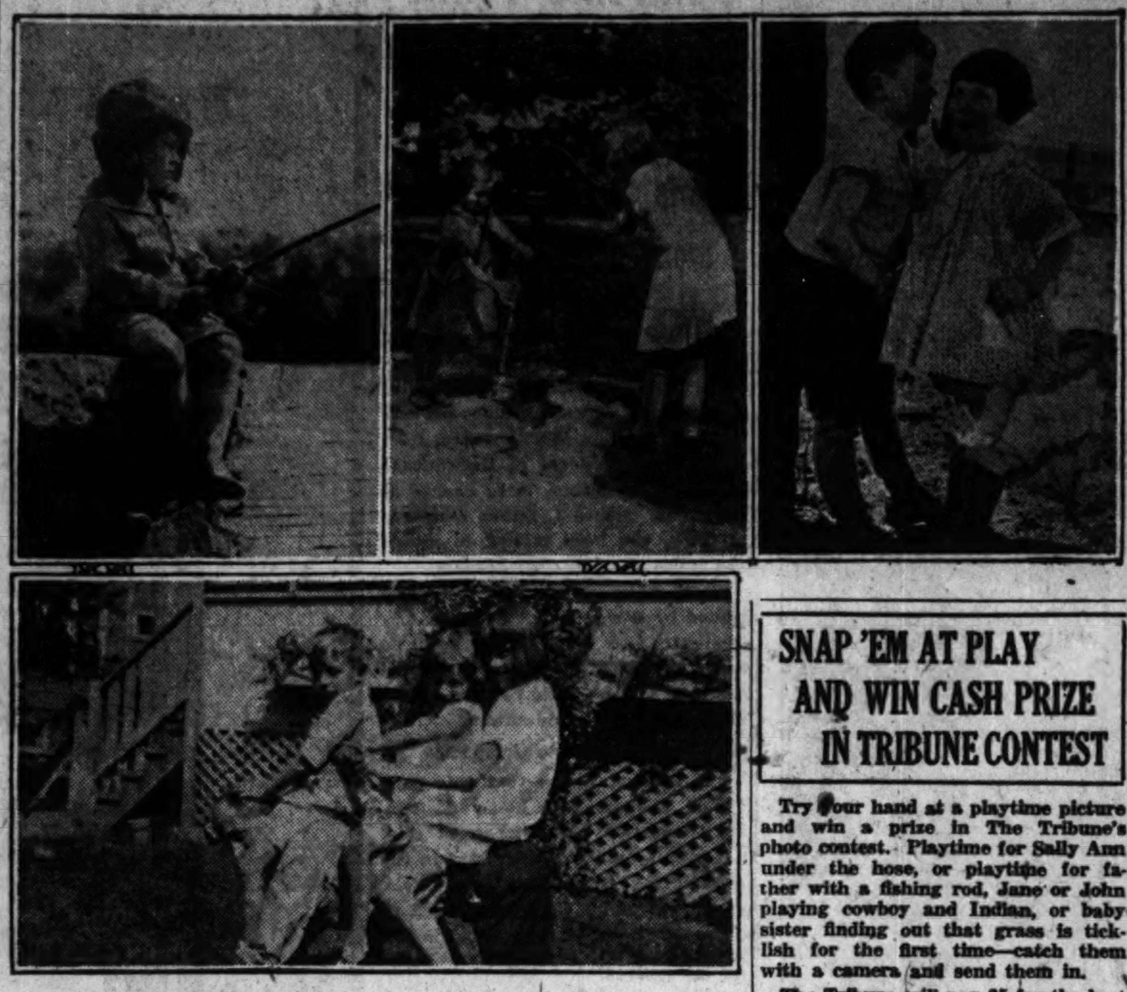
Registration of freshmen entering Trinity High school, River Forest, was held last Thursday. Other students were registered on Friday. Class work will begin tomorrow. About 400 are registered.

Monday morning the mass of the Holy Ghost will be sung. The Rev. V. R. Hughes, the chaplain, will deliver the address. A field day combining study and recreation will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 17, when the biology class will take a field trip and the general science class will visit the Museum of Natural History and Mineral Specimens at Elgin.

Dr. Lyon to Speak.

Lawndale chapter, No. 10, O. T. B., announced last week that Dr. F. Emory Lyon, superintendent of the Central Howard association, will address a meeting on Sept. 18 on "Boys Facing a Better Future."

THIS CHILDHOOD SECRET WINS $5



"The Big Secret" this week won for Edna Gentzcke, 3941 North Spaulding avenue, the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the west side. In the picture are Bobby and Shirley, young neighbors of the prize winner. Mrs. G. A. Atkinson, 815 Hayes avenue, Oak Park, won the second prize of $3 with "Fun with Daddy." The picture shows G. A. Atkinson, Donald Atkinson, Betty Atkinson and Gayle Atkinson. The third prize of $2 was awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Josling, 76 Arbor avenue, West Chicago, for "At the Pump," showing Marjorie and Winona in the forest preserve. An extra prize of $2 was won by Phil Miles, 4104 West 22d street, with a picture of Calvin Miles fishing.

REJOICES OVER $3.95 LINGERIE PURCHASED FOR ONLY 69 CENTS

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—A neighborhood ladies' apparel shop recently had a sale on silk lingerie. Articles that were a little window faded and which had sold for $3.95 were reduced to 69 cents. I bought three dainty pieces, tinted them, and have never been more thoroughly pleased with any other bargain.

JEANETTE SPECTOR,
1254 South Ashland avenue.

OUTDOES SPIFFY N. Y. SHOP.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—I had occasion to do some shopping in New York recently and while there I saw a brocaded satin padded robe—just the thing I was looking for—but it was in an exclusive shop and priced at $65. This sum was beyond my budget, so I had to pass it up. The other morning a neighborhood shop displayed the same kind of a robe, a little soiled, for $2.50. I have never gotten a more remarkable bargain.

SHIRLYE RUBIN,
3358 Evergreen avenue.

REFUSES $35 FOR $1 PURCHASE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—I was rummaging through some odds and ends at a nearby shop not long ago and came across a ten-inch bronze statuette, a fine copy of Thorwaldsen's "Aurora." I paid $1 for it and later was offered $35, which I refused. There are few copies of this work in existence and I shall always cherish mine.

Expect Key School to Care for 700 Pupils

Attendance at Key school, 517 North Parkside avenue, is about 675 this year. Mrs. Lillian H. Wright, principal announced last week. The total enrollment, however, will surpass the 700 mark after all late comers have been registered. There are no faculty changes at the school this fall.

West Side Kiwanis Club to Play Golf Wednesday

Members of the West Side Kiwanis club met for luncheon last Tuesday at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue. Prior to the luncheon a directors' meeting was held. The golf outing of the club is scheduled for next Wednesday at Tam o' Shanter club.

MANY CATHOLIC SCHOOLS START WORK TOMORROW

Resurrection Academy Has New Building.

Many of the Catholic schools of the northwest side do not begin their fall schedules until tomorrow morning, although some started classes simultaneously with the public schools last Tuesday.

Resurrection academy, 7432 Talcott avenue, Norwood Park, is one of the schools which will begin the fall semester tomorrow. A beautiful new building, constructed last year, will be opened when students come for classes. Authorities of the school report a large enrollment. Besides the regular high school courses, commercial and grade work is given.

Holy Trinity High school, 1443 West Division street, conducted by the Holy Cross brothers, inaugurated the new scholastic term last Tuesday. Of a total of more than 325 students about 150 are freshmen, according to a statement by officials of the institution. The school was founded in 1910.

St. Philomena's Opens.

Another school which began classes immediately after Labor day in St. Philomena's, located at Cortland street and Kedvale avenue. A two year high school commercial course is given here. Because of limited facilities more than twenty-five prospective students in the freshman class were turned away. The first year class numbers 44, and the second year 40. A kindergarten was started last week, for the first time, with a registration of about 60 youngsters.

Classes at St. Sylvester's school, Palmer and Richmond streets, will commence tomorrow morning. A two year commercial course is offered. The registration is about 80 students, according to authorities of the school. The grammar school here opened last Tuesday.

St. Stanislaus Enrolls 450.

The enrollment at St. Stanislaus' High school, 1456 West Division street, which began the fall term last Tuesday, totaled about 450 students. The Rev. T. F. Ligman, C. R., is principal of the school, which is affiliated with the North Central Educational association.

Other northwest side Catholic schools which started the new scholastic year last week include Holy Family academy, 1446 West Division street. Both high school and commercial classes are given here.

SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane or John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur.

It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

CIVIL WAR VET, 86, VISITS HIS OLD ELMHURST HOME

August Hanebuth, 86 year old veteran of the civil war, arrived in Elmhurst Wednesday from his home in Los Angeles, Cal., to visit his nephew, William Hanebuth, city superintendent of building construction, living at 146 Willow road, and of his niece, Mrs. Linda Hildt, Marion street, for the next three weeks.

Mr. Hanebuth, formerly a resident of Elmhurst and a frequent visitor here, returned to attend the sixty-fifth annual reunion of the surviving members of the 105th Illinois infantry. They were the guests this year of Mrs. George E. Dutton, Sycamore, Ill., on Saturday. Mrs. Dutton is the widow of Maj. Dutton of the 105th.

Born in Germany, Mr. Hanebuth came to this country as a child and enlisted from Elmhurst. He left Elmhurst in 1865 after being honorably discharged from the army and made his home in Minnesota and South Dakota before moving to the coast.

YORK HIGH CLASS OF MIDYEAR 1926 HOLDS REUNION

Every member except one of the mid-year class of 1926 at York Community High school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bertam Pillatt, 267 Addison street, on Aug. 31 for the first class reunion. Harold Pillatt was host.

Covers were laid for sixteen and Miss Lorraine Kennedy acted as toast mistress. Each graduate was called upon to tell of his activities during the three years since graduation. Miss Beulah Shehan, teacher at York and class adviser of the alumni during their senior year, was a special guest. She was presented with a set of books, Fred Saint, honor student at West Point, making the presentation speech.

Those attending were Miss Lorraine Kennedy, Harold Pillatt, Robert Pettet, Miss Kathlyn Wright, Howard Larson, Charles Jackson, Miss Ruth Keimel, Fred Saint, Miss Beulah Shehan, Herbert Bierlein, Miss Blanche Robillard, Lloyd Siegfried, Howard Leutgert, Leonard Groeming, Mrs. Lillian Bendigkett, and Miss Lillian Schuch.

Eugene Hanson, midshipman at Annapolis, who is on a world cruise, was the only member of the class not present.

VOTE ON PUTTING OAK PARK UNDER ELECTION BOARD

Voters of Oak Park will ballot on Nov. 5 upon the proposal to place Oak Park elections under the supervision of the Cook county board of election commissioners. Members of the League of Women Voters, of which Mrs. J. L. Fyfe is president, have been instrumental in getting signatures to a petition for a referendum. The question gives promise of a close election, because if the proposal wins the village will relinquish part of its home rule. Mrs. Fyfe believes the change would increase the efficiency of the elections in Oak Park.

Oak Park Playgrounds Put on New Schedule

Beginning last Tuesday the playgrounds of Oak Park are being conducted on a new schedule. The hours on weekdays except Saturday are 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 in the morning until 6 o'clock. The directors at the various recreation centers are: Field, Miss Evelyn Lorenzen; Carroll, Mrs. Ralph Millikan; Stevenson, Miss Grace Lerch; and Andersen, Miss Kathryn Putnam, with Miss Esther Parris as substitute. The director of the playground board of the village is Miss Josephine Blackstock.

St. Charles Women Guests of Elgin Country Club

Woman members of the St. Charles Country club were guests of the Elgin Country club last Thursday. The program included golf, luncheon and bridge. Mrs. H. P. Crane was in charge of golf and Mrs. H. B. Jordan of the luncheon reservation for the St. Charles women.

CHICAGO SYNOD PASTORS MEET AT ELMHURST

The Chicago Pastoral conference of ministers of the Evangelical Synod of North America were guests of Elmhurst college at their annual summer conference last Tuesday. The Rev. F. P. Umbeck of Chicago is president and the Rev. E. F. Pinckert of West Chicago is secretary.

In the morning session a program of German and English readings, which dealt with the theme, "The Voices of Labor in Modern Poetry," was presented by the Rev. Karl M. Chworowsky, St. Peter's church, Elmhurst.

After the luncheon, served to the delegates and their wives in the college commons, the conference was welcomed by President Timothy Lehmann. Prof. Carl Bauer, D. D., spoke on "The Einstein Theory and Its Relation to Religion." A musical program of songs, and piano duets was presented by the Rev. W. Kochheim of Chicago and the Rev. K. M. Chworowsky of Elmhurst.

DEDICATE BURIAL PLOT TODAY FOR JEWISH FIGHTERS

Many Notables to Speak at Ceremony.

Today at 2 p. m., Chicago Jewry will assemble under the leadership of Yarmo-DeVere Post No. 469, of the American Legion, and the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago at Oakridge Jewish cemetery, Roosevelt and Manheim roads, to dedicate the Jewish War Veterans' section of this cemetery, which, it is said, will be the first Jewish military burial plot in the world.

Included in the program of dedication will be addresses by Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois; Rabbi Lee J. Levinger, national chaplain of the American Legion; Columbus, O.; Col. Howard P. Savage, past national legion commander; David L. Shillinglaw, commander of the Illinois department of the Legion; Judge Michael Feinberg, exalted ruler of Chicago lodge No. 4, Elks; Judge Henry Horner, Anton J. Cermak and Charles V. Barrett.

Flyer to Drop Flowers.

An aerial squadron led by Jack Oates, war time aviator, will drop flowers over the scene of dedication. An artillery salute of twenty-one rounds, in memory of Jewish men and women who served the United States in the Revolutionary, Civil, Spanish-American and World wars, will be fired by a section of French 75s from the 122d field artillery, under the command of Col. Samuel T. Lawton. Martial music will be played by the drum and bugle corps and military bands of Bell post, No. 242; Chicago Board of Trade post, No. 304; and Woodlawn post, No. 175, of the American Legion and all flag ceremonials will be conducted under the auspices of the Combat Medal Men's association, Chicago's decorated war heroes.

All arrangements for these exercises of dedication have been arranged under the auspices of the Yarmo-DeVere post, No. 469, the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago and the general committee of the National Jewish War memorial. Those in charge of these exercises include Joseph R. Dorfman, general chairman; Capt. James C. Russell and Edward Clamage, vice-chairmen; Harold R. Schradzki, secretary; and committee chairmen Francis A. Walsh, arrangements; Col. Earl Thornton, reception; Col. A. L. Brodie, and Maj. Hamlet C. Ridgeway, military affairs; Paul W. Rothenberg, public relations; Thomas K. Davey, veterans' liaison; Abe M. Golman, civic; and Charles Kamp, motion pictures.

Honorary Vice Chairmen.

Honorary vice chairmen of the dedicatory exercises are Col. Howard P. Savage, General John V. Clinnin, Lawrence E. McGann, national vice commander of the Legion; General John J. Garrity, Mrs. Pearl M. Duncan, state president of the American Legion auxiliary; S. C. Maixner, vice commander of the Illinois Legion department; Lieut. Commander Charles W. Schick, Maj. George M. Kellogg Jr., C. E. Taylor, Judge Joseph W. Schulman, Barney Cohen, state director of labor; Julian Bomash, H. L. Meites and Walter M. Heymann. State Commander Shillinglaw is honorary chairman of the service.

Upon the completion of the dedication this first Jewish military burial plot in the world, the next objective of the Yarmo-DeVere post of the American Legion and the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago will be the plans for the erection of a national Jewish war memorial to be located at this site.

A smoker-dinner has been arranged for tomorrow night by Berwyn post, No. 422. The next Berwyn Legion-Community band concert will be held on the night of Sept. 17. Delegates from the post to the state convention will be Commander Frank O. Rettig, Carl Anderson, nominee for commander, and Past Commander Alban Coen; alternates, Senior Vice Commander Frank Tobias, Senior Vice Commander Nominee Len Walsh, and Assistant Adjutant Fred Page. Dale Williams has returned from a tour of the Pacific coast to take up again his editorship of the post's publication, The Bugle.

The following delegates will represent Lawndale-Crawford post, No. 98, at the state convention: Commander Charles J. Roth Jr.; Past Commanders John P. Havlicek, Joseph Baumruck Jr.; F. Hitchcock and Edward P. Skubic; alternates, Past Commanders George F. Kryda, O. F. Raimen, Adjt. Rush Goodson, Finance Officer G. Tungl, and J. Soudal.

Medill-Tribune post, No. 348, will be represented at the department convention in the musical competition by Jack Reid, bugler.

Cook County council, American Legion auxiliaries, has indorsed Mrs. George M. Kellogg Jr. for department president. Mrs. Kellogg is a charter member of Hyde Park auxiliary. She served as secretary and then president of the Cook County council and many achievements are credited to her vision and ability to organize.

DIVERSEY AVE. CENTER STRIP TO BE PAVED

Work to Remove Hindrance to Traffic.

The unpaved strip in the center of Diversey avenue between Crawford and Laramie avenues, which has been a hindrance to traffic for the last few years, soon will be eliminated, according to officials of the board of local improvements.

A project to pave the sixteen-foot strip at an estimated cost of $91,000 was recently approved by the County court, thereby permitting the board to advertise for bids and have the work begun. The board will advertise for bids within three weeks, and award the contract for the job this fall. The improvement will probably be completed in the spring.

Reserved for Car Tracks.

The center strip was left unpaved on Diversey avenue as well as on other streets throughout the city, such as Central avenue on the northwest side, because the surface lines were expected to extend their car service on these streets.

The interference with traffic has continued since the streets were paved, while the city awaited action of the surface lines. The latter made no move to provide the extensions, however, on the ground that added service could not be had until the traction problem was solved.

Local business and civic associations have continually sought to have the streets paved by the city, since there was no indication when the wait for street car improvements would end, and finally the board of local improvements acceded to their demands and instituted proceedings to pave the center strips.

First to Win Relief.

Diversey avenue is the first of these projects to clear the necessary legal procedure, but others are expected to follow shortly, according to engineers of the board.

Traffic tieups on these streets have occurred frequently because the two narrow roadways on the sides provide space for only one line of cars.

The County court also recently approved paving with asphalt of Solon street, between 14th street and 14th place at an estimated cost of $12,000, and installation of a sewer in Central avenue, between Northwest highway and Goodman street, at a cost of $5,000.

KOSCIUSKO PARK CHILDREN ATTEND COSTUME PARADE

Unique Garb Makes a Colorful Spectacle.

Children of the northwest side attended the costume parade staged at Kosciusko park on Aug. 28 under the direction of the northwest park commissioners. The variety of the costumes worn by the various contestants was so unusual that the judges, Miss Helene Andersen, executive secretary of the district, and Mrs. Anna Dodge and Miss Laura Maggioncalda, playground attendants, had difficulty in deciding upon winners.

They awarded the prizes to the following:

Girls' division: First, Irene Robel, 4 years old, 2652 North Avers avenue, who wore the most comical costume; second, Lillian Huber, 4 years old, 3424 Belden avenue, attired in a dress her grandmother wore 75 years ago; third, Dorothy Lupinski, 10 years old, 3741 Wrightwood avenue, dressed as a Russian.

Boys' division: First, Harry Flagler, 11 years old, 2959 Menard avenue, dressed as Uncle Sam, and second, Edward Ingram, 8 years old, 3628 Armitage avenue, dressed as a Negro mammy.

In the doll buggy parade held in connection with the display of costumes, Rose Marie Elwart, 3 years old, 2622 Harding avenue, was awarded first prize.

"If the older folk of the Northwest Park district want to get a kick out of life," Miss Andersen said, "they should attend one of these costume parades sponsored by the commissioners."

Commissioners of the district are now making arrangements for a festival and pageant to be held late this month at park 9, Bloomingdale and Moody avenues. All parks in the district will be represented by floats, according to Miss Andersen, who is in charge. Further details are to be announced later.

Dan Passarella Named Melrose Park Fire Chief

The Melrose Park fire department which has been under the direction of Acting Chief Dan Passarella, will continue under his leadership, the village trustees having given him a permanent appointment recently.

An utterly new thing in radio

We've Caught at Last the Fleeting Thing in Music That Millions Respond To When a Master Plays or Sings ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings.

That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that mean entire absence of A.C. hum and interference. So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

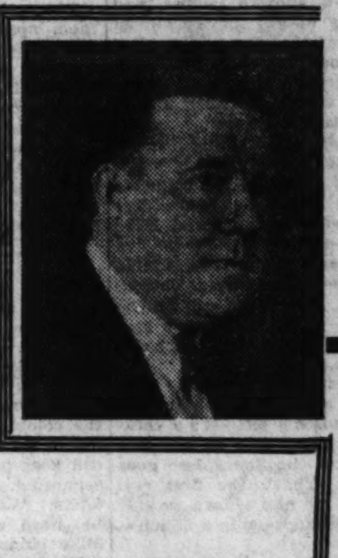
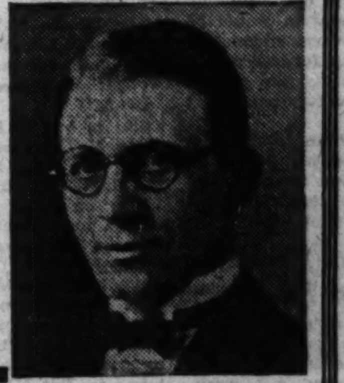
SEPTEMBER IN MICHIGAN



That faint sniff of autumn that is first noticed early in September has been incorporated by Blair Walliser into a lovely half hour of songstrous entertainment. The scene for such songs is laid in a picturesque portion of the Wolverine State. "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" is to begin a prancing program of vocalism by Walter Pontius, tenor. The Violin Choir fiddles a sentimental section which includes the "Indian Love Call." Instrumental contributions by the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra include "Hippity Hop" and "Yellow and Blue." It'll be good. 8:45.

DANCE KING AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Jean Goldkette, king of the modern dance muse, points his syncopating scepter at the ceiling, poised ready to signal the start of a big day of dance music. He doffs his crown to a million attentive ears, and hangs it over the end of Bill Herring's trombone. Victor Young, violin virtuoso, has made elaborate, symphony-like orchestrations. Paul Mertz plays the most savage rhythm with the most sophisticated technique at the piano. It's a great band with a great name. 1:30, 2:25 and 11:00.

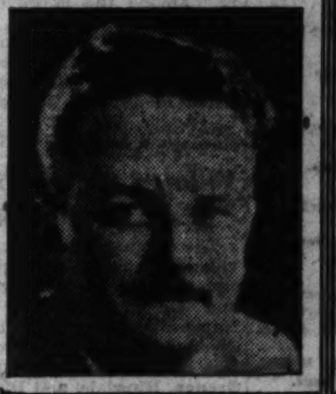


D'ALMADA APPEARS IN CONCERT

Cosmo d'Almada, one of the most prominent of American operatic baritones in world musical circles, bows his way onto the air tonight. Years of study in France, Italy and Spain have developed an artistic lustre to a phenomenally great natural talent. Not only is d'Almada a proficient singer in English, but he is also fluent in French, Italian and Spanish. In his program tonight this stellar artist includes the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and "The King's Prayer" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." D'Almada sings all of his songs with orchestral accompaniment.

QUIN SEES CUBS GAME

Quin Ryan, crack sports announcer, gives a crisp, direct word picture of the Cubs' battle with Boston this afternoon. W-G-N has obtained the best possible position for Quin and his microphone. The bases and players are laid out before the announcer like a diagram. Across the field Quin can see a scoreboard telling just what the Pirates are doing. You hear all about it. 2:55. Compliments of Baskin—Hart, Schaffner & Marx.



TOM, DICK & HARRY GLORIFY SONGS

Old-fashioned harmony all dressed up in the most modern of raiment is the stock in trade of Tom, Dick and Harry. The three boys have glorified the old business of harmony to a true art. They juggle deft little notes into modernistic patterns, punctuating them with resonant plunks of their guitar. 5:30.

CHILDREN HEAR OF ALICE in MUSICLAND

The wonderful adventures of Alice in Musicland are told about in tunes and talks this afternoon. Short, light classics are chosen to fit the children's taste, and fantastic announcements are read, having to do with the little girl in the strange land of music. 5:45.

PAT AND OLD TIMER SWAP VIEWS

Pat Barnes, known to thousands as the philosopher of the ether, shares twenty minutes with that well known venerable and mature character, Old Timer. Each week the Old Timer presents one of his entertaining observations about this old world of ours. The two cronies—the young and the old—on the air at 7.

BARRY, PIANIST, STARTS SERIES

Edward Barry, concert pianist and staff artist at W-G-N, begins a series of fall recitals today. Barry conducts the annual series of piano lessons by radio.

ROBERTS SINGS WITH ORCHESTRA

Frank Roberts, tenor, prominent soloist with several church choirs throughout Chicagoland, sings with the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra tonight. Roberts is one of the most favored artists with listeners, having an enviable mail "pull." 10:10.

NYE BOOSTS HIS PLAN FOR U. S. OWNED STATION

Would Keep Channel Free for Public.

The question of whether or not the government should operate its own broadcasting station for the purpose of disseminating information by government agencies was brought to the fore again recently by Senator Nye of North Dakota, who commented on the bill to this effect which he has introduced.

The bill would provide for establishment of such a station in Washington, D. C., with authority for the secretary of commerce to establish additional stations if necessary "to assure that matter broadcast shall reach simultaneously all sections of the country."

Would Broadcast Debates.

In addition to government information, the bill further provides for the broadcasting of debates on important issues from the floors of either house of congress. This would be done whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the senate or house, pending legislation was a matter of wide interest.

"The political campaigns of the future will be largely campaigns by radio," Senator Nye said, "and to prevent the control of public discussion by privately owned stations the enactment of the measure will assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

Enormous Sums Spent.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national governmental owned station all parties can reach the voter without expense; thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion. The cost of such a station would be small compared to the tremendous importance of preserving forever a free channel of discussion for the people. The people must save for themselves this right to the air.

"Over the radio there is no bias. The listener-in forms his judgment from the actual spoken words. His intelligence reacts to the argument, as if he were actually present."

Avondale School Faculty Unchanged from Last Year

The entire faculty of the Avondale school, 2945 North Sawyer avenue, is the same this year as last, the office of the school announced last week. Registration this fall is about the same as it was last year, approximately 1,450 pupils. Mrs. Gertrude S. Pease is principal.

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is W-G-N, bringing the Mike McTigue-Battling Siki fight to you direct from the Scala theater in Dublin, Ireland! And what an evening it's going to be! Excitement is running high in Dublin because of the troubles between the Republicans and the Free Staters, and when we came into the building we were searched thoroughly by a couple of policemen for concealed weapons. Everybody who's coming in is being searched. It is St. Patrick's night, 1923.

We're all set to go with this prize fight now, ladies and gentlemen. The ring has been cleared and only Battling Siki, Mike McTigue, and the referee remain!

[Bell!]

Here we go! Round one! Both men are coming out of their corners quickly in answer to the first tap of the gong. Siki, who hasn't got much of a defense, is sticking out those long brown arms in Mike's direction, and Mike is standing toe to toe and sparring cautiously. Siki's right darts out and Mike jumps back—the white boy is on his toes—Siki is after him and swinging his arms, but Mike is covering up cleverly. They've gone into a clinch. Now they've parted, and Siki is backing up till they're almost in the center of the ring again. Now they're sparring just easily and gently. . . . Siki tries a left swing across the body, but Mike's footwork is perfect and he dances away. . . . Siki is still grinning and talking to McTigue in French. Now Siki is starting out again! Whee! He connects with a left to Mike's head—the first clean punch of the fight, and Mike has gone into a clinch! Now they've broken again, and as they break Mike almost pushes Siki away. They're sparring again, with Mike still on the defensive . . . he just won't step into Siki, he's waiting for the black boy to come to him!

Siki tries with a right but Mike bobs his head and the punch misses. Now Mike unlooses a left—it's a corking drive that takes Siki on the side of the head, and the Senegalese goes into a clinch. That's the first real punch that Mike has shown so far in this scrap! Siki is now in a clinch—

[Bell!]

Well, that's all of round one. It was a tame beginning for a championship fight and neither man has yet shown what he can really do.

There's the warning whistle! The seconds are scrambling out of the ring once again, and we're ready for round two! There's the bell.

[Gong!]

Siki is out of his corner fast and meets McTigue more than half way across the ring. Siki's cutting loose. His rights and lefts are just like a shower on Mike! Siki connects! He lands a hard right to McTigue's face and the Irishman is going into a clinch. Now the referee breaks them apart, but Mike doesn't appear hurt—the punch hasn't hurt him. Look at Siki! He's ripping in again! He's determined to do something! He's hitting McTigue with everything but the ringposts. But Mike is taking most of the punches on his arms and shoulders and now he lets loose! Look at Siki back away! McTigue drove in a right hander that sent Siki back a few feet! But the colored boy hasn't stopped grinning! Maybe they learn to keep on grinning in Senegal! He's right back with both hands, and Mike is being kept busy! Siki unleashes that right hand—O, it's an awful wallop in the body, and now he brings up his left! One-two for Siki, and Mike has gone into a clinch to gather his wits together. That was a pair of awful socks that Siki let forth, and Mike certainly felt them.

Now the referee is coming in to break them again. The fight has been all Siki's so far and he looks in a fair way to continue as titleholder. They're just sparring easily in the center of the ring—now Siki tries with his right hand—Mike ducks his head and it passes over easily—Siki is almost unbalanced by the force of the blow, and a quick right jab from Mike has him reeling.

[Gong!]

That's all of round two. It's a pretty tame fight. Siki, the singular Senegalese, has all the better of it thus far and we'll have to concede him both these first two rounds by a wide margin.

There's the whistle. Seconds out of the ring! Here we go into round three! There are still eighteen rounds to come!

[Gong!]

Round three! Siki is out of his corner more slowly this time—in fact, his seconds have to tell him to go in and start fighting. Mike waits for him in the middle of the ring, and they're sparring cautiously out there—Whoop, Mike whips one over Siki's guard straight at the big grinning mouth, and Siki lets out an awful howl! Siki is growling, and he's stopped grinning! Into a clinch they go now, and Mike is pummeling Siki's body while they're in close. He has Siki backing away—but not far! Siki is waiting for him.

The referee has a hard time prying them apart. Now they're separated, and Mike looks O. K. again. They're sparring easily over in a neutral corner—Siki is trying to back McTigue into the corner, but Mike dances away and to one side.

There's the bell! That's all of round three! And there are still seventeen rounds left of this fight! Well, you never can tell. Maybe something will happen to make this fight interesting.

[Gong!]

Round four! Siki is out of his corner in a flash again, and oohhh! he's sent home a left to Mike's head, before the Irish boy realized what was coming! Mike's gone into a clinch to weather the gale, and he's locked Siki's arms again, and he's tapping the colored boy's kidneys! Siki's trying to wrench himself loose so that he can keep on punching! Now they are separated, and Siki is coming in close again. Whee! Mike lands lightly to his head with a left, and a right—Mike lands a hard right to his body! Siki doesn't mind—he's coming in! He's in! Ow! He drives an awful wallop at Mike's body.

Siki's grinning again! Now they're just sparring easily in the center of the ring, with Mike dancing back every time Siki reaches out one of those long arms.

[Gong!]

(Interlude.)

An now for a time we leave our announcer and his prize fight three thousand miles across the sea. The tumult and the shouting dies from our ears for a time, but the fight goes on. Into the fifth round it goes with the son of Senegal retaining his early advantage, increasing it even, and into the sixth, the seventh, the tenth, the fourteenth.

And slowly it weakens as the fight goes into the sixteenth round; Siki grows weaker in the seventeenth, and his strength is fast ebbing when the eighteenth has passed. Can he stick it out? Will he last until the end—until twenty rounds are over? Back we go to our announcer and to the scene of the prize fight as they go into the nineteenth round!

Gong!

Round nineteen! Siki is coming slowly out of his corner. They are sparring in the center of the ring, with Mike still on his toes. Mike goes in right and left—one—two to Siki's head, and Siki is bringing up his hands to guard his battered face—Mike is working on his body—O! There's an awful right hand wallop to Siki's stomach—it hurt the black boy—he's hurt—he's almost doubled over—I'll bet the champagne is talking back to him—now Mike is plastering his unprotected head with lefts and rights, lefts and rights, Siki is getting groggy—he's coming in and holding on!

(Gong!)

O! I guess the bell saved Siki's skin that time. Mike had him in a bad way at the end of the round, and a few more good punches would have bowled him over. There hasn't been a knockdown yet in this fight, and it looked as if one was surely coming in that frame.

(Gong!)

Siki looks as though he's crying as he comes out of his corner for the twentieth and last round! Mike is coming across the ring to meet him and lands a hard right to the head, as Siki is trying to come into a clinch. He has his head down and just edging forward blindly with his arms outstretched trying to grab Mike. Mike is backing away, and sticking out his left hand, jabbing Siki on the face and neck. Now Siki rushes forward, and Mike slips to one side, and—how he pastes him! What a wallop it was! It almost bowled Siki over. An awful right hand sock on the side of the head! Now Mike is turning on him.

(Gong!)

Mike McTigue gets the decision! Meet the new light heavyweight champion of the world!

Ald. Bowler Promises to Aid Higgins Road Improvement

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st] promised action in the city council on many suggested improvements for Higgins road after a conference with a committee of the Greater Higgins Road Improvement association at his home, 6101 Warwick avenue, recently. Among the improvements asked were sidewalks, street signs, street lights, and cinders for the playground of the Norwood Park branch school on Higgins road. The committee consisted of William D'Arcy, chairman; L. Rodger, William Bartsch, William Hoehe and Edgar Kendall.

RADICAL CHANGES IN RADIO LAWS ARE SUGGESTED

Commission Counsel Has Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweeping changes in the existing laws governing radio communication, which would eliminate sectional representation on the radio commission and would modify the provision which demands equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the five zones, have been proposed by Bethuel M. Webster, general counsel of the radio commission, in a letter addressed to Senator James Couzens, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, in response to the request of the latter.

The amendments suggested are for the Couzens bill for the creation of a communications commission, now under consideration by the senate committee, as well as the radio act of 1927. They are intended to remedy defects encountered in the administration of the latter act, Mr. Webster said, and also embody the opinions of the general counsel on the Couzens proposals without taking any stand on the suggested communications commission itself.

Amply Protect Public.

Indorsing the elimination of section 17 of the radio act, which prevents the merger of wire and wireless companies, Mr. Webster stated that, in his opinion, the anti-trust laws, together with the power conferred by the Couzens bill, would "amply protect the public against the evils of monopoly." As it is now, it is "unintelligible," he said.

This stand is particularly significant, it is considered, in view of the recent agitation for such consolidation in this country to compete more effectively with Great Britain. It was brought out at a hearing before the senate committee several months ago that the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had reached an agreement whereby they would combine their facilities if the government would permit.

Would Modify Amendment.

As to the modification of the terms of the Davis amendment, which requires equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the several zones, Mr. Webster says: "the commission shall make such distribution of licenses, frequencies, hours of operation, and power among the several states and communities as to provide an equitable distribution of good radio reception among the same."

If Mr. Webster's proposals are followed, the Couzens bill will include a provision for the transfer of the functions and the property of the radio division of the department of commerce to the commission on communications. Such a provision would result in giving the commission the power to license station operators, to assign call letters, and to carry on a radio inspection and police service.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FALL FETE IN NORWOOD PARK

All is in readiness for the annual fall festival to be held by the Norwood Park Business Men's association from Sept. 18 to 21. This was shown at a recent meeting of the committee chairmen in the offices of Thomas Fetter, general chairman, at 6131 Northwest highway.

Present plans call for a parade on the afternoon of the first day, Wednesday, Sept. 18. The entire Norwood Park Business Men's group will join in the procession with floats and decorated automobiles and will pass through the streets of Norwood Park and the surrounding communities. Streets will be decorated with flags, banners, festoons, and special electric lights.

The committee members are as follows: Grounds, D. C. Ulmer, chairman, Louis Ehrhart, and George Eckhoff; advertising, Ben Mertes, chairman, George Woods, Edward Path, and A. H. Wagner; prizes, E. A. Dahlke, chairman, Lionel Fisher, and Marshall Anda; decorations, E. E. Cleary, chairman, Roy Brooks, Buck Gindele, and Joseph J. Meersman; entertainment, Dr. F. J. Laughlin, chairman, Dr. F. Z. Radell and Gene Sass; concessions, Carl W. Hoffman, chairman, George Danziger, Henry Rasmussen, Walter Reiling, and Harry Gray; parade, John F. Martin, chairman, Hertel Esdohr, and Dr. F. Z. Radell; fire prevention, Andrew Nelson, chairman; booths, Carl Stendahl, chairman, Ed Hamby and Charles Schneider, and reception, Roy Matheson, chairman, and Charles Schneider.

OAK PARK BOYS' SCHOOL LEADER TAKEN BY DEATH

Donald Stephen's Young Friends Are Pallbearers

One of the boys of Ascension school, Oak Park, is missing from the ranks this year, Donald Stephen, 14 years old, who died last Sunday after an illness of one week. Had he lived Donald would have been a member of the eighth grade of the school. Following an operation for appendicitis he developed peritonitis and died Sunday morning. The funeral took place at Ascension church on Wednesday.

Although born on the west side of Chicago at 2828 Lexington avenue, Donald had spent most of his life in Oak Park. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stephen, 515 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park. At the time of his death he was captain of the Shamrocks, an organization of boys of the school and the neighborhood. With several other lads he had organized the Shamrocks about three years ago. He also was a member of the St. Aloysius sodality of Ascension church.

The pallbearers at the funeral were eight of his youthful friends: Norman Pierce, James MacDonald, John Bowman, John Hannon, Bob McGrath, Gerald Frigon, Jack Joy, and James Olson. The casket was escorted into and from the church by pupils of the school, who attended the funeral mass.

The sermon was given by Rev. John McMahon, curate at Ascension church.

Surviving him, besides the parents, are his sisters and brothers, Mrs. Hariette Wilson, Mrs. Virginia Reilly, Miss Eunice Stephen, Alexander Jr., Jean, and Thomas. Excepting for the last named Donald was the youngest member of the family.

PICK COMMITTEE TO OPEN FIELD'S OAK PARK STORE

A committee appointed by the Oak Park chamber of commerce to cooperate in the formal opening of Marshall Field and company's new Oak Park store, which is to take place about Oct. 1, is made up of the following: Telfer MacArthur, chairman; Otto C. Braese, Harry R. Dow, Ernest A. Downing, Robert R. Erving, Edward J. Gotsch, Elmer S. Grable, Willis S. Herrick, Henry J. Mohr, Frank M. Pebble, William H. Rattenbury, Ralph W. Skillin, John M. Swanson, W. Frank Yardley and P. E. Zimmerman.

New members of the chamber are as follows: Bastian & Dungan, Leon O. Switzer, Inc., Elaborated Roofing company, and Cadillac Motor Car company.

Joseph Thiffault, Veteran of Marble Business, Dead

The funeral of Joseph Thiffault, 3737 North Crawford avenue, who died Tuesday night, took place Friday morning. Following services at Notre Dame church, Oregon avenue and Sibley street, burial was in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Thiffault, who was 74 years old, had spent 41 years in Chicago. He was in the marble business. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Mary Thiffault, and their sons, Peter and Alphonse. Mr. Thiffault was a native of Canada.

Tilton P.-T. Association Holds Meeting Sept. 17

A meeting of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher association of the Tilton school will be held next Thursday at 1:30 o'clock in the school building. The first regular meeting of the association is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock, Tuesday, Sept. 17, in the assembly hall of the school. Mrs. Margaret Hampton, publicity chairman of the association, has requested both former and new members to attend.

Franklin Park Teachers to Be Welcomed at Dinner

The Franklin Park Woman's club will give a dinner at Leyden Community High school Thursday evening, Sept. 19, to welcome the teachers of both the high school and the grade schools of the village. A musical program will also be given. Members of the club who are active in making arrangements include Mrs. J. A. Newhouse, president, and Mrs. L. E. Fero.

Leslie L. Larsen, Detective at Stanton Station, Dies

The funeral of Leslie L. Larsen, detective, of the Stanton avenue station, took place Friday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Larsen, 4926 West Austin avenue. Mr. Larsen died last Tuesday. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marion Larsen, and their son, Kenneth.

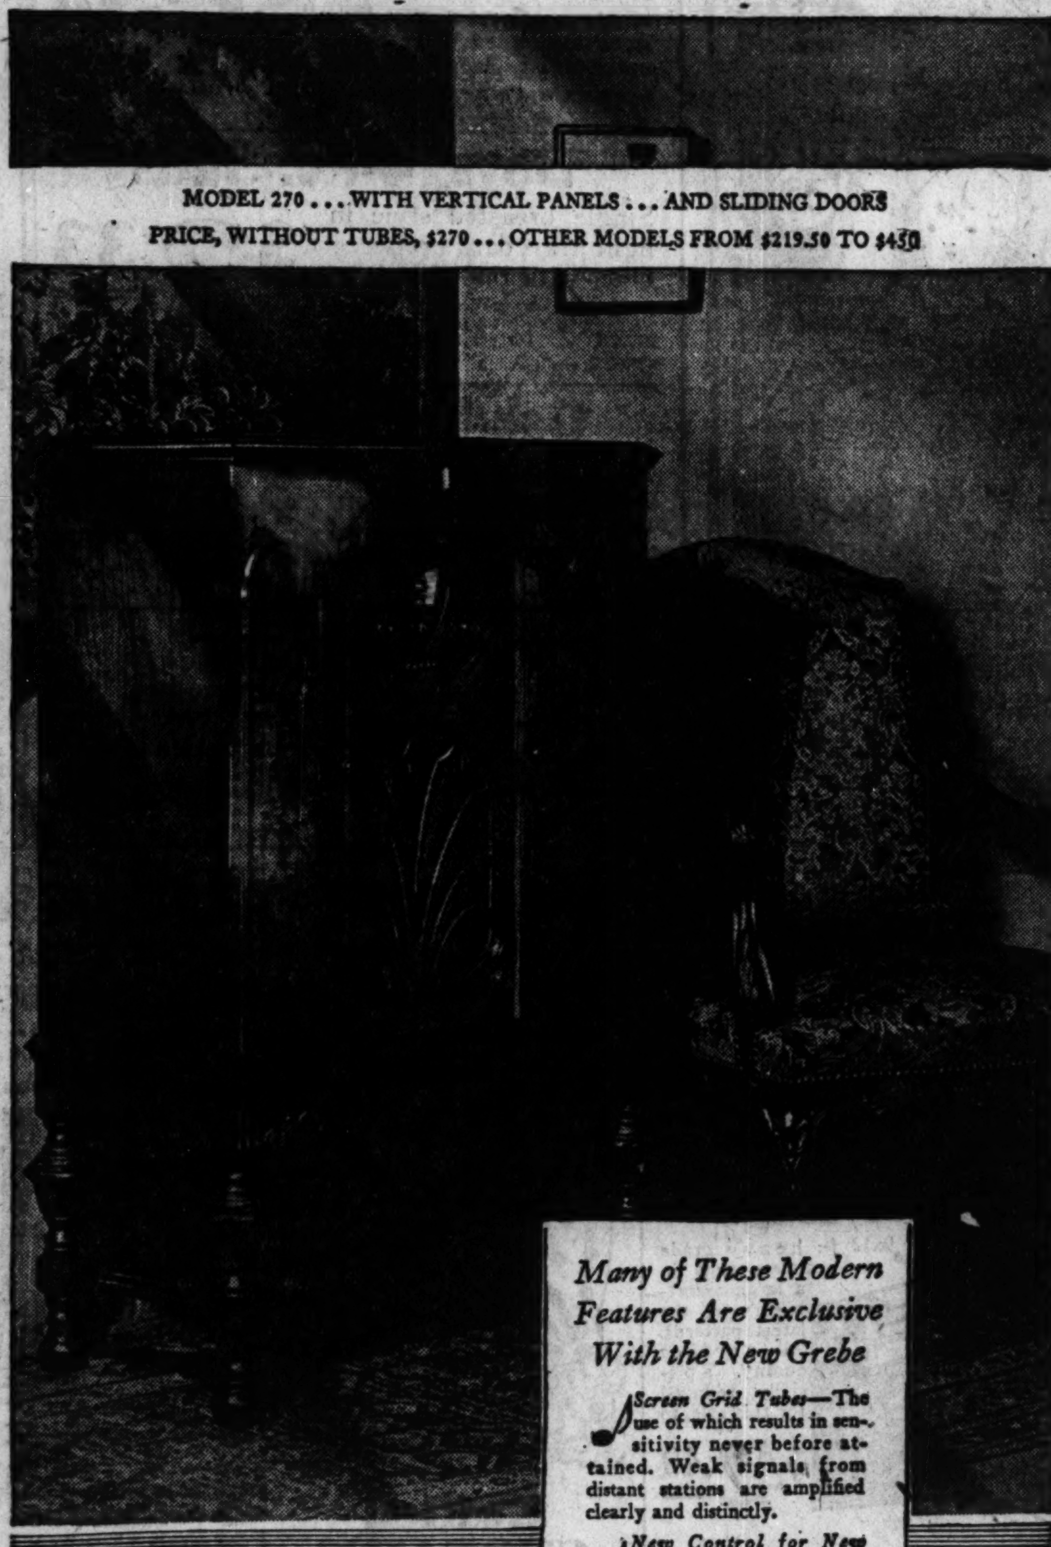
NEWER than screen grid!

Announcing the most modern principle of Screen Grid Radio . . .

Developed by Grebe



MODEL 270 . . . WITH VERTICAL PANELS . . . AND SLIDING DOORS
PRICE, WITHOUT TUBES, $270 . . . OTHER MODELS FROM $219.50 TO $450

To those radio buyers who really place a premium on life-like tone in reproduction . . . who really are looking for quality in reception—whether it be from distant or local stations—the distinct merits of this truly delightful instrument will have instant appeal.

The New Grebe is just out . . . and with it comes the secret of its tonal excellence — the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" used with screen grid tubes. To most people this will mean simply a technical term. But what this exclusive Grebe development does in utilizing all the advantages of the new screen grid tubes . . . controlling their power without subduing it—eliminating all outside noise and interference . . . means very much to every discriminating buyer who is seeking the best and latest in radio.

This New Grebe fully responds to the keenest need in radio today—silent power. For its silent power results in pure tones . . . entirely freed from all distortion of station overlapping or power hum.

Screen Grid Justifies the Public's Quick Acceptance

The many advantages of this new tube insure ever increasing popularity—and point to its long continued use. To quote but one of many prominent radio engineers, "The present indications are that it will occupy an important place in receivers produced during the next few years." Yet screen grid tubes, by themselves, are not enough. Alone, they do not constitute a new order of results. But in the combination of Screen Grid with the Grebe "Equalized Band Pass Filter" a new perfection has been reached.

As a prominent consulting radio engineer puts it: "I regard the appearance of the band selector frequency amplifier as the most important trend of the current season." Here then in a word is the New Grebe . . . another Grebe triumph . . . another instance of Grebe pioneering.

Twenty Years of Craftsmanship and Experience Are Built Into Every Grebe Receiver

For twenty years the words Grebe and Radio have been synonymous. Even before the days of broadcasting Grebe was fabricating fine precision radio instruments —many of which, during the World War, were to be found in the radio rooms of our fleets . . . and those of our allies. Craftsmanship has always been a Grebe creed. With Grebe, radio is not a side line. A pioneer in the industry, Grebe is still pioneering. Always a step or two in advance, this latest step is Grebe's most important contribution to the full enjoyment of radio.

Every Grebe a Finished Musical Instrument

While each Grebe model is especially designed for its acoustic values, each is a beautiful piece of furniture fitting harmoniously into the room where dignity is the keynote. Having always borne a reputation for craftsmanship . . . for quality rather than quantity . . . relatively few Grebes are made each year. So we suggest that you make your selection early. See and hear this New Grebe for yourself. A forty-eight hour demonstration in your home will be gladly given by your dealer. Hear for the first time . . . Tri-toned radio.*

Many of These Modern Features Are Exclusive With the New Grebe

Screen Grid Tubes—The use of which results in sensitivity never before attained. Weak signals from distant stations are amplified clearly and distinctly.

New Control for New Power—But in the New Grebe this added power is controlled. Overlapping of stations is eliminated . . . strays are kept out. You get the full tone value made possible by that exclusive Grebe feature—the Equalized Band Pass Filter.

Single Audio Stage Means No Hum—Grebe reception is so strong . . . so pure in tonal characteristics . . . that only a single audio stage is needed. Hum and microphonic disturbances are eliminated.

Large Diameter Speaker . . . an Original Grebe Idea—Full tone range is effectively accomplished by special large diameter electrodynamic speaker . . . so successfully introduced by Grebe.

For Superb Reproduction of Phonograph Records—You can play your favorite phonograph records by a mere turn of the tuning dial. This automatically connects the electric phonograph pick-up with its specially wound transformer.

Cabinets Designed for Lasting Beauty and Acoustic Perfection—The New Grebe is obtainable in a wide choice of selected walnut and mahogany lowboy and highboy models. Furniture of characteristic beauty and dignity . . . and expertly designed for its acoustic properties. In a word, Grebe craftsmanship.

 What is Tri-toned Radio? . . . .*

Every musical sound has three distinct characteristics: 1. Pitch, by which we distinguish the note as being high or low; 2. Intensity or loudness; and, 3. Tone, or character by which we distinguish the sound of one musical instrument from that of another. In Grebe Radio you have reproduction that gives you perfect blending of all three characteristics without unnatural over-emphasis of any part of the scale . . . Tri-toned radio.

OAK PARK HIGH'S ENROLLMENT 3,300; 3 NEW TEACHERS

Approximately 600 new freshmen joined the ranks of students of the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school on Tuesday morning. This brings the total enrollment to 3,300.

There are only three new teachers this year. All of them are gymnasium teachers. Glenn T. Holmes, who comes from the University of Wisconsin, is now at the head of the boys' gymnasium department. Miss Velda Jordan, from Casey, Ill., and Miss Marion Maxim, from Newtonville, Mass., come to the girls' gymnasium department.

Miss Pauline Knapp has returned to the girls' gymnasium department after an absence of two years. During that time she was manager of the Illinois League of High School Girls' Athletic Associations. Mrs. Clair Bluzat returned to the French department. She spent the last year traveling in France.

Work has been begun on a tunnel which will extend from the main building of the high school to the boys' fieldhouse and to the girls' gymnasium building.

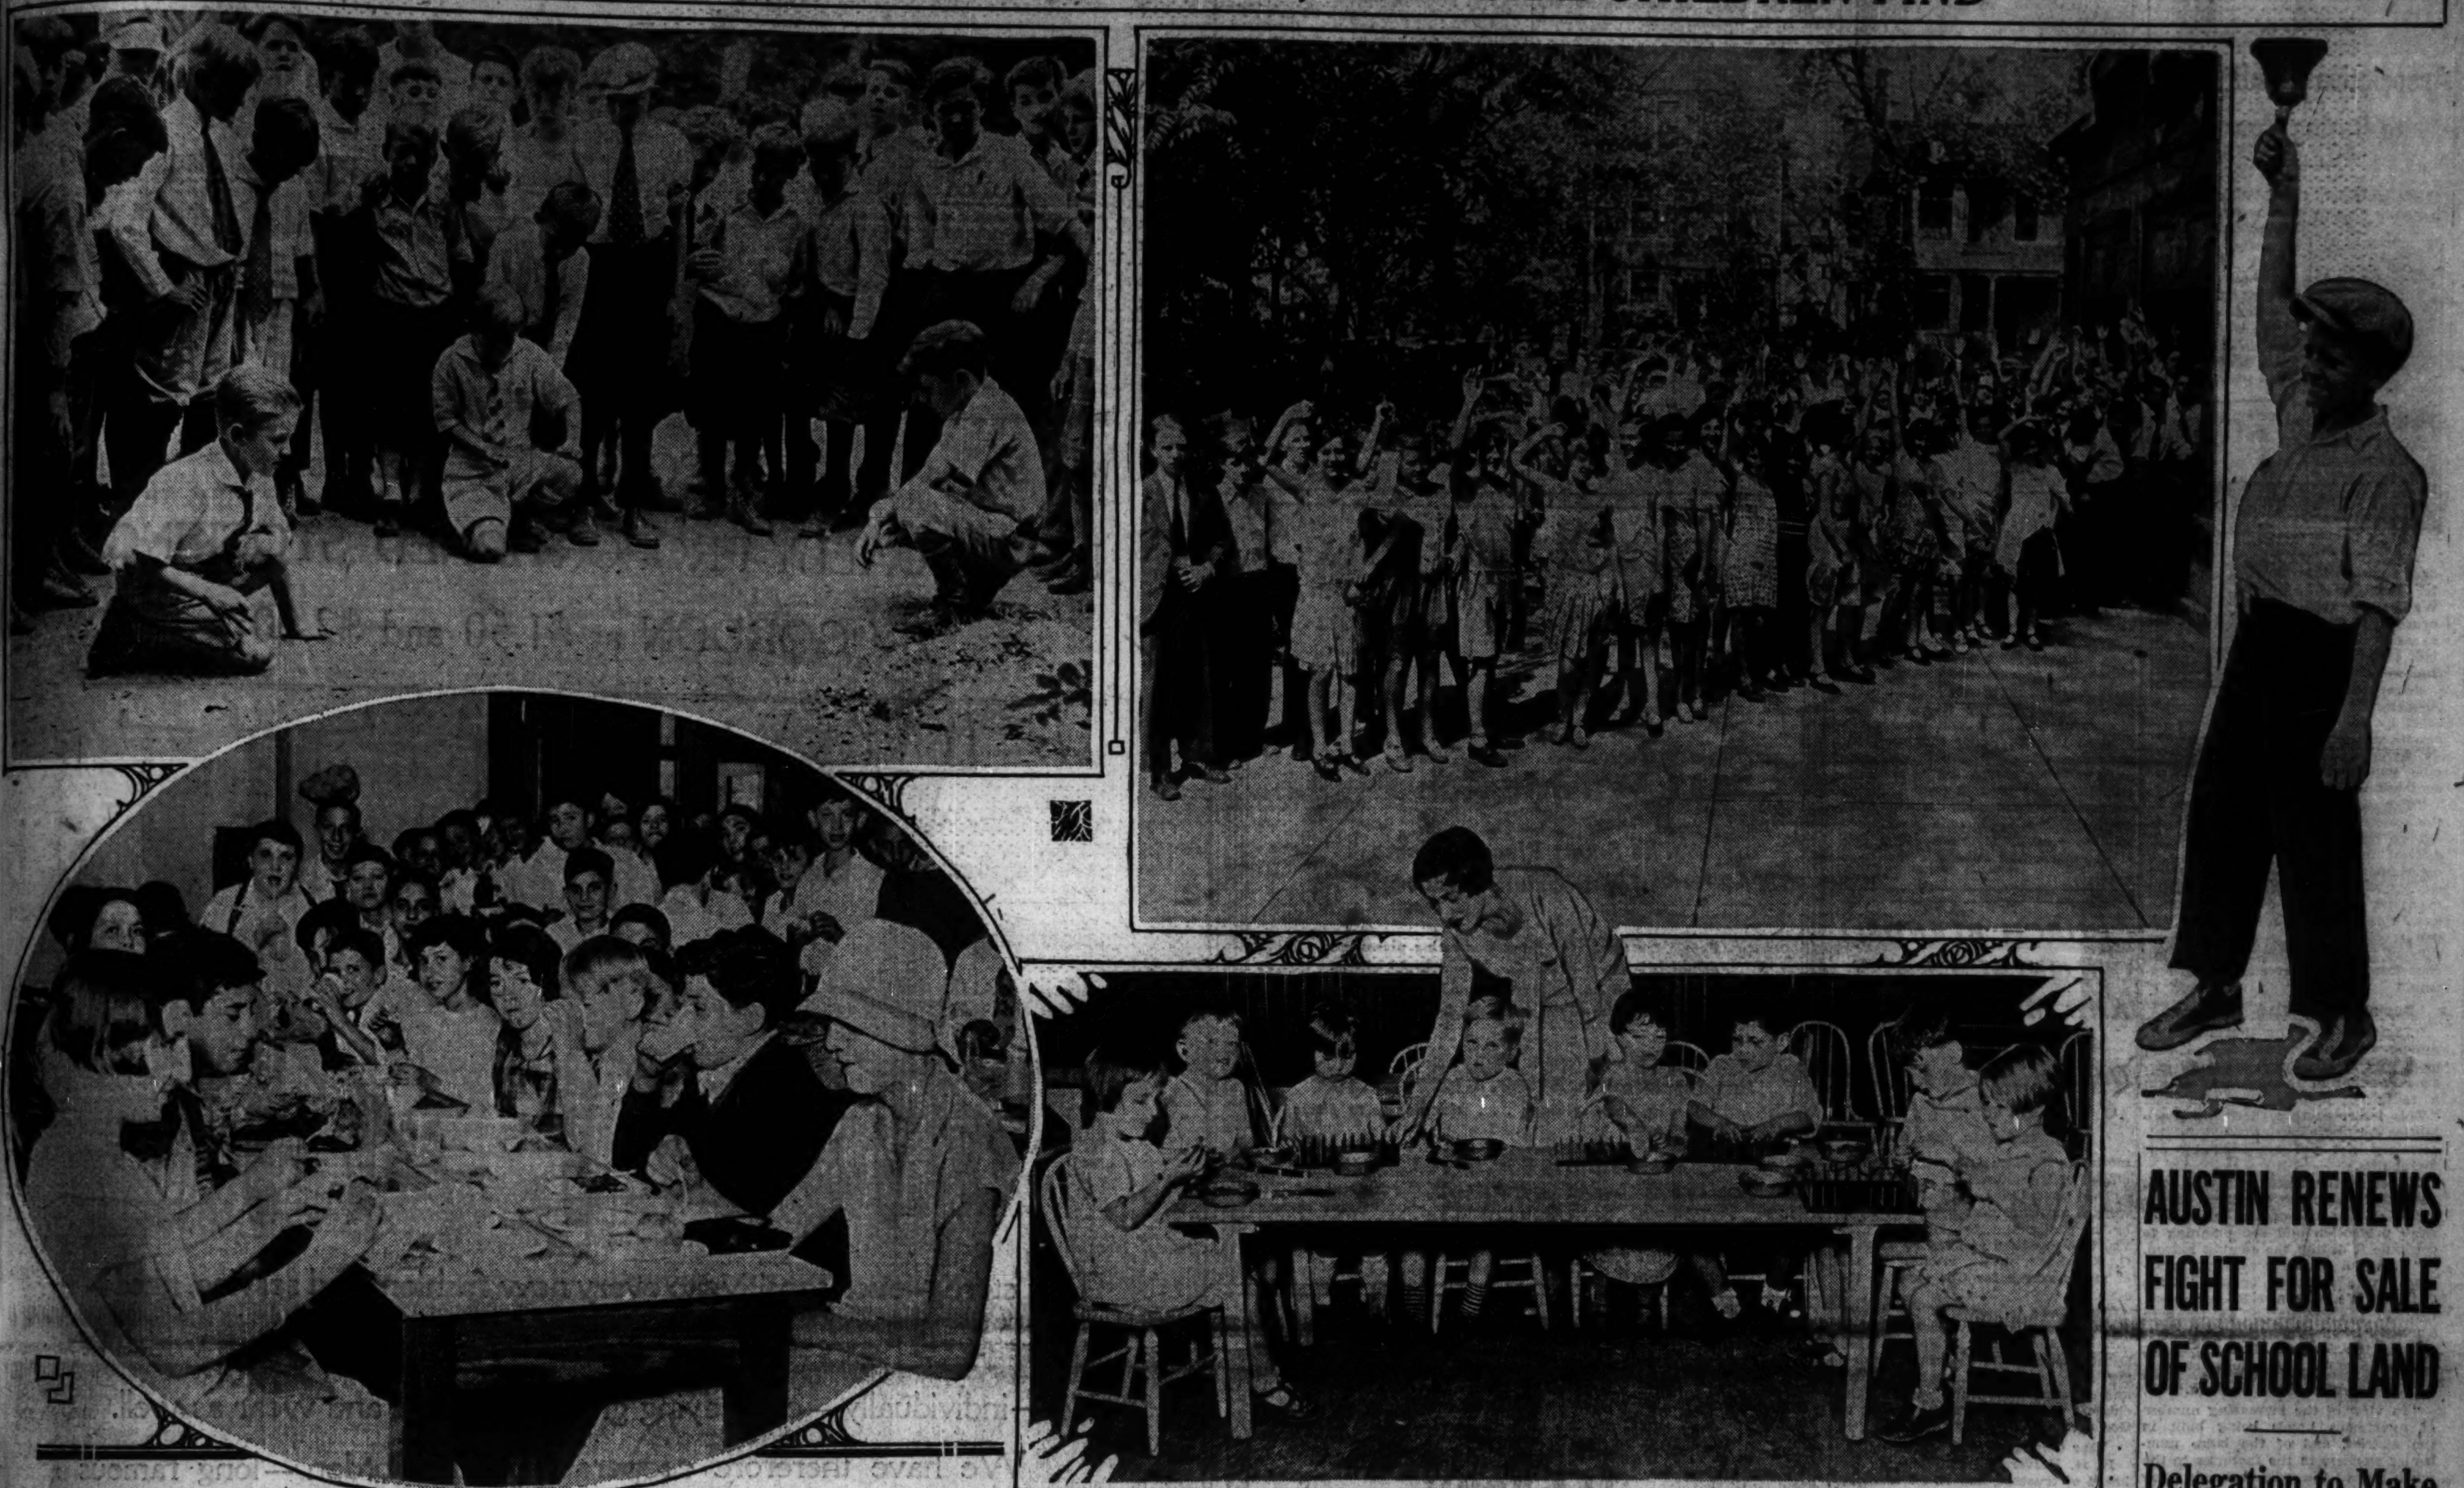
SCHOOL'S NOT SO BAD AFTER ALL, WEST SIDE CHILDREN FIND



At any rate, that's what the smiles in these pictures seem to say. Upper left: A marble game during the first recess period at Mozart school, 2200 North Hamlin avenue. In the next picture are some of Austin High school's 600 students waiting to enter the auditorium for the first assembly. Then there's Erling Berg ringing the recess bell at Frederick Funston school, 2010 North Central Park avenue. The lower left picture shows first year students of Manley Junior High school, Polk street and Sacramento boulevard, eating their first luncheon in the school cafeteria. The tots below and at the right are a kindergarten class at Frederick Funston school. Left to right: Dorothy Pfeifer, Jack Crawford, Alice Shumacher, Arne Sorenson, Miss Janet Waldbott, Elizabeth Dwyer, Bernard Glasser, Abner Shapiro and Evelyn Krabbe.

CHURCH BLENDS COLONIAL GRACE AND MODERN ART

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

With the dedication Sunday, Oct. 6, of the new Jefferson Park Congregational church, Giddings street near Milwaukee avenue, an organization which dates back to civil war days and which through the years has played a dominant part in the religious life of the community, will have a house of worship that is both artistic and unique and a center splendidly fitted to meet the needs of the neighborhood's social and recreational activities.

THE REV. LEWIS A. CONVIS.
[Bath photo.]

The pillared porch and the tower, whose dome is surmounted by an illuminated cross, are reminiscent of the architecture of the old New England meeting house. The various halls, including Mayflower and Plymouth, have been given historic New England names. The book case in the pastor's study is fashioned after the one that Washington knew at Mount Vernon, and the fireplace of that room is made of brick from the old Mayflower Congregational church. In a glass case above the doorway of Plymouth hall there is to be placed a section of one of the ribs of the old ship Constitution, a gift to the church from the United States navy.

Stained Glass Aged in Making.

The glass in the windows, however, presents a feature such as no church, anywhere, has known before. Into the seven large windows has gone stained glass that has been aged in the making, pitted and streaked with dirt to give the impression of having been acquired over a period of centuries. In each of the widows openings have been left for medallions and shields. These will be of thirteenth century stained glass.

The window over the altar is a me-

Garfield Park Named as City Mourned for Slain President

This is the thirteenth of a series of articles explaining the origins of names of streets, suburbs, and parks of the west side.

Not until the death of President Garfield was the name of Central park changed to Garfield park, and then the change was made as a tribute to the memory of the illustrious dead.

As in other parts of the country, Chicago's demonstration of sympathy knew no cessation during the summer of 1881, when, following the act of an assassin, the chief magistrate's life hung in the balance. Great crowds surrounded the Chicago newspaper and telegraph offices. When word came that the President had breathed his last the bells of all the fire stations in the city tolled simultaneously and the public buildings and business blocks the next day were draped with black.

Tribute by Mayor Harrison.

Mayor Carter H. Harrison Sr., in his message to the city council, said, in part:

"Gentlemen: Last night, while you were discussing an important matter, the fire gong startled you by its measured toll. It said, 'The President is dead.' You at once adjourned. I have called you together to make the formal announcement that the chief magistrate of the United States, after a heroic struggle of eighty days with grim death, has at last given up the fight; that his spirit last night winged its flight to the presence of its God, leaving behind it a name that will live as long as history continues to be written."

The assassin, Guiteau, was called by many newspapers a Chicago "crank," but Andreas, the historian, says "the truth was that he was no more a Chicago product than he was of Freeport, Ill., where his parents lived, or of the west, where he once wandered through the mountains in a religious frenzy."

James Abram Garfield, twentieth President of the United States, is described by his biographers as brilliant and dashing as a political leader, possessed of remarkable eloquence, and gifted with a stalwart form and fine, buoyant, animated face.

Brigadier General in Civil War.

Born at Bedford, O., in 1831, he taught school, served as a college president, became state senator, and rose from a lieutenant-colonelcy to a brigadier generalship in the civil war. He resigned his commission in 1863 to take a seat in congress, where he won a reputation as a powerful speaker.

At the Republican convention in Chicago in June, 1880, Garfield first led the fight for the nomination of John Sherman for the presidency. As difficulties of making a choice became more obvious the confidence of the convention began to center in Garfield as the one whose nomination was feasible.

Some accused Garfield of selling out Sherman in his own interest, but many of those present afterward remarked an almost anguished expression on Garfield's face when delegation after delegation came over in response to the announcement of his name.

Shot 4 Months After Inauguration.

Garfield's presidential career, however, was destined to end in tragedy. On July 2, 1881, he was at the railroad station in Washington when Charles Guiteau, stepping forth from a group of persons, drew a revolver, aimed it carefully, and fired at the President. The latter said nothing, but turned and with a surprised but not excited look gazed at Guiteau. The man fired again and the President sank to the floor.

The President lingered on the verge of death throughout the summer and died on Sept. 19, 1881.

NORTHWEST SIDE GETS REHEARING ON FEEDER BUSES

A rehearing of the plea of organizations of the northwest side for feeder buses will be held Thursday by the Illinois commerce commission. Since the commission has been reconstituted by Gov. Emmerson since the hearing that denied the plea, the supporters of the proposal have high hopes of winning a reversal of the former order. The hearing will open at 10 o'clock Thursday.

Mrs. Mathilda Brown and Mrs. Rose Schwede, leaders of the kitchen brigade of the Northwest Women's Improvement and Social club, will lead a delegation to the hearing.

After denying the plea for feeder buses, operated by the surface lines and with transfers to street cars, the commission granted the Chicago Motor Coach company a permit to operate in northwest side streets. The organizations interested in the matter, however, prefer feeder buses because of the lower fare.

Little Miss Caryl has a sister, Gloria Louise, five, who when a year old won a blue ribbon at a Logan Square baby contest. Mrs. Bader is the former Elizabeth Beyer of Jefferson Park. Well, Park Ridge is famous for its twin babies, but we doubt if any of the twins can show four teeth at four months of age.

Three West Side Bankers Home from Vacations

Three officers of the Madison and Kedzie bank returned from their vacations last Monday. W. F. Gleason, vice president, spent two weeks touring various eastern cities and southern Canada, traveling via automobile, steamship and train. Paul Schroeder, cashier, spent his vacation with his family at Watervliet, Mich. C. C. Wedding, assistant vice president, tried rural life for several days by spending his holidays on his brother's farm at Goshen, near Louisville, Ky.

Mothers' Council to Hold First Meeting on Oct. 21

The mothers' council of Washington school, River Forest, will meet for the first time this season on Oct. 21, according to an announcement made last week. Plans are now being made for the first meeting as well as for a dance to be conducted under the auspices of the council next month. Mrs. J. L. Brink is general chairman of the council.

The Changing World: Children Displayed and Speak No Pieces

"We may not be the warmest bunch
That ever hit the Square;
We may not be as handsome
Nor as swell as you'd declare;
But when it comes to booster stuff
You'll grant that we are there
For good old Logan Square."

The occasion being sons and daughters' day at the Logan Square Lions club, there was a disposition on the part of the guests to agree that their fathers were not only community boosters but "handsome" and "swell" as well. The song was new to the visitors, for it was the first time most of them had attended one of the weekly meetings at the club rooms, 2350 North Kedzie boulevard.

President Milton E. Darr suggested that some of the sons and daughters show what they could do in songs and stories. Oliver Mimmack, speaking for his little son, Jimmie, explained that his memories of being obliged to "speak a piece for company" were so painful that he wished to spare the lad, busy with ice cream, who sat at his side. His attitude seemed to be shared by other Lion fathers, and so the sons and daughters just listened and looked on.

A. J. Verschoore provided the entertainment in the way of recitations, his greatly appreciated "Tony at the Ball Game," and "Tony, the Ball Bearer," smacking not only of the impromptu but of originality in composition.

Forgets Son's Real Name; Razzed.

The sons and daughters were all introduced, Henry C. Haff drawing a fine when he stumbled in remembering one of his son's real names while trying to forget the family nickname.

The Haff home was represented by Henry, James, and Donald.

William C. Thorsen, leader of the singing, sat beside his three sons—Arthur, Ray, and Edward. The boys, it was explained, were only three-fifths of the children at the Thorsen home.

With A. H. Cordes was his daughter, Katherine; with Robert J. Nelson was his daughter, Irene; with Otto Luecht were his grownup son and daughter, George and Dorothy; with President Darr, Milton F. Darr Jr.; with Gotlieb Fritz, his married daughter, Mrs. A. Peterson.

The Rev. Walter A. Briggs told of recently visiting his son in Sioux City, Ia., and of having another son in New York City.

Frank E. Jack, vice president of the Chicago Motor club and director of safety, said that it was through education of the children that offered the most hope in doing away with automobile accidents on the highway.

"If," said he, "we can educate these tots on the ideals of safety along with reading, writing and arithmetic, at the age of 16 they will know better how to drive than we older folk did when started. The grownup driver of today is too prone to think the other fellow may have something to learn, but that he, himself, is careful enough.

"Disasters with great loss of life shock us, but we pay little attention to statistics on traffic deaths, most of which are caused because some one did not do what he ought to have done, because they are scattered out over the year."

Roar for Safety Leader.

At the close of Mr. Jack's talk the Lions' roar was given in tribute for the "Daddy of the School Boy Patrol."

Since the patrol was organized in Chicago in 1920 nearly 500 other cities and towns have adopted the idea with the result that some 175,000 lads are enrolled in the movement.

The Logan Square Lions club was among the first organizations of the city to back the schoolboy patrols. There are twenty-two public and private schools in the Logan Square district. For these patrols, the club has been active in providing hats, caps and belts.

Officers of the club are Milton F. Darr, president; Henry C. Spiekerman, first vice president; A. J. Verschoore, second vice president; Elmer H. Puls, third vice president; Alfred W. Jarchow, secretary; C. H. Nygren, financial secretary; William H. Oellerich, treasurer; William C. Thoren, lion tamer, and Arnold E. Christianer, tail twister.

ELMHURST OPERA CLUB WILL OPEN SEASON SEPT. 23

The first meeting of the Associated Opera club of Elmhurst will be held Monday evening, Sept. 23. This is one of five lectures offered to the members, to be held each month and extending into January of next year.

The opening meeting in the series will be presented by Marx and Anne Oberndorfer, who will give an opera recital, "Operatic Milestones," a short resume of civic opera repertoire. It is Mrs. Oberndorfer's intention to show that the audience is of utmost importance in giving an opera.

AUSTIN RENEWS FIGHT FOR SALE OF SCHOOL LAND

Delegation to Make Plea to Board.

Immediate plans of the Greater Austin Property Owners' and Business Men's association in regard to the proposed sale of the Austin school land were announced at a meeting held last Wednesday at Eagles' hall, 5245 West Madison street. Representatives of the association will be on hand when the next meeting of the board of education is called; a request is to be presented to Mayor Thompson for the appointment of a resident of the west side to the board; and the campaign for the disposal of the school tract is to be carried on in the press, and, if need be, by radio.

A detailed résumé of the efforts of the association since the beginning of the year to effect the sale of the 206 acre tract was given by J. Frank Lindsey, chairman of the public service committee of the association. In his talk Mr. Lindsey urged the audience to write to the board of education in behalf of the sale of the land, to induce their neighbors to do likewise, and to join the association for the purpose of supporting the campaign.

Public Officials Speak.

The meeting was presided over by R. A. Schiewe, president of the association. Besides Mr. Lindsey the speakers included Edward Moore, deputy commissioner of public works, and Dr. James H. Taylor, alderman of the 37th ward.

"Every business and civic organization on the west side has advocated the sale of the land," Mr. Lindsey said. "Likewise the city newspapers and the local west side papers are in favor of it."

Mr. Lindsey pointed out the fact that residents of Austin have been endeavoring to have the land improved for twenty years. If sold and improved, he said, the tract would bring new people into Austin, further business interests and serve to reduce the present taxes of property owners of the community.

Favors West Sider on Board.

Deputy Commissioner Moore in a brief talk advocated the appointment of a west side resident to the board of education and pledged his indorsement of the efforts of the association.

Ald. Taylor called attention to the fact that a somewhat similar tract, Hanson Park, consisting of 240 acres, is situated in his neighborhood. While not a barrier at the present time, he said, this land may hinder progress in the future. He mentioned also the new spirit which seems to animate west siders and their desire for community improvements.

Peter Kelly, director of the association, spoke in place of Ald. John S. Clark of the 30th ward, who was unable to attend the meeting. Mr. Kelly said that Ald. Clark wishes residents of Austin to write the board of education expressing their indorsement of the proposal to sell the tract.

MADISON-KEDZIE CAMPAIGNS FOR BIG BUSINESS

Association Chiefs Point to Buying Power.

M. J. WALTERS.

THADDEUS SLESIN.
[Drake photo.]

Merchants of the Madison-Kedzie shopping district this week will resume their work for the improvement of their business center following a suspension of activities last month. The Madison-Kedzie association will meet Wednesday noon at Hotel Graemere, Washington boulevard and Homan avenue, to formulate plans for its fall work.

A report of the coöperative sale held by the merchants will be given by Thaddeus Slesin, advertising chairman of the group, who will also outline the problems confronting the group.

"The sale has made residents of the community realize that they need not go outside of their own business district for bargains in all lines of merchandise," Mr. Slesin said yesterday. "Merchants participating in the event reported sales during the three days totaling two to four times the usual volume. M. J. Walters, secretary of the association, is largely responsible for the success of the venture."

Buying Power Close at Hand.

"Inquiries made by the merchants among the purchasers showed that most of the sales were made to persons residing in the territory within a radius of a mile," he continued. "This indicates that there are possibilities for more business within this territory not yet exploited by our merchants.

"Most of the merchants who took part in the sale are convinced of the value of this coöperative method of sales promotion and are planning to continue it during the coming season.

"This fall we shall attempt to attract large business houses to the district. We have already succeeded, through the association, in bringing a number of new firms to our district. Among the largest is the Neisner Brothers five cents to a dollar store.

Cites Advantages of Area.

"In view of the increasing number of apartment hotels being built in the district, and of the large number of workers in the factories in the north end of the neighborhood, many of whom transfer at Madison and Kedzie, the association hopes to make new business houses see the advantages of our center."

Officers of the association are: president, C. C. Wedding; vice-president, H. E. Bruns; treasurer, John Levin; and secretary, Mr. Walters. Directors are: Julius Goodman, William Losby, B. Rawitch, S. M. Russell, Maurice Silvey, and Ira Krupnick.

The Madison and Kedzie state bank, which sponsored the organization of the business group a few months ago, has continued to coöperate with the members.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FALL FETE IN NORWOOD PARK

All is in readiness for the annual fall festival to be held by the Norwood Park Business Men's association from Sept. 18 to 21. This was shown at a recent meeting of the committee chairmen in the offices of Thomas Fetter, general chairman, at 6131 Northwest highway.

Present plans call for a parade on the afternoon of the first day, Wednesday, Sept. 18. The entire Norwood Park Business Men's group will join in the procession with floats and decorated automobiles and will pass through the streets of Norwood Park and the surrounding communities. Streets will be decorated with flags, banners, festoons, and special electric lights.

The committee members are as follows: Grounds, D. C. Ulmer, chairman, Louis Ehrhart, and George Eckhoff; advertising, Ben Mertes, chairman, George Woods, Edward Path, and A. H. Wagner; prizes, E. A. Dahlke, chairman, Lionel Fisher, and Marshall Anda; decorations, E. E. Cleary, chairman, Roy Brooks, Buck Gindele, and Joseph J. Meersman; entertainment, Dr. F. J. Laughlin, chairman, Dr. F. Z. Radell and Gene Sass; concessions, Carl W. Hoffman, chairman, George Danziger, Henry Rasmussen, Walter Relling, and Harry Gray; parade, John F. Martin, chairman, Hertel Esdohr, and Dr. F. Z. Radell; fire prevention, Andrew Nelson, chairman; booths, Carl Stendahl, chairman, Ed Hamby and Charles Schneider, and reception, Roy Matheson, chairman, and Charles Schneider.

Card Party Is Held by St. Catherine's Auxiliary

A card party was given Thursday afternoon in St. Catherine's auditorium, Central avenue and Washington boulevard, by the St. Catherine's High school auxiliary. The president of the auxiliary is Mrs. W. G. Smith, and the women in charge of the party were Mrs. L. F. Burgh, chairman; Mrs. B. E. Schmitt, Mrs. John Dooley, Mrs. Thomas Freeman, Mrs. Thomas Madigan and Mrs. Christian Peterman.

The Melrose Park fire department which has been under the direction of Acting Chief Dan Passarella, will continue under his leadership, the village trustees having given him a permanent appointment recently.

Wins Highest Honor

MISS RUTH PECIVAL.
[Daguerre Photo.]

Miss Ruth Pecival, 106 Lawton road, Riverside, received word recently that she had won the highest scholastic honor among members of the June graduating class of the Chicago Normal college. Her career at the college included several extra-curricular activities. At various times she was section chairman of the student council, president of the freshman glee club, vice president and later president of the Cui Bono; vice president and social chairman of the Fellowship club; member of the senior dramatic club and senior prom chairman. Other educational institutions which Miss Pecival attended include the Burns public school, Harrison Technical High school, and Riverside-Brookfield High school.

CHURCH BLENDS COLONIAL GRACE AND MODERN ART

Dedication Set for Oct. 6 in Jefferson Park.

morial to William Dietcher, a former official of the church.

The medallions and the shields, worked out after many years of study by the pastor, the Rev. Lewis A. Convis, who has been assisted by Edward C. Rennhack, artist, attempt to tell of man's search for God through the ages.

Thus there is portrayed the search for God through sacrificial offerings, through the conquest of evil, through beauty, through law, through suffering and sacrifice, through freedom, and through adventure, while the chancel window depicts the finding of God through personality.

Year Consumed in Construction.

H. H. Halverson, a member of the board of trustees, and R. E. Webster, chairman of the building committee, have been especially active in bringing the project, which was launched July 7, 1928, to completion.

The new plant has been built at a cost of $150,000. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 600 with possible expansion providing an additional 200. The gymnasium of the third floor was built at a cost of $25,000. A $12,000 organ is to be installed.

This is the third building project of the organization, originally known as the First Congregational church of the village of Jefferson. The date of founding was 1861, and the first church was built five years later by the Rev. E. C. Barnard, who is still living at the age of 96 in Washington, D. C. The Rev. Mr. Barnard who erected the first church with his own hands, has been invited to attend the dedication services of the new building.

Objected to Swampy Location.

A second church was built in 1896 on land donated by the Roberts family, pioneer members. At that time there were those who said they didn't wish to attend a church in a swamp—land, incidentally that today is valued at $70,000.

Deacon Dunning, after whom the hospital at Dunning was named, was an early member of the church. Also the Falconer family, for whom Falconer school was named, were pioneer members.

Sunday school records for the years 1863 and 1864 show that the condition of the roads had much to do with the size of the attendance.

Mrs. Clara Lowell, now nearing 80 years old, joined the church as a girl of 15 and is still a faithful attendant.

Following the Rev. Mr. Barnard as pastor were the Rev. M. S. Hall, 1871-'72; the Rev. W. H. Burnard, 1872-'74; the Rev. I. B. Williams, 1875-'82; the Rev. W. D. Simmons, 1882-'84; the Rev. C. H. HILLSDALE HOLDS CELEBRATION OF OPENING OF ROAD

Hillsdale, twelve miles west of the loop, recently celebrated the opening of the new road—Harrison street from Mannheim road to Buck road and Buck road to Roosevelt road—a thoroughfare that runs through the center of the fast growing village.

County Commissioner Frank J. Kriz cut the ribbon, music was furnished by the Elmhurst American Legion band, a street dance was held, refreshments were served, and the occasion otherwise observed.

E. J. Thiele is president of the village, which is arranging for an extensive improvement program.

Expect Key School to Care for 700 Pupils

Attendance at Key school, 517 North Parkside avenue, is about 675 this year. Mrs. Lillian H. Wright, principal announced last week. The total enrollment, however, will surpass the 700 mark after all late comers have been registered. There are no faculty changes at the school this fall.

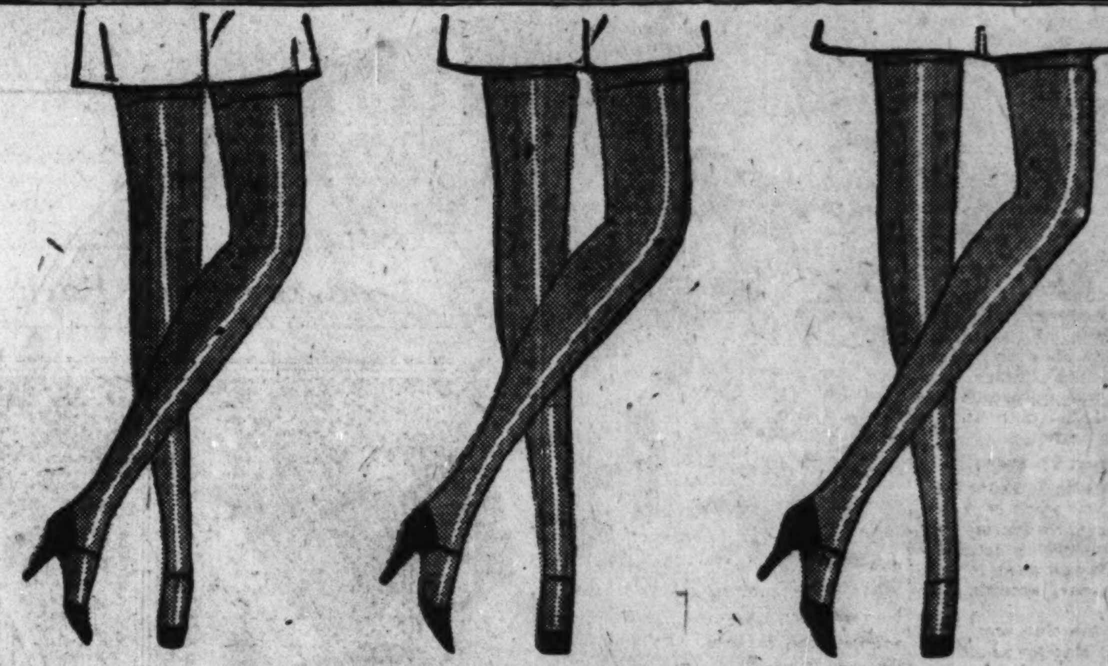
MEIER COMPANY Presents
INDIVIDUALLY-PROPORTIONED STOCKINGS
BY GORDON at $1.50 and $2.00



This store—ever sensitive to every new fashion, and service, need—has realized that each modern woman demands stockings which fit Her—individually—embodying greater comfort and wear as well.

We have therefore cooperated with Gordon—long famous for beautiful Hosiery—in the production of Stockings which are accurately dimensioned to the individual proportions of the individual leg—as well as of the foot.

The measurements of thousands of American women indicate four distinct groups—each with specific requirements. So—we now offer four groups of Gordon Individually-Proportioned Stockings—

GORDON PETITE • GORDON PRINCESS
GORDON REGAL • GORDON SPLENDIDE

Tall, medium or short, with variations: plump, average or slender, with variations—one of these four Gordon groups will give you stocking smoothness; freedom from strain or binding: no surplus to roll: longer wear.

And, best of all, there is no extra charge for these individually proportioned stockings. You get a beautiful sheer chiffon at $1.50 and the famous V-Line at $2.

SEEK TO WIDEN CRAWFORD AVE. NEAR MADISON

Garfield Park Club Starts Work Wednesday.

Work for the betterment of the Madison-Crawford shopping district will be resumed by the Garfield Park club Wednesday at its first fall meeting at the Midwest Athletic club. Business men of the district will attend a luncheon at the club which will be followed by a discussion of the organization's improvement program.

"During the four remaining months of the year, the officers and directors of the club expect to further the program adopted last January," President George P. Madigan said yesterday.

"With the active interest of the members and the efforts of the executive secretary, Charles G. Smith, a start has been made toward the establishment of Kostner avenue as a through street from Ogden avenue to Addison street, and the group is prepared to push other projects in the interests of our district.

Seek Traffic Signals.

"Steps have been taken for the installation of stop and go lights on Madison street at Karlov, Keeler, Kostner, Kilbourn, and Kilpatrick avenues, and toward the widening and repaving of Crawford avenue between Lake and Madison streets. The latter improvement is desired to make Crawford avenue in this section conform to its width south of Madison street," he continued.

"The club is also behind an effort to open Springfield avenue between Madison and Lake streets and to aid in solving the traffic problem on Madison street. As a result of a thorough study of the conditions, we have recommended to the city council a limited parking ordinance governing the street."

Preparations are under way to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the founding of the club next January. Miss Pearl I. Field, librarian of the Legler regional branch library, has been chosen historian to compile the accomplishments of the club and to outline each year's activities.

Directors to Meet Thursday.

Following the meeting Wednesday, a joint meeting of the board of directors and the advisory committee will be held Thursday to decide definitely on the policies to be pursued for the remainder of the year, according to Mr. Madigan.

Other officers of the club are: Vice president, John I. MacGowan; treasurer, Charles Opper; and secretary, Henry G. Kohl. Directors are F. A. Augustine, Delbert A. Clithero, L. W. Coughlin, William Druley, John J. Klieman, Walter D. Marquardt, A. Marschak, R. A. Schiewe, J. W. Sixeas, John M. Welland, and Edward Weinstein.

The advisory committee includes John Butler, A. R. Campbell, Charles B. Clemons, Michael J. Connery, J. A. Fick, J. Louis Guyon, Thomas Healey, Thomas R. Heaney, John Koberstine, John T. McEnery, Ray F. Mudd, James O'Keefe, Walter P. Powers, T. J. Prodie, Mark Shanks, Charles G. Smith, Leroy Sullivan, and John J. Walsh.

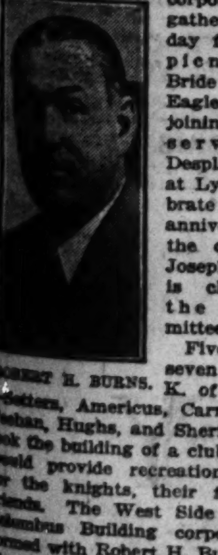
VOTE ON PUTTING OAK PARK UNDER ELECTION BOARD

Voters of Oak Park will ballot on Nov. 5 upon the proposal to place Oak Park elections under the supervision of the Cook county board of election commissioners. Members of the League of Women Voters, of which Mrs. J. L. Fyfe is president, have been instrumental in getting signatures to a petition for a referendum. The question gives promise of a close election, because if the proposal wins the village will relinquish part of its home rule. Mrs. Fyfe believes the change would increase the efficiency of the elections in Oak Park.

St. Charles Women Guests of Elgin Country Club

Woman members of the St. Charles Country club were guests of the Elgin Country club last Thursday. The program included golf, luncheon and bridge. Mrs. H. P. Crane was in charge of golf and Mrs. H. B. Jordan of the luncheon reservation for the St. Charles women.

K. OF C. COUNCILS OF WEST SIDE TO HOLD PICNIC NEXT SUNDAY



ROBERT H. BURNS.

Members and friends of the West Side Knights of Columbus Building corporation will gather next Sunday for a basket picnic in McBride and White Eagle groves, adjoining froest preserves on the Desplaines river at Lyons, to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the organization. Joseph McMahon is chairman of the picnic committee.

Five years ago seven west side K. of C. councils—Setters, Americus, Carroll, Damen, Feehan, Hughs, and Sheridan—undertook the building of a club house that would provide recreational facilities for the knights, their families and friends. The West Side Knights of Columbus Building corporation was formed with Robert H. Burns as president; John J. Collins, vice president; John J. Gorman, secretary; and James Walsh, treasurer.

A site was purchased at 4715 West Madison street. Bonds to finance a building were purchased by the members. The result of the west side knights' enthusiasm is a three story club house, with lounge, billiard rooms, bowling alleys, swimming pool, fully equipped gymnasium, ball room, and council chambers.

Sons and Daughters Are Logan Square Lions' Guests

Sons and daughters of members of the Logan Square Lions club were guests at a recent luncheon of the organization. They were kept busy clearing away a quantity of ice cream the Lions wanted removed from their club rooms. Then there were entertaining readings and a snappy talk on safety, both by grownups, to listen to. (Story on page one.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

ELMHURST NEAR COMPLETION OF BIG PAVING JOBS

New Streets Are Laid in 3 Subdivisions.

An extensive paving program in three subdivisions of Elmhurst is now nearing completion. Crescent Park, the south part of Tuxedo Park, and Butterfield Highlands are the three sections in which the improvements are being made. Residents of the town believe the paving work will add materially to their community.

$130,000 Spent in Crescent Park.

The Crescent Park job, which amounts to $130,000, comprises work on the following thoroughfares: Webster avenue and May street from Fair to Hampshire avenues; Oriole avenue from Stratford to Hampshire avenues; Ridge avenue and South street from Fair avenue to the county line road; Park View and Stratford avenues from Fair avenue to South street, and Hampshire avenue from the St. Charles road to South street.

Paving is practically finished in the south section of Tuxedo park, second of the subdivisions to be improved with new streets. This job totals $100,000 in cost. The streets here which have been paved are as follows: Kearsage and Chatham avenues from Madison to Cayuga avenues; and Cayuga, Wilson and Oneida avenues from Poplar avenue to the Fullersburg and Hinsdale road. Concrete was used here as in the Crescent park improvement.

Finish in Butterfield Highlands.

The third new section included in the paving program is Butterfield Highlands, which is the extreme southwestern part of Elmhurst. Work in this development, owned by A. C. Thompson and adjoining the farm where he keeps his show horses, is now completed. The total cost came to $50,000. The thoroughfares improved are Ballard, Berkeley and Sunnyside avenues and Verrett street.

Another section recently improved is the Taxay subdivision between Spring road and Salt creek. Here streets were put in and property enhanced by the improvements.

YORK HIGH CLASS OF MIDYEAR 1926 HOLDS REUNION

Every member except one of the mid-year class of 1926 at York Community High school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bertam Pillatt, 267 Addison street, on Aug. 31 for the first class reunion. Harold Pillatt was host.

Covers were laid for sixteen and Miss Lorraine Kennedy acted as toast mistress. Each graduate was called upon to tell of his activities during the three years since graduation. Miss Beulah Shehan, teacher at York and class adviser of the alumni during their senior year, was a special guest. She was presented with a set of books, Fred Saint, honor student at West Point, making the presentation speech.

Those attending were Miss Lorraine Kennedy, Harold Pillatt, Robert Pettet, Miss Kathlyn Wright, Howard Larson, Charles Jackson, Miss Ruth Keimel, Fred Saint, Miss Beulah Shehan, Herbert Bierlein, Miss Blanche Robillard, Lloyd Siegfried, Howard Leutgert, Leonard Groeming, Mrs. Lillian Bendigkett, and Miss Lillian Schuch.

Eugene Hanson, midshipman at Annapolis, who is on a world cruise, was the only member of the class not present.

Oak Park Playgrounds Put on New Schedule

Beginning last Tuesday the playgrounds of Oak Park are being conducted on a new schedule. The hours on weekdays except Saturday are 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 in the morning until 6 o'clock. The directors at the various recreation centers are: Field, Miss Evelyn Lorenzen; Carroll, Mrs. Ralph Millikan; Stevenson, Miss Grace Lerch; and Andersen, Miss Kathryn Putnam, with Miss Esther Parris as substitute. The director of the playground board of the village is Miss Josephine Blackstock.

FATHERS OF SONS!

LOOK TO THE AIR

FOR YOUR BOY'S FUTURE

POINT his way toward the profession that promises most—aviation. Do not make the mistake of preparing him for the time-worn, overcrowded professions where only one in ten thousand can succeed.

Aviation is out of its swaddling clothes . . . it is growing by leaps and bounds . . . it promises to be the most prosperous and wide-spread of all the industries.

Trained personnel—that is aviation's greatest need today. There's quick success ahead for any man of serious purpose, integrity and intelligence who fits himself to take his place in this rapidly developing field.

The first step in aviation is the pilot's license—and it is our business to train efficient pilots. The cost of this training is only a fraction of the expense involved in training for other professions. It takes only 6 to 12 months instead of 4 to 10 years.

Let us give you the facts. Call at our downtown office or at our airport, or write us a note telling us you are interested.

VACATION IS OVER

You are on the threshold of another year in the preparation of your boy for his life's work. Are you counselling him—advising him—ARE YOU READY TO GIVE HIM HIS CHANCE IN LIFE?

LEITER BUILDING STORES

HOLD HEARINGS TOMORROW ON 15 ZONING LAWS

Most of Changes Would Affect Northwest Side.

Property owners in west side wards will appear in the city hall tomorrow morning to voice their opinions regarding fifteen zoning ordinances being considered by the city council committee on buildings and zoning.

The hearing tomorrow will be the first this fall and will be followed by similar meetings almost every Monday during the year. Of the ordinances under consideration, 12 would change existing zoning laws, and three would place restrictions on property recently annexed to the city.

Foremost among the ordinances on which the opinions of property owners are desired is a proposition to rezone Waller avenue between Madison and Adams streets. A petition containing the names of more than 80 per cent of the residents is in the hands of the committee asking that the law governing that street be changed to permit the construction of large apartment buildings.

Propose 12-Story Limit.

The present ordinance permits construction of residences and small apartments only, and the proposed ordinance would permit property owners to improve their holdings with 12 story apartment buildings.

The ordinance is sponsored by the Austin Business and Civic association, headed by H. C. Patterson. Mr. Patterson said yesterday that 90 per cent of the property holders are in favor of the change because the land is too valuable to be used for residences only and taxes are too high unless landlords receive an adequate return in rentals.

Three sections of the 41st ward recently annexed to the city would be zoned for small apartment buildings, according to ordinances introduced by Ald. T. J. Bowler. His ordinances include: the south side of Bryn Mawr avenue between Nagle and Harlem avenues; Foster avenue between Nagle avenue and the city limits; and the west side of Nagle avenue between Bryn Mawr and Carmen avenues.

Northwest Side Changes Asked.

Three additional districts where only two-flat buildings and small apartments may now be constructed would be rezoned for large structures, according to ordinances introduced by Ald. Bowler.

They are: The area bounded by Windsor, Lockwood, Long and Sunnyside avenues; the section bounded by Gettysburg, Austin, Avondale and Higgins avenues and the Indian boundary, and the district bounded by Devon, Austin and Milwaukee avenues, and Indian road.

Residents of Bernard street between Waveland avenue and Addison street will seek the restriction of their block by sponsoring an ordinance changing the zoning from an apartment to a residence classification.

Other Ordinances Scheduled.

Other ordinances to be taken up by the committee would rezone the following sections:

The north side of Ainslie avenue between Hamlin avenue and the first alley west, from a residence to an apartment district.

The north side of Argyle street between Avers and Springfield avenues, from a two flat to an apartment classification.

The north side of Addison street between Troy street and Albany avenue, from an apartment to a commercial classification.

The southeast corner of Dickens and Central Park avenues, from an apartment to a commercial classification.

The south side of Ferdinand street between Lawler avenue and the first alley east, from a two flat to an apartment district.

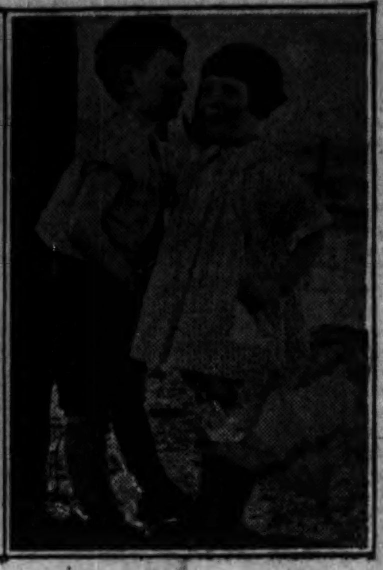
The south side of Washburne avenue between Loomis and Laflin streets, from an apartment to a commercial district.

The south side of Arthington street between Francisco avenue and Sacramento boulevard, from an apartment to a commercial district.

Bancroft School Opens with Registration of 619

The registration at the Bancroft school, 1638 North Maplewood avenue, totals 619 pupils. No new teachers have been added to the faculty, last year's personnel remaining intact. The principal is Mrs. M. Olga Saunders.

THIS CHILDHOOD SECRET WINS $5



"The Big Secret" this week won for Edna Gentzcke, 3941 North Spaulding avenue, the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the west side. In the picture are Bobby and Shirley, young neighbors of the prize winner. Mrs. G. A. Atkinson, 815 Hayes avenue, Oak Park, won the second prize of $3 with "Fun with Daddy." The picture shows G. A. Atkinson, Donald Atkinson, Betty Atkinson and Gayle Atkinson. The third prize of $2 was awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Josling, 76 Arbor avenue, West Chicago, for "At the Pump," showing Marjorie and Winona in the forest preserve. An extra prize of $2 was won by Phil Miles, 4104 West 22d street, with a picture of Calvin Miles fishing.

SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane or John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur. It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

REJOICES OVER $3.95 LINGERIE PURCHASED FOR ONLY 69 CENTS

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—A neighborhood ladies' apparel shop recently had a sale on silk lingerie. Articles that were a little window faded and which had sold for $3.95 were reduced to 69 cents. I bought three dainty pieces, tinted them, and have never been more thoroughly pleased with any other bargain.

JEANETTE SPECTOR,
1254 South Ashland avenue.

OUTDOES SPIFFY N. Y. SHOP.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—I had occasion to do some shopping in New York recently and while there I saw a brocaded satin padded robe—just the thing I was looking for—but it was in an exclusive shop and priced at $65. This sum was beyond my budget, so I had to pass it up. The other morning a neighborhood shop displayed the same kind of a robe, a little soiled, for $2.50. I have never gotten a more remarkable bargain.

SHIRLYE RUBIN,
3358 Evergreen avenue.

REFUSES $35 FOR $1 PURCHASE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—I was rummaging through some odds and ends at a nearby shop not long ago and came across a ten-inch bronze statuette, a fine copy of Thorwaldsen's "Aurora." I paid $1 for it and later was offered $35, which I refused. There are few copies of this work in existence and I shall always cherish mine.

Cicero Rotary Club Golf Winners Are Announced

Prize winners at the recent Cicero Rotary club golf tournament were Joseph Klenha, Walter Reibling, Frank Vonesh, and John Buck. The first of the club's twelve road signs has been installed. The pattern is by John Carlander and it was cast in aluminum steel by Joseph House. Judge Harry B. Miller will be the speaker at tomorrow's meeting.

MANY CATHOLIC SCHOOLS START WORK TOMORROW

Resurrection Academy Has New Building.

Many of the Catholic schools of the northwest side do not begin their fall schedules until tomorrow morning, although some started classes simultaneously with the public schools last Tuesday.

Resurrection academy, 7432 Talcott avenue, Norwood Park, is one of the schools which will begin the fall semester tomorrow. A beautiful new building, constructed last year, will be opened when students come for classes. Authorities of the school report a large enrollment. Besides the regular high school courses, commercial and grade work is given.

Holy Trinity High school, 1443 West Division street, conducted by the Holy Cross brothers, inaugurated the new scholastic term last Tuesday. Of a total of more than 325 students about 150 are freshmen, according to a statement by officials of the institution. The school was founded in 1910.

St. Philomena's Opens.

Another school which began classes immediately after Labor day in St. Philomena's, located at Cortland street and Kedvale avenue. A two year high school commercial course is given here. Because of limited facilities more than twenty-five prospective students in the freshman class were turned away. The first year class numbers 44, and the second year 40. A kindergarten was started last week, for the first time, with a registration of about 60 youngsters.

Classes at St. Sylvester's school, Palmer and Richmond streets, will commence tomorrow morning. A two year commercial course is offered. The registration is about 80 students, according to authorities of the school. The grammar school here opened last Tuesday.

St. Stanislaus Enrolls 450.

The enrollment at St. Stanislaus' High school, 1456 West Division street, which began the fall term last Tuesday, totaled about 450 students. The Rev. T. F. Ligman, C. R., is principal of the school, which is affiliated with the North Central Educational association.

Other northwest side Catholic schools which started the new scholastic year last week include Holy Family academy, 1446 West Division street. Both high school and commercial classes are given here.

400 ARE ENROLLED AT TRINITY HIGH IN RIVER FOREST

Registration of freshmen entering Trinity High school, River Forest, was held last Thursday. Other students were registered on Friday. Class work will begin tomorrow. About 400 are registered.

Monday morning the mass of the Holy Ghost will be sung. The Rev. V. R. Hughes, the chaplain, will deliver the address. A field day combining study and recreation will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 17, when the biology class will take a field trip and the general science class will visit the Museum of Natural History and Mineral Specimens at Elgin.

St. Mel's Grammar School Opens with 1,400 Pupils

Classes at St. Mel's grammar school, 4315 Washington boulevard, began last Wednesday morning. This year's enrollment is about 1,400 pupils. The school is under the direction of the Sisters of Providence.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

High school students, send in your best laughs to the Chuckle Editor of The Tribune. Two dollars will be paid for each jingle, joke, or verse printed in the Metropolitan section. Address your contributions to the Chuckle Editor, Metropolitan section, The Tribune. Write on one side of the paper only, and print your name and address plainly.

Samson—I understood that Senator Green wanted you to act as his private secretary.

Simmons—He did, but I was unwilling to accept such a position; I would have had to sign every document "Green per Simmons."

MABEL PEARY,
1815 West 50th street.

Fuming guest—Look here, the rain is simply pouring into my room!

Summer hotel proprietor—Absolutely according to our prospectus, sir. Running water in every room, sir.

LUCILLE SIKA,
1841 South 57th avenue, Cicero.

Bobby—I wonder whatcha gotta do to get good an' fat.

Billy—Eat peanuts.

Bobby—Aw, peanuts won't make ya fat.

Billy—Course they will. Look what they do to el'phants.

GERALDINE FINN,
1137 West 15th street.

Junk peddler—Hey, don't park your car near my horse!

Mr. Trafficwise—Don't worry. I know the city rules against parking near a plug.

CLARENCE A. FRAMBERS,
3228 Monroe street.

She—What would you do if I were to cry?

He—Hang out a sign, "Wet Paint."

MARY CIECKO,
1334 Holt street.

Customer—Why don't you advertise?

Storekeeper—No, sir! I tried it once and it pretty near ruined me.

Customer—How was that?

Storekeeper—People came in here and bought durned near everything I had.

IRMA PALMER,
1738 West 96th street.

Frosh—How long does it take you to dress?

Soph—Twenty minutes.

Frosh—It takes me only ten.

Soph—Well, I wash.

ROBERT CURTIS,
9436 South Highland avenue, Berwyn.

"What are you doing with all your bed springs on the stove?" asked Mrs. Sullivan of Mrs. O'Leary. "Shure and haven't ye heard that hot springs is good for the rheumatism?"

VERONICA O'HERN,
Lake street, Libertyville.

Building foreman—Excuse me, but are you the lady who's singing?

Lady—Yes, I was singing. Why?

Foreman—Might I ask you not to hold the high notes so long? The men have knocked off twice thinking they heard the noon whistle.

MARGARET SCHUELL,
250 Highview avenue, Elmhurst.

Big Ben—And I'm a self-made man.

Small Sally—All of which goes to prove the dubious results of unskilled labor.

WALTER MANEIKIS,
6647 South Union avenue.

Mother Frankfurter, to small son as the Graf Zeppelin passed overhead—It never smoked when it was your age, son.

ROBERT PUTNAM,
5457 Iowa street.

Little Bobby watched the telephone repairman climb the pole, connect a test set and try to get a connection with the test board. He was having some trouble. The youngster listened a few minutes and then he rushed into the house shouting, "Mamma, come here quick. There's a man up on the telephone pole talking to heaven."

"What makes you think he's talking to heaven?"

"'Cause he hollered, 'Hello! Hello! Hello! Good Lord, what's the matter up there? Can't any one hear?"

CATHERINE DUB,
3011 Normal avenue.

DEDICATE NEW GOMPERS PARK PAVILION TODAY

Unions to Conduct Ceremony at Fieldhouse.

The new Samuel Gompers park and field house, at Tripp and Foster avenues, will be dedicated today with hundreds of Chicago union workers and their families in attendance. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, is in charge of the event. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, has been invited to attend and make the principal address.

Each labor union will be represented by five men on the dedicatory committee. A band concert will be held in the pavilion and several speeches will be made by men prominent in Chicago civic affairs.

Pays Tribute to Gompers.

"It is most fitting that this park should be named in honor of Samuel Gompers," Mr. Fitzpatrick said. "If ever a man was interested in the workingman, it was Mr. Gompers. A great part of his life was devoted to bettering the conditions of labor and procuring better educational facilities for the laborer.

"With the dedication of this park and the erection of the Samuel Gompers school, we feel that the honor due this great man is being justly realized."

House Costs $90,000.

The new field house, which stands in the 18 acre park, is 112 feet deep and 78 feet wide, and cost approximately $90,000. It contains a large assembly hall, gymnasium, small kitchen, men's and women's shower rooms to accommodate the bathers in the proposed outdoor swimming pool to be built in 1930, and a women's rest room. Present construction allows provisions for the erection of a new assembly hall on the second floor.

Commissioners of the park, under the jurisdiction of the Albany park district and at one time known as Matson park, are C. August Youngquist, president; Fred W. Lee, vice president; Edwin H. Manasse, Albert W. Nelson, and Henry A. Schwartz. Officers of the district, besides the president and vice president, are F. H. Niehing, secretary; Milton H. Manasse, treasurer; Ernest Buehler, attorney; Sam Matson, superintendent, and C. Hatsfield, consulting engineer.

Outdoor recreational facilities which are now provided in the park include tennis courts and a boys' and girls' playground. A large outdoor swimming pool and an 18-hole putting green, both of which will be built soon, will be additional features.

FUTURE RABBIS TO BE GRADUATED TONIGHT

Graduation exercises of Hebrew Theological college of Chicago will be held this evening in Anshe Knesseth Israel synagogue, Douglas boulevard and Homan avenue. The picture shows the members of the class.

ELMHURST CLUB WILL OPEN YEAR'S ACTIVITIES OCT. 14

The Elmhurst Woman's club will launch another year of activity on Oct. 14, the first meeting of the club year. During the summer recess activity in every department except the infant welfare station was suspended. The welfare station is open Thursday morning from 8:30 until 12.

A child specialist and two nurses are in attendance. Mrs. A. H. Greenwood, chairman of the child welfare committee, reports an average growth of 16 new babies per month, with a total enrollment of about 445.

Mrs. Frank B. Avery will enter her second year as president of the club, with Mrs. Ervin F. Wilson as first vice president and program committee chairman; Mrs. Harry Kerley, second vice president and membership committee chairman; Mrs. Clarence D. East, recording secretary; Mrs. Roy De Shane, corresponding secretary and publicity committee chairman; Mrs. Matthew Thorneycroft Jr., treasurer; Mrs. H. T. Richards, chairman of community service department.

Mrs. Kenneth Van Auken is chairman of the home and education department; Mrs. Art Schlemer, arts department; Mrs. Richard B. De Young, social committee; Mrs. James Glass, house committee; Mrs. Harold McKinley, ways and means committee, and Mrs. John C. Berck Jr., advisory committee.

HEBREW COLLEGE TO ORDAIN 29 AS RABBIS TONIGHT

Graduation exercises for the 1929 class of the Hebrew Theological college of Chicago, 3448 Douglas boulevard, will be held this evening at Anshe Knesseth Israel synagogue, Douglas boulevard and Homan avenue.

Twelve of the students will be ordained as rabbis in the traditional "Smicha" ordination services. They are: Louis Kaufman, president of the class; David Graubart, secretary; David Rosenbloom, treasurer; Seymour Glick, Charles B. Chavel, Milton Rosen, Carl Manello, Leonard Mishkin, Oscar Z. Fasman and Simon Klep. The young rabbis will be sent out to various Jewish communities throughout the United States.

Rabbi Saul Silber is president of the college, Rabbi Jacob Greenberg is dean, and Rabbi Samuel S. Siegel is executive secretary.

Aurora C. of C. Secretary Addresses Farmers' Club

The Sugar Grove Farmers' club heard H. N. Yates, secretary of the Aurora chamber of commerce, at a meeting on Aug. 30. Mr. Yates pointed out the various duties and activities of an organization such as the chamber of commerce. More than 60 members of the club attended. Following the talk and a program of music and readings, refreshments were served.

OAK PARK HIGH'S ENROLLMENT 3,300; 3 NEW TEACHERS

Approximately 600 new freshmen joined the ranks of students of the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school on Tuesday morning. This brings the total enrollment to 3,300.

There are only three new teachers this year. All of them are gymnasium teachers. Glenn T. Holmes, who comes from the University of Wisconsin, is now at the head of the boys' gymnasium department, Miss Velda Jordan, from Casey, Ill., and Miss Marion Maxim, from Newtonville, Mass., come to the girls' gymnasium department.

Miss Pauline Knapp has returned to the girls' gymnasium department after an absence of two years. During that time she was manager of the Illinois League of High School Girls' Athletic Associations. Mrs. Clair Blusat returned to the French department. She spent the last year traveling in France.

Work has been begun on a tunnel which will extend from the main building of the high school to the boys' fieldhouse and to the girls' gymnasium building.

La Grange Boards to Meet.

Members of the La Grange park board will meet Tuesday evening. The village board of La Grange will meet tomorrow evening.

CHICAGO SYNOD PASTORS MEET AT ELMHURST

The Chicago Pastoral conference of ministers of the Evangelical Synod of North America were guests of Elmhurst college at their annual summer conference last Tuesday. The Rev. F. P. Umbeck of Chicago is president and the Rev. E. F. Pinckert of West Chicago is secretary and treasurer.

In the morning session a program of German and English readings, which dealt with the theme, "The Voices of Labor in Modern Poetry," was presented by the Rev. Karl M. Chworowsky, St. Peter's church, Elmhurst.

After the luncheon, served to the delegates and their wives in the college commons, the conference was welcomed by President Timothy Lehmann. Prof. Carl Bauer, D. D., spoke on "The Einstein Theory and Its Relation to Religion." A musical program of songs, and piano duets was presented by the Rev. W. Kochheim of Chicago and the Rev. K. M. Chworowsky of Elmhurst.

DEDICATE BURIAL PLOT TODAY FOR JEWISH FIGHTERS

Many Notables to Speak at Ceremony.

Today at 2 p. m., Chicago Jewry will assemble under the leadership of Yarmo-DeVere Post No. 469, of the American Legion, and the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago at Oakridge Jewish cemetery, Roosevelt and Manheim roads, to dedicate the Jewish War Veterans' section of this cemetery, which, it is said, will be the first Jewish military burial plot in the world.

Included in the program of dedication will be addresses by Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois; Rabbi Lee J. Levinger, national chaplain of the American Legion; Columbus, O.; Col. Howard P. Savage, past national legion commander; David L. Shillinglaw, commander of the Illinois department of the Legion; Judge Michael Feinberg, exalted ruler of Chicago lodge No. 4, Elks; Judge Henry Horner, Anton J. Cermak and Charles V. Barrett.

Flyer to Drop Flowers.

An aerial squadron led by Jack Oates, war time aviator, will drop flowers over the scene of dedication. An artillery salute of twenty-one rounds, in memory of Jewish men and women who served the United States in the Revolutionary, Civil, Spanish-American and World wars, will be fired by a section of French 75s from the 122d field artillery, under the command of Col. Samuel T. Lawton. Martial music will be played by the drum and bugle corps and military bands of Bell post, No. 242; Chicago Board of Trade post, No. 304; and Woodlawn post, No. 175, of the American Legion and all flag ceremonials will be conducted under the auspices of the Combat Medal Men's association, Chicago's decorated war heroes.

All arrangements for these exercises of dedication have been arranged under the auspieces of the Yarmo-DeVere post, No. 469, the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago and the general committee of the National Jewish War memorial. Those in charge of these exercises include Joseph R. Dorfman, general chairman; Capt. James C. Russell and Edward Clamage, vice-chairmen; Harold R. Schradzki, secretary; and committee chairmen Francis A. Walsh, arrangements; Col. Earl Thornton, reception; Col. A. L. Brodie, and Maj. Hamlet C. Ridgeway, military affairs; Paul W. Rothenberg, public relations; Thomas K. Davey, veterans' liaison; Alex M. Golman, civic; and Charles Kamp, motion pictures.

Honorary Vice Chairmen.

Honorary vice chairmen of the dedicatory exercises are Col. Howard P. Savage, General John V. Clinnin, Lawrence E. McGann, national vice commander of the Legion; General John J. Garrity, Mrs. Pearl M. Duncan, state president of the American Legion auxiliary; S. C. Maixner, vice commander of the Illinois Legion department; Lieut. Commander Charles W. Schick, Maj. George M. Kellogg Jr., C. E. Taylor, Judge Joseph W. Schulman, Barney Cohen, state director of labor; Julian Bomash, H. L. Meites and Walter M. Heymann. State Commander Shillinglaw is honorary chairman of the service.

Upon the completion of the dedication this first Jewish military burial plot in the world, the next objective of the Yarmo-DeVere post of the American Legion and the Jewish War Veterans of Chicago will be the plans for the erection of a national Jewish war memorial to be located at this site.

CIVIL WAR VET, 86, VISITS HIS OLD ELMHURST HOME

August Hanebuth, 86 year old veteran of the civil war, arrived in Elmhurst Wednesday from his home in Los Angeles, Cal., to visit his nephew, William Hanebuth, city superintendent of building construction, living at 146 Willow road, and of his niece, Mrs. Linda Hildt, Marion street, for the next three weeks.

Mr. Hanebuth, formerly a resident of Elmhurst and a frequent visitor here, returned to attend the sixty-fifth annual reunion of the surviving members of the 105th Illinois infantry. They were the guests this year of Mrs. George E. Dutton, Sycamore, Ill., on Saturday. Mrs. Dutton is the widow of Maj. Dutton of the 105th.

Born in Germany, Mr. Hanebuth came to this country as a child and enlisted from Elmhurst. He left Elmhurst in 1865 after being honorably discharged from the army and made his home in Minnesota and South Dakota before moving to the coast.

WATER SCARCE AS PARK RIDGE WILTS IN HEAT

Shortages Demand Action, Mayor Says.

All Chicagoland baked last week in the record September heat wave. But Ridge residents assert they suffered just a little more than their neighbors. Added to the discomfort of the high temperature there was a shortage of water.

All day Wednesday the telephone in the city hall was ringing as one housewife after another called to inquire as to the miniature famine.

Call after call came in and all the city hall force could do was to ask their townsmen to have patience. Every drop of water the city water department received from the Mayfair pumping station was available to users, and nothing more could be done. Park Ridge, like other suburban towns, gets its water from the Chicago water mains at the city limits in Edison Park. But the heat wave caused an unusual need for water and many families felt the shortage.

Advise Against Sprinkling.

To alleviate the condition to some degree at least, the staff of the Park Ridge city hall advised residents who called to refrain from sprinkling their lawns and to ask their neighbors to do likewise, for although the flowers and lawns of the town stood in need of some refreshment, the people needed it more.

In commenting upon the shortage, Mayor Robert E. McLain of Park Ridge said that remedial measures would have to be taken soon in order to forestall future shortages. The next meeting of the city council of Park Ridge is scheduled for Sept. 17, and action may be taken then.

Mayor McLain also called attention to the fact that last week's shortage was not a result of a new condition, but that similar shortages had occurred for years. While the population of the town has grown in leaps and bounds during the last ten years no change has been made in the system of water supply.

The city hall reported last Wednesday that while there is a great clamor when a shortage occurs, people forget about it as soon as the condition is ameliorated.

Brookwood Country Club to Hold Pivot Bridge Party

The Brookwood Country club auxiliary will hold its annual pivot bridge party on Sept. 21. Several prizes will be awarded. Members of the club will be permitted to invite guests for the afternoon. A children's party was given at the club on Labor day with Mrs. Webster Corlett and Mrs. N. C. Clausonthue in charge of arrangements.

Opera Club Artist

MARX OBERNDORFER.

[Maizene Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer will give the first of a series of programs on Sept. 18 before the newly organized Civic Opera Club of River Forest. The title of their program is "Operatic Milestones: Importance of Opera to You," and will include excerpts from operatic pieces and piano selections. The affair will be held at the Women's club house, River Forest. The River Forest unit was founded at a dinner held at the clubhouse last month, and since that time memberships have been coming in regularly. George H. Jones is president.

NORWOOD PARK MAKES PLEA FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

A committee from the Norwood Park Community Improvement association called on officials of the board of education last week and presented a plea for better school facilities in the district. The action was taken when plans for the erection of the new Smyser school, at Malvina and Montrose avenues, were started and later stopped.

Residents in the district have termed the present school inadequate and have demanded a new building for several years. Recently money was appropriated for the erection of a new school, but was refunded because it was needed for the installation of sewers. Since that time, however, Leyden township has been annexed to Chicago, and that community was promised a school that had been listed before the proposed Smyser school.

The Pruessing school, at Menard and Leland avenues, is the only school in the district besides the present small Smyser building. Many children are forced to walk more than a mile to school.

The committee appointed by the organization included L. R. Cooper, chairman; Robert Neuelman, and Robert Robert. Charles J. Foster is president of the association.

GIRL SCOUTS EAT MELONS, LAUNCH MEMBER DRIVE

Glen Ellyn Troop Feasts on Texas Fruit.

Within fifteen minutes after forty Glen Ellyn Girl Scouts had been turned loose on 200 pounds of watermelon last Monday afternoon there was nothing left but rinds.

The feast came about in this way: W. W. Shaw Jr. of Glen Ellyn had received a sixty-six pound melon from the staff of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Learning that the Girl Scouts of the village were launching a membership drive, he figured that the time, as well as the watermelon, was ripe for a feast that would celebrate the occasion.

Gather at Shore of Lake.

The date was set for the afternoon of Labor day; the place—the banks of Lake Ellyn in Glen Ellyn park. And the response, for a holiday, came up to all expectations.

As for appreciation shown for the watermelon—well, the Texas species was a Burbank production known as the Herbert Hoover brand. When plugged it was found at just the right stage of pinkness, dripping with juice and almost without seeds. In addition, local merchants furnished more melons, making a total of 200 pounds.

Seek Fund of $2,000.

Eating of the melons started on signal. In fifteen minutes it was all over but the sighs of satisfaction. There followed games and group singing, and discussion of a $2,000 fund that the girls are starting for their scout work. A large part of the fund, it is planned, will be used in obtaining a camp. The Boy Scouts have one and the girls want one, too.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon was the presentation to the Girl Scouts of an archery set by Fred Orsinger, past president of the Glen Ellyn Lions club.

The girls told Mr. Shaw if another of those mammoth melons came from Texas next September—well, they're willing to make it an annual event.

Members of the Troop.

The Girl Scouts present were: Loretta Amidon, Betty Capps, Ellen Cooper, Jane Underwood, Gwendolyn Cramer, Marion Wagner, Helen Canfield, Helen Wagner, Genevieve Croffet, Alice Edmondson, Marjorie Maginnis, Helen Locke, Beverly Hill, Lorraine Ford, Margery Mabrey, Bothella Gantzen, Eleanor Locke, Caroline Hilton, Dorothea Kahl, Edith Hilton, Jean Vinji, Muriel McDonnell, Marisue Cash, Lois Coleman, Jean Hurley, Billy Cash, Virginia Hitt, Kathryn Flint, Dorothea Flansburg, Violet Hyatt, Betty Patten, Helen Jane Sjoblom, Cherie Eadie, Clara Wyckoff, Alva Coll, Helen Flett, Alice Flett, Carol Kranz, Jean McDonnell, Kathryn Dedman, Pearl Courtice, Evelyn Urich, Beatrice Whiteway, Jessada Hilton, Nancy Coll, Marie Croffet.

3 CHANGES MADE IN FOREST PARK SCHOOL STAFF

The beginning of the school year last Tuesday marked three changes in Forest Park schools. Miss Mabel Schwartz, formerly principal at the Garfield, is now principal at the Grant; Miss Helen Cranberry, formerly assistant principal at the Grant, is now principal at the Garfield; and Miss Catherine Yanseck, one time teacher at the Garfield, has been assigned the assistant principalship of the Grant. The total enrollment at the four Forest Park public schools, the Grant, the Field-Stevenson, the Betsy Ross, and the Garfield, is expected to be approximately 1,400.

Franklin Park Catholic School Opens Tomorrow

Rhodes school, Franklin Park, started its fall term last Tuesday. The teaching staff is composed of Miss Alice Esch, principal, Miss Ursula McLin and Miss Madaline Phillips. St. Gertrude's school, Franklin Park, will be opened tomorrow. Members of the Parent-Teacher association of the school have been active in making plans for their program during the coming months.

NEW CATHOLIC SCHOOLS OPEN ON WEST SIDE

Two new Catholic schools on the west side were opened last Tuesday for the first time. They are St. Ferdinand's, 3116 North Marmora avenue, and St. Roman's, 23d street and Washtenaw avenue. The only new high school to be started this year on the west side is the Dominican in Oak Park, which will open next Monday.

In all, twelve new schools have been opened this fall in the archdiocese, according to an announcement made last week by the Catholic school board. The attendance in all the schools totals more than 200,000, this number being about 10,000 greater than last year's registration.

An art course is to be developed in the Catholic elementary institutions this year. During the summer months several of the members of the various religious communities who make up the faculties of the schools have been studying group piano work, and this type of instruction, which was introduced some time ago in the schools, is to be further developed.

Utility Board Head to Talk to Elmhurst Business Men

Charles W. Hadley, head of the state commerce commission, will be the principal speaker at the evening meeting of the Elmhurst chamber of commerce tomorrow at St. Peter's parish hall. At the noon meeting of the merchants' sales committee of the chamber last Monday it was decided that dollar day sales would be held in Elmhurst twice a year. In addition to this a shopping bulletin will be issued at least twice a month and mailed to surrounding towns.

West Side "Y" Groups at Industrial Conference

Twelve member of the Dial and Jewell clubs of the West Side Y. M. C. A. attended the third annual industrial young men's Labor day conference at Hastings Lake camp, Lake Villa, Ill., on Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2. Sixty delegates were present. The principal speakers were L. A. Hartley of Omaha and William Francis of Chicago, their theme being the place of the young man in industry.

An utterly new thing in radio

We've Caught at Last the Fleeting Thing in Music That Millions Respond To When a Master Plays or Sings ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings.

That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that mean entire absence of A. C. hum and interference. So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

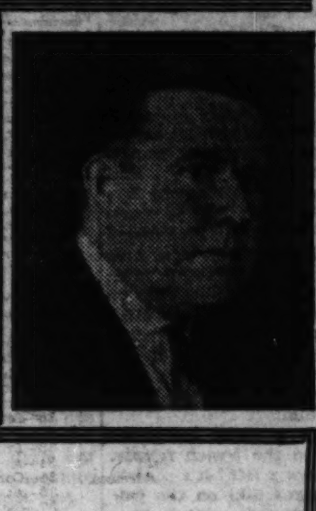
SEPTEMBER IN MICHIGAN



That faint sniff of autumn that is first noticed early in September has been incorporated by Blair Walliser into a lovely half hour of songstrous entertainment. The scene for such songs is laid in a picturesque portion of the Wolverine State. "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" is to begin a prancing program of vocalism by Walter Pontius, tenor. The Violin Choir fiddles a sentimental section which includes the "Indian Love Call." Instrumental contributions by the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra include "Hippity Hop" and "Yellow and Blue." It'll be good. 8:45.

DANCE KING AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Jean Goldkette, king of the modern dance muse, points his syncopating scepter at the ceiling, poised ready to signal the start of a big day of dance music. He doffs his crown to a million attentive ears, and hangs it over the end of Bill Herring's trombone. Victor Young, violin virtuoso, has made elaborate, symphony-like orchestrations. Paul Merts plays the most savage rhythm with the most sophisticated technique at the piano. It's a great band with a great name. 1:30, 2:25 and 11:00.

D'ALMADA APPEARS IN CONCERT

Cosmo d'Almada, one of the most prominent of American operatic baritones in world musical circles, bows his way onto the air tonight. Years of study in France, Italy and Spain have developed an artistic lustre to a phenomenally great natural talent. Not only is d'Almada a proficient singer in English, but he is also fluent in French, Italian and Spanish. In his program tonight this stellar artist includes the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and "The King's Prayer" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." D'Almada sings all of his songs with orchestral accompaniment.

QUIN SEES CUBS GAME

Quin Ryan, crack sports announcer, gives a crisp, direct word picture of the Cubs' battle with Boston this afternoon. W-G-N has obtained the best possible position for Quin and his microphone. The bases and players are laid out before the announcer like a diagram. Across the field Quin can see a scoreboard telling just what the Pirates are doing. You hear all about it. 2:55. TOM, DICK & HARRY GLORIFY SONGS

Old-fashioned harmony all dressed up in the most modern of raiment is the stock in trade of Tom, Dick and Harry. The three boys have glorified the old business of harmony to a true art. They juggle deft little notes into modernistic patterns, punctuating them with resonant plunks of their guitar. 5:30.

CHILDREN HEAR OF ALICE in MUSICLAND

The wonderful adventures of Alice in Musicland are told about in tunes and talks this afternoon. Short, light classics are chosen to fit the children's taste, and fantastic announcements are read, having to do with the little girl in the strange land of music. 5:45.

NYE BOOSTS HIS PLAN FOR U. S. OWNED STATION

Would Keep Channel Free for Public.

The question of whether or not the government should operate its own broadcasting station for the purpose of disseminating information by government agencies was brought to the fore again recently by Senator Nye of North Dakota, who commented on the bill to this effect which he has introduced.

The bill would provide for establishment of such a station in Washington, D. C., with authority for the secretary of commerce to establish additional stations if necessary "to assure that matter broadcast shall reach simultaneously all sections of the country."

Would Broadcast Debates.

In addition to government information, the bill further provides for the broadcasting of debates on important issues from the floors of either house of congress. This would be done whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the senate or house, pending legislation was a matter of wide interest.

"The political campaigns of the future will be largely campaigns by radio," Senator Nye said, "and to prevent the control of public discussion by privately owned stations the enactment of the measure will assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

Enormous Sums Spent.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national governmental owned station all parties can reach the voter without expense; thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion. The cost of such a station would be small compared to the tremendous importance of preserving forever a free channel of discussion for the people. The people must save for themselves this right to the air.

"Over the radio there is no bias. The listener-in forms his judgment from the actual spoken words. His intelligence reacts to the argument, as if he were actually present."

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is W-G-N, bringing the Mike McTigue-Battling Siki fight to you direct from the Scala theater in Dublin, Ireland! And what an evening it's going to be! Excitement is running high in Dublin because of the troubles between the Republicans and the Free Staters, and when we came into the building we were searched thoroughly by a couple of policemen for concealed weapons. Everybody who's coming in is being searched. It is St. Patrick's night, 1923.

We're all set to go with this prize fight now, ladies and gentlemen. The ring has been cleared and only Battling Siki, Mike McTigue, and the referee remain!

[Bell!]

Here we go! Round one! Both men are coming out of their corners quickly in answer to the first tap of the gong. Siki, who hasn't got much of a defense, is sticking out those long brown arms in Mike's direction, and Mike is standing toe to toe and sparring cautiously. Siki's right darts out and Mike jumps back—the white boy is on his toes—Siki is after him and swinging his arms, but Mike is covering up cleverly. They've gone into a clinch. Now they've parted, and Siki is backing up till they're almost in the center of the ring again. Now they're sparring just easily and gently. . . . Siki tries a left swing across the body, but Mike's footwork is perfect and he dances away. . . . Siki is still grinning and talking to McTigue in French. Now Siki is starting out again! Whee! He connects with a left to Mike's head—the first clean punch of the fight, and Mike has gone into a clinch! Now they've broken again, and as they break Mike almost pushes Siki away. They're sparring again, with Mike still on the defensive . . . he just won't step into Siki, he's waiting for the black boy to come to him!

Siki tries with a right but Mike bobs his head and the punch misses. Now Mike unlooses a left—it's a corking drive that takes Siki on the side of the head, and the Senegalese goes into a clinch. That's the first real punch that Mike has shown so far in this scrap! Siki is now in a clinch—

[Bell!]

Well, that's all of round one. It was a tame beginning for a championship fight and neither man has yet shown what he can really do.

There's the warning whistle! The seconds are scrambling out of the ring once again, and we're ready for round two! There's the bell.

[Gong!]

Siki is out of his corner fast and meets McTigue more than half way across the ring. Siki's cutting loose. His rights and lefts are just like a shower on Mike! Siki connects! He lands a hard right to McTigue's face and the Irishman is going into a clinch. Now the referee breaks them apart, but Mike doesn't appear hurt—the punch hasn't hurt him. Look at Siki! He's ripping in again! He's determined to do something! He's hitting McTigue with everything but the ringposts. But Mike is taking most of the punches on his arms and shoulders and now he lets loose! Look at Siki back away! McTigue drove in a right hander that sent Siki back a few feet! But the colored boy hasn't stopped grinning! Maybe they learn to keep on grinning in Senegal! He's right back with both hands, and Mike is being kept busy! Siki unleashes that right hand—O, it's an awful wallop in the body, and now he brings up his left! One-two for Siki, and Mike has gone into a clinch to gather his wits together. That was a pair of awful socks that Siki let forth, and Mike certainly felt them.

Now the referee is coming in to break them again. The fight has been all Siki's so far and he looks in a fair way to continue as titleholder. They're just sparring easily in the center of the ring—now Siki tries with his right hand—Mike ducks his head and it passes over easily—Siki is almost unbalanced by the force of the blow, and a quick right jab from Mike has him reeling.

[Gong!]

That's all of round two: It's a pretty tame fight. Siki, the singular Senegalese, has all the better of it thus far and we'll have to concede him both these first two rounds by a wide margin.

There's the whistle. Seconds out of the ring! Here we go into round three! There are still eighteen rounds to come!

[Gong!]

Round three! Siki is out of his corner more slowly this time—in fact, his seconds have to tell him to go in and start fighting. Mike waits for him in the middle of the ring, and they're sparring cautiously out there—Whoop, Mike whips one over Siki's guard straight at the big grinning mouth, and Siki lets out an awful howl! Siki is growling, and he's stopped grinning! Into a clinch they go now, and Mike is pummeling Siki's body while they're in close. He has Siki backing away—but not far! Siki is waiting for him.

The referee has a hard time prying them apart. Now they're separated, and Mike looks O. K. again. They're sparring easily over in a neutral corner—Siki is trying to back McTigue into the corner, but Mike dances away and to one side.

There's the bell! That's all of round three! And there are still seventeen rounds left of this fight! Well, you never can tell. Maybe something will happen to make this fight interesting.

[Gong!]

Round four! Siki is out of his corner in a flash again, and oohhh! he's sent home a left to Mike's head, before the Irish boy realized what was coming! Mike's gone into a clinch to weather the gale, and he's locked Siki's arms again, and he's tapping the colored boy's kidneys! Siki's trying to wrench himself loose so that he can keep on punching! Now they are separated, and Siki is coming in close again. Whee! Mike lands lightly to his head with a left, and a right—Mike lands a hard right to his body! Siki doesn't mind—he's coming in! He's in! Ow! He drives an awful wallop at Mike's body.

Siki's grinning again! Now they're just sparring easily in the center of the ring, with Mike dancing back every time Siki reaches out one of those long arms.

[Gong!]

(Interlude.)

An now for a time we leave our announcer and his prize fight three thousand miles across the sea. The tumult and the shouting dies from our ears for a time, but the fight goes on. Into the fifth round it goes with the son of Senegal retaining his early advantage, increasing it even, and into the sixth, the seventh, the tenth, the fourteenth.

And slowly it weakens as the fight goes into the sixteenth round; Siki grows weaker in the seventeenth, and his strength is fast ebbing when the eighteenth has passed. Can he stick it out? Will he last until the end—until twenty rounds are over? Back we go to our announcer and to the scene of the prize fight as they go into the nineteenth round!

Gong!

Round nineteen! Siki is coming slowly out of his corner. They are sparring in the center of the ring, with Mike still on his toes. Mike goes in right and left—one—two to Siki's head, and Siki is bringing up his hands to guard his battered face—Mike is working on his body—O! There's an awful right hand wallop to Siki's stomach—it hurt the black boy—he's hurt—he's almost doubled over—I'll bet the champagne is talking back to him—now Mike is plastering his unprotected head with lefts and rights, lefts and rights, Siki is getting groggy—he's coming in and holding on!

(Gong!)

O! I guess the bell saved Siki's skin that time. Mike had him in a bad way at the end of the round, and a few more good punches would have bowled him over. There hasn't been a knockdown yet in this fight, and it looked as if one was surely coming in that frame.

(Gong!)

Siki looks as though he's crying as he comes out of his corner for the twentieth and last round! Mike is coming across the ring to meet him and lands a hard right to the head, as Siki is trying to come into a clinch. He has his head down and just edging forward blindly with his arms outstretched trying to grab Mike. Mike is backing away, and sticking out his left hand, jabbing Siki on the face and neck. Now Siki rushes forward, and Mike slips to one side, and—how he pastes him! What a wallop it was! It almost bowled Siki over. An awful right hand sock on the side of the head! Now Mike is turning on him.

(Gong!)

Mike McTigue gets the decision! Meet the new light heavyweight champion of the world!

RADICAL CHANGES IN RADIO LAWS ARE SUGGESTED

Commission Counsel Has Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweeping changes in the existing laws governing radio communication, which would eliminate sectional representation on the radio commission and would modify the provision which demands equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the five zones, have been proposed by Bethuel M. Webster, general counsel of the radio commission, in a letter addressed to Senator James Couzens, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, in response to the request of the latter.

The amendments suggested are for the Couzens bill for the creation of a communications commission, now under consideration by the senate committee, as well as the radio act of 1927. They are intended to remedy defects encountered in the administration of the latter act, Mr. Webster said, and also embody the opinions of the general counsel on the Couzens proposals without taking any stand on the suggested communications commission itself.

Amply Protect Public.

Indorsing the elimination of section 17 of the radio act, which prevents the merger of wire and wireless companies, Mr. Webster stated that, in his opinion, the anti-trust laws, together with the power conferred by the Couzens bill, would "amply protect the public against the evils of monopoly." As it is now, it is "unintelligible," he said.

This stand is particularly significant, it is considered, in view of the recent agitation for such consolidation in this country to compete more effectively with Great Britain. It was brought out at a hearing before the senate committee several months ago that the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had reached an agreement whereby they would combine their facilities if the government would permit.

Would Modify Amendment.

As to the modification of the terms of the Davis amendment, which requires equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the several zones, Mr. Webster says: "the commission shall make such distribution of licenses, frequencies, hours of operation, and power among the several states and communities as to provide an equitable distribution of good radio reception among the same."

If Mr. Webster's proposals are followed, the Couzens bill will include a provision for the transfer of the functions and the property of the radio division of the department of commerce to the commission on communications. Such a provision would result in giving the commission the power to license station operators, to assign call letters, and to carry on a radio inspection and police service.

KOSCIUSKO PARK CHILDREN ATTEND COSTUME PARADE

Unique Garb Makes a Colorful Spectacle.

Children of the northwest side attended the costume parade staged at Kosciusko park on Aug. 23 under the direction of the northwest park commissioners. The variety of the costumes worn by the various contestants was so unusual that the judges, Miss Helene Andersen, executive secretary of the district, and Mrs. Anna Dodge and Miss Laura Maggioncalda, playground attendants, had difficulty in deciding upon winners.

They awarded the prizes to the following:

Girls' division: First, Irene Robel, 4 years old, 2652 North Avers avenue, who wore the most comical costume; second, Lillian Huber, 4 years old, 3424 Belden avenue, attired in a dress her grandmother wore 75 years ago; third, Dorothy Lupinski, 10 years old, 3741 Wrightwood avenue, dressed as a Russian.

Boys' division: First, Harry Flagler, 11 years old, 2959 Menard avenue, dressed as Uncle Sam, and second, Edward Ingram, 3 years old, 3623 Armitage avenue, dressed as a Negro mammy.

In the doll buggy parade held in connection with the display of costumes, Rose Marie Elwart, 3 years old, 2632 Harding avenue, was awarded first prize.

"If the older folk of the Northwest Park district want to get a kick out of life," Miss Andersen said, "they should attend one of these costume parades sponsored by the commissioners."

Commissioners of the district are now making arrangements for a festival and pageant to be held late this month at park 9, Bloomingdale and Moody avenues. All parks in the district will be represented by floats, according to Miss Andersen, who is in charge. Further details are to be announced later.

OAK PARK BOYS' SCHOOL LEADER TAKEN BY DEATH

Donald Stephen's Young Friends Are Pallbearers

One of the boys of Ascension school, Oak Park, is missing from the ranks this year, Donald Stephen, 14 years old, who died last Sunday after an illness of one week. Had he lived Donald would have been a member of the eighth grade of the school. Following an operation for appendicitis he developed peritonitis and died Sunday morning. The funeral took place at Ascension church on Wednesday.

Although born on the west side of Chicago at 2828 Lexington avenue, Donald had spent most of his life in Oak Park. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stephen, 515 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park. At the time of his death he was captain of the Shamrocks, an organization of boys of the school and the neighborhood. With several other lads he had organized the Shamrocks about three years ago. He also was a member of the St. Aloysius sodality of Ascension church.

The pallbearers at the funeral were eight of his youthful friends: Norman Pierce, James MacDonald, John Bowman, John Hannon, Bob McGrath, Gerald Frigon, Jack Joy, and James Olson. The casket was escorted into and from the church by pupils of the school, who attended the funeral mass.

The sermon was given by Rev. John McMahon, curate at Ascension church.

Surviving him, besides the parents, are his sisters and brothers, Mrs. Hariette Wilson, Mrs. Virginia Reilly, Miss Eunice Stephen, Alexander Jr., Jean, and Thomas. Excepting for the last named Donald was the youngest member of the family.

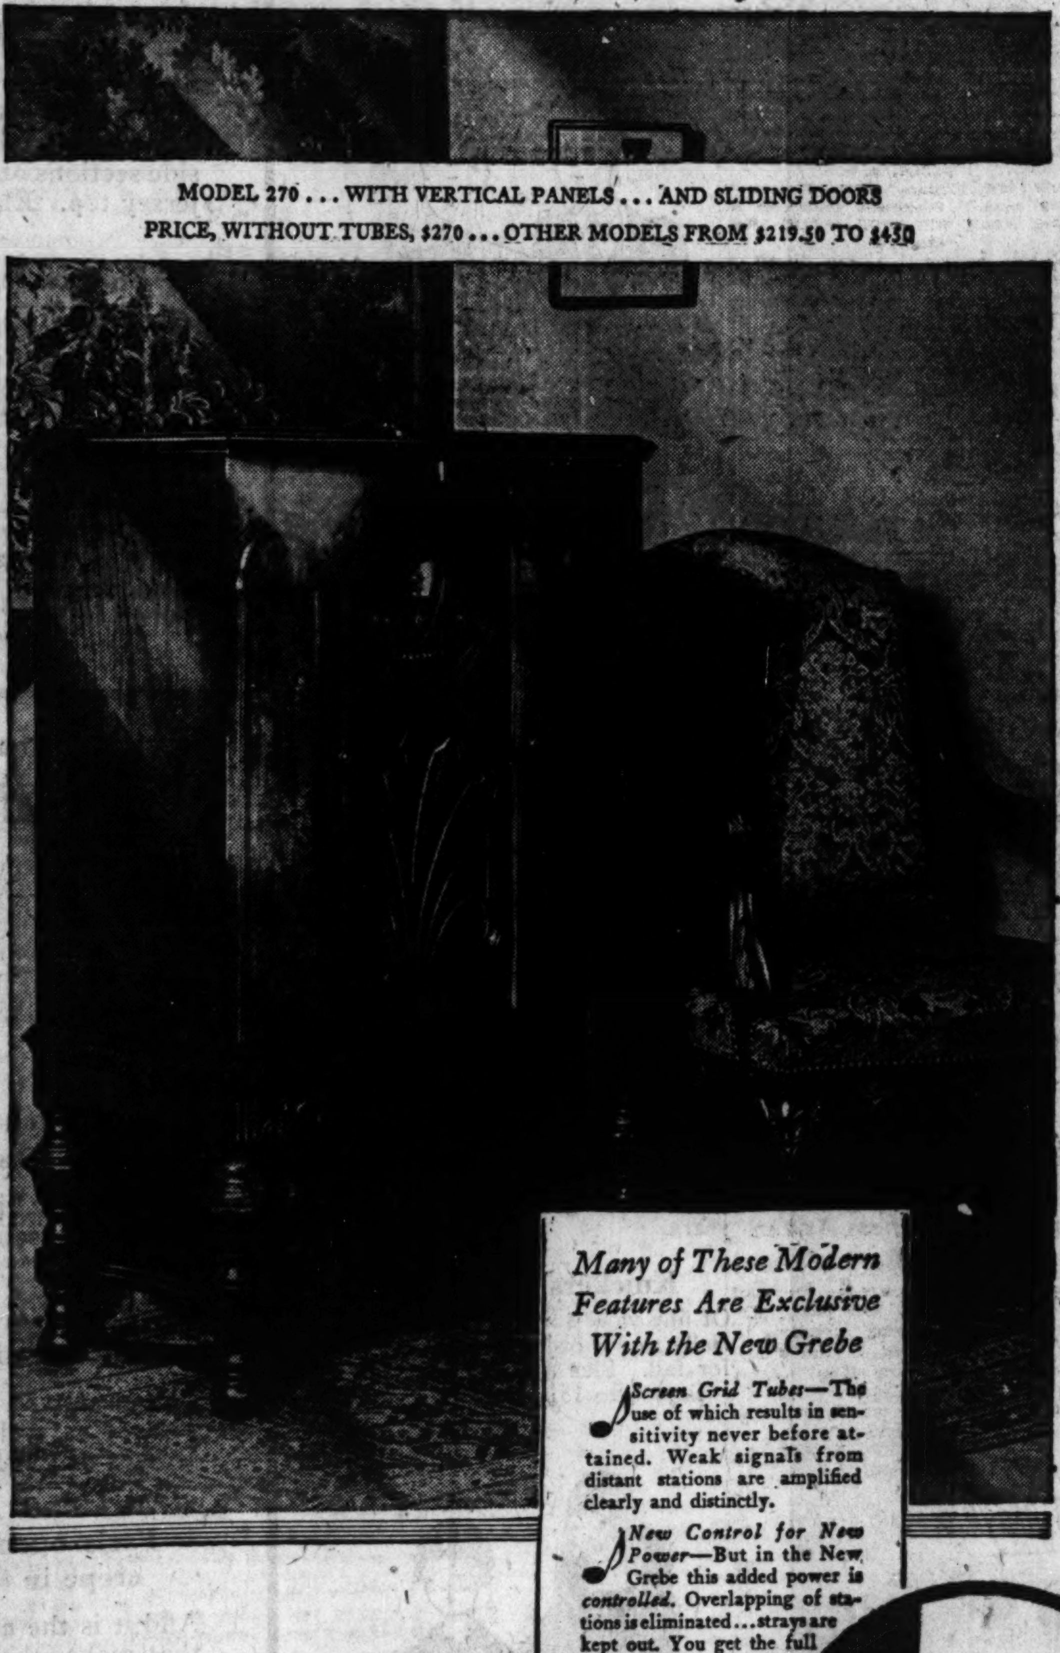
NEWER
than screen grid!

Announcing the most modern principle of Screen Grid Radio . . .

Developed by Grebe



MODEL 270 . . . WITH VERTICAL PANELS . . . AND SLIDING DOORS
PRICE, WITHOUT TUBES, $270 . . . OTHER MODELS FROM $219.50 TO $450

To those radio buyers who really place a premium on life-like tone in reproduction . . . who really are looking for quality in reception—whether it be from distant or local stations—the distinct merits of this truly delightful instrument will have instant appeal.

The New Grebe is just out . . . and with it comes the secret of its tonal excellence — the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" used with screen grid tubes. To most people this will mean simply a technical term. But what this exclusive Grebe development does in utilizing all the advantages of the new screen grid tubes . . . controlling their power without subduing it—eliminating all outside noise and interference . . . means very much to every discriminating buyer who is seeking the best and latest in radio.

This New Grebe fully responds to the keenest need in radio today—silent power. For its silent power results in pure tones . . . entirely freed from all distortion of station overlapping or power hum.

Screen Grid Justifies the Public's Quick Acceptance

The many advantages of this new tube insure ever increasing popularity—and point to its long continued use. To quote but one of many prominent radio engineers, "The present indications are that it will occupy an important place in receivers produced during the next few years." Yet screen grid tubes, by themselves, are not enough. Alone, they do not constitute a new order of results. But in the combination of Screen Grid with the Grebe "Equalized Band Pass Filter" a new perfection has been reached.

As a prominent consulting radio engineer puts it: "I regard the appearance of the band selector frequency amplifier as the most important trend of the current season." Here then in a word is the New Grebe . . . another Grebe triumph . . . another instance of Grebe pioneering.

Twenty Years of Craftsmanship and Experience Are Built Into Every Grebe Receiver

For twenty years the words Grebe and Radio have been synonymous. Even before the days of broadcasting Grebe was fabricating fine precision radio instruments —many of which, during the World War, were to be found in the radio rooms of our fleets . . . and those of our allies. Craftsmanship has always been a Grebe creed. With Grebe, radio is not a side line. A pioneer in the industry, Grebe is still pioneering. Always a step or two in advance, this latest step is Grebe's most important contribution to the full enjoyment of radio.

Every Grebe a Finished Musical Instrument

While each Grebe model is especially designed for its acoustic values, each is a beautiful piece of furniture fitting harmoniously into the room where dignity is the keynote. Having always borne a reputation for craftsmanship . . . for quality rather than quantity . . . relatively few Grebes are made each year. So we suggest that you make your selection early. See and hear this New Grebe for yourself. A forty-eight hour demonstration in your home will be gladly given by your dealer. Hear for the first time . . . Tri-toned radio.*

Many of These Modern Features Are Exclusive With the New Grebe

♪ Screen Grid Tubes—The use of which results in sensitivity never before attained. Weak signals from distant stations are amplified clearly and distinctly.

♪ New Control for New Power—But in the New Grebe this added power is controlled. Overlapping of stations is eliminated . . . strays are kept out. You get the full tone value made possible by that exclusive Grebe feature—the Equalized Band Pass Filter.

♪ Single Audio Stage Means No Hum—Grebe reception is so strong . . . so pure in tonal characteristics . . . that only a single audio stage is needed. Hum and microphonic disturbances are eliminated.

♪ Large Diameter Speaker . . . an Original Grebe Idea—Full tone range is effectively accomplished by special large diameter electrodynamic speaker . . . so successfully introduced by Grebe.

♪ For Superb Reproduction of Phonograph Records—You can play your favorite phonograph records by a mere turn of the tuning dial. This automatically connects the electric phonograph pick-up with its specially wound transformer.

♪ Cabinets Designed for Lasting Beauty and Acoustic Perfection—The New Grebe is obtainable in a wide choice of selected walnut and mahogany lowboy and highboy models. GOOD SHEPHERD CHURCH WORKS FOR RACE AMITY

Great Institution Is Built in Four Years.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

The work of the Church of the Good Shepherd, 5700 Prairie avenue, is a part of the contribution of the Congregational churches to the solution of the city problem among the racial groups in Chicago. It is an expression of national and local coöperation for a big objective. It is an experiment at putting the best leadership available into the field.

THE REV. HAROLD M. KINGSLEY.

The church was organized in a house front at 4821 Langley avenue in 1925 with 24 charter members. It moved to the former Washington Park church on Michigan avenue and then, last December, to the old Crerar Memorial Presbyterian church building, a beautiful, dignified, churchly edifice with an annex for recreational activities.

When the move was made to the new church, the name, Liberty, was dropped for the present title, which was inspired by a splendid painting above the altar in the acquired place of worship.

Under the "best leadership available," that of the pastor, the Rev. Harold M. Kingsley, graduate of Talladega college and of the Yale university, and with a background of years as director of church work among colored people, the membership has grown at a pace that has won the attention of national Congregational circles. In 1927, there wre 62 members; today there are 625. The church finances have kept pace accordingly.

The church is a part of a modern citywide program based on a survey of Arthur E. Holt and staff of the Chicago Theological seminary, under Dr. E. G. Guthrie in trying to reshape the appeal of the churches in terms of modern life, to stabilize the community, to save the whole environment of the individual, and to help the citizen to adjust himself to new and difficult problems. The Church of the Good Shepherd has been in a position to meet the religious demands of colored folk in a flood-tide of change.

The Rev. Mr. Kingsley sees nothing magical in the church's rapid development.

"Chicago," he says, "is the greatest church-going and church-giving city in the United States, so far as the Negro is concerned. Our type of service is orthodox Congregational, in which we observe our racial religious contributions. We make a frank emotional appeal on an intelligent basis.

Evangelical, Seven-Day Ministry.

"As to my type of preaching, well, it might be termed 'evangelical, constructive, social Christianity,' although that's a long phrase. Our plan is a fearless, sane, intelligent gospel, designed to quicken men to better living, a democratic evangelization of a new and complex community; a full, working, seven-day Christian ministry touching every phase of man's life."

Saturday night discussion clubs are held at the church at which economic, cultural and religious problems are taken up. Frequently, the church holds socials for special groups.

A large number of professional musicians belong to the church. Among them is W. L. Dawson, one of the four ranking colored composers of the United States, who directs the choir; Mme. Anita Patti Brown, Odell Stone Gray, Ruth Grandison, John Greene,

Opening Jams Many Schools of South Side

The schools opened on Tuesday but, owing perhaps, to the unexpected return of summer weather, pupils continued to enroll throughout the week. Whether to make up for the delay in getting started or merely to prove how rapidly the south side is growing, the students registered in numbers greatly exceeding last year's figures, and many of the principals spoke of buildings filled to capacity and overflowing.

Enrollment in the nine senior high schools totaled approximately 26,500.

At Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue, more than 4,600 students were enrolled, exceeding normal capacity by several hundreds. Principal Albert W. Evans reported seven new teachers. The new course in instrumental music, begun last year, which is a unique feature of the Tilden Tech's curriculum, is to be continued this year and is proving popular.

3,900 Enroll at Hyde Park.

Hyde Park High school, 6220 Stony Island avenue, had an enrollment of more than 3,900 pupils, fewer than half of whom were boys. Figures for the branch at 54th street and Kenwood avenue were included in the number for the main building, according to Hiram B. Loomis, who is principal of both.

Englewood High school, 6201 Stewart avenue, was one of the few schools to report a nearly stationary enrollment, approximately 3,200 students having registered. Daniel F. O'Hearn, principal, heads a staff with no changes since last year.

Almost 5,000 students had enrolled at Lindblom High school, 6130 South Lincoln street, by Saturday. There are six new teachers this year, according to Harry Keeler, principal.

Nearly 800 at Parker.

At Parker Senior High school, 6800 South Stewart avenue, there are almost 800 pupils this year. Several teachers have returned from a year's sabbatical leave, including Miss Helen Laird, instructor in botany; Miss Mary De Sreds, and Miss Estelle Hyman, instructors in English, and Miss Anna Grill, Spanish instructor.

Approximately 3,500 students were in attendance at Calumet High school, 8131 South May street, more than 300 above normal capacity. Miss Genevieve Melody, principal, is absent on a year's leave, and J. D. Hullinder is acting principal, heading a staff to which twelve new teachers have been added this year.

There are more than 1,400 boys and 1,500 girls attending Bowen High school, 8860 Manistee avenue, a total exceeding normal capacity by nearly 200. Four new teachers held classes this week, Marie G. Buckley, English instructor; Thurman M. Huegner, instructor in science; Miss Edith G. Lipsky, art instructor, and Miss Thelma Jones, who is teaching science in place of Miss Edna Jones who resigned last year and who is now married.

Morgan Park Enrolls 1,600.

William Schoch, principal of Morgan Park High school, 1744 Pryor avenue, reported an enrollment of 1,600, with more than 60 pupils from other high schools in the vicinity. Miss May Zecker is substituting as mathematics instructor for Miss Edna Larson, who is on a year's leave of absence, and Miss M. French is likewise taking Mrs. Harriett Hecht's place in the Latin department. Don R. Stecht is new instructor in English and mathematical drawing, and R. C. Antonides begins his first season as football coach at the school.

More than 1,000 students are in attendance at Phillips Senior High school, 244 East Pershing road, according to Chauncey C. Willard, principal. Temporarily there is one new teacher, Miss Mary Herrick, instructor in typing.

Morgan Park Christians Have Homecoming Today

Homecoming Sunday is to be observed today in the Morgan Park Christian church, Prospect and Homewood avenues, and in its Sunday school. The church night service was resumed Wednesday night. Supper was served at 6:45 p. m., followed by the prayer meeting. The regular meeting of the official board was then convened.

Taking Class Abroad

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN.

Ellen Kinsman Mann, 1412 East 56th street, voice teacher with studios in the Fine Arts building, will depart next Saturday for a seven months trip abroad. She will take with her a class of six pupils who will study with her in Florence and Berlin. Members of the class are Miss Edith Mansfield and Miss Anita Foster of Chicago, Miss Florence Getz and Miss Frances Neher of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Miss Helen Sommer and Miss Emily Sommer of Peoria, Ill. COUNCIL GROUP TO ACT ON SOUTH SIDE REZONING

Property owners in south side wards will appear in the city hall tomorrow morning to give their views regarding four zoning ordinances being considered by the city council committee on buildings and zoning.

The hearing tomorrow will be the first of a series to be conducted by the committee this fall in its efforts to determine the desires of residents regarding ordinances submitted for its approval.

The most important ordinance to be taken up would rezone the entire district bounded by 59th street, the alley west of Crawford avenue, the alley north of 63d street, and Keeler avenue. The proposed ordinance would permit apartment buildings to be constructed in the entire neighborhood, removing the existing restriction to two flat houses.

Other ordinances would rezone from a residence to an apartment classification Ingleside avenue between 49th and 50th streets; the east side of Cornell avenue between 71st and 72d streets from a small to a large apartment classification; and Jeffery avenue between 91st and 92d streets from an apartment to a commercial district.

Since these ordinances come before the committee for the first time, they will probably be referred to subcommittees before they are finally acted upon.

Bethany Sunday School Resumes Sessions Today

All departments of the Sunday school of Bethany Union church, 103d and Wood streets, reopen today after the summer recess. The first meeting of the junior choir, including both the boys' and girls' choirs, will be held at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday in the choir room.

Finish Surveys This Week on 2 Boulevards

Surveys on Southeastern boulevard and Yates boulevard will be completed this week by south park engineers, according to a statement yesterday from the office of George T. Donoghue, superintendent. The surveys will be presented and discussed at a meeting of the south park board Wednesday, Sept. 18, and a date for the public hearing on the two projects will be set at that time.

Southeastern boulevard will enable motorists to travel Michigan avenue through the outer drive to Jackson park, on Jeffery avenue to 92d street, east on 92d street to Anthony avenue, southeast on that thoroughfare to Escanaba avenue, south on Escanaba to 100th street, east on 100th street to Avenue L, over the latter to 112th street, and on 112th street to the Indiana state line.

Little Opposition to Southeastern.

According to Mr. Donoghue little opposition is expected at the public hearing in regard to Southeastern boulevard. Residents of that territory have been so eager, he said, to obtain the boulevard that they will not hurt the possibility of the immediate construction of the thoroughfare by objecting to some detail.

After the public hearing is held the park board will submit a special assessment roll for confirmation by the County court. As soon as the court confirms the assessment roll the park board will let contracts for the work and the construction of the new boulevard system will be under way.

Work on the new thoroughfare will include complete repaving, the laying of sidewalks, the installation of new street lights, the erection of boulevard signs, and the planting of trees and shrubbery.

Link to New Highway.

Yates boulevard, which will extend from 71st to 103d street, will furnish a north and south outlet to the proposed gasoline tax highway, which includes 103d street through South Chicago.

South side motorists are eagerly awaiting the completion of the two new boulevard routes. They have long felt the need for a fast route to the Indiana state line. Today motorists are compelled to reach the line over Indianapolis boulevard, and at its intersection with Ewing avenue there is one of the worst bottlenecks in the city.

Although the proposed gasoline tax highway will widen the crossing at Indianapolis boulevard and Ewing avenue, motorists are sure that Yates boulevard will be completed sooner. However, at some future date there will be adequate gateways at this southeastern corner of Chicago.

Morgan Park Church Plans Rally for Sunday School

Preparations are being made by Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church, 110th place and Longwood drive, for a rally of the church school on Sunday, Oct. 13. According to the Rev. Arthur D. Klontz, minister, the program will soon be announced.

Electa Sewing Circle.

The Electa Sewing circle of Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, 100th and Throop streets, met on Wednesday in the social hall of the church. The hostesses included Mrs. John Droise, Mrs. Mary Manthey and Mrs. John Krause.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

NEIGHBOR GEORGE EPHGRAVE, the psalmist, of 6550 Union avenue, informs us that William Sayer, the w. k. superintendent of the Sixteenth ward and popular furniture mover, is, with Mrs. Sayer, being congratulated on the arrival of a daughter at their home, 5940 South Green street. This one makes ten in all and the many friends of Bill are now singing "Oh, Sayer, can you see," whilst one and all agree that considerable street widening will have to be done if the Sayer family takes to roller skates.

William W. Blue of 7813 Evans avenue is back home again after a two weeks motor trip to Detroit and Canadian points. Bill is the wide and favorably known sales hound at the J. C. Wilkinson real estate office, 8010 Cottage Grove avenue. He visited most of his own and his wife's relatives in Canada, and reports to Zimmie that the signs en route to "Drink Canada Dry" are the bunk and it can't be done. Bill says he knows. He tried.

WELL, well, well. We can see where Krumdish & Sons, the stylish gasoline buggy painters of the south side, have increased their capacity about 100 per cent [one hundred]. We refer to the increase concerning Vic Krumdich, ye old Reilly Buck; the 149th field artillery of the Rainbow division. Vic is the beaming father of twin boys, and the assurance is at hand that they are bouncing, too. This ought to counteract in a measure the fact that Vic's uncle, Charles Comiskey, hasn't brought us a pennant for some time.

For 26 years Austin O'Neal of 6411 Ellis avenue has carried mail out of postal station M at 42d and Cottage Grove. He has covered so many miles that when vacation time came his way a few days ago it was but natural he should seek a place where he could indulge his favorite pastime, walking. Austin, therefore, hied him to Paw Paw lake, Michigan, where he spent his hours sauntering around the shores of that tranquil inland sea. Now that he's again in uniform and greeting his many clients, it is noticed his step is very springy. He denies vehemently that this is caused by drinking spring water.

RUTH M. WOERNER of 8116 Evans avenue is missing from her desk at the office of Zimmerman, Saxe & Zimmerman, 212 East Superior street. Ruth has been with that firm for the last 15 years and what she doesn't know about contractors and specifications wouldn't take up much room in Sweets' catalogue. Righ now, today, she's in New York City. Next week she'll be on the briny deep, hobnobbing with the denizens of the deep, on her way to Bermuda. That's the ticket, Ruth—when you take a vacation, take a real one. Don't forget to send us a postcard with a British stamp, but please, no pictures of bottled goods or we'll perish.

It has come to us that Mr. J. L. Ellingsworth, the manufacturer, of 3509 West 63d street, is pointing with pardonable pride to the radio he has invented to fit in a fireplace. That doesn't quite express it, either. It is a regulation fireplace with the radio built in. Mr. Ellingsworth says it fills a long felt want and those who have heard it say it is hot stuff.

ED LAJECK WINS HAMILTON PARK TENNIS FINALS

The sixteenth annual Labor day open tournament of the Hamilton Park Tennis club, came to a climax on Monday when, after nine days of strenuous competition, Ed Lajeck eliminated Carl Ireneus in the finals of the singles match.

The finals of the doubles tournament were postponed owing to delay in playing off the semi-finals between Lejeck and William Schofield on one hand and Ireneus and Loring Fiske on the other. Charles and Leo Lejeck are to play the winners.

F. J. Hughes is chairman of the committee in charge of the tournament, assisted by William Ellis, G. A. Morgan, W. O. Goodwin, Les Cameron, and Robert Christie. Representatives of the Tennis Umpire association officiated at all matches.

Mercier Athletic Club Starts Fall Activities

The Mercier Athletic club, 1304 South Karlov avenue, held its first meeting of the season, Friday, with more than a hundred members present. Plans for future meetings were made, and it was decided that the club meet on every third Friday of the month. Officers of the club are: President, George Zak; vice president, Ralph Kurapko; secretary, Joseph Zak; treasurer, James Mosek; and directors, Charles Zeman, Frank Cada and Frank Cmut.

Opera Club to Meet

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The final organization meeting of the Associated Opera club of Woodlawn will be held next Thursday in the auditorium of Wadsworth school, 64th street and University avenue. Officers of the club, which is one of the forty-two in the Associated Civic Opera clubs of Chicago, are: President, Dr. F. P. Hammond; vice president, Frank J. O'Brien; executive secretary, Mrs. Charles L. Hibbard; publicity chairman, Mrs. Paul I. Pierson; program chairman, A. E. Olson.

READY TO SEEK BIDS ON PAVING IN CHICAGO LAWN

Three south side improvements estimated to cost $514,600 were recently approved by the County court, permitting the board of local improvements to advertise for bids on the work. The board is preparing to advertise within two weeks, and will probably award the contracts this fall.

Paving a series of streets in a new section of the Chicago Lawn district will cost approximately $427,000.

The improvement embraces the following streets: Komensky, Karlov, and Kedvale avenues between 63d street and Marquette road; Keeler, Tripp, Kildare, Kolin, and Kostner avenues between 63d and 65th streets; 64th street between Crawford and Kenneth avenues; and 65th and 66th streets between Crawford and Keeler avenues.

Constructing a six foot sidewalk on both sides of 95th street between Stewart and Western avenues, now being paved by the board, will cost approximately $73,301.

Ridgeway avenue between Archer avenue and 47th street will be paved with concrete at an estimated cost of $14,300.

DRAFT SUBWAY AND 'L' DEMANDS FOR SOUTH SIDE

Outline Extensions for Future Years.

Immediate and future transportation needs of the south side were outlined in a letter from the newly organized Property Owners' Traction association to the transit committee of the city council on Tuesday. The letter, which was signed by E. H. Burke, president of the organization, stated that the incorporation of the group's recommendations in the proposed transit ordinance would definitely assure passage of the measure on the south side when the ordinance is placed on the ballot.

Mr. Burke asserted that the proposed plan for solving the entire transportation problem on the south side was outlined after careful study and consideration. The plan represents the combined ideas of business men and organizations from every section of the south side and is not only based on present needs but considers the possibility of future problems throughout the territory, Mr. Burke stated.

Cite Present Needs.

In regard to the present transportation needs, the proposed plans call for the immediate construction of the following facilities:

ELEVATED LINES.

Ashland avenue, from 21st street to 119th street.

An extension on 63d street from Loomis boulevard to Menard avenue, about 5800 west.

An extension on Stony Island avenue from 63d street to 79th street, southeast on South Chicago avenue to 93d street, south on Ewing avenue to 108th street.

An extension on South Park avenue from 63d street to 100th street, west on 100th street to Wentworth avenue, south on Wentworth avenue to 119th street.

An extension on Halsted street from 63d to 83d streets.

Archer avenue, from Ashland avenue to Kedzie avenue, south on Kedzie avenue to 67th street.

SUBWAYS.

On State street, from the north loop to 21st street.

On Polk street, as an extension from the loop route to Blue Island avenue, south on Blue Island avenue, where it will hook up with elevated extension at 21st street and Ashland avenue.

SURFACE LINES.

On Cicero avenue, from 22d to 81st streets.

On Crawford avenue from 31st to 79th streets.

Fifty-ninth street, from Central Park avenue to Cicero avenue.

Fifty-first street, from Central Park avenue to Crawford avenue.

Forty-seventh street, from Kedzie to Archer avenues.

Kedzie avenue, from 67th to 87th streets.

Seventy-ninth street, from Western to Cicero avenues.

Western avenue, from 75th to 119th streets.

One Hundred and Seventeenth street, form California to Crawford avenues.

One Hundred and Third street, from Vincennes to Western avenues.

Ninety-fifth street, from State to Western avenues.

Robey street, from 63d to 87th strteets.

Eighty-seventh street, from Stony Island to Ashland avenues.

One Hundred and Fourth street, from Torrence avenue to Cottage Grove avenue.

Halsted street, from 83d to 119th streets.

BUS LINES.

Seventy-first street, from the lake to Halsted street.

Eighty-third street, from the lake to the Southwest highway.

Plans for future transportation needs of the south side call for the construction of the following facilities within five years after the completion of the immediate needs:

ELEVATED LINES.

Halsted street, from 26th to 63d streets.

Stony Island avenue, from 79th to 103d streets.

WELCOME PRIEST; REVIEW GAINS OF SOUTHWEST SIDE

1,000 Parishioners at St. Sabina Celebration.

BY THOMAS WREN.

THE REV. THOMAS EGAN. [Lavecchia Photo.]

Twelve years ago the Rev. Thomas Egan organized St. Sabina's parish on the far south side. He celebrated the first holy mass in the parish one Sunday in an old two story frame building at Seventy-eighth street and Racine avenue. The first floor at the time was a vacant store room.

Today St. Sabina's is classed as one of the finest parishes in Chicago. Its church, school building, convent and rectory and playground for children of the neighborhood occupy an area that extends along Racine and Throop from 78th street southward for half a block.

Parishioners of St. Sabina's are unstinted in their expressions of praise for the constructive work accomplished in the space of twelve years by Father Egan and his assistant priests. Seeking always to avoid the limelight, the pastor of St. Sabina's has preferred to accomplish his extensive building program by the way of deeds.

His Homecoming Celebrated.

Prior to his assignment at St. Sabina's church, Father Egan was at St. Mary's church, in Evanston. He returned recently from a trip to County Tipperary, Ireland, where he visited his aged mother. Such visits he has made many times since taking up his priestly duties in the United States. On his return representatives of the families in St. Sabina's parish turned out to welcome him at a celebration. Festivities were held in the school hall and it is estimated that approximately 1,000 persons attended, some being unable to gain admittance.

Speakers included the Rev. J. Leddy, the Rev. R. Ashenden, the Rev. M. Lynch, the Rev. Thomas Dennehy, the Rev. John Davidson, the Rev. W. Delaney, the Rev. P. Fennessy, the Rev. Austin Gallagher, and the Rev. Patrick Gleeson. During Father Egan's visit to Ireland, Father Gallagher was in charge of St. Sabina's church. He is one of Father Egan's assistants, with Fathers Davidson and Gleeson.

Arrangements for the homecoming were made by Russell Dunn. In behalf of the women of the parish, Mrs. Mary Callaghan spoke. Senator Thomas J. Courtney made a speech presenting a gift to Father Egan. In behalf of the men, Timothy Sullivan, one of the pioneers in St. Sabina's parish and one of its hardest workers, delivered a speech that was hailed with cheers and laughter.

Musical Numbers and Reading.

Lenore Hallinan Smith, Thomas McKenna and John Long sang to an accompaniment at the piano by Miss Marie Rita Webb. Miss Loretta Touhy danced and John Claussen gave a recitation. Miss Marie Egan was selected secretary of the gift committee and Bud Long was the treasurer.

Reminiscent, Tim Sullivan said when St. Sabina's church was organized the street cars on 79th street operated only as far west as Racine avenue and that the line on Racine ran only to 75th street. Ashland avenue cars, he said, did likewise. Sullivan said the 79th street cars now run west to Western avenue, Racine to 87th street and Ashland avenue to 95th street.

"On the 79th street line," said Sullivan, "there was a trio of motormen, Dolan, Moriarity and Watson, who I believe could be classed as the most courteous employed by the surface lines.

"Moriarity's son, George, was at one time a star in the American baseball league, managed the Detroit club and also was one of the league's umpires. Another one of his boys, Albert, was killed with his chief, Fire Marshal James Horan, in the stockyards fire in 1910. It doesn't seem possible; twelve short years a part of the parish truck farms; today a neighborhood of homes, bungalows and apartment buildings."

PASTOR AND WIFE BACK FROM TOUR OF 3,000 MILES

The Rev. H. Lee McLendon, pastor of the Covenant Baptist church, 60th place and Normal boulevard, and Mrs. McLindon, have returned from a 3,000 mile motor trip through the east section of the United States and Canada. Among the places they visited were Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Atlantic City the Bible conference at Ocean Grove, N. J., New York, West Point, Albany, the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls, and Cleveland.

On their return trip they stopped for several days at Christiana lake, in southern Michigan, and Winona lake in Indiana. The Rev. Mr. McLendon will preach at today's services at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Moore Return from Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Moore have returned from their honeymoon and are living at 4437 Greenwood avenue. Before he marriage in June Mrs. Moore was Miss Sylvia Grace, daughter of Mrs. Robert W. Stevens, 7427 South Shore drive. Mr. Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, 6072 Stony Island avenue.

Back from Eastern Tour.

Mrs. Maude G. DeMotte, 3988 Ellis avenue, has just returned from a three weeks' motor trip through the east. She was accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Carr of Warren, O. They visited Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, and Annapolis.

FEDERATION PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO CHICAGO HEIGHTS CLUB

Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Charles Caldwell, state garden chairman of the federation, were speakers at a recent meeting of the third district garden committee, club presidents and garden circle members at the home of Mrs. Donald T. McClure, Chicago Heights. In the foreground of the group in the picture are Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Wallace Butler Combs, Mrs. Fred Arnold, Mrs. Martin Strand and Mrs. John E. GARDEN EXHIBIT GIVEN BY WOMEN IN CHICAGO LAWN

Woman's Club Starts Annual Affair.

The first annual flower and garden show under the auspices of the garden department of the Chicago Lawn Woman's club was held on Thursday from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m., at the Chicago Lawn Masonic temple, 62d place and Homan avenue.

Mrs. Thomas P. Kaufmann, 3233 West 65th place, was general chairman, and assisting her as hostesses were Mrs. J. W. Breakey, 6240 Troy street, and Mrs. M. I. Gray, 3259 West 62d place.

The reception committee was composed of Mrs. R. R. Lake, 3502 West 62d place; Mrs. R. J. Haubenreiser, 3509 West 63d place; Mrs. B. J. Glidewell, 6331 Spaulding avenue, and Mrs. George Larkin, 3526 West 61st street.

Committee on Exhibits.

The committee in charge of exhibits included Mrs. Howard Knowlton, 3523 West 60th place; Mrs. W. A. Irwin, 3448 West 60th place, and Mrs. W. E. Miller, 3337 West 62d street. Assisting them in charge of the luncheon table exhibits were Mrs. W. A. Clapp, 3415 West 60th street, and Mrs. W. D. Lloyd, 3301 West 64th place.

Mrs. Edwin Eagle, 3228 West 65th place, and Mrs. Harold C. Sundell, 3305 West 62d street, were in charge of the door, and Miss Nettie M. Seward, 3647 West 64th street, and Mrs. W. H. Turney, 3703 West 63d place, of the registration. Also assisting was Mrs. C. B. Brown of Western Springs.

Entries in the show were grouped in seven classes. Class one consisted of specimen flowers judged for perfection of bloom, whether annuals, perennials or shrubs.

Judge Exhibits by Classes.

The second class consisted of artistic flower arrangements in a basket, in a low container, in a high container, in a container of any description, and with one color predominating, and an arrangement of shrub branches.

Class three was an exhibit of flowers grown and arranged by children.

In class four were included exhibits of the rarest outdoor flower, the most beautiful outdoor flower, the most beautiful house plant, and a wild flower collection.

Class five was divided between home grown vegetables and an arrangement of fruits and vegetables in a basket.

Three in Class Six.

Four exhibits, a breakfast table, a tea cart, a children's table, and a children's invalid tray, composed class six.

Exhibits of shadow boxes were included in class seven.

No exhibits were accepted after 11 a. m. and the judging was completed before the guests were assembled. The judges were: Mrs. James Burdette of Flossmoor, Mrs. W. D. Combs of McKinley park, chairman of the garden department of the 3d district; Mrs. Enoch Price, 2124 West 112th street; Mrs. William Donaldson, 7534 Champlain avenue, and Mrs. Fred S. Arnold, 7638 Lowe avenue.

Faulkner School Principal Home After Stay in Italy

Miss Elisabeth Faulkner, principal of the Faulkner school, 4746 Dorchester avenue, has returned home after spending the summer at Sorrento, Italy, a garden spot near Naples. Her sister, Miss Georgene Faulkner, head of the kindergarten department of the school, and known as the "story lady," spent July and August at the MacDowell colony for creative artists at Peterboro, N. H., where she was at work at her latest book of children's stories.

Calvary Pastor to Preach on "The Short Bed"

"The Short Bed" will be the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Francis J. Thomas, pastor of the Calvary Methodist church, 78th and Morgan streets, at this morning's services. During the evening services, following an annual custom on the occasion of the birthday of the pastor, the entire Thomas family will take part in the program.

CLUB WOMEN DISPLAY FLOWERS

Leaders in clubwomen's garden activities are shown examining an entry in the first annual flower show of the Chicago Lawn Woman's club. Left to right: Mrs. Thomas P. Kaufmann, chairman of the garden committee of the club and director of the show; Mrs. John Whipple, president of the club, and Mrs. Wallace B. Combs, chairman of the garden committee of the third district of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

SCHOOLS TO HEAR CHICAGO'S STORY OF ACHIEVEMENT

Engineers to Speak on Public Works.

Plans for a series of speeches on Chicago achievements and city improvement projects which will be delivered by representatives of the speakers' bureau before the students of the junior and senior high schools, will be completed within two weeks, according to an announcement made last week by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools.

The speakers' bureau was organized last October through the efforts of Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, with Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, as the director. The bureau furnishes speakers for civic organizations throughout the city.

Enlarge Scope of Bureau.

At the suggestion of school officials and members of the department of public works, it was decided last month that the activities of the speakers' bureau be enlarged and representatives of the department of public works will be sent to the junior and senior high schools to tell the pupils of the schools the story of Chicago's growth.

The speakers will be engineers from the department of public works, who have been in actual charge of the city's great development projects, such as the straightening of the river and digging of tunnels.

Hear Story of Achievements.

Students will hear the story of Chicago's achievements as well as of the plans for its future growth. Speeches will be made on the airport development, traffic control, the lakes to gulf waterway, repair of streets and alleys and the contemplated incinerator plants for the city.

Hyde Park Kiwanis Club Hears Prosecutor's Aid

"Your Task and Mine" was the subject of an address by Charles A. Gage, assistant state's attorney, at a meeting of the Hyde Park Kiwanis club Wednesday at the Windermere East hotel, 56th street and Stony Island avenue. Dr. Paul M. Oliver, 841 East 63d street, president of the organization, was chairman of the meeting.

"Business by Bomb," Topic of Address to Kiwanians

"Business by Bomb" was the subject of an address by Joseph Neilison, of the Employers' association, at a meeting of the Englewood Kiwanis club Tuesday at the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 66th street and Union avenue. Raymond J. Crist, president of the organization, was chairman of the meeting.

THOMAS O'NEILL, VETERAN CITY EMPLOYE, DIES

Last rites for Thomas O'Neill, 64 years old, who died Aug. 31 in Mercy hospital, 25th street and Prairie avenue, following a long illness, were held from his home, 1505 West 73d place, to St. Brendan's church, Tuesday. He was buried in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mr. O'Neill, who was born in Ireland, lived on the south side for more than 40 years. He was employed in the public works department of the city.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary O'Neill; four sons, William, Thomas, L. Kennedy and John O'Neill; four daughters, Mrs. Sally Malloy, Miss Mira W., Miss Catherine and Miss Alice O'Neill; a brother, Redmond R. O'Neill, and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Morrissey.

Church Tea Next Sunday to Welcome Vacationists

The first fall meeting of the Winsome class of the Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church, 110th place and Longwood drive, will be held tomorrow in the church classrooms. Plans have been made for a reception and tea from 2 to 5 next Sunday in honor of homecoming vacationists. Mrs. Herbert H. Siddall, 1119 West 103d place, is in charge of arrangements, and more than 100 members are expected to attend.

Women Renew Friendship Made at Front in France

Mrs. W. H. Dial, 4016 Lake Park avenue, gave a luncheon at her home Friday in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Harry H. Schuessler of Birmingham, Ala. This visit marks the first time in ten years that Mrs. Schuessler and Mrs. Dial have seen each other. They met in France during the world war, where each was doing relief work at the front, and became fast friends.

Mr. Burke pointed out that any ordinance, which would omit any of the above transportation facilities for any of the streets mentioned in the proposed plan, would prove inadequate and would not receive the full support of the residents and business men of the south side.

111TH ST. Y. M. C. A. BOYS PLAN CLUBS FOR WINTER FUN

The opening of schools Tuesday marked the close of an unusually interesting summer vacation for the boys of the 111th Street Y. M. C. A.

The boys have seen big league games, visited the stockyards and White City, and have found time between outings for swimming and games in the "Y."

Now plans for the fall and winter program are nearing completion under the supervision of H. K. Seltzar, boys' secretary. Clubs for those interested in airplanes, stamp collecting, newspapers, or woodwork are in process of formation. Many trips and parties are scheduled to take place, and the boys' band is resuming its weekly rehearsals with a concert planned for the near future.

Roseland to Pay Visit to Mooseheart Today

Members of Roseland lodge, No. 1062, L. O. O. M., will attend an all day outing today at Mooseheart. They will have an opportunity to inspect the school and grounds, where the fraternity is sheltering, training and educating 1,400 homeless children. G. W. Leonhardt is chairman of the day's arrangements, and busses will leave the clubhouse at 9 a. m. All residents of the Roseland community are invited to join the members on the excursion.

GOOD SHEPHERD CHURCH WORKS FOR RACE AMITY

Great Institution Built Up in Four Years.

Alexander Parks and Alan Lane. L. Sterling Todd is organist.

The spirituals sung at the services have been well arranged and edited. In them, the altos start off softly, the sopranos lend more emphasis, with a crescendo by the whole chorus. The result is an atmosphere of quiet tenseness and fervor.

The pastor speaks of "tapping the subconscious reservoir of spiritual power," of "bringing out in people what is already in them," of "directing the emotional release away from the froth of life toward things that bring genuine reward."

There is standing room only at most of the Sunday morning services, the attendance being drawn not only from the entire city, but the whole nation, for visitors from outside Chicago are many who seek the church with the reputation of "quieting the spirit and inspiring the heart."

Following his graduation from Yale, the Rev. Mr. Kingsley was pastor in Rhode Island and Connecticut; superintendent of church work in Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, his native state, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida; assistant moderator of the national council of Congregational churches; secretary of Negro work with the joint committee on war production communities; director of work among colored people in the Congregational home mission society; member of colored committees of both the Federal Council of Churches and the home missions council.

Members of Church Staff.

The assistant minister of the Church of the Good Shepherd is the Rev. Akintunde Dipeolu; Miss Ocena B. Marshall is secretary, and Shelby Cowan is sexton.

The church officers are W. H. Jackson, clerk; R. C. Copeland, financial clerk; I. V. Cantey, treasurer; W. H. Jackson, treasurer of the building fund.

Mrs. Evelyn Norris is chairman of the flower committee; Miss Madeline Evans, chairman of the reception committee; Dr. Law Blanchet, chairman of the Angola committee; and Mrs. Lorraine Brown, chairman of the social service committee.

Dr. J. C. Campbell is superintendent of the Sunday school; J. V. Draper is assistant superintendent; William Crews, treasurer.

The deacons are Grover Rutherford, Akintunde Dipeolu, Peter French, G. A. Manning, Walter Martin, Raymond Shreeves, Eugene Sims, Wade Saxton, William H. Thompson, Marshall Williams, Lawrence Haralson and Wade McCree.

The deaconesses are Mrs. Elnora Cain, Mrs. Frances Lightfoot, Mrs. Martha Smith, Mrs. Berry Patton, Mrs. Charles H. Scott, Mrs. Hattie Winlock, Mrs. Lucy L. McCoo, Mrs. Carrie Cook, Mrs. Alice Horn, Mrs. Cecilia Spurlock, Mrs. B. B. Johnson, Mrs. Julia Keith and Mrs. C. White.

The trustees are Dr. Law Blanchet, chairman; W. W. Hadnott, clerk; W. H. Jackson, William Crews, Fred Henderson, J. C. Cotillier, Andrew Washington, Lawrence Haralson and D. H. Walters.

START BAZAAR AND CARNIVAL AT ST. CAJETAN

Members of St. Cajetan parish are holding their third annual bazaar and carnival on the church grounds, 112th street and Artesian avenue. The bazaar started last evening and will continue every evening until Sept. 21. The Rev. Daniel E. Murphy, pastor of the church, is the general chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

Committees in charge of the various booths are: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grefig, 11210 Talman avenue, and Mrs. Charles Whitehurst, 11312 Oakley avenue, refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blosky, 10930 Artesian avenue, ham and bacon; Miss Margaret Spencer, 11407 Longwood drive, Mrs. William Barrow, 11457 Longwood drive, and Mrs. Michael Hagen, 11137 Washtenaw avenue, cakes and cookies; Mrs. George Neeb, 10802 South Western avenue, Mrs. W. J. Hayes, 11036 Washtenaw avenue, Mrs. Henry Brand, 10610 Oakley avenue, and Miss Dorothy Scoby, 2308 West 111th street, miscellaneous booths.

THE CHUCKLE COLUM

"Will you be lookin' here," demanded Patrick Murphy of the waiter, "this lobster has but one claw just?"

"Aha," explained the waiter, expert through long practice, "you see, lobsters often fight with each other and occasionally one loses a claw."

"Aha, yerself," said Patrick pushing back his plate, "that being the case, bring me the winner."

PEREZ FORUM TO GIVE INSTRUCTION ON MANY TOPICS

Plan Evening School to Accommodate All.

Men and young men who are more than 18 years old and who live in the southwest section of the city will be given an opportunity to attend evening school at the new Father Perez Community forum, which will be located in the Father Perez clubhouse, 67th and May streets.

The Father Perez council, Knights of Columbus, with the coöperation of community business men, is sponsoring the forum. The educational program will consist of study classes in special subjects and lectures on topics of general interest.

New Directors Speak.

A public announcement of the new forum was made at a meeting of members of the council and residents of the community Friday evening in the clubhouse. William H. McDonnell, chairman of the educational committee of the organization, and Harold F. North, who has been appointed director of the forum, were the principal speakers at the meeting.

"The objects of the forum," Mr. McDonnell pointed out, "are to stimulate interest in education among the membership of the Father Perez council and all others living in the community; to provide opportunity for the study of specific subjects under competent instructors whenever there is a sufficient demand to justify the establishment of the course or courses; to promote a bureau of service that will be helpful to those who are interested in educational subjects which are beyond the facilities of the clubhouse, and to promote any activity that will be beneficial to the individual, the community, or the Father Perez council."

Give Outline of Courses.

According to Mr. North, the courses offered for the 1929-30 season include public speaking, business letter writing, business arithmetic, problems of modern foremanship and elementary commercial law. Other courses will be opened if there is a sufficient number of persons who want to take them.

Classes in each subject will meet one hour an evening, one evening a week, and will be conducted by competent instructors. A small tuition fee will be charged.

Mr. North, who is director of the forum, is associated with the educational department of Swift and company and has been engaged in industrial educational work for more than ten years.

Enrollment is open to any man, whether he is a member of the order or not.

PLAYERS OF ALL AGES IN PRIZE WINNING PICTURES

With a remarkable picture of a chess game, Mrs. H. A. Cole, Broadview hotel, 5540 Hyde Park boulevard, this week broke a long list of awards for photographs of children in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the south side. The players, left to right: J. Deutsch, Peggy, and E. T. Applegate. Mrs. Cole's prize is $5. "Coaxing the Fish" won the second prize of $3 for R. Martin, 208 East 26th street. In the picture are George Becker and his daughters, Lillian and Georgia. Mrs. H. Schintz, 7238 East End avenue, snapped her smiling, healthy twins, Marjorie and Teddy, as they enjoyed their new sun suits and won the third prize of $2. A special prize of $2 was awarded to Mrs. Fred P. Nettke, 6352 South Ada street, for a picture of Mitzi having a drink in Ogden park.

MINISTER'S TALK TO TAKE STOCK OF WOODLAWN

THE REV. FRED MERRIFIELD.
[Gibson, Sykes & Fowler Photo.]

"Is Woodlawn Changing for the Better?" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Fred Merrifield, pastor of All Souls church, at the first fall meeting of the Associated Clubs of Woodlawn tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. William Rothmann, 6148 Woodlawn avenue. Other talks will be given by Mrs. C. I. Palmer, 6440 Greenwood avenue, and Theodore Becker, president of the Woodlawn Business Men's association.

According to Mrs. Dudley J. Stevison, president of the organization, the future meetings of the group will be conducted on the plan of a forum on subjects vitally important to the civic life of the community.

Representatives of the twenty-three Woodlawn organizations, which compose the associated group are expected to attend the meeting tomorrow evening. In addition to hearing the talks, plans for the ensuing year will be discussed.

Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Mack Visit Indiana Art Colony

Dr. and Mrs. Milton Howard Mack, 4530 Oakenwald avenue, are spending some time at the art colony at Brown county, Indiana, after a motor trip to their farm in Ohio. They are accompanied by Mrs. Elmer Kress of Milford, O., who was their house guest during August.

Dr. Boynton Will Preach on "The Man Who Knows"

The Rev. M. Russell Boynton, pastor of the Bryn Mawr Community church, 70th street and Jeffery avenue, will preach on "The Man Who Knows" at this morning's services. Members of the women's auxiliary of the church will hold their annual homecoming reception Wednesday afternoon in the assembly rooms of the church.

Englewood Business Men Resume Their Luncheons

The members of Englewood Business Men's association met at luncheon for their first seasonal gathering at the New China restaurant, 63d and Halsted streets, Thursday. John B. Maling addressed the association. Officers of the organization for this year are: Leonard Fish, president; Julius Cohen, vice president, and Arthur G. Rathje, treasurer.

SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane or John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur. It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

Chatham Club to Hold Annual Outing Today

The third annual basket picnic of the West Chatham Neighborhood club will be held today at Spring Forest grove, Willow Springs. Ball games, races and various contests have been planned by the committee in charge. There will be dancing between 5 and 9 p. m. Transportation will be provided for children and for adults who do not have cars. Trucks and automobiles will depart from the corner of 80th street and Yale avenue at 10 a. m. promptly. T. A. Arnold, 8020 Lafayette avenue, is in charge of arrangements.

BOY CLUB NEEDS LIFT; ORGANIZE MOMS AND DADS

Parents' Auxiliary to Help Equip Playground.

It was on one of those nice springtimey days when little boys begin to dream of vacation days and all the good times they're going to have when school closes for the warm summer months that three of his pals came over to play with young Paul Huston in his back yard at 7422 Jeffery avenue. James Baldwin, George Gates, and Donald Iliff were their names—Jimmy and Georgie and Don.

"You know what, fellows," suggested one of the lively trio, "we ought to have a club same as the grown folks have—get all the kids around here together, and I'll bet we could have some of the greatest times this vacation!"

Win Neighborhood to Idea.

"O, boy, that's an idea!" And the motion was unanimously adopted. All the neighborhood youngsters from the tiny tots who couldn't go to school yet on up to the 15 year old ones thought it was a fine idea too.

They went to see James Adams, who owned the vacant lot at the northeast corner of 75th street and Euclid avenue. A playground was a much better place to meet than in club rooms, of course. Mr. Adams didn't have any immediate use for the lot and he guessed it would make a first rate meeting place.

But playgrounds as well as club rooms have to be furnished if they are to be all they should be. You buy things to furnish such places with dues that members of the club pay into the treasury. The kids all thought they could pay 50 cents a year dues, and there were about forty of them. That would be lots of money, but not quite enough to get all the furnishings that such a club should have.

How About Moms and Dads?

Maybe the mothers and dads of the members could solve the difficulty. And, sure enough, there is to be an adult advisory council to the Bryn Mawr Juvenile Neighborhood club. There are about sixty fathers and mothers who think they may be able to pay $2 a year dues and they're going to meet to talk about it at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, 74th street and Jeffery avenue, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

George Gates, one of the original members, will preside at the meeting. Jimmy Baldwin left the neighborhood some time ago, but William Goodman is taking his place, and Paul Huston and Don Iliff will be there to help George out if he should need any help. And some of the newer members may be there, too, to tell the grownup folks all about the new club.

BOYS CLEAR PLAYGROUND SITE

The officers and organizers of the Bryn Mawr Juvenile Neighborhood club were busy last week clearing the location, at 75th street and Euclid avenue, for the playground they are determined to equip. Left to right: Paul D. Huston Jr., 6 years old, 7422 Jeffery avenue, secretary; George F. Gates, 10 years old, 7411 Euclid avenue, chairman; William Goodman, 12 years old, 7408 Jeffery avenue, vice chairman, and Donald Iliff, 9 years old, 7411 Euclid avenue, treasurer.

WAY SOUGHT TO REMEDY KINK IN LONGWOOD DRIVE

Ridge Civic Council Will Push Proposal.

Taking a kink out of Longwood drive where it intersects 95th street and the beautification of 95th street from Longwood drive to Western avenue are the two major projects of the Ridge Civic council for the next few months, according to, Robert Blackburn, president of the organization.

At the present time, the north connection of Longwood drive with 95th street is 200 feet east of the southern connection. This compels motorists to make two hazardous turns in traveling on this thoroughfare through the Beverly Hills territory.

Seeks To Eliminate Corners.

According to Mr. Blackburn, this condition could be remedied by constructing a diagonal connecting link which would eliminate the two corners.

That a diagonal connecting link is the best solution to the traffic problem at this intersection is shown during the winter months. Mr. Blackburn said, when motorists cut a diagonal path for themselves through the snow in order to avoid skidding around the two corners.

Members of the board of directors of the organization at a meeting Thursday evening at the Ridge Park field house, 96th and Wood streets, discussed the advisability of seeking condemnation proceedings against the property owners on the southeast and northwest corners of 95th street and the drive to make way for the improvement.

Seek Aid of Residents.

Members of the organization are making plans for a campaign through which they hope to enlist the support of the property owners on both sides of 95th street, from Longwood drive to Western avenue, in an effort to raise funds to pay for the beautification of that thoroughfare.

Mr. Blackburn stated that it would be an easy matter to persuade property owners and residents living in the territory to make small donations so that the council could purchase small trees and shrubbery.

Daughters of Isabella to Hold Party Tomorrow

Members of the South Shore circle, Daughters of Isabella, will hold their first fall meeting and bridge party tomorrow evening at the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Stony Island avenue. Mrs. Thomas Blanchfield, 7816 Colfax avenue, president of the organization, will be chairman of the meeting.

Barton P.-T. Association Hears Jarecki Tomorrow

Judge Edward K. Jarecki will be the principal speaker at the first meeting of the Clara Barton Parent-Teacher association tomorrow afternoon in the school auditorium, 77th and Lincoln streets. In addition to a talk by Judge Jarecki, he will present "A Day at the Polls," a motion picture.

Gresham Business Group Plans Restrictive Drive

Members of the Gresham Improvement association will hold a meeting tomorrow evening to discuss plans for a restriction campaign, according to E. H. Arnold, 8824 Morgan street, president of the organization. The meeting will be held in the Seventh Presbyterian church, 86th place and Sangamon street.

Congregational Church of Morgan Park Repaired

The Morgan Park Congregational church, 112th street and South Hoyne avenue, which has been closed for repairs for a fortnight, will reopen for services today, according to the Rev. Philip Gregory, pastor.

Pastor Picks Topics.

"The Mysteries of God" will be the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Hampton M. Hough, pastor of the Englewood First Methodist Episcopal church, 64th street and Stewart avenue, at the services this evening. The Rev. Edward G. Shutz will preach at the morning services.

FINDS HER HAT NEAR HOME FOR $2.45; LOOP SEARCH MADE IN VAIN

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Having searched in vain in all the millinery departments of the loop stores for a hat in a rather unusual shade of red, I decided to continue my quest in some of the neighborhood stores. In a south side millinery shop I found a hat in the exact shade I had been looking for. It was entirely satisfactory in style and quality and cost only $2.45. I know that I could not have purchased it elsewhere for less than $5.

BEATRICE FEUCHTWANGER,
5046 Woodlawn avenue.

ALL OF THIS FOR $1.19.

Harvey, Aug. 26.—In the early spring I bought a bundle of remnants at a 63d and Halsted street store, paying $1.19. From these remnants I made two house dresses, side drapes for two small windows, a pair of rompers for my little nephew, and pieced a top for a pillow from the scraps of material that were left over.

MRS. MARY P. TAYLOR,
15918 Lexington avenue.

A BARGAIN IN CURTAINS.

Matteson, Aug. 30.—One of the big loop companies bought a local store out recently and an inventory sale followed. One of the bargains I found was a pair of dotted marquisette curtains, 2¼ yards long, that usually sell for $1.25, reduced to 29 cents a pair. Laundering made them as good as new.

Judge David to Address Am-Ehod Meeting Today

A joint program will be given by the Chatham Young People's club, the Amo-Ehod sisterhood and the Congregation of Am-Ehod this afternoon and evening at the Arthur Dixon school, 83d street and St. Lawrence avenue. The important feature of the program is to be the presentation of its first Torah to the congregation by Simon H. Laxner.

Judge Joseph David and Max Schulman are among the well known speakers on the program. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

The committee on arrangements includes Louis Leibsohn, L. Frank, Morris Geiderman, Sam Leibsohn, Sol Glassman, Harold Rosenberg, Carl Seltzer and Jacob Stengel.

SOUTH CHICAGO STARTS DRIVE FOR RESTRICTION

Contracts to Be Circulated in Month.

Members of the South Chicago Chamber of Commerce are making plans for a campaign through which they hope to eliminate the possibility of an invasion by colored families in the territory bounded by 89th street, Commercial avenue, and South Chicago avenue.

Letters are now being mailed to the property owners of the community with information as to what procedure will be taken in restricting the neighborhood.

According to Charles A. Rubey, president of the chamber, the launching of the campaign is being done not because of race prejudice but rather as a measure to uphold property values in that section of the city. It is also a measure being taken to avoid trouble that may arise from the foreign element in the community should the property be made available to colored people, Mr. Rubey said.

The plans for the campaign are to have at least 95 per cent of the property owners in the community sign contracts that will forbid them to sell or lease their property to colored families for a period of twenty years.

The letters now being mailed to the property owners ask for their cooperation and for any suggestions as to how the campaign should be carried on. They also contain copies of the petition which will soon be circulated among the property owners of the territory.

When the circulation of petitions gets under way, which will be within the next month, a member of the chamber of commerce will be assigned to each block in the district. In this manner all questions in regard to restriction will be answered immediately instead of delaying the signing of the contract while a property owner awaits a reply by mail.

Will Preach on Stars.

"He Made the Stars" will be the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Willis L. Goldsmith, pastor of the Hyde Park Congregational church, 1364 East 56th street, at this morning's services.

CLUBS PREPARING FOR CONCERTS BY MARINE BAND OCT. 2

A treat is in store not only for the children of Chicago but for their grown-up friends when the United States marine band comes to the city next month.

The Second district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs is bringing the band here and is sponsoring the concerts to be given in Orchestra hall Oct. 2. According to Mrs. T. F. Creager, 12023 Yale avenue, president of the Second district, there will be a concert at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, with special prices for school children, and another program at 8:15 o'clock.

Under the leadership of Mrs. R. Edward Davis, 1708 East 69th street, preparations for the sale of tickets are already well under way, and announcement of the names of patronesses and boxholders soon will be made.

"BIG SISTER" OF NAVY PASSING VACATION HERE

Miss Mary McElliott of 3617 Lowe avenue, after enjoying a month's leave at her home, will return to the east this week to resume her duties as hostess and director of recreation at the National Navy club in New York City.

Miss McElliott, known as "The Navy's Big Sister," has been engaged in navy work for the last seven years, having spent several years at the Hostess house at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. In 1927 she was appointed to the New York club, the youngest woman engaged in this type of work.

The National Navy club was organized as headquarters for enlisted men of the navy and marine corps in 1917, and its doors have not closed night or day since that time. It is the only wartime Navy club still in existence.

Three South Side Women Tour Show Places in East

Mrs. Alice B. Smith, Mrs. George Palmer and Miss Mildred Palmer, 4322 Drexel boulevard, are enjoying an extensive motor trip east. Their itinerary includes Atlantic City, Saratoga, Newport, and New York City.

HARPER AVENUE HONORS FIRST U. OF C. LEADER

One of Many Memorials to Great Educator.

This article is the thirteenth of a series explaining the naming of streets and suburbs of the south side.

A life so rich and fruitful as that of William Rainey Harper, first president of the University of Chicago, naturally has many memorials. In 1912, when the city, in coöperation with the postoffice department, revised the names of Chicago streets, Jefferson avenue, a street near the university, was renamed Harper avenue in the great educator's honor.

It was on an afternoon in 1905 that President Harper, at the prime of life and at the height of his powers, called in two of his friends and told them that he had received his death sentence from his physicians. The end came on Jan. 10, 1906, in his fiftieth year and the fifteenth year of his university presidency.

Called Peer of Any in World.

It was said of him that there was not a man in the world in the previous decade, who was more widely known as an educator, as a creator, as a prophet, and as a poet in the old Greek sense of the term, in his field of education.

President Harper was born of Scotch-Irish stock at New Concord, O., in 1856. The boy had an insatiable appetite for intellectual exertion. He was able to read at the age of three, and entered Muskingum college at the age of ten. Before his nineteenth birthday he received the degree of doctor of philosophy at Yale university.

Dr. Harper's abilities as an instructor at Morgan Park seminary and at Denison university were quickly recognized, and it was realized by these institutions that they could not long hold him. In 1883, Dr. John H. Vincent made him a teacher of Hebrew in Chautauqua college of Liberal Arts and here he made a great impression.

Joined Faculty of Yale.

In 1886, he went to Yale as teacher of Semitic languages, and was also made an instructor in the divinity school. About this time he came to be in great demand on the lecture platform.

Those intimately connected with the founding of the University of Chicago, from the beginning, are said to have thought of Dr. Harper and him only as its president. He was elected to the position in 1891.

CIVIC LEADERS TO OPEN SEASON IN PARK MANOR

Members of the Park Manor Improvement association will hold their first meeting for the fall season tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Brooks hall, 71st street and South Park avenue. Meetings were discontinued during July and August.

Among the projects to be considered are street improvements, property restrictions, sewer improvements, better lighting on State, 71st and 75th streets, a new public school, the transportation question, garbage and ashes removal and a smoother bus transportation on South Park avenue.

F. W. Schroeder is president of the association; William V. Tyler, vice president; Fred R. Klippel, financial secretary; Charles S. Duffet, recording secretary, and J. A. Johnson treasurer.

NEW ACTIVITIES ON PROGRAM AT HYDE PK. CENTER

Registration for fall activities has already begun at Hyde Park center, 5231 Dorchester avenue, and is expected to continue well into next month, according to Miss Helen May, registrar.

Several innovations in the already varied program offered its members by the south side Y. W. C. A. have been made. For the first time this year horseback riding is to be included among the scheduled athletics.

Tennis and golf will also be offered, according to Miss May. A professional will instruct the girls individually or in classes, and emphasis will be placed on the technic of these games. Another feature, peculiar to Hyde Park center, will be the class in weight normalizing, under the supervision of Mrs. Jeannette Olnhausen Manhard, director of health education.

For those less athletically inclined there are several new diversions. There will be dancing classes and purely social dances, to which the girls may bring their friends.

Opportunity will be afforded to those interested in the theater to study the history of the drama and the mechanics of play production under the auspices of the Chicago Little Theater guild. Contacts will be effected with prominent actors and there will be a place in the guild productions for those who show talent in the courses.

The fall term of classes begins tomorrow.

RESIDENTS SEEK DUNHAM ESTATE AS PLAYGROUND

Hyde Park Group Plans Move in Council.

Residents in the vicinity of the Dunham estate, which occupies almost four city blocks of unimproved property at 50th street and Dorchester avenue, are planning a campaign through which they hope to convince the members of the city council that a playground and small park is needed in the Hyde Park community and that the city should purchase the estate and convert it into a recreation center.

The estate, which in the heart of the thickly settled Hyde Park territory, is the only remaining land in the community that has not been developed. The reason for this lies in the fact that John Dunham, who originally owned the property, in a will made up in 1889 stated that the property should not be sold until after the death of his two daughters, both of whom have since died.

Get Alderman's Support.

The residents of the community have already received the support of Bert M. Cronson, alderman of the Fourth ward, who believes that a recreation center is needed in the territory and has promised to introduce an ordinance in the city council this fall.

That such a recreation center is needed in a neighborhood like Hyde Park, where large apartment buildings and hotels are going up rapidly and where the children have no adequate place to play, is the opinion of Mrs. William Montgomery Kelly, 5000 Dorchester avenue, and Mrs. Charles W. Laflin, 4822 Dorchester avenue.

Both of these Hyde Park residents are former officers of the Arché club and they have consented to enlist the support of that organization toward obtaining the public recreation center.

Keep Children Off Streets.

Mrs. Willis M. Graham, 4746 Woodlawn avenue, state chairman of the community service committee for the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, pointed out that a playground in Hyde Park would soon prove of untold benefit to the residents by keeping their children off the streets and providing them with supervised recreation. The large neighborhood between Washington and Jackson parks is entirely without a place where children may play with safety and under the supervision of trained instructors, she said, and the residents of the community should strive to obtain such a recreation center.

Bartholomew Scanlan, 65 Years a South Sider, Dies

SAYS WASHINGTON DENTIST INVENTED RADIO IN 1865

Credit for sending the first actual message by radio is given to Dr. Mahlon Loomis, a Washington dentist of the civil war period, by C. Francis Jenkins, television inventor. The experiment was successfully conducted in 1865.

"Although Prof. Joseph Henry in 1832 discovered that electrical oscillations could be detected a considerable distance from the oscillator, it remained for a Washington dentist, Dr. Mahlon Loomis, actually to send the first radio message," Mr. Jenkins said. "In 1865 he built an oscillating circuit and connected it to a wire aerial supported by a kite. One station was set up on Bear Den mountain, Virginia, not very far from Washington, and a duplicate station was set up on top of Catactins Spurs, fifteen miles distant.

"Messages were sent alternately from one station to the other by dot and dash interruption of a buzzer spark circuit. Reception was attained by deflecting a valvanometer needle at the receiving point."

PICK JUDGES TO SELECT RADIO'S LEADING BEAUTY

Search to find the most beautiful radio artist in America, begun by the Radio World's fair, in connection with the forthcoming national radio exposition in New York, Sept. 23 to 28, has assumed such proportions that the question of judges has become one of the important considerations.

Whoever the judges acclaim "Radio Beauty of the Land" will reign during the week of the radio show, and will be formally presented to the nation's air listeners over a large group of network stations on the opening night. Leading broadcasting stations have entered their most attractive staff artists and sectional feeling insists that the judges be able to recognize beauty when they see it.

In announcing the judges today G. Clayton Irwin, Jr., general manager of the Radio World's fair, has named three men whose reputation for appraising feminine charms is recognized without question.

The chairman is Jess Hawley, Chicago, until this year head football coach at Dartmouth. Assisting Mr. Hawley are Flo Ziegfeld, nationally known theatrical producer, Victor Frisch, a sculptor, known in the art world as Rodin's favorite pupil, and adjudged by critics the equal of his former teacher.

An utterly new thing in radio

We've Caught at Last the Fleeting Thing in Music That Millions Respond To When a Master Plays or Sings ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings.

That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that mean entire absence of A.C. hum and interference. So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

SEPTEMBER IN MICHIGAN

That faint sniff of autumn that is first noticed early in September has been incorporated by Blair Walliser into a lovely half hour of songstrous entertainment. The scene for such songs is laid in a picturesque portion of the Wolverine State. "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" is to begin a prancing program of vocalism by Walter Pontius, tenor. The Violin Choir fiddles a sentimental section which includes the "Indian Love Call." Instrumental contributions by the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra include "Hippity Hop" and "Yellow and Blue." It'll be good. 8:45.

DANCE KING AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Jean Goldkette, king of the modern dance muse, points his syncopating scepter at the ceiling, poised ready to signal the start of a big day of dance music. He doffs his crown to a million attentive ears, and hangs it over the end of Bill Herring's trombone. Victor Young, violin virtuoso, has made elaborate, symphony-like orchestrations. Paul Mertz plays the most savage rhythm with the most sophisticated technique at the piano. It's a great band with a great name. 1:30, 2:25 and 11:00.

D'ALMADA APPEARS IN CONCERT

Cosmo d'Alfmada, one of the most prominent of American operatic baritones in world musical circles, bows his way onto the air tonight. Years of study in France, Italy and Spain have developed an artistic lustre to a phenomenally great natural talent. Not only is d'Almada a proficient singer in English, but he is also fluent in French, Italian and Spanish. In his program tonight this stellar artist includes the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and "The King's Prayer" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." D'Almada sings all of his songs with orchestral accompaniment.

QUIN SEES CUBS GAME

Quin Ryan, crack sports announcer, gives a crisp, direct word picture of the Cubs' battle with Boston this afternoon. W-G-N has obtained the best possible position for Quin and his microphone. The bases and players are laid out before the announcer like a diagram. Across the field Quin can see a scoreboard telling just what the Pirates are doing. You hear all about it. 2:55. Compliments of Baskin—Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

TOM, DICK & HARRY GLORIFY SONGS

Old-fashioned harmony all dressed up in the most modern of raiment is the stock in trade of Tom, Dick and Harry. The three boys have glorified the old business of harmony to a true art. They juggle deft little notes into modernistic patterns, punctuating them with resonant plunks of their guitar. 5:30.

CHILDREN HEAR OF ALICE in MUSICLAND

The wonderful adventures of Alice in Musicland are told about in tunes and talks this afternoon. Short, light classics are chosen to fit the children's taste, and fantastic announcements are read, having to do with the little girl in the strange land of music. 5:45.

NYE BOOSTS HIS PLAN FOR U. S. OWNED STATION

Would Keep Channel Free for Public.

The question of whether or not the government should operate its own broadcasting station for the purpose of disseminating information by government agencies was brought to the fore again recently by Senator Nye of North Dakota, who commented on the bill to this effect which he has introduced.

The bill would provide for establishment of such a station in Washington, D. C., with authority for the secretary of commerce to establish additional stations if necessary "to assure that matter broadcast shall reach simultaneously all sections of the country."

Would Broadcast Debates.

In addition to government information, the bill further provides for the broadcasting of debates on important issues from the floors of either house of congress. This would be done whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the senate or house, pending legislation was a matter of wide interest.

"The political campaigns of the future will be largely campaigns by radio," Senator Nye said, "and to prevent the control of public discussion by privately owned stations the enactment of the measure will assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

Enormous Sums Spent.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national governmental owned station all parties can reach the voter without expense; thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion. The cost of such a station would be small compared to the tremendous importance of preserving forever a free channel of discussion for the people. The people must save for themselves this right to the air.

"Over the radio there is no bias. The listener-in forms his judgment from the actual spoken words. His intelligence reacts to the argument, as if he were actually present."

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is W-G-N, bringing the Mike McTigue-Battling Siki fight to you direct from the Scala theater in Dublin, Ireland! And what an evening it's going to be! Excitement is running high in Dublin because of the troubles between the Republicans and the Free Staters, and when we came into the building we were searched thoroughly by a couple of policemen for concealed weapons. Everybody who's coming in is being searched. It is St. Patrick's night, 1923.

We're all set to go with this prize fight now, ladies and gentlemen. The ring has been cleared and only Battling Siki, Mike McTigue, and the referee remain!

[Bell!]

Here we go! Round one! Both men are coming out of their corners quickly in answer to the first tap of the gong. Siki, who hasn't got much of a defense, is sticking out those long brown arms in Mike's direction, and Mike is standing toe to toe and sparring cautiously. Siki's right darts out and Mike jumps back—the white boy is on his toes—Siki is after him and swinging his arms, but Mike is covering up cleverly. They've gone into a clinch. Now, they've parted, and Siki is backing up till they're almost in the center of the ring again. Now they're sparring just easily and gently. . . . Siki tries a left swing across the body, but Mike's footwork is perfect and he dances away. . . . Siki is still grinning and talking to McTigue in French. Now Siki is starting out again! Whee! He connects with a left to Mike's head—the first clean punch of the fight, and Mike has gone into a clinch! Now they've broken again, and as they break Mike almost pushes Siki away. They're sparring again, with Mike still on the defensive . . . he just won't step into Siki, he's waiting for the black boy to come to him!

Siki tries with a right but Mike bobs his head and the punch misses. Now Mike unlooses a left—it's a corking drive that takes Siki on the side of the head, and the Senegalese goes into a clinch. That's the first real punch that Mike has shown so far in this scrap! Siki is now in a clinch—

[Bell!]

Well, that's all of round one. It was a tame beginning for a championship fight and neither man has yet shown what he can really do.

There's the warning whistle! The seconds are scrambling out of the ring once again, and we're ready for round two! There's the bell.

[Gong!]

Siki is out of his corner fast and meets McTigue more than half way across the ring. Siki's cutting loose. His rights and lefts are just like a shower on Mike! Siki connects! He lands a hard right to McTigue's face and the Irishman is going into a clinch. Now the referee breaks them apart, but Mike doesn't appear hurt—the punch hasn't hurt him. Look at Siki! He's ripping in again! He's determined to do something! He's hitting McTigue with everything but the ringposts. But Mike is taking most of the punches on his arms and shoulders and now he lets loose! Look at Siki back away! McTigue drove in a right hander that sent Siki back a few feet! But the colored boy hasn't stopped grinning! Maybe they learn to keep on grinning in Senegal! He's right back with both hands, and Mike is being kept busy! Siki unleashes that right hand—O, it's an awful wallop in the body, and now he brings up his left! One-two for Siki, and Mike has gone into a clinch to gather his wits together. That was a pair of awful socks that Siki let forth, and Mike certainly felt them.

Now the referee is coming in to break them again. The fight has been all Siki's so far and he looks in a fair way to continue as titleholder. They're just sparring easily in the center of the ring—now Siki tries with his right hand—Mike ducks his head and it passes over easily—Siki is almost unbalanced by the force of the blow, and a quick right jab from Mike has him reeling.

[Gong!]

That's all of round two! It's a pretty tame fight. Siki, the singular Senegalese, has all the better of it thus far and we'll have to concede him both these first two rounds by a wide margin.

There's the whistle. Seconds out of the ring! Here we go into round three! There are still eighteen rounds to come!

[Gong!]

Round three! Siki is out of his corner more slowly this time—in fact, his seconds have to tell him to go in and start fighting. Mike waits for him in the middle of the ring, and they're sparring cautiously out there—Whoop, Mike whips one over Siki's guard straight at the big grinning mouth, and Siki lets out an awful howl! Siki is growling, and he's stopped grinning! Into a clinch they go now, and Mike is pummeling Siki's body while they're in close. He has Siki backing away—but not far! Siki is waiting for him.

The referee has a hard time prying them apart. Now they're separated, and Mike looks O. K. again. They're sparring easily over in a neutral corner—Siki is trying to back McTigue into the corner, but Mike dances away and to one side.

There's the bell! That's all of round three! And there are still seventeen rounds left of this fight! Well, you never can tell. Maybe something will happen to make this fight interesting.

[Gong!]

Round four! Siki is out of his corner in a flash again, and oohhh! he's sent home a left to Mike's head, before the Irish boy realized what was coming! Mike's gone into a clinch to weather the gale, and he's locked Siki's arms again, and he's tapping the colored boy's kidneys! Siki's trying to wrench himself loose so that he can keep on punching! Now they are separated, and Siki is coming in close again. Whee! Mike lands lightly to his head with a left, and a right—Mike lands a hard right to his body! Siki doesn't mind—he's coming in! He's in! Ow! He drives an awful wallop at Mike's body.

Siki's grinning again! Now they're just sparring easily in the center of the ring, with Mike dancing back every time Siki reaches out one of those long arms.

[Gong!]

(Interlude.)

An now for a time we leave our announcer and his prize fight three thousand miles across the sea. The tumult and the shouting dies from our ears for a time, but the fight goes on. Into the fifth round it goes with the son of Senegal retaining his early advantage, increasing it even, and into the sixth, the seventh, the tenth, the fourteenth.

And slowly it weakens as the fight goes into the sixteenth round; Siki grows weaker in the seventeenth, and his strength is fast ebbing when the eighteenth has passed. Can he stick it out? Will he last until the end—until twenty rounds are over? Back we go to our announcer and to the scene of the prize fight as they go into the nineteenth round!

Gong!

Round nineteen! Siki is coming slowly out of his corner. They are sparring in the center of the ring, with Mike still on his toes. Mike goes in right and left—one—two to Siki's head, and Siki is bringing up his hands to guard his battered face—Mike is working on his body—O! There's an awful right hand wallop to Siki's stomach—it hurt the black boy—he's hurt—he's almost doubled over—I'll bet the champagne is talking back to him—now Mike is plastering his unprotected head with lefts and rights, lefts and rights, Siki is getting groggy—he's coming in and holding on!

(Gong!)

O! I guess the bell saved Siki's skin that time. Mike had him in a bad way at the end of the round, and a few more good punches would have bowled him over. There hasn't been a knockdown yet in this fight, and it looked as if one was surely coming in that frame.

(Gong!)

Siki looks as though he's crying as he comes out of his corner for the twentieth and last round! Mike is coming across the ring to meet him and lands a hard right to the head, as Siki is trying to come into a clinch. He has his head down and just edging forward blindly with his arms outstretched trying to grab Mike. Mike is backing away, and sticking out his left hand, jabbing Siki on the face and neck. Now Siki rushes forward, and Mike slips to one side, and—how he pastes him! What a wallop it was! It almost bowled Siki over. An awful right hand sock on the side of the head! Now Mike is turning on him

(Gong!)

Mike McTigue gets the decision! Meet the new light heavyweight champion of the world!

RADICAL CHANGES IN RADIO LAWS ARE SUGGESTED

Commission Counsel Has Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweeping changes in the existing laws governing radio communication, which would eliminate sectional representation on the radio commission and would modify the provision which demands equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the five zones, have been proposed by Bethuel M. Webster, general counsel of the radio commission, in a letter addressed to Senator James Couzens, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, in response to the request of the latter.

The amendments suggested are for the Couzens bill for the creation of a communications commission, now under consideration by the senate committee, as well as the radio act of 1927. They are intended to remedy defects encountered in the administration of the latter act, Mr. Webster said, and also embody the opinions of the general counsel on the Couzens proposals without taking any stand on the suggested communications commission itself.

Amply Protect Public.

Indorsing the elimination of section 17 of the radio act, which prevents the merger of wire and wireless companies, Mr. Webster stated that, in his opinion, the anti-trust laws, together with the power conferred by the Couzens bill, would "amply protect the public against the evils of monopoly." As it is now, it is "unintelligible," he said.

This stand is particularly significant, it is considered, in view of the recent agitation for such consolidation in this country to compete more effectively with Great Britain. It was brought out at a hearing before the senate committee several months ago that the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had reached an agreement whereby they would combine their facilities if the government would permit.

Would Modify Amendment.

As to the modification of the terms of the Davis amendment, which requires equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the several zones, Mr. Webster says: "the commission shall make such distribution of licenses, frequencies, hours of operation, and power among the several states and communities as to provide an equitable distribution of good radio reception among the same."

If Mr. Webster's proposals are followed, the Couzens bill will include a provision for the transfer of the functions and the property of the radio division of the department of commerce to the commission on communications. Such a provision would result in giving the commission the power to license station operators, to assign call letters, and to carry on a radio inspection and police service.

J. E. CALLAGHAN, EX-PUBLISHER OF BOOKS, DIES

Resident of South Side for 68 Years.

James Edward Callaghan, 72 years old, retired president of Callaghan & Co., 401 East Ohio street, one of the largest law book firms in the middle west, died Monday evening in Presbyterian hospital after a brief illness. Funeral was held from his home, 5529 Cornell avenue, to St. Thomas the Apostle church, 55th street and Kimbark avenue, Wednesday morning. He was buried in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Callaghan, who was born in Boston, Mass., was an early resident of the south side, having come to that section more than 68 years ago. He became president of the law publishing company after the death of his father, Bernard Callaghan, who founded the firm. He remained as active head of the company for more than 25 years and retired nine years ago.

Mr. Callaghan, who was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary and Miss Emma Margaret, and a sister, Mrs. E. V. McDonald.

RITES CONDUCTED ON WEDNESDAY FOR LEO MILLER

Funeral services for Leo Miller, 52 years old, who died last Sunday evening after a long illness at his home, 5417 Ingleside avenue, were held from the chapel, 936 East 47th street, on Wednesday morning. He was buried at Mount Israel cemetery. Mr. Miller, who was born and reared on the south side of Chicago, was president of the Leo Furniture company, 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, for ten years. He retired from business a year ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie Miller; a son, Milton; two brothers, Charles and Harry, and a sister, Mrs. Hattie Marcus.

SERVICES HELD IN FAMILY HOME FOR PIONEER

Patrick Russell, 65 years old, an employé of Swift & Co. for more than 30 years, died after a short illness Monday evening. Funeral services were held from the family home, 1140 West 78th street, to St. Sabina's church Thursday morning. He was buried at Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Mr. Russell, who was born in Ireland, resided on the south side of Chicago for more than 50 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Russell; two sons, John and William, and four daughters, Mrs. William Murphy, Mrs. Frank O'Keefe, Mrs. Arthur Latourelle, and Mrs. James Murphy.

Mrs. Bertha Bontemps, South Sider 44 Years, Dies

Mrs. Bertha Bontemps, a resident of the south side since 1885, died on Tuesday in a Peoria hospital after a prolonged illness. Sixty-six years old at the time of her death, Mrs. Bontemps had survived her husband, Earl W. Bontemps, and until recently had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Kuehne, 7955 Calumet avenue. Mrs. Bontemps is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mathilde Land and Mrs. Nora Momsen, and by a brother, Otto Meyer. Children living are Gustav Bontemps and Mrs. Lucille Kuehne, still residents of the south side, and Mrs. Elsie Kantz, Carl, Paul and Alex. Funeral services were privately conducted at Oakwood cemetery chapel. Mrs. Bontemps was born in Germany and came to this country in her childhood.

Emerson Rites Conducted by Englewood Templars

Wilmot H. Emerson, 71 years old, station agent for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad for more than 40 years, who died suddenly last Sunday at his home, 7216 Yates avenue, was buried Wednesday after services held under the auspices of the Englewood Commandery, No. 59, Knights Templar, from the chapel, 62d place and Normal boulevard. Interment was at Havana, Ill. Mr. Emerson, who was born in Havana, resided on the south side for more than 50 years.

Funeral Service Held for Mrs. May Louise Shipman

Mrs. May Louise Shipman, 73 years old, died Tuesday. A native of Nebraska, she had lived on the south side for some years. She was the widow of Terrance Shipman, and is survived by two sons, Robert C. and Malcolm H. Mills. Funeral services were held Friday at her home, 8235 Maryland avenue, and burial took place in Forest Home cemetery.

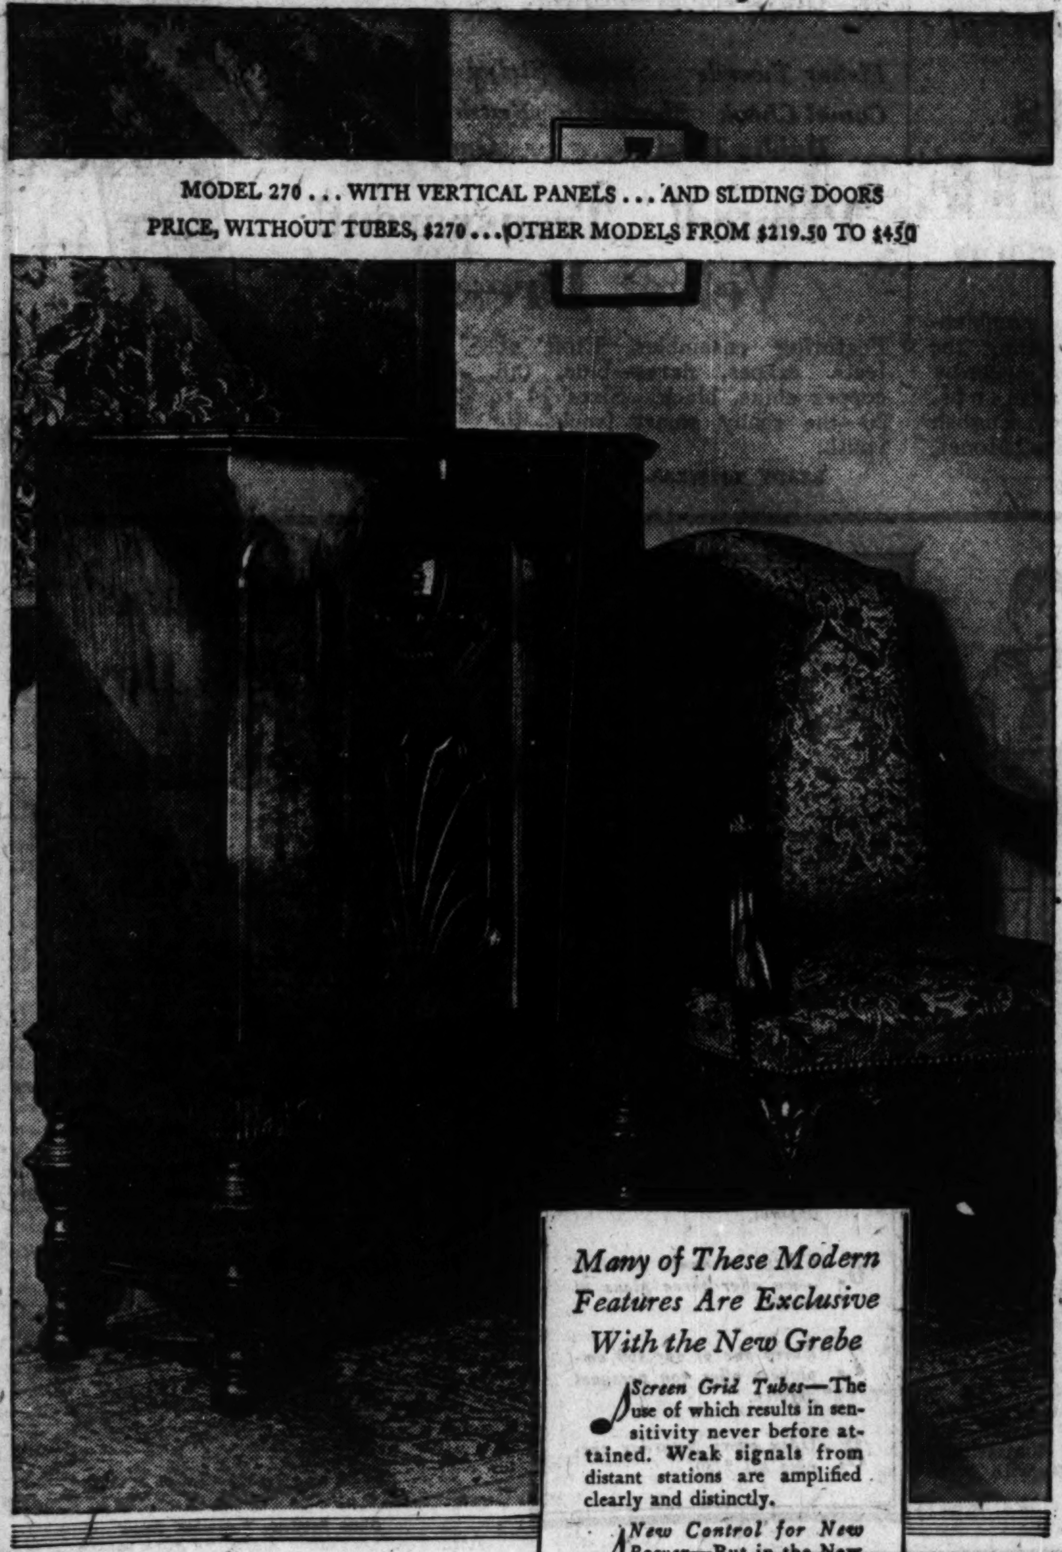
NEWER
than screen grid!



MODEL 270 . . . WITH VERTICAL PANELS . . . AND SLIDING DOORS
PRICE, WITHOUT TUBES, $270 . . . OTHER MODELS FROM $219.50 TO $450

Announcing the most modern principle of Screen Grid Radio . . .

Developed by Grebe

To those radio buyers who really place a premium on life-like tone in reproduction . . . who really are looking for quality in reception—whether it be from distant or local stations—the distinct merits of this truly delightful instrument will have instant appeal.

The New Grebe is just out . . . and with it comes the secret of its tonal excellence — the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" used with screen grid tubes. To most people this will mean simply a technical term. But what this exclusive Grebe development does in utilizing all the advantages of the new screen grid tubes . . . controlling their power without subduing it—eliminating all outside noise and interference . . . means very much to every discriminating buyer who is seeking the best and latest in radio.

This New Grebe fully responds to the keenest need in radio today—silent power. For its silent power results in pure tones . . . entirely freed from all distortion of station overlapping or power hum.

Screen Grid Justifies the Public's Quick Acceptance

The many advantages of this new tube insure ever increasing popularity—and point to its long continued use. To quote but one of many prominent radio engineers, "The present indications are that it will occupy an important place in receivers produced during the next few years." Yet screen grid tubes, by themselves, are not enough. Alone, they do not constitute a new order of results. But in the combination of Screen Grid with the Grebe "Equalized Band Pass Filter" a new perfection has been reached.

As a prominent consulting radio engineer puts it: "I regard the appearance of the band selector frequency amplifier as the most important trend of the current season." Here then in a word is the New Grebe . . . another Grebe triumph . . . another instance of Grebe pioneering.

Twenty Years of Craftsmanship and Experience Are Built Into Every Grebe Receiver

For twenty years the words Grebe and Radio have been synonymous. Even before the days of broadcasting Grebe was fabricating fine precision radio instruments—many of which, during the World War, were to be found in the radio rooms of our fleets . . . and those of our allies. Craftsmanship has always been a Grebe creed. With Grebe, radio is not a side line. A pioneer in the industry, Grebe is still pioneering. Always a step or two in advance, this latest step is Grebe's most important contribution to the full enjoyment of radio.

Every Grebe a Finished Musical Instrument

While each Grebe model is especially designed for its acoustic values, each is a beautiful piece of furniture fitting harmoniously into the room where dignity is the keynote. Having always borne a reputation for craftsmanship . . . for quality rather than quantity . . . relatively few Grebes are made each year. So we suggest that you make your selection early. See and hear this New Grebe for yourself. A forty-eight hour demonstration in your home will be gladly given by your dealer. Hear for the first time . . . Tri-toned radio.*

 What is Tri-toned Radio? . . . .*

Every musical sound has three distinct characteristics: 1. Pitch, by which we distinguish the note as being high or low; 2. Intensity or loudness; and, 3. Tone, or character by which we distinguish the sound of one musical instrument from that of another. In Grebe Radio you have reproduction that gives you perfect blending of all three characteristics without unnatural over-emphasis of any part of the scale . . . Tri-toned radio.

© 1929 A. H. Grebe & Co.

Many of These Modern Features Are Exclusive With the New Grebe

Screen Grid Tubes—The use of which results in sensitivity never before attained. Weak signals from distant stations are amplified clearly and distinctly.

New Control for New Power—But in the New Grebe this added power is controlled. Overlapping of stations is eliminated . . . strays are kept out. You get the full tone value made possible by that exclusive Grebe feature—the Equalized Band Pass Filter.

Single Audio Stage Means No Hum—Grebe reception is so strong . . . so pure in tonal characteristics . . . that only a single audio stage is needed. Hum and microphonic disturbances are eliminated.

Large Diameter Speaker . . . an Original Grebe Idea—Full tone range is effectively accomplished by special large diameter electrodynamic speaker . . . so successfully introduced by Grebe.

For Superb Reproduction of Phonograph Records—You can play your favorite phonograph records by a mere turn of the tuning dial. This automatically connects the electric phonograph pick-up with its specially wound transformer.

Cabinets Designed for Lasting Beauty and Acoustic Perfection—The New Grebe is obtainable in a wide choice of selected walnut and mahogany lowboy and highboy models. Furniture of characteristic beauty and dignity . . . and expertly designed for its acoustic properties. In a word, Grebe craftsmanship.

SQUARE LEGION POST TO HOLD PICNIC TODAY

Chooses Delegates to Illinois Convention.

Square post, No. 232, the American Legion, holds its annual picnic today at THE TRIBUNE Forty and Eight chalet, 95th street and Archer avenue.

R. C. Day, publicity chairman, announced the selection of delegates of Square post to the state convention at Rock Island Sept. 15 and 16. The following are to represent the post: Henry J. Watson, Fred B. Weidenaar, Fred J. Nelson, Nate T. Feldt, Paul G. Armstrong, Erwin L. Dankers, Guy E. Hopkins, Russell C. Smith, Fred E. Bushnell, Carl R. Hesler, William Gates, Donald F. Brown, Frank Ives, William Paine, Frank Cunningham, Lee Karl, Ronald Cameron and Tom Donnan.

According to Mr. Day, the post drum and bugle corps will accompany the delegates to the convention.

With upward of 75,000 guests expected in Louisville during the eleventh national convention of the American Legion, Sept. 30 to Oct. 3, the question of registration becomes one of the real problems in the preconvention work, according to Frank D. Rash, president of the national convention corporation. The Louisville convention group has inaugurated an unique system to overcome this problem and at the same time protect the Legionnaires and auxiliary members in the matter of entertainment.

"We have distributed through national headquarters a card which, when properly filled out by the prospective visitor, is to be returned to the national convention corporation at Louisville in advance of the opening of the convention," Mr. Rash said. "These cards have been sent to the state adjutants along with the special low fare round trip railroad ticket applications. These cards can be obtained direct from the national convention corporation at Louisville.

"When these cards are sent in to us we receipt them and send them back to the Legionnaire or auxiliary member, and upon his or her arrival in Louisville it will be necessary for them merely to present the receipted card to a registration booth and receive a book of entertainment coupons, an official badge and an official program.

"We believe we have set a precedent in the matter of free entertainment at this convention, and visitors who register will be entitled to attend sixteen entertainment features. A fee of $1 is charged to cover cost of printing and distributing the entertainment coupon books, and this sum should be sent in with the registration card."

Woodlawn post, No. 175, participated in the festivities of the recent opening of the 63d street entrance into Jackson park by heading the parade with its band, drum and bugle corps and drill team.

The Wilmette auxiliary of the American Legion is planning its annual benefit for Sept. 27 at the Wilmette Masonic temple. Bridge and five hundred will be played. Members of the auxiliary will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 322 14th street, tomorrow evening for election of officers.

Medill-Tribune post, No. 348, will be represented at the department convention in the musical competition by Jack Bold, bugler.

Cook County council, American Legion auxiliaries, has indorsed Mrs. George M. Kellogg Jr. for department president. Mrs. Kellogg is a charter member of Hyde Park auxiliary. She served as secretary and then president of the Cook County council and many achievements are credited to her vision and ability to organize.

The American Legion posts and auxiliary units of the eighth district, comprising Lake county, today are having a picnic and field day with the disabled veterans at the U. S. Veteran's Bureau hospital No. 105, at North Chicago. The dietetic department of the hospital is to serve an outdoor picnic dinner to the patients at 4:30 o'clock and the post and auxiliary members will take basket lunches. Indoor baseball games and athletic events will be held and prizes awarded the winners of each event. A drum and bugle corps is listed among other features for the entertainment of the patients.

Ravenswood post, No. 149, has designated Joseph Bernhardt, Clarence Lindstrom, Ruben E. Linn, James L. Middleton, Walter P. Murphy, and Alfred Rohlfing as delegates and alternates to the state convention.

SCHOOL BELLS RING AND SOUTH SIDE YOUNGSTERS FLOCK IN, SMILING

The smiles in these pictures belie the common impression that children feel pangs of regret at the opening of school, don't they? The girls in the upper left picture are arranging their programs at Englewood High school. Left to right: Miss Minerva Zack, Miss Marian Kaplan, Miss Alice Cohen and Miss Pearl Berkson. In the top center picture Policeman James Kelly is starting his twenty-second season of guarding the safety of pupils of St. Anne's school as they cross Garfield boulevard and Wentworth avenue. The Englewood High school girls in the upper right picture are, left to right: Miss Louise Bicknell, Miss Lois Dick, Miss Mary Louise O'Hair, Miss Bonnie Ritchie and Miss Joanne Brennan. Lower left: Ruth Kahnweiler (center) taking Lawrence Melvin and Jean Grollman to Kenwood school on the first day. Lower right: Children entering Shakespeare school branch on opening day. GOOD SHEPHERD CHURCH WORKS FOR RACE AMITY

Great Institution Is Built in Four Years.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

The work of the Church of the Good Shepherd, 5700 Prairie avenue, is a part of the contribution of the Congregational churches to the solution of the city problem among the racial groups in Chicago. It is an expression of national and local coöperation for a big objective. It is an experiment at putting the best leadership available into the field.

THE REV. HAROLD M. KINGSLEY.

The church was organized in a house front at 4821 Langley avenue in 1925 with 24 charter members. It moved to the former Washington Park church on Michigan avenue and then, last December, to the old Crerar Memorial Presbyterian church building, a beautiful, dignified, churchly edifice with an annex for recreational activities.

When the move was made to the new church, the name, Liberty, was dropped for the present title, which was inspired by a splendid painting above the altar in the acquired place of worship.

Under the "best leadership available," that of the pastor, the Rev. Harold M. Kingsley, graduate of Talladega college and of the Yale university, and with a background of years as director of church work among colored people, the membership has grown at a pace that has won the attention of national Congregational circles. In 1927, there wre 62 members; today there are 625. The church finances have kept pace accordingly.

The church is a part of a modern citywide program based on a survey of Arthur E. Holt and staff of the Chicago Theological seminary, under Dr. E. G. Guthrie in trying to reshape the appeal of the churches in terms of modern life, to stabilize the community, to save the whole environment of the individual, and to help the citizen to adjust himself to new and difficult problems. The Church of the Good Shepherd has been in a position to meet the religious demands of colored folk in a flood-tide of change.

The Rev. Mr. Kingsley sees nothing magical in the church's rapid development.

"Chicago," he says, "is the greatest church-going and church-giving city in the United States, so far as the Negro is concerned. Our type of service is orthodox Congregational, in which we observe our racial religious contributions. We make a frank emotional appeal on an intelligent basis.

Evangelical, Seven-Day Ministry.

"As to my type of preaching, well, it might be termed 'evangelical, constructive, social Christianity,' although that's a long phrase. Our plan is a fearless, sane, intelligent gospel, designed to quicken men to better living, a democratic evangelization of a new and complex community; a full, working, seven-day Christian ministry touching every phase of man's life."

Saturday night discussion clubs are held at the church at which economic, cultural and religious problems are taken up. Frequently, the church holds socials for special groups.

A large number of professional musicians belong to the church. Among them is W. L. Dawson, one of the four ranking colored composers of the United States, who directs the choir; Mme. Anita Patti Brown, Odell Stone Gray, Ruth Grandison, John Greene,

Opening Jams Many Schools of South Side

The schools opened on Tuesday but, owing perhaps, to the unexpected return of summer weather, pupils continued to enroll throughout the week. Whether to make up for the delay in getting started or merely to prove how rapidly the south side is growing, the students registered in numbers greatly exceeding last year's figures, and many of the principals spoke of buildings filled to capacity and overflowing.

Enrollment in the nine senior high schools totaled approximately 26,500.

At Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue, more than 4,600 students were enrolled, exceeding normal capacity by several hundreds. Principal Albert W. Evans reported seven new teachers. The new course in instrumental music, begun last year, which is a unique feature of the Tilden Tech's curriculum, is to be continued this year and is proving popular.

3,900 Enroll at Hyde Park.

Hyde Park High school, 6220 Stony Island avenue, had an enrollment of more than 3,900 pupils, fewer than half of whom were boys. Figures for the branch at 54th street and Kenwood avenue were included in the number for the main building, according to Hiram B. Loomis who is principal of both.

Englewood High school, 6201 Stewart avenue, was one of the few schools to report a nearly stationary enrollment, approximately 3,200 students having registered. Daniel F. O'Hearn, principal, heads a staff with no changes since last year.

Almost 5,000 students had enrolled at Lindblom High school, 6130 South Lincoln street, by Saturday. There are six new teachers this year, according to Harry Keeler, principal.

Nearly 800 at Parker.

At Parker Senior High school, 6800 South Stewart avenue, there are almost 800 pupils this year. Several teachers have returned from a year's sabbatical leave, including Miss Helen Laird, instructor in botany; Miss Mary De Sreds, and Miss Estelle Hyman, instructors in English, and Miss Anna Grill, Spanish instructor.

Approximately 3,500 students were in attendance at Calumet High school, 8131 South May street, more than 300 above normal capacity. Miss Genevieve Melody, principal, is absent on a year's leave, and J. D. Hullinder is acting principal, heading a staff to which twelve new teachers have been added this year.

There are more than 1,400 boys and 1,500 girls attending Bowen High school, 8860 Manistee avenue, a total exceeding normal capacity by nearly 200. Four new teachers held classes this week, Marie G. Buckley, English instructor; Thurman M. Huegner, instructor in science: Miss Edith G. Lipsky, art instructor, and Miss Thelma Jones, who is teaching science in place of Miss Edna Jones who resigned last year and who is now married.

Morgan Park Enrolls 1,600.

William Schoch, principal of Morgan Park High school, 1744 Pryor avenue, reported an enrollment of 1,600, with more than 60 pupils from other high schools in the vicinity. Miss May Zecker is substituting as mathematics instructor for Miss Edna Larson, who is on a year's leave of absence, and Miss M. French is likewise taking Mrs. Harriett Hecht's place in the Latin department. Don R. Stecht is new instructor in English and mathematical drawing, and R. C. Antonides begins his first season as football coach at the school.

More than 1,000 students are in attendance at Phillips Senior High school, 244 East Pershing road, according to Chauncey C. Willard, principal. Temporarily there is one new teacher, Miss Mary Herrick, instructor in typing.

Morgan Park Christians Have Homecoming Today

Homecoming Sunday is to be observed today in the Morgan Park Christian church, Prospect and Homewood avenues, and in its Sunday school. The church night service was resumed Wednesday night. Supper was served at 6:45 p. m., followed by the prayer meeting. The regular meeting of the official board was then convened.

Taking Class Abroad

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN.

Ellen Kinsman Mann, 1412 East 56th street, voice teacher with studios in the Fine Arts building, will depart next Saturday for a seven months trip abroad. She will take with her a class of six pupils who will study with her in Florence and Berlin. Members of the class are Miss Edith Mansfield and Miss Anita Foster of Chicago, Miss Florence Getz and Miss Frances Neher of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Miss Helen Sommer and Miss Emily Sommer of Peoria, Ill. COUNCIL GROUP TO ACT ON SOUTH SIDE REZONING

Property owners in south side wards will appear in the city hall tomorrow morning to give their views regarding four zoning ordinances being considered by the city council committee on buildings and zoning.

The hearing tomorrow will be the first of a series to be conducted by the committee this fall in its efforts to determine the desires of residents regarding ordinances submitted for its approval.

The most important ordinance to be taken up would rezone the entire district bounded by 59th street, the alley west of Crawford avenue, the alley north of 63d street, and Keeler avenue. The proposed ordinance would permit apartment buildings to be constructed in the entire neighborhood, removing the existing restriction to two flat houses.

Other ordinances would rezone from a residence to an apartment classification Ingleside avenue between 49th and 50th streets; the east side of Cornell avenue between 71st and 72d streets from a small to a large apartment classification; and Jeffery avenue between 91st and 92d streets from an apartment to a commercial district.

Since these ordinances come before the committee for the first time, they will probably be referred to subcommittees before they are finally acted upon.

Bethany Sunday School Resumes Sessions Today

All departments of the Sunday school of Bethany Union church, 103d and Wood streets, reopen today after the summer recess. The first meeting of the junior choir, including both the boys' and girls' choirs, will be held at 3:30 p. m., Wednesday in the choir room.

Finish Surveys This Week on 2 Boulevards

Surveys on Southeastern boulevard and Yates boulevard will be completed this week by south park engineers, according to a statement yesterday from the office of George T. Donoghue, superintendent. The surveys will be presented and discussed at a meeting of the south park board Wednesday, Sept. 18, and a date for the public hearing on the two projects will be set at that time.

Southeastern boulevard will enable motorists to travel Michigan avenue through the outer drive to Jackson park, on Jeffery avenue to 92d street, east on 92d street to Anthony avenue, southeast on that thoroughfare to Escanaba avenue, south on Escanaba to 100th street, east on 100th street to Avenue L, over the latter to 112th street, and on 112th street to the Indiana state line.

Little Opposition to Southeastern.

According to Mr. Donoghue little opposition is expected at the public hearing in regard to Southeastern boulevard. Residents of that territory have been so eager, he said, to obtain the boulevard that they will not hurt the possibility of the immediate construction of the thoroughfare by objecting to some detail.

After the public hearing is held the park board will submit a special assessment roll for confirmation by the County court. As soon as the court confirms the assessment roll the park board will let contracts for the work and the construction of the new boulevard system will be under way.

Work on the new thoroughfare will include complete repaving, the laying of sidewalks, the installation of new street lights, the erection of boulevard signs, and the planting of trees and shrubbery.

Link to New Highway.

Yates boulevard, which will extend from 71st to 103d street, will furnish a north and south outlet to the proposed gasoline tax highway, which includes 103d street through South Chicago.

South side motorists are eagerly awaiting the completion of the two new boulevard routes. They have long felt the need for a fast route to the Indiana state line. Today motorists are compelled to reach the line over Indianapolis boulevard, and at its intersection with Ewing avenue there is one of the worst bottlenecks in the city.

Although the proposed gasoline tax highway will widen the crossing at Indianapolis boulevard and Ewing avenue, motorists are sure that Yates boulevard will be completed sooner. However, at some future date there will be adequate gateways at this southeastern corner of Chicago.

Morgan Park Church Plans Rally for Sunday School

Preparations are being made by Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church, 110th place and Longwood drive, for a rally of the church school on Sunday, Oct. 13. According to the Rev. Arthur D. Klontz, minister, the program will soon be announced.

Electa Sewing Circle.

The Electa Sewing circle of Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, 100th and Throop streets, met on Wednesday in the social hall of the church. The hostesses included Mrs. John Droise, Mrs. Mary Manthey and Mrs. John Krause.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

NEIGHBOR GEORGE EPHGRAVE, the psalmist, of 6550 Union avenue, informs us that William Sayer, the w. k. superintendent of the Sixteenth ward and popular furniture mover, is, with Mrs. Sayer, being congratulated on the arrival of a daughter at their home, 5940 South Green street. This one makes ten in all and the many friends of Bill are now singing "Oh, Sayer, can you see," whilst one and all agree that considerable street widening will have to be done if the Sayer family takes to roller skates.

William W. Blue of 7813 Evans avenue is back home again after a two weeks motor trip to Detroit and Canadian points. Bill is the wide and favorably known sales hound at the J. C. Wilkinson real estate office, 8010 Cottage Grove avenue. He visited most of his own and his wife's relatives in Canada, and reports to Zimmie that the signs en route to "Drink Canada Dry" are the bunk and it can't be done. Bill says he knows. He tried.

WELL, well, well. We can see where Krumdish & Sons, the stylish gasoline buggy painters of the south side, have increased their capacity about 100 per cent [one hundred]. We refer to the increase concerning Vic Krumdich, ye old Reilly Buck; the 149th field artillery of the Rainbow division. Vic is the beaming father of twin boys, and the assurance is at hand that they are bouncing, too. This ought to counteract in a measure the fact that Vic's uncle, Charles Comiskey, hasn't brought us a pennant for some time.

For 26 years Austin O'Neal of 6411 Ellis avenue has carried mail out of postal station M at 42d and Cottage Grove. He has covered so many miles that when vacation time came his way a few days ago it was but natural he should seek a place where he could indulge his favorite pastime, walking. Austin, therefore, hied him to Paw Paw lake, Michigan, where he spent his hours sauntering around the shores of that tranquil inland sea. Now that he's again in uniform and greeting his many clients, it is noticed his step is very springy. He denies vehemently that this is caused by drinking spring water.

RUTH M. WOERNER of 8116 Evans avenue is missing from her desk at the office of Zimmerman, Saxe & Zimmerman, 212 East Superior street. Ruth has been with that firm for the last 15 years and what she doesn't know about contractors and specifications wouldn't take up much room in Sweets' catalogue. Righ now, today, she's in New York City. Next week she'll be on the briny deep, hobnobbing with the denizens of the deep, on her way to Bermuda. That's the ticket, Ruth—when you take a vacation, take a real one. Don't forget to send us a postcard with a British stamp, but please, no pictures of bottled goods or we'll perish.

It has come to us that Mr. J. L. Ellingsworth, the manufacturer, of 3509 West 63d street, is pointing with pardonable pride to the radio he has invented to fit in a fireplace. That doesn't quite express it, either. It is a regulation fireplace with the radio built in. Mr. Ellingsworth says it fills a long felt want and those who have heard it say it is hot stuff.

ED LAJECK WINS HAMILTON PARK TENNIS FINALS

The sixteenth annual Labor day open tournament of the Hamilton Park Tennis club, came to a climax on Monday when, after nine days of strenuous competition, Ed Lajeck eliminated Carl Ireneus in the finals of the singles match.

The finals of the doubles tournament were postponed owing to delay in playing off the semi-finals between Lejeck and William Schofield on one hand and Ireneus and Loring Fiske on the other. Charles and Leo Lejeck are to play the winners.

F. J. Hughes is chairman of the committee in charge of the tournament, assisted by William Ellis, G. A. Morgan, W. O. Goodwin, Les Cameron, and Robert Christie. Representatives of the Tennis Umpire association officiated at all matches.

Mercier Athletic Club Starts Fall Activities

The Mercier Athletic club, 1304 South Karlov avenue, held its first meeting of the season, Friday, with more than a hundred members present. Plans for future meetings were made, and it was decided that the club meet on every third Friday of the month. Officers of the club are: President, George Zak; vice president, Ralph Kurapko; secretary, Joseph Zak; treasurer, James Mosek; and directors, Charles Zeman, Frank Cada and Frank Cmut.

Opera Club to Meet

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The final organization meeting of the Associated Opera club of Woodlawn will be held next Thursday in the auditorium of Wadsworth school, 64th street and University avenue. Officers of the club, which is one of the forty-two in the Associated Civic Opera clubs of Chicago, are: President, Dr. F. P. Hammond; vice president, Frank J. O'Brien; executive secretary, Mrs. Charles L. Hibbard; publicity chairman, Mrs. Paul I. Pierson; program chairman, A. E. Olson.

READY TO SEEK BIDS ON PAVING IN CHICAGO LAWN

Three south side improvements estimated to cost $514,600 were recently approved by the County court, permitting the board of local improvements to advertise for bids on the work. The board is preparing to advertise within two weeks, and will probably award the contracts this fall.

Paving a series of streets in a new section of the Chicago Lawn district will cost approximately $427,000.

The improvement embraces the following streets: Komensky, Karlov, and Kedvale avenues between 63d street and Marquette road; Keeler, Tripp, Kildare, Kolin, and Kostner avenues between 63d and 65th streets; 64th street between Crawford and Kenneth avenues; and 65th and 66th streets between Crawford and Keeler avenues.

Constructing a six foot sidewalk on both sides of 95th street between Stewart and Western avenues, now being paved by the board, will cost approximately $73,301.

Ridgeway avenue between Archer avenue and 47th street will be paved with concrete at an estimated cost of $14,300.

DRAFT SUBWAY AND 'L' DEMANDS FOR SOUTH SIDE

Outline Extensions for Future Years.

Immediate and future transportation needs of the south side were outlined in a letter from the newly organized Property Owners' Traction association to the transit committee of the city council on Tuesday. The letter, which was signed by E. H. Burke, president of the organization, stated that the incorporation of the group's recommendations in the proposed transit ordinance would definitely assure passage of the measure on the south side when the ordinance is placed on the ballot.

Mr. Burke asserted that the proposed plan for solving the entire transportation problem on the south side was outlined after careful study and consideration. The plan represents the combined ideas of business men and organizations from every section of the south side and is not only based on present needs but considers the possibility of future problems throughout the territory, Mr. Burke stated.

Cite Present Needs.

In regard to the present transportation needs, the proposed plans call for the immediate construction of the following facilities:

ELEVATED LINES.

Ashland avenue, from 21st street to 119th street.

An extension on 63d street from Loomis boulevard to Menard avenue, about 5800 west.

An extension on Stony Island avenue from 63d street to 79th street, southeast on South Chicago avenue to 93d street, south on Ewing avenue to 108th street.

An extension on South Park avenue from 63d street to 100th street, west on 100th street to Wentworth avenue, south on Wentworth avenue to 119th street.

An extension on Halsted street from 63d to 83d streets.

Archer avenue, from Ashland avenue to Kedzie avenue, south on Kedzie avenue to 67th street.

SUBWAYS.

On State street, from the north loop to 21st street.

On Polk street, as an extension from the loop route to Blue Island avenue, south on Blue Island avenue, where it will hook up with elevated extension at 21st street and Ashland avenue.

SURFACE LINES.

On Cicero avenue, from 22d to 81st streets.

On Crawford avenue from 31st to 79th streets.

Fifty-ninth street, from Central Park avenue to Cicero avenue.

Fifty-first street, from Central Park avenue to Crawford avenue.

Forty-seventh street, from Kedzie to Archer avenues.

Kedzie avenue, from 67th to 87th streets.

Seventy-ninth street, from Western to Cicero avenues.

Western avenue, from 75th to 119th streets.

One Hundred and Seventeenth street, form California to Crawford avenues.

One Hundred and Third street, from Vincennes to Western avenues.

Ninety-fifth street, from State to Western avenues.

Robey street, from 63d to 87th strteets.

Eighty-seventh street, from Stony Island to Ashland avenues.

One Hundred and Fourth street, from Torrence avenue to Cottage Grove avenue.

Halsted street, from 83d to 119th streets.

BUS LINES.

Seventy-first street, from the lake to Halsted street.

Eighty-third street, from the lake to the Southwest highway.

Plans for future transportation needs of the south side call for the construction of the following facilities within five years after the completion of the immediate needs:

ELEVATED LINES.

Halsted street, from 26th to 63d streets.

Stony Island avenue, from 79th to 103d streets.

WELCOME PRIEST; REVIEW GAINS OF SOUTHWEST SIDE

1,000 Parishioners at St. Sabina Celebration.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Twelve years ago the Rev. Thomas Egan organized St. Sabina's parish on the far south side. He celebrated the first holy mass in the parish one Sunday in an old two story frame building at Seventy-eighth street and Racine avenue. The first floor at the time was a vacant store room.

Today St. Sabina's is classed as one of the finest parishes in Chicago. Its church, school building, convent and rectory and playground for children of the neighborhood occupy an area that extends along Racine and Throop from 78th street southward for half a block.

Parishioners of St. Sabina's are unstinted in their expressions of praise for the constructive work accomplished in the space of twelve years by Father Egan and his assistant priests. Seeking always to avoid the limelight, the pastor of St. Sabina's has preferred to accomplish his extensive building program by the way of deeds.

His Homecoming Celebrated.

Prior to his assignment at St. Sabina's church, Father Egan was at St. Mary's church, in Evanston. He returned recently from a trip to County Tipperary, Ireland, where he visited his aged mother. Such visits he has made many times since taking up his priestly duties in the United States. On his return representatives of the families in St. Sabina's parish turned out to welcome him at a celebration. Festivities were held in the school hall and it is estimated that approximately 1,000 persons attended, some being unable to gain admittance.

Speakers included the Rev. J. Leddy, the Rev. R. Ashenden, the Rev. M. Lynch, the Rev. Thomas Dennehy, the Rev. John Davidson, the Rev. W. Delaney, the Rev. P. Fennessy, the Rev. Austin Gallagher, and the Rev. Patrick Gleeson. During Father Egan's visit to Ireland, Father Gallagher was in charge of St. Sabina's church. He is one of Father Egan's assistants, with Fathers Davidson and Gleeson.

Arrangements for the homecoming were made by Russell Dunn. In behalf of the women of the parish, Mrs. Mary Callaghan, spoke. Senator Thomas J. Courtney made a speech presenting a gift to Father Egan. In behalf of the men, Timothy Sullivan, one of the pioneers in St. Sabina's parish and one of its hardest workers, delivered a speech that was hailed with cheers and laughter.

Musical Numbers and Reading.

Lenore Hallinan Smith, Thomas McKenna and John Long sang to an accompaniment at the piano by Miss Marie Rita Webb. Miss Loretta Touhy danced and John Claussen gave a recitation. Miss Marie Egan was selected secretary of the gift committee and Bud Long was the treasurer.

Reminiscent, Tim Sullivan said when St. Sabina's church was organized the street cars on 79th street operated only as far west as Racine avenue and that the line on Racine ran only to 75th street. Ashland avenue cars, he said, did likewise. Sullivan said the 79th street cars now run west to Western avenue, Racine to 87th street and Ashland avenue to 95th street.

"On the 79th street line," said Sullivan, "there was a trio of motormen, Dolan, Moriarity and Watson, who I believe could be classed as the most courteous employed by the surface lines.

"Moriarity's son, George, was at one time a star in the American baseball league, managed the Detroit club and also was one of the league's umpires. Another one of his boys, Albert, was killed with his chief, Fire Marshal James Horan, in the stockyards fire in 1910. It doesn't seem possible; twelve short years a part of the parish truck farms; today a neighborhood of homes, bungalows and apartment buildings."

Oakhaven Group in Hyde Park Plans Work

Plans for the coming year were discussed at the first fall meeting of the board of directors of the Hyde Park auxiliary of the Oakhaven Old People's home Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Heilbron, 831 Drexel square. Seated, left to right: Mrs. J. C. Groendyke, Mrs. John R. Bensley, Mrs. Charles M. Woodman and Mrs. C. W. Hoff. Standing: Mrs. F. M. Wight, Mrs. J. B. Rogers, Mrs. C. A. Tweedey, Mrs. George C. Dyer, Mrs. Walter Metcalfe, Mrs. Paul H. Williams and Mrs. Heilbron.

GOOD SHEPHERD CHURCH WORKS FOR RACE AMITY

Great Institution Built Up in Four Years.

Alexander Parks and Alan Lane. L. Sterling Todd is organist.

The spirituals sung at the services have been well arranged and edited. In them, the altos start off softly, the sopranos lend more emphasis, with a crescendo by the whole chorus. The result is an atmosphere of quiet tenseness and fervor.

The pastor speaks of "tapping the subconscious reservoir of spiritual power," of "bringing out in people what is already in them," of "directing the emotional release away from the froth of life toward things that bring genuine reward."

There is standing room only at most of the Sunday morning services, the attendance being drawn not only from the entire city, but the whole nation, for visitors from outside Chicago are many who seek the church with the reputation of "quieting the spirit and inspiring the heart."

Following his graduation from Yale, the Rev. Mr. Kingsley was pastor in Rhode Island and Connecticut; superintendent of church work in Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, his native state, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florira; assistant moderator of the national council of Congregational churches; secretary of Negro work with the joint committee on war production communities; director of work among colored people in the Congregational home mission society; member of colored committees of both the Federal Council of Churches and the home missions council.

Members of Church Staff.

The assistant minister of the Church of the Good Shepherd is the Rev. Akintunde Dipeolu; Miss Ocena B. Marshall is secretary, and Shelby Cowan is sexton.

The church officers are W. H. Jackson, clerk; R. C. Copeland, financial clerk; I. V. Cantey, treasurer; W. H. Jackson, treasurer of the building fund.

Mrs. Evelyn Norris is chairman of the flower committee; Miss Madeline Evans, chairman of the reception committee: Dr. Law Blanchet, chairman of the Angola committee; and Mrs. Lorraine Brown, chairman of the social service committee.

Dr. J. C. Campbell is superintendent of the Sunday school; J. V. Draper is assistant superintendent; William Crews, treasurer.

The deacons are Grover Rutherford, Akintunde Dipeolu, Peter French, G. A. Manning, Walter Martin, Raymond Shreeves, Eugene Sims, Wade Saxton, William H. Thompson, Marshall Williams, Lawrence Haralson and Wade McCree.

The deaconesses are Mrs. Elnora Cain, Mrs. Frances Lightfoot, Mrs. Martha Smith, Mrs. Berry Patton, Mrs. Charles H. Scott, Mrs. Hattie Winlock, Mrs. Lucy L. McCoo, Mrs. Carrie Cook, Mrs. Alice Horn, Mrs. Cecilia Spurlock, Mrs. B. B. Johnson, Mrs. Julia Keith and Mrs. C. White.

The trustees are Dr. Law Blanchet, chairman; W. W. Hadnott, clerk; W. H. Jackson, William Crews, Fred Henderson, J. C. Cotillier, Andrew Washington, Lawrence Haralson and D. H. Walters.

Mr. Burke pointed out that any ordinance, which would omit any of the above transportation facilities for any of the streets mentioned in the proposed plan, would prove inadequate and would not receive the full support of the residents and business men of the south side.

"Business by Bomb," Topic of Address to Kiwanians

"Business by Bomb" was the subject of an address by Joseph Neillson, of the Employers' association, at a meeting of the Englewood Kiwanis club Tuesday at the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 66th street and Union avenue. Raymond J. Crist, president of the organization, was chairman of the meeting.

CLUBS PREPARING FOR CONCERTS BY MARINE BAND OCT. 2

A treat is in store not only for the children of Chicago but for their grown-up friends when the United States marine band comes to the city next month.

The Second district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs is bringing the band here and is sponsoring the concerts to be given in Orchestra hall Oct. 2. According to Mrs. T. F. Creager, 12023 Yale avenue, president of the Second district, there will be a concert at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, with special prices for school children, and another program at 8:15 o'clock.

Under the leadership of Mrs. R. Edward Davis, 1708 East 69th street, preparations for the sale of tickets are already well under way, and announcement of the names of patronesses and boxholders soon will be made.

THOMAS O'NEILL, VETERAN CITY EMPLOYE, DIES

Last rites for Thomas O'Neill, 64 years old, who died Aug. 31 in Mercy hospital, 25th street and Prairie avenue, following a long illness, were held from his home, 1505 West 73d place, to St. Brendan's church, Tuesday. He was buried in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mr. O'Neill, who was born in Ireland, lived on the south side for more than 40 years. He was employed in the public works department of the city.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary O'Neill; four sons, William, Thomas, L. Kennedy and John O'Neill; four daughters, Mrs. Sally Malloy, Miss Mira W., Miss Catherine and Miss Alice O'Neill; a brother, Redmond R. O'Neill, and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Morrissey.

PARADE TO OPEN NEW 63D STREET NEXT SATURDAY

Many Officials Will Take Part in Ceremony.

City officials, South Park officials, judges and business men will participate in the extensive celebration which is being sponsored by the Woodlawn Business Men's association to mark the completion and official opening of 63d street from Stony Island avenue to West Lagoon drive in Jackson park, next Saturday afternoon.

Theodore Becker, president of the association, will cut the ribbon which will officially open the new drive to south side motorists, who have been awaiting the improvement for more than 15 years.

Invite Officials to Speak.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the South Park board, and Commissioners John Bain, Louis Behan, Michael Igoe and Phillip Graver and George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the South Park board, have been invited to make short talks. Other speeches will be made by Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th], Andrew C. Metzger, county commissioner; Edwin K. Walker, U. S. commissioner; Capt. William C. Kennedy of the Woodlawn police station; Maj. Hamlet Ridgeway, president of the Woodlawn post of the American Legion; Judge William Fetzer, Judge David Matchett, Judge William J. Lindsay, Earl W. Keath, president of the Woodlawn Kiwanis club; Eugene Herr, president of the Woodlawn Lions club; Herman G. Storn, president of the Woodlawn Optimists' club, and A. L. Hoffman, president of the Exchange clubs of Woodlawn.

The parade, which will open the celebration, will start at 2:30 o'clock. More than 500 automobiles and floats will be led by the 100 piece band of the Woodlawn post of the American Legion. The post's drill team will follow the band in the parade. The band of the Fort Dearborn post of the American Legion will also take part.

Organizations Prepare Floats.

Mr. Becker declared that every civic and social organization in the community will prepare a float, while many of the business men will enter floats in the parade to advertise their stores.

Those taking part in the parade will gather at the Midway, 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue, and the line of march will be south on Cottage Grove avenue to Marquette road, west on Marquette road to South Park avenue, north on South Park avenue to 63d street, east on 63d street to Stony Island avenue and into the park about 400 feet, where the ribbon will be cut and the speeches made.

Merchants Plan Sale.

In connection with the opening of the new street a three day sale will be held by the Woodlawn merchants. The sale will be held next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Posters announcing the three day sale have been placed in each store window on the street, and coöperative advertising in community and city papers will also tell the residents of the south side about the sale and the opening of the thoroughfare into Jackson park.

Joseph Kramer and R. B. Sternberg are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of making arrangements for the affair. Other members of the committee are George W. Skeeles, George L. Webster, Max Weinberg, Alfred Tuvin, Eugene Morgenstern, George T. Alexander, S. Y. Bloom, Clare Ackley, I. W. Brandwein, E. W. Lundquist, A. M. Eisner, H. W. Byfield, F. J. Nortman, Grant W. Porter, Theodore Jessup, M. D. Snedicor, and Fred Aspinwall.

CIVIC LEADERS TO OPEN SEASON IN PARK MANOR

Members of the Park Manor Improvement association will hold their first meeting for the fall season tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Brooks hall, 71st street and South Park avenue. Meetings were discontinued during July and August.

Among the projects to be considered are street improvements, property restrictions, sewer improvements, better lighting on State, 71st and 75t streets, a new public school, the transportation question, garbage and ashes removal and a smoother bus transportation on South Park avenue.

F. W. Schroeder is president of the association; William V. Tyler, vice president; Fred R. Klippel, financial secretary; Charles S. Duffet, recording secretary, and J. A. Johnson treasurer.

Will Preach on Stars.

"He Made the Stars" will be the subject of a sermon by the Rev. Willis L. Goldsmith, pastor of the Hyde Park Congregational church, 1364 East 56th street, at this morning's services.

PLAYERS OF ALL AGES IN PRIZE WINNING PICTURES

With a remarkable picture of a chess game, Mrs. H. A. Cole, Broadview hotel, 5540 Hyde Park boulevard, this week broke a long list of awards for photographs of children in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the south side. The players, left to right: J. Deutsch, Peggy, and E. T. Applegate. Mrs. Cole's prize is $5. "Coaxing the Fish" won the second prize of $3 for R. Martin, 208 East 26th street. In the picture are George Becker and his daughters, Lillian and Georgia. Mrs. H. Schintz, 7238 East End avenue, snapped her smiling, healthy twins, Marjorie and Teddy, as they enjoyed their new sun suits and won the third prize of $2. A special prize of $2 was awarded to Mrs. Fred P. Nettke, 6352 South Ada street, for a picture of Mitzi having a drink in Ogden park.

Dr. Boynton Will Preach on "The Man Who Knows"

The Rev. M. Russell Boynton, pastor of the Bryn Mawr Community church, 70th street and Jeffery avenue, will preach on "The Man Who Knows" at this morning's services. Members of the women's auxiliary of the church will hold their annual homecoming reception Wednesday afternoon in the assembly rooms of the church.

Englewood Business Men Resume Their Luncheons

The members of Englewood Business Men's association met at luncheon for their first seasonal gathering at the New China restaurant, 63d and Halsted streets, Thursday. John B. Maling addressed the association. Officers of the organization for this year are: Leonard Fish, president; Julius Cohen, vice president, and Arthur G. Rathje, treasurer.

SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane or John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur. It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

Chatham Club to Hold Annual Outing Today

The third annual basket picnic of the West Chatham Neighborhood club will be held today at Spring Forest grove, Willow Springs. Ball games, races and various contests have been planned by the committee in charge. There will be dancing between 5 and 9 p. m. Transportation will be provided for children and for adults who do not have cars. Trucks and automobiles will depart from the corner of 80th street and Yale avenue at 10 a. m. promptly. T. A. Arnold, 8020 Lafayette avenue, is in charge of arrangements.

111TH ST. Y. M. C. A. BOYS PLAN CLUBS FOR WINTER FUN

The opening of schools Tuesday marked the close of an unusually interesting summer vacation for the boys of the 111th Street Y. M. C. A.

The boys have seen big league games, visited the stockyards and White City, and have found time between outings for swimming and games in the "Y."

Now plans for the fall and winter program are nearing completion under the supervision of H. K. Seltzar, boys' secretary. Clubs for those interested in airplanes, stamp collecting, newspapers, or woodwork are in process of formation. Many trips and parties are scheduled to take place, and the boys' band is resuming its weekly rehearsals with a concert planned for the near future.

Roseland to Pay Visit to Mooseheart Today

Members of Roseland lodge, No. 1062, L. O. O. M., will attend an all day outing today at Mooseheart. They will have an opportunity to inspect the school and grounds, where the fraternity is sheltering, training and educating 1,400 homeless children. Geo. W. Leonhardt is chairman of the day's arrangements, and busses will leave the clubhouse at 9 a. m. All residents of the Roseland community are invited to join the members on the excursion.

FIND SO. SHORE STREETS IN NEED OF MANY REPAIRS

Survey Shows Big Holes and Outworn Paving.

Because of the many complaints registered at the headquarters of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce by residents of the community in regard to the poor condition of the streets, E. J. Ryan, president of the organization, appointed a committee to make a thorough investigation of the streets in the territory.

Earl L. Walsh, chairman, George Tamon and Alfred Molenhauer composed the committee which made the survey. A detailed report of the poor streets in the community was read at the meeting of the organization and the report was then mailed to Richard D. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, with a letter asking that the proper repairs be made on those thoroughfares.

Finds Many Repairs Needed.

The following is a survey compiled by the members of the street inspection committee of the chamber:

"East 75th street and East 79th street, from Stony Island avenue to the lake, are unusually bad for streets that are used as much as there two are.

"Coles avenue, from 75th street to 79th street, is also very bad. We are writing the Chicago Surface Lines and asking the officials of the company to repair that part of the street where their tracks lie.

"Marquette avenue, from 79th to 83d street, is extremely bad and resurfacing is needed.

"Manistee avenue, from 79th to 83d street, needs resurfacing.

"At the southeast corner of 76th street and Oglesby avenue a large hole causes a great deal of discomfort to passing motorists and should be repaired immediately.

"There is a bad hole opposite 7412 Merrill avenue.

"There is a bad hole opposite 7413 Luella avenue.

Says Resurfacing Needed.

"Coles avenue, from 75th street to 74th place, is badly in need of resurfacing.

"Seventy-fourth place, from Exchange to Coles avenue is in need of resurfacing.

"Oglesby avenue, fill holes between 68th and 69th streets and resurface between 70th and 71st streets.

"Bad hole opposite 6818 Crandon avenue.

"East 67th street is bad from Stony Island avenue to South Shore drive.

"Bad hole opposite 6821 Chappel avenue.

"Bad hole opposite 6706 Chappel avenue.

"East 69th street, between Jeffery and Oglesby avenues, is in need of repairs.

"Seventieth place, from Oglesby avenue to South Shore drive, needs resurfacing."

PASTOR AND WIFE BACK FROM TOUR OF 3,000 MILES

The Rev. H. Lee McLendon, pastor of the Covenant Baptist church, 60th place and Normal boulevard, and Mrs. McLendon, have returned from a 3,000 mile motor trip through the east section of the United States and Canada. Among the places they visited were Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Atlantic City the Bible conference at Ocean Grove, N. J., New York, West Point, Albany, the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls, and Cleveland.

On their return trip they stopped for several days at Christiana lake, in southern Michigan, and Winona lake in Indiana. The Rev. Mr. McLendon will preach at today's services at the church.

Women Renew Friendship Made at Front in France

Mrs. W. H. Dial, 4016 Lake Park avenue, gave a luncheon at her home Friday in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Harry H. Schuessler of Birmingham, Ala. This visit marks the first time in ten years that Mrs. Schuessler and Mrs. Dial have seen each other. They met in France during the world war, where each was doing relief work at the front, and became fast friends.

Gresham Business Group Plans Restrictive Drive

SOUTH CHICAGO STARTS DRIVE FOR RESTRICTION

Contracts to Be Circulated in Month.

Members of the South Chicago Chamber of Commerce are making plans for a campaign through which they hope to eliminate the possibility of an invasion by colored families in the territory bounded by 89th street, Commercial avenue, and South Chicago avenue.

Letters are now being mailed to the property owners of the community with information as to what procedure will be taken in restricting the neighborhood.

According to Charles A. Rubey, president of the chamber, the launching of the campaign is being done not because of race prejudice but rather as a measure to uphold property values in that section of the city. It is also a measure being taken to avoid trouble that may arise from the foreign element in the community should the property be made available to colored people, Mr. Rubey said.

The plans for the campaign are to have at least 95 per cent of the property owners in the community sign contracts that will forbid them to sell or lease their property to colored families for a period of twenty years.

The letters now being mailed to the property owners ask for their cooperation and for any suggestions as to how the campaign should be carried on. They also contain copies of the petition which will soon be circulated among the property owners of the territory.

When the circulation of petitions gets under way, which will be within the next month, a member of the chamber of commerce will be assigned to each block in the district. In this manner all questions in regard to restriction will be answered immediately instead of delaying the signing of the contract while a property owner awaits a reply by mail.

FINDS HER HAT NEAR HOME FOR $2.45; LOOP SEARCH MADE IN VAIN

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Having searched in vain in all the millinery departments of the loop stores for a hat in a rather unusual shade of red, I decided to continue my quest in some of the neighborhood stores. In a south side millinery shop I found a hat in the exact shade I had been looking for. It was entirely satisfactory in style and quality and cost only $2.45. I know that I could not have purchased it elsewhere for less than $5.

BEATRICE FEUCHTWANGER,
5046 Woodlawn avenue.

ALL OF THIS FOR $1.19.

Harvey, Aug. 26.—In the early spring I bought a bundle of remnants at a 63d and Halsted street store, paying $1.19. From these remnants I made two house dresses, side drapes for two small windows, a pair of rompers for my little nephew, and pieced a top for a pillow from the scraps of material that were left over.

MRS. MARY P. TAYLOR,
15918 Lexington avenue.

A BARGAIN IN CURTAINS.

Matteson, Aug. 30.—One of the big loop companies bought a local store out recently and an inventory sale followed. One of the bargains I found was a pair of dotted marquisette curtains, 2¼ yards long, that usually sell for $1.25, reduced to 29 cents a pair. Laundering made them as good as new.

NEW ACTIVITIES ON PROGRAM AT HYDE PK. CENTER

Registration for fall activities has already begun at Hyde Park center, 5231 Dorchester avenue, and is expected to continue well into next month, according to Miss Helen May, registrar.

Several innovations in the already varied program offered its members by the south side Y. W. C. A. have been made. For the first time this year horseback riding is to be included among the scheduled athletics.

Tennis and golf will also be offered, according to Miss May. A professional will instruct the girls individually or in classes, and emphasis will be placed on the technic of these games. Another feature, peculiar to Hyde Park center, will be the class in weight normalizing, under the supervision of Mrs. Jeannette Olnhausen Manhard, director of health education. By means of games and dancing as well as scientifically devised exercises it will be possible to gain or to lose the desired number of pounds. This course has already proved very popular.

For those less athletically inclined there are several new diversions. There will be dancing classes and purely social dances, to which the girls may bring their friends, and Mrs. Lucy Stacy Richards, branch secretary, hopes that a mixed chorus may be formed with members of the west side club.

Opportunity will be afforded to those interested in the theater to study the history of the drama and the mechanics of play production under the auspices of the Chicago Little Theater guild. Contacts will be effected with prominent actors and there will be a place in the guild productions for those who show talent in the courses.

The fall term of classes begins tomorrow.

RESIDENTS SEEK DUNHAM ESTATE AS PLAYGROUND

Hyde Park Group Plans Move in Council.

Residents in the vicinity of the Dunham estate, which occupies almost four city blocks of unimproved property at 50th street and Dorchester avenue, are planning a campaign through which they hope to convince the members of the city council that a playground and small park is needed in the Hyde Park community and that the city should purchase the estate and convert it into a recreation center.

The estate, which in the heart of the thickly settled Hyde Park territory, is the only remaining land in the community that has not been developed. The reason for this lies in the fact that John Dunham, who originally owned the property, in a will made up in 1889 stated that the property should not be sold until after the death of his two daughters, both of whom have since died.

Get Alderman's Support.

The residents of the community have already received the support of Bert M. Cronson, alderman of the Fourth ward, who believes that a recreation center is needed in the territory and has promised to introduce an ordinance in the city council this fall.

That such a recreation center is needed in a neighborhood like Hyde Park, where large apartment buildings and hotels are going up rapidly and where the children have no adequate place to play, is the opinion of Mrs. William Montgomery Kelly, 5000 Dorchester avenue, and Mrs. Charles W. Laflin, 4822 Dorchester avenue.

Both of these Hyde Park residents are former officers of the Arché club and they have consented to enlist the support of that organization toward obtaining the public recreation center.

Keep Children Off Streets.

Mrs. Willis M. Graham, 4746 Woodlawn avenue, state chairman of the community service committee for the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, pointed out that a playground in Hyde Park would soon prove of untold benefit to the residents by keeping their children off the streets and providing them with supervised recreation. The large neighborhood between Washington and Jackson parks is entirely without a place where children may play with safety and under the supervision of trained instructors, she said, and the residents of the community should strive to obtain such a recreation center.

Church Tea Next Sunday to Welcome Vacationists

The first fall meeting of the Winsome class of the Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church, 110th place and Longwood drive, will be held tomorrow in the church classrooms. Plans have been made for a reception and tea from 2 to 5 next Sunday in honor of homecoming vacationists. Mrs. Herbert H. Siddall, 1119 West 103d place, is in charge of arrangements, and more than 100 members are expected to attend.

Congregational Church of Morgan Park Repaired

The Morgan Park Congregational church, 112th street and South Hoyne avenue, which has been closed for repairs for a fortnight, will reopen for services today, according to the Rev. Philip Gregory, pastor.

BACK PLAYGROUND MOVEMENT

These clubwomen of Hyde Park are active in a movement for the establishment of a new playground in the community. Left to right: Mrs. Charles W. Laflin, 4822 Dorchester avenue, and Mrs. William Montgomery Kelly, 5000 Dorchester avenue, leaders in the Arche club, and Mrs. Willis M. Graham, 4746 Woodlawn avenue, chairman of the community service committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs.

Daughters of Isabella to Hold Party Tomorrow

Members of the South Shore circle, Daughters of Isabella, will hold their first fall meeting and bridge party tomorrow evening at the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Stony Island avenue. Mrs. Thomas Blanchfield, 7816 Colfax avenue, president of the organization, will be chairman of the meeting.

Back from Eastern Tour.

Mrs. Maude G. DeMotte, 3988 Ellis avenue, has just returned from a three weeks' motor trip through the east. She was accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Carr of Warren, O. They visited Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, and Annapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Mack Visit Indiana Art Colony

Dr. and Mrs. Milton Howard Mack, 4530 Oakenwald avenue, are spending some time at the art colony at Brown county, Indiana, after a motor trip to their farm in Ohio. They are accompanied by Mrs. Elmer Kress of Milford, O., who was their house guest during August.

Three South Side Women Tour Show Places in East

Mrs. Alice B. Smith, Mrs. George Palmer and Miss Mildred Palmer, 4322 Drexel boulevard, are enjoying an extensive motor trip east. Their itinerary includes Atlantic City, Saratoga, Newport, and New York City.

Faulkner School Principal Home After Stay in Italy

Miss Elizabeth Faulkner, principal of the Faulkner school, 4746 Dorchester avenue, has returned home after spending the summer at Sorrento, Italy, a garden spot near Naples. Her sister, Miss Georgene Faulkner, head of the kindergarten department of the school, and known as the "story lady," spent July and August at the MacDowell colony for creative artists at Peterboro, N. H., where she was at work at her latest book of children's stories.

Your Car Washed and Vacuumed in 15 Minutes
This Super-Service Station de luxe, located in the heart of the Stony Island District, is only one week old. Already over one thousand cars have gone through this wonderful plant and come out spik and span, inside and out. But this volume is not enough; we want every motorist to learn about this marvelous Automatic Auto Laundry; thus this special offer. Drive in; put your car in the hands of our expert staff. Then enjoy yourself in the luxurious lounges provided for both men and women. Or, if you desire, walk along the promenade and see every operation. And, in a few minutes, your car will be ready. "No delay while on your way." Clip the coupon below; bring it with you . . . it is worth money to you.
1. THE BLOW-OUT. First of all, a Pressure Blower drives all the loose dirt and dust out of the inside of your car.
2. CHASSIS SPRAY. The wheels and chassis get an Automatic Spray in a soft, soapy solution that loosens the mud.
3. WHEEL WASH. Everything below the fenders is cleaned off by the wheel washers, equipped with pressure guns that shoot a powerful stream of soft, warm water.
4. BODY AND TOP. The Top gets a combination Hosing and Brushing while the body gets a soft warm water spray.
5. MORE WATER. Gallons and gallons, applied with hose and sponge, remove the dirt and dirt only—no possible injury to your paint job.
6. JUST HOT AIR. Plenty of it, under pressure takes the water out of all the cracks (to prevent later streaking) and does the preliminary drying.
7. A CHAMOIS RUB. Applied with enough "elbow grease" to bring out all the beauty of your paint job.
8. THE GLASS JOB. All the Glass work on the car is cleaned and polished till it looks like it isn't there at all.
9. FINISHERS. These men give the body, nickel work, dashboard, steering wheel, etc., a final touching up—and they're mighty particular.
10. VACUUM INSIDE. A powerful suction nozzle brings the bloom back to your upholstery just before you make your proud exit.

HARPER AVENUE HONORS FIRST U. OF C. LEADER

One of Many Memorials to Great Educator.

This article is the thirteenth of a series explaining the naming of streets and suburbs of the south side.

A life so rich and fruitful as that of William Rainey Harper, first president of the University of Chicago, naturally has many memorials. In 1912, when the city, in coöperation with the postoffice department, revised the names of Chicago streets, Jefferson avenue, a street near the university, was renamed Harper avenue in the great educator's honor.

It was on an afternoon in 1905 that President Harper, at the prime of life and at the height of his powers, called in two of his friends and told them that he had received his death sentence from his physicians. The end came on Jan. 10, 1906, in his fiftieth year and the fifteenth year of his university presidency.

Called Peer of Any in World.

It was said of him that there was not a man in the world in the previous decade, who was more widely known as an educator, as a creator, as a prophet, and as a poet in the old Greek sense of the term, in his field of education.

President Harper was born of Scotch-Irish stock at New Concord, O., in 1856. The boy had an insatiable appetite for intellectual exertion. He was able to read at the age of three, and entered Muskingum college at the age of ten. Before his nineteenth birthday he received the degree of doctor of philosophy at Yale university.

Dr. Harper's abilities as an instructor at Morgan Park seminary and at Denison university were quickly recognized, and it was realized by these institutions that they could not long hold him. In 1883, Dr. John H. Vincent made him a teacher of Hebrew in Chautauqua college of Liberal Arts and here he made a great impression.

Joined Faculty of Yale.

In 1886, he went to Yale as teacher of Semitic languages, and was also made an instructor in the divinity school. About this time he came to be in great demand on the lecture platform.

Those intimately connected with the founding of the University of Chicago, from the beginning, are said to have thought of Dr. Harper and him only as its president. He was elected to the position in 1891.

"BIG SISTER" OF NAVY PASSING VACATION HERE

Miss Mary McElliott of 3617 Lowe avenue, after enjoying a month's leave at her home, will return to the east this week to resume her duties as hostess and director of recreation at the National Navy club in New York City.

Miss McElliott, known as "The Navy's Big Sister," has been engaged in navy work for the last seven years, having spent several years at the Hostess house at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. In 1927 she was appointed to the New York club, the youngest woman engaged in this type of work.

The National Navy club was organized as headquarters for enlisted men of the navy and marine corps in 1917, and its doors have not closed night or day since that time. It is the only wartime Navy club still in existence.

Judge David to Address Am-Ehod Meeting Today

A joint program will be given by the Chatham Young People's club, the Amo-Ehod sisterhood and the Congregation of Am-Ehod this afternoon and evening at the Arthur Dixon school, 83d street and St. Lawrence avenue. The important feature of the program is to be the presentation of its first Torah to the congregation by Simon H. Laxner.

Judge Joseph David and Max Schulman are among the well known speakers on the program. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

The committee on arrangements includes Louis Leibsohn, L. Frank, Morris Geiderman, Sam Leibsohn, Sol Glassman, Harold Rosenberg, Carl Seltzer and Jacob Stengel.

WOMEN VOTERS OF SIXTH WARD PLAN FOR FALL

First Luncheon Meeting Set for Oct. 9.

The Sixth Ward League of Women Voters will hold its first meeting of the season Oct. 9, according to Mrs. Henry B. Colby, chairman of the printing committee. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 o'clock with Dr. Hazel Dale in charge of arrangements, and speakers will include Mrs. J. Scott Matthews and Mrs. W. W. Ramsey.

Other meetings already scheduled on the season's program are a tea at the home of the president, Mrs. William Rothmann, 6148 Woodlawn avenue, three dinners with husbands of the members as guests, and two evening meetings for business women. Regular luncheon meetings will provide occasions for social contacts between members and strangers in the neighborhood.

Officers of the league installed last spring are: Mrs. William Rothmann, 6148 Woodlawn avenue, president; Mrs. J. Scott Matthews, 6449 Ingleside avenue, and Mrs. Henry B. Colby, 6111 Langley avenue, vice presidents; Mrs. Charles Hibbard, 9342 St. Lawrence avenue, recording secretary; Mrs. Lynn Stiles, 6357 Kimbark avenue, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Whittier, 967 East 61st street, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Brush, 6608 Blackstone avenue, assistant treasurer.

Directors elected for two years are Mrs. C. I. Palmer, 6440 Greenwood avenue; Mrs. A. N. Kelley, 1421 East 58th street; Mrs. M. E. Nixon, 6741 Indiana avenue; Mrs. E. W. Evenson, 6133 University avenue; Mrs. M. V. Ayres, 7416 South Peoria street; Miss Marion Bragdon, 6450 Kenwood avenue; Miss Myrtle Moulton, Mrs. W. C. Staat, 545½ East 60th street; Mrs. R. A. Cochran, 6140 Kimbark avenue; and Mrs. J. B. Skinner, 8000 Langley avenue.

Mrs. Blanche Black Killed by Auto; Funeral Is Held

Mrs. Blanche Black, 6007 Lafayette avenue, 55 years old, was killed on Tuesday when an automobile ran over her. Mrs. Black had been a widow for some years and is survived by three children, Charles F. Willey, Mrs. E. R. Spoor and Mrs. J. H. Wallace. Sisters of Mrs. Black are Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. Clara Dugger, and her brothers are Frank A. and Charles N. Stephens. Burial will take place at Albuquerque, N. M., former residence of Mrs. Black.

SQUARE LEGION POST TO HOLD PICNIC TODAY

Chooses Delegates to Illinois Convention.

Square post, No. 232, the American Legion, holds its annual picnic today at THE TRIBUNE Forty and Eight chalet, 95th street and Archer avenue.

R. C. Day, publicity chairman, announced the selection of delegates of Square post to the state convention at Rock Island Sept. 15 and 16. The following are to represent the post: Henry J. Watson, Fred B. Weidenaar, Fred J. Nelson, Nate T. Feldt, Paul G. Armstrong, Erwin L. Dankers, Guy E. Hopkins, Russell C. Smith, Fred E. Bushnell, Carl R. Hesler, William Gates, Donald F. Brown, Frank Ives, William Paine, Frank Cunningham, Lee Karl, Ronald Cameron and Tom Doonan.

According to Mr. Day, the post drum and bugle corps will accompany the delegates to the convention.

With upward of 75,000 guests expected in Louisville during the eleventh national convention of the American Legion, Sept. 30 to Oct. 3, the question of registration becomes one of the real problems in the preconvention work, according to Frank D. Rash, president of the national convention corporation. The Louisville convention group has inaugurated an unique system to overcome this problem and at the same time protect the Legionnaires and auxiliary members in the matter of entertainment.

"We have distributed through national headquarters a card which, when properly filled out by the prospective visitor, is to be returned to the national convention corporation at Louisville in advance of the opening of the convention," Mr. Rash said. "These cards have been sent to the state adjutants along with the special low fare round trip railroad ticket applications. These cards can be obtained direct from the national convention corporation at Louisville.

"When these cards are sent in to us we receipt them and send them back to the Legionnaire or auxiliary member, and upon his or her arrival in Louisville it will be necessary for them merely to present the receipted card to a registration booth and receive a book of entertainment coupons, an official badge and an official program.

"We believe we have set a precedent in the matter of free entertainment at this convention, and visitors who register will be entitled to attend sixteen entertainment features. A fee of $1 is charged to cover cost of printing and distributing the entertainment coupon books, and this sum should be sent in with the registration card."

Woodlawn post, No. 175, participated in the festivities of the recent opening of the 63d street entrance into Jackson park by heading the parade with its band, drum and bugle corps and drill team.

The Wilmette auxiliary of the American Legion is planning its annual benefit for Sept. 27 at the Wilmette Masonic temple. Bridge and five hundred will be played. Members of the auxiliary will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 322 14th street, tomorrow evening for election of officers.

Medill-Tribune post, No. 348, will be represented at the department convention in the musical competition by Jack Bold, bugler.

Cook County council, American Legion auxiliaries, has indorsed Mrs. George M. Kellogg Jr. for department president. Mrs. Kellogg is a charter member of Hyde Park auxiliary. She served as secretary and then president of the Cook County council and many achievements are credited to her vision and ability to organize.

PEREZ FORUM TO GIVE INSTRUCTION ON MANY TOPICS

Plan Evening School to Accommodate All.

Men and young men who are more than 18 years old and who live in the southwest section of the city will be given an opportunity to attend evening school at the new Father Perez Community forum, which will be located in the Father Perez clubhouse, 67th and May streets.

The Father Perez council, Knights of Columbus, with the coöperation of community business men, is sponsoring the forum. The educational program will consist of study classes in special subjects and lectures on topics of general interest.

New Directors Speak.

A public announcement of the new forum was made at a meeting of members of the council and residents of the community Friday evening in the clubhouse. William H. McDonnell, chairman of the educational committee of the organization, and Harold F. North, who has been appointed director of the forum, were the principal speakers at the meeting.

"The objects of the forum," Mr. McDonnell pointed out, "are to stimulate interest in education among the membership of the Father Perez council and all others living in the community; to provide opportunity for the study of specific subjects under competent instructors whenever there is a sufficient demand to justify the establishment of the course or courses; to promote a bureau of service that will be helpful to those who are interested in educational subjects which are beyond the facilities of the clubhouse, and to promote any activity that will be beneficial to the individual, the community, or the Father Perez council."

Give Outline of Courses.

According to Mr. North, the courses offered for the 1929-30 season include public speaking, business letter writing, business arithmetic, problems of modern foremanship and elementary commercial law. Other courses will be opened if there is a sufficient number of persons who want to take them.

Classes in each subject will meet one hour an evening, one evening a week, and will be conducted by competent instructors. A small tuition fee will be charged.

Mr. North, who is director of the forum, is associated with the educational department of Swift and company and has been engaged in industrial educational work for more than ten years.

Enrollment is open to any man, whether he is a member of the order or not.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

High school students, send in your best laughs to the Chuckle Editor of The Tribune. Two dollars will be paid for each jingle, joke, or verse printed in the Metropolitan section. Address your contributions to the Chuckle Editor, Metropolitan section, The Tribune. Write on one side of the paper only, and print your name and address plainly.

"Will you be lookin' here," demanded Patrick Murphy of the waiter, "this lobster has but one claw just?"

"Aha," explained the waiter, expert through long practice, "you see, lobsters often fight with each other and occasionally one loses a claw."

"Aha, yerself," said Patrick pushing back his plate, "that being the case, bring me the winner."

BOY CLUB NEEDS LIFT; ORGANIZE MOMS AND DADS

Parents' Auxiliary to Help Equip Playground.

It was on one of those nice springtime days when little boys begin to dream of vacation days and all the good times they're going to have when school closes for the warm summer months that three of his pals came over to play with young Paul Huston in his back yard at 7422 Jeffery avenue. James Baldwin, George Gates, and Donald Iliff were their names—Jimmy and Georgie and Don.

"You know what, fellows," suggested one of the lively trio, "we ought to have a club same as the grown folks have—get all the kids around here together, and I'll bet we could have some of the greatest times this vacation!"

Win Neighborhood to Idea.

"O, boy, that's an idea!" And the motion was unanimously adopted. All the neighborhood youngsters from the tiny tots who couldn't go to school yet on up to the 15 year old ones thought it was a fine idea too.

They went to see James Adams, who owned the vacant lot at the northeast corner of 75th street and Euclid avenue. A playground was a much better place to meet than in club rooms, of course. Mr. Adams didn't have any immediate use for the lot and he guessed it would make a first rate meeting place.

But playgrounds as well as club rooms have to be furnished if they are to be all they should be. You buy things to furnish such places with dues that members of the club pay into the treasury. The kids all thought they could pay 50 cents a year dues, and there were about forty of them. That would be lots of money, but not quite enough to get all the furnishings that such a club should have.

How About Moms and Dads?

Maybe the mothers and dads of the members could solve the difficulty. And, sure enough, there is to be an adult advisory council to the Bryn Mawr Juvenile Neighborhood club. There are about sixty fathers and mothers who think they may be able to pay $1 a year dues and they're going to meet to talk about it at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, 74th street and Jeffery avenue, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

George Gates, one of the original members, will preside at the meeting. Jimmy Baldwin left the neighborhood some time ago, but William Goodman is taking his place, and Paul Huston and Don Iliff will be there to help George out if he should need any help. And some of the newer members may be there, too, to tell the grownup folks all about the new club.

Burial Services Held for Edward L. Krause

Last rites for Edward L. Krause, 11 years old, who died Wednesday at his home, 8017 Euclid avenue, were held from the chapel, 8944 Commercial avenue, Thursday afternoon. He was buried at Michigan City, Ind. Mr. Krause, who was born in Michigan City, lived on the south side for more than 11 years. He was employed as an agent for the American Railway Express company. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Henrietta Krause, and a daughter, Miss Carolyn Krause.

NYE BOOSTS HIS PLAN FOR U. S. OWNED STATION

Would Keep Channel Free for Public.

The question of whether or not the government should operate its own broadcasting station for the purpose of disseminating information by government agencies was brought to the fore again recently by Senator Nye of North Dakota, who commented on the bill to this effect which he has introduced.

The bill would provide for establishment of such a station in Washington, D. C., with authority for the secretary of commerce to establish additional stations if necessary "to assure that matter broadcast shall reach simultaneously all sections of the country."

Would Broadcast Debates.

In addition to government information, the bill further provides for the broadcasting of debates on important issues from the floors of either house of congress. This would be done whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the senate or house, pending legislation was a matter of wide interest.

"The political campaigns of the future will be largely campaigns by radio," Senator Nye said, "and to prevent the control of public discussion by privately owned stations the enactment of the measure will assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

Enormous Sums Spent.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national governmental owned station all parties can reach the voter without expense; thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion. The cost of such a station would be small compared to the tremendous importance of preserving forever a free channel of discussion for the people. The people must save for themselves this right to the air.

"Over the radio there is no bias. The listener-in forms his judgment from the actual spoken words. His intelligence reacts to the argument, as if he were actually present."

Trinity M. E. Sunday School Ends Its Summer Programs

The special summer programs in the Sunday school of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Winchester avenue at 99th street, which have been under the supervision of Supt. Alfred C. Crawford, came to a close Sunday. The Rev. Martin J. Magor, pastor, preached on the subject "The Blessed and Holy Trinity."

An utterly new thing in radio

We've Caught at Last the Fleeting Thing in Music That Millions Respond To When a Master Plays or Sings ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Now comes a vast improvement in radio reproduction.

Your favorite type of music, by this new discovery, brings a thrill more deeply moving. It increases your enjoyment. It brings far reaching cultural effects. Due to a higher development in musical reproduction, more true, more faithful to the original.

We found a way to gain this fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation that cuts out every whisper of outside noise, hum or interference. So sure is this method it eliminates sounds the human ear cannot distinguish.

This mechanism is very delicate. It requires us to supersensitize every point of contact by plating it with gold. This way only is it possible to reproduce the true performance of the artist.

By eliminating interference we are able to amplify even the overtones. You hear the soul of the music. You hear not only the sound. You actually feel the personality, the emotions of the artist who plays or sings.

That means a radio unlike any you have ever known. All music then brings a cultural influence never possible with imperfect reproduction. You'll want these effects immediately instead of any radio you may own. Especially when you remember our well earned title "The Set with the Punch"—the punch that means distant stations come booming in with all the volume and clarity of a local—the punch that mean entire absence of A. C. hum and interference. So see this new advancement at once. Go to the nearest Stewart-Warner dealer. Hear its punch and power.

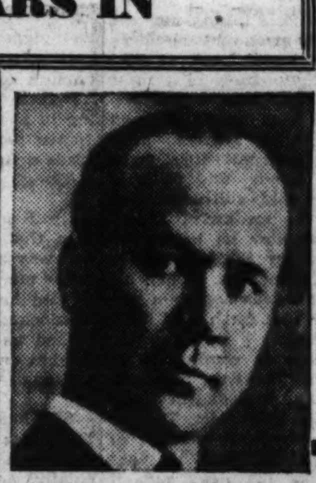
SEPTEMBER IN MICHIGAN

That faint sniff of autumn that is first noticed early in September has been incorporated by Blair Walliser into a lovely half hour of songstrous entertainment. The scene for such songs is laid in a picturesque portion of the Wolverine State. "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" is to begin a prancing program of vocalism by Walter Pontius, tenor. The Violin Choir fiddles a sentimental section which includes the "Indian Love Call." Instrumental contributions by the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra include "Hippity Hop" and "Yellow and Blue." It'll be good. 8:45.

DANCE KING AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Jean Goldkette, king of the modern dance muse, points his syncopating scepter at the ceiling, poised ready to signal the start of a big day of dance music. He doffs his crown to a million attentive ears, and hangs it over the end of Bill Herring's trombone. Victor Young, violin virtuoso, has made elaborate, symphony-like orchestrations. Paul Mertz plays the most savage rhythm with the most sophisticated technique at the piano. It's a great band with a great name. 1:30, 2:25 and 11:00.

D'ALMADA APPEARS IN CONCERT



Cosmo d'Almada, one of the most prominent of American operatic baritones in world musical circles, bows his way onto the air tonight. Years of study in France, Italy and Spain have developed an artistic lustre to a phenomenally great natural talent. Not only is d'Almada a proficient singer in English, but he is also fluent in French, Italian and Spanish. In his program tonight this stellar artist includes the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and "The King's Prayer" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." D'Almada sings all of his songs with orchestral accompaniment.

QUIN SEES CUBS GAME

Quin Ryan, crack sports announcer, gives a crisp, direct word picture of the Cubs' battle with Boston this afternoon. W-G-N has obtained the best possible position for Quin and his microphone. TOM, DICK & HARRY GLORIFY SONGS

Old-fashioned harmony all dressed up in the most modern of raiment is the stock in trade of Tom, Dick and Harry. The three boys have glorified the old business of harmony to a true art. They juggle deft little notes into modernistic patterns, punctuating them with resonant plunks of their guitar. 5:30.

WAY SOUGHT TO REMEDY KINK IN LONGWOOD DRIVE

Ridge Civic Council Will Push Proposal.

Taking a kink out of Longwood drive where it intersects 95th street and the beautification of 95th street from Longwood drive to Western avenue are the two major projects of the Ridge Civic council for the next few months, according to Robert Blackburn, president of the organization.

At the present time, the north connection of Longwood drive with 95th street is 200 feet east of the southern connection. This compels motorists to make two hazardous turns in traveling on this thoroughfare through the Beverly Hills territory.

Seeks To Eliminate Corners.

According to Mr. Blackburn, this condition could be remedied by constructing a diagonal connecting link which would eliminate the two corners.

That a diagonal connecting link is the best solution to the traffic problem at this intersection is shown during the winter months. Mr. Blackburn said, when motorists cut a diagonal path for themselves through the snow in order to avoid skidding around the two corners.

Members of the board of directors of the organization at a meeting Thursday evening at the Ridge Park field house, 96th and Wood streets, discussed the advisability of seeking condemnation proceedings against the property owners on the southeast and northwest corners of 95th street and the drive to make way for the improvement.

Seek Aid of Residents.

Members of the organization are making plans for a campaign through which they hope to enlist the support of the property owners on both sides of 95th street, from Longwood drive to Western avenue, in an effort to raise funds to pay for the beautification of that thoroughfare.

Mr. Blackburn stated that it would be an easy matter to persuade property owners and residents living in the territory to make small donations so that the council could purchase small trees and shrubbery.

Banker Returns from Tour.

J. F. Russell, assistant vice president of the South Side Trust and Savings bank, 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, has returned from a three weeks' motor trip in the east.

BY QUIN RYAN.

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is W-G-N, bringing the Mike McTigue-Battling Siki fight to you direct from the Scala theater in Dublin, Ireland! And what an evening it's going to be! Excitement is running high in Dublin because of the troubles between the Republicans and the Free Staters, and when we came into the building we were searched thoroughly by a couple of policemen for concealed weapons. Everybody who's coming in is being searched. It is St. Patrick's night, 1923.

We're all set to go with this prize fight now, ladies and gentlemen. The ring has been cleared and only Battling Siki, Mike McTigue, and the referee remain!

[Bell!]

Here we go! Round one! Both men are coming out of their corners quickly in answer to the first tap of the gong. Siki, who hasn't got much of a defense, is sticking out those long brown arms in Mike's direction, and Mike is standing toe to toe and sparring cautiously. Siki's right darts out and Mike jumps back—the white boy is on his toes—Siki is after him and swinging his arms, but Mike is covering up cleverly. They've gone into a clinch. Now they've parted, and Siki is backing up till they're almost in the center of the ring again. Now they're sparring just easily and gently. . . . Siki tries a left swing across the body, but Mike's footwork is perfect and he dances away. . . . Siki is still grinning and talking to McTigue in French. Now Siki is starting out again! Whee! He connects with a left to Mike's head—the first clean punch of the fight, and Mike has gone into a clinch! Now they've broken again, and as they break Mike almost pushes Siki away. They're sparring again, with Mike still on the defensive . . . he just won't step into Siki, he's waiting for the black boy to come to him!

Siki tries with a right but Mike bobs his head and the punch misses. Now Mike unlooses a left—it's a corking drive that takes Siki on the side of the head, and the Senegalese goes into a clinch. That's the first real punch that Mike has shown so far in this scrap! Siki is now in a clinch—

[Bell!]

Well, that's all of round one. It was a tame beginning for a championship fight and neither man has yet shown what he can really do.

There's the warning whistle! The seconds are scrambling out of the ring once again, and we're ready for round two! There's the bell.

[Gong!]

Siki is out of his corner fast and meets McTigue more than half way across the ring. Siki's cutting loose. His rights and lefts are just like a shower on Mike! Siki connects! He lands a hard right to McTigue's face and the Irishman is going into a clinch. Now the referee breaks them apart, but Mike doesn't appear hurt—the punch hasn't hurt him. Look at Siki! He's ripping in again! He's determined to do something! He's hitting McTigue with everything but the ringposts. But Mike is taking most of the punches on his arms and shoulders and now he lets loose! Look at Siki back away! McTigue drove in a right hander that sent Siki back a few feet! But the colored boy hasn't stopped grinning! Maybe they learn to keep on grinning in Senegal! He's right back with both bands, and Mike is being kept busy! Siki unleashes that right hand—O, it's an awful wallop in the body, and now he brings up his left! One-two for Siki, and Mike has gone into a clinch to gather his wits together. That was a pair of awful socks that Siki let forth, and Mike certainly felt them.

Now the referee is coming in to break them again. The fight has been all Siki's so far and he looks in a fair way to continue as titleholder. They're just sparring easily in the center of the ring—now Siki tries with his right hand—Mike ducks his head and it passes over easily—Siki is almost unbalanced by the force of the blow, and a quick right jab from Mike has him reeling.

[Gong!]

That's all of round two! It's a pretty tame fight. Siki, the singular Senegalese, has all the better of it thus far and we'll have to concede him both these first two rounds by a wide margin.

There's the whistle. Seconds out of the ring! Here we go into round three! There are still eighteen rounds to come!

[Gong!]

Round three! Siki is out of his corner more slowly this time—in fact, his seconds have to tell him to go in and start fighting. Mike waits for him in the middle of the ring, and they're sparring cautiously out there—Whoop, Mike whips one over Siki's guard straight at the big grinning mouth, and Siki lets out an awful howl! Siki is growling, and he's stopped grinning! Into a clinch they go now, and Mike is pummeling Siki's body while they're in close. He has Siki backing away—but not far! Siki is waiting for him, but Mike won't come in. Now Siki is sparring with him! They're goes his right again.

The referee has a hard time prying them apart. Now they're separated, and Mike looks O. K. again. They're sparring easily over in a neutral corner—Siki is trying to back McTigue into the corner, but Mike dances away and to one side.

There's the bell! That's all of round three! And there are still seventeen rounds left of this fight! Well, you never can tell. Maybe something will happen to make this fight interesting.

[Gong!]

Round four! Siki is out of his corner in a flash again, and oohhh! he's sent home a left to Mike's head, before the Irish boy realized what was coming! Mike's gone into a clinch to weather the gale, and he's locked Siki's arms again, and he's tapping the colored boy's kidneys! Siki's trying to wrench himself loose so that he can keep on punching! Now they are separated, and Siki is coming in close again. Whee! Mike lands lightly to his head with a left, and a right—Mike lands a hard right to his body! Siki doesn't mind—he's coming in! He's in! Ow! He drives an awful wallop at Mike's body.

Siki's grinning again! Now they're just sparring easily in the center of the ring, with Mike dancing back every time Siki reaches out one of those long arms. The crowd is calling to them to start fighting. Siki lands with his left. It's a light blow that McTigue catches on the neck—now they've clinched again and—

[Gong!]

(Interlude.)

An now for a time we leave our announcer and his prize fight three thousand miles across the sea. The tumult and the shouting dies from our ears for a time, but the fight goes on. Into the fifth round it goes with the son of Senegal retaining his early advantage, increasing it even, and into the sixth, the seventh, the tenth, the fourteenth.

And slowly it weakens as the fight goes into the sixteenth round; Siki grows weaker in the seventeenth, and his strength is fast ebbing when the eighteenth has passed. Can he stick it out? Will he last until the end—until twenty rounds are over? Back we go to our announcer and to the scene of the prize fight as they go into the nineteenth round!

Gong!

Round nineteen! Siki is coming slowly out of his corner. They are sparring in the center of the ring, with Mike still on his toes. Mike goes in right and left—one—two to Siki's head, and Siki is bringing up his hands to guard his battered face—Mike is working on his body—O! There's an awful right hand wallop to Siki's stomach—it hurt the black boy—he's hurt—he's almost doubled over—I'll bet the champagne is talking back to him—now Mike is plastering his unprotected head with lefts and rights, lefts and rights. Siki is getting groggy—he's coming in and holding on!

(Gong!)

O! I guess the bell saved Siki's skin that time. Mike had him in a bad way at the end of the round, and a few more good punches would have bowled him over. There hasn't been a knockdown yet in this fight, and it looked as if one was surely coming in that frame.

(Gong!)

Siki looks as though he's crying as he comes out of his corner for the twentieth and last round! Mike is coming across the ring to meet him and lands a hard right to the head, as Siki is trying to come into a clinch. He has his head down and just edging forward blindly with his arms outstretched trying to grab Mike. Mike is backing away, and sticking out his left hand, jabbing Siki on the face and neck. Now Siki rushes forward, and Mike slips to one side, and—how he pastes him! What a wallop it was! It almost bowled Siki over. An awful right hand sock on the side of the head! Now Mike is turning on him.

(Gong!)

That's all, the fight is over, with both men still on their feet, and in just a moment we'll have the official decision of the judges. The fighters have retired to their corners—Siki's seconds came out and pulled him towards his stool! There's the announcer—he's got the slips!

Mike McTigue gets the decision! Meet the new light heavyweight champion of the world!

RADICAL CHANGES IN RADIO LAWS ARE SUGGESTED

Commission Counsel Has Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sweeping changes in the existing laws governing radio communication, which would eliminate sectional representation on the radio commission and would modify the provision which demands equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the five zones, have been proposed by Bethuel M. Webster, general counsel of the radio commission, in a letter addressed to Senator James Couzens, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, in response to the request of the latter.

The amendments suggested are for the Couzens bill for the creation of a communications commission, now under consideration by the senate committee, as well as the radio act of 1927. They are intended to remedy defects encountered in the administration of the latter act, Mr. Webster said, and also embody the opinions of the general counsel on the Couzens proposals without taking any stand on the suggested communications commission itself.

Amply Protect Public.

Indorsing the elimination of section 17 of the radio act, which prevents the merger of wire and wireless companies, Mr. Webster stated that, in his opinion, the anti-trust laws, together with the power conferred by the Couzens bill, would "amply protect the public against the evils of monopoly." As it is now, it is "unintelligible," he said.

This stand is particularly significant, it is considered, in view of the recent agitation for such consolidation in this country to compete more effectively with Great Britain. It was brought out at a hearing before the senate committee several months ago that the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation had reached an agreement whereby they would combine their facilities if the government would permit.

Would Modify Amendment.

As to the modification of the terms of the Davis amendment, which requires equal allocation of broadcasting licenses and frequencies among the several zones, Mr. Webster says: "the commission shall make such distribution of licenses, frequencies, hours of operation, and power among the several states and communities as to provide an equitable distribution of good radio reception among the same."

If Mr. Webster's proposals are followed, the Couzens bill will include a provision for the transfer of the functions and the property of the radio division of the department of commerce to the commission on communications. Such a provision would result in giving the commission the power to license station operators, to assign call letters, and to carry on a radio inspection and police service.

Elimination of the use of construction permits before licenses may be issued applicants; revision of the provisions regarding holding of hearings; amendment of the provision prohibiting alien directors of corporations holding licenses; rigid provisions to prevent the practice of "trafficking" in radio licenses, and a "convenient procedure" for revocation and suspension of station licenses, also are recommended.

J. E. CALLAGHAN, EX-PUBLISHER OF BOOKS, DIES

Resident of South Side for 68 Years.

James Edward Callaghan, 72 years old, retired president of Callaghan & Co., 401 East Ohio street, one of the largest law book firms in the middle west, died Monday evening in Presbyterian hospital after a brief illness. Funeral was held from his home, 5529 Cornell avenue, to St. Thomas the Apostle church, 55th street and Kimbark avenue, Wednesday morning. He was buried in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Callaghan, who was born in Boston, Mass., was an early resident of the south side, having come to that section more than 68 years ago. He became president of the law publishing company after the death of his father, Bernard Callaghan, who founded the firm. He remained as active head of the company for more than 25 years and retired nine years ago.

Mr. Callaghan, who was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary and Miss Emma Margaret, and a sister, Mrs. E. V. McDonald.

RITES CONDUCTED ON WEDNESDAY FOR LEO MILLER

Funeral services for Leo Miller, 52 years old, who died last Sunday evening after a long illness at his home, 6417 Ingleside avenue, were held from the chapel, 936 East 47th street, on Wednesday morning. He was buried at Mount Israel cemetery. Mr. Miller, who was born and reared on the south side of Chicago, was president of the Leo Furniture company, 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, for ten years. He retired from business a year ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie Miller; a son, Milton; two brothers, Charles and Harry, and a sister, Mrs. Hattie Marcus.

SERVICES HELD IN FAMILY HOME FOR PIONEER

Patrick Russell, 65 years old, an employé of Swift & Co. for more than 30 years, died after a short illness Monday evening. Funeral services were held from the family home, 1140 West 78th street, to St. Sabina's church Thursday morning. He was buried at Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Mr. Russell, who was born in Ireland, resided on the south side of Chicago for more than 50 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Russell; two sons, John and William, and four daughters, Mrs. William Murphy, Mrs. Frank O'Keefe, Mrs. Arthur Latourelle, and Mrs. James Murphy.

Mrs. Bertha Bontemps, South Sider 44 Years, Dies

Mrs. Bertha Bontemps, a resident of the south side since 1885, died on Tuesday in a Peoria hospital after a prolonged illness. Sixty-six years old at the time of her death, Mrs. Bontemps had survived her husband, Earl W. Bontemps, and until recently had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Kuehne, 7955 Calumet avenue. Mrs. Bontemps is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mathilde Land and Mrs. Nora Momsen, and by a brother, Otto Meyer. Children living are Gustav Bontemps and Mrs. Lucille Kuehne, still residents of the south side, and Mrs. Elsie Kantz, Carl, Paul and Alex. Funeral services were privately conducted at Oakwood cemetery chapel. Mrs. Bontemps was born in Germany and came to this country in her childhood.

Emerson Rites Conducted by Englewood Templars

Wilmot H. Emerson, 71 years old, station agent for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad for more than 40 years, who died suddenly last Sunday at his home, 7216 Yates avenue, was buried Wednesday after services held under the auspices of the Englewood Commandery, No. 59, Knights Templar, from the chapel, 62d place and Normal boulevard. Interment was at Havana, Ill. Mr. Emerson, who was born in Havana, resided on the south side for more than 50 years.

Funeral Service Held for Mrs. May Louise Shipman

Mrs. May Louise Shipman, 73 years old, died Tuesday. A native of Nebraska, she had lived on the south side for some years. She was the widow of Terrance Shipman, and is survived by two sons, Robert C. and Malcolm H. Mills. Funeral services were held Friday at her home, 8235 Maryland avenue, and burial took place in Forest Home cemetery.

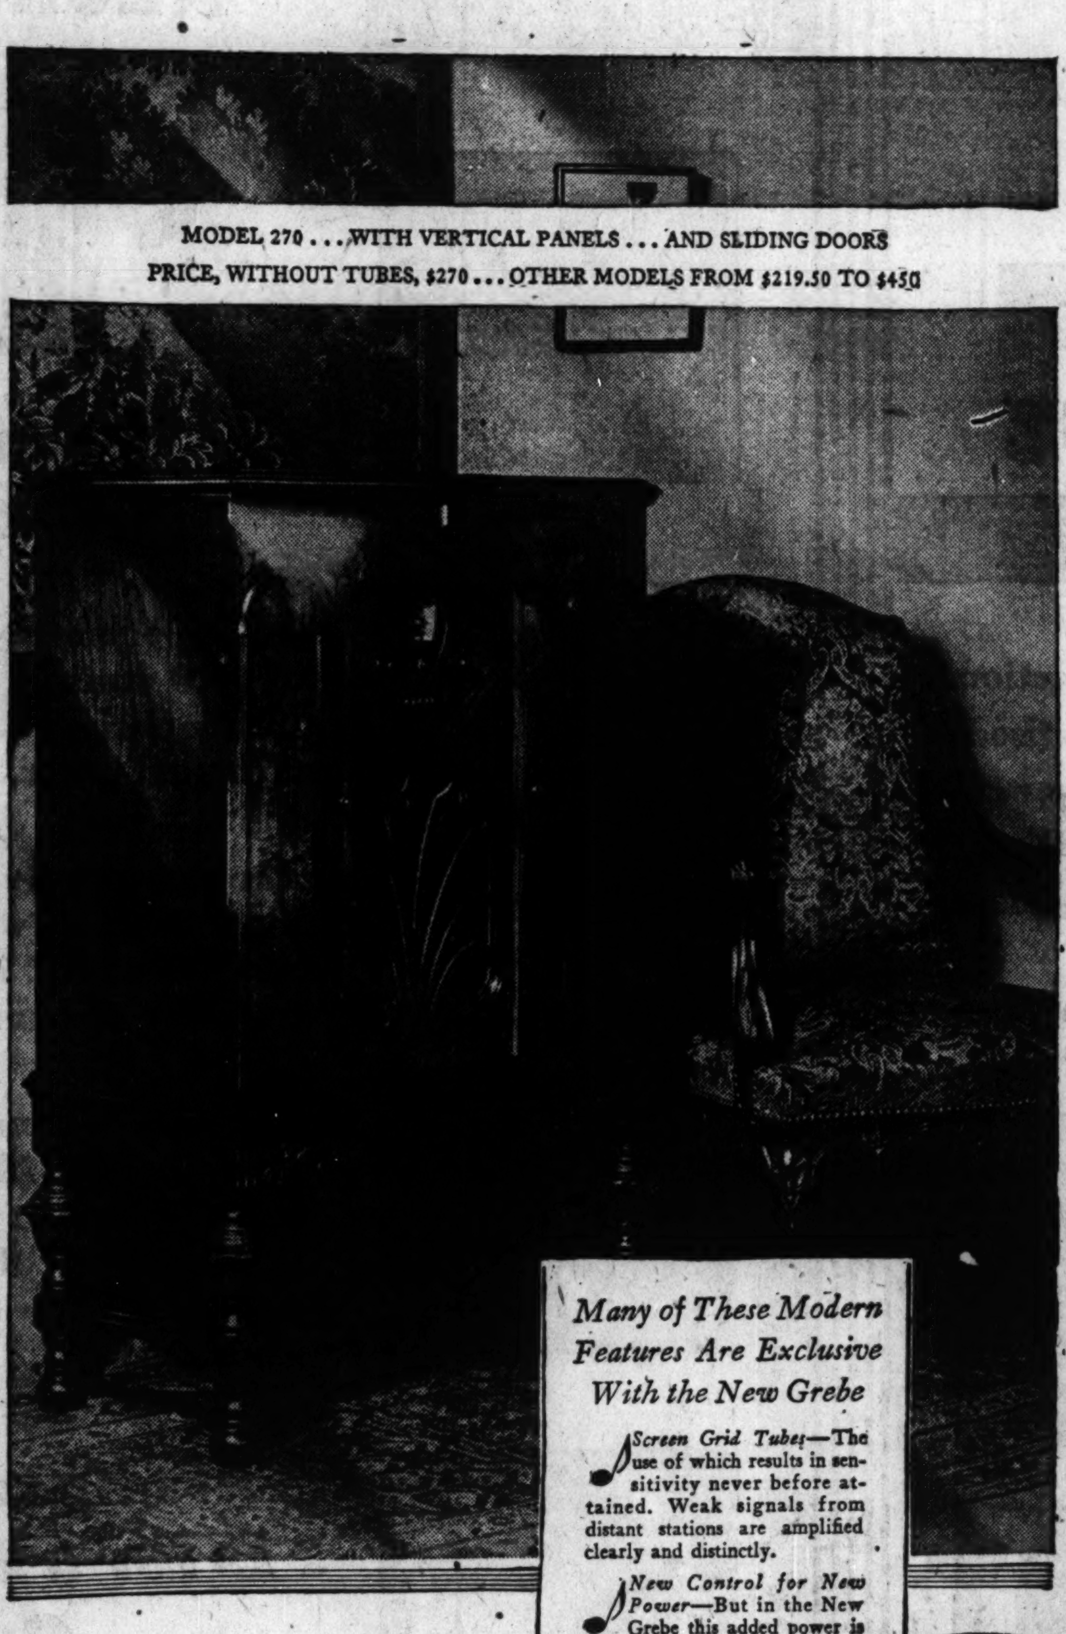
NEWER than screen grid!

Announcing the most modern principle of Screen Grid Radio . . .

Developed by Grebe



MODEL 270 . . . WITH VERTICAL PANELS . . . AND SLIDING DOORS
PRICE, WITHOUT TUBES, $270 . . . OTHER MODELS FROM $219.50 TO $450

To those radio buyers who really place a premium on life-like tone in reproduction . . . who really are looking for quality in reception—whether it be from distant or local stations—the distinct merits of this truly delightful instrument will have instant appeal.

The New Grebe is just out . . . and with it comes the secret of its tonal excellence — the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" used with screen grid tubes. To most people this will mean simply a technical term. But what this exclusive Grebe development does in utilizing all the advantages of the new screen grid tubes . . . controlling their power without subduing it—eliminating all outside noise and interference . . . means very much to every discriminating buyer who is seeking the best and latest in radio.

This New Grebe fully responds to the keenest need in radio today—silent power. For its silent power results in pure tones . . . entirely freed from all distortion of station overlapping or power hum.

Screen Grid Justifies the Public's Quick Acceptance

The many advantages of this new tube insure ever increasing popularity—and point to its long continued use. To quote but one of many prominent radio engineers, "The present indications are that it will occupy an important place in receivers produced during the next few years." Yet screen grid tubes, by themselves, are not enough. Alone, they do not constitute a new order of results. But in the combination of Screen Grid with the Grebe "Equalized Band Pass Filter" a new perfection has been reached.

As a prominent consulting radio engineer puts it: "I regard the appearance of the band selector frequency amplifier as the most important trend of the current season." Here then in a word is the New Grebe . . . another Grebe triumph . . . another instance of Grebe pioneering.

Twenty Years of Craftsmanship and Experience Are Built Into Every Grebe Receiver

For twenty years the words Grebe and Radio have been synonymous. Even before the days of broadcasting Grebe was fabricating fine precision radio instruments —many of which, during the World War, were to be found in the radio rooms of our fleets . . . and those of our allies. Craftsmanship has always been a Grebe creed. With Grebe, radio is not a side line. A pioneer in the industry, Grebe is still pioneering. Always a step or two in advance, this latest step is Grebe's most important contribution to the full enjoyment of radio.

Every Grebe a Finished Musical Instrument

While each Grebe model is especially designed for its acoustic values, each is a beautiful piece of furniture fitting harmoniously into the room where dignity is the keynote. Having always borne a reputation for craftsmanship . . . for quality rather than quantity . . . relatively few Grebes are made each year. So we suggest that you make your selection early. See and hear this New Grebe for yourself. A forty-eight hour demonstration in your home will be gladly given by your dealer. Hear for the first time . . . Tri-toned radio.*

Many of These Modern Features Are Exclusive With the New Grebe

- Screen Grid Tubes—The use of which results in sensitivity never before attained. Weak signals from distant stations are amplified clearly and distinctly.
- New Control for New Power—But in the New Grebe this added power is controlled. Overlapping of stations is eliminated . . . strays are kept out. You get the full tone value made possible by that exclusive Grebe feature—the Equalized Band Pass Filter.
- Single Audio Stage Means No Hum—Grebe reception is so strong . . . so pure in tonal characteristics . . . that only a single audio stage is needed. Hum and microphonic disturbances are eliminated.
- Large Diameter Speaker . . . an Original Grebe Idea—Full tone range is effectively accomplished by special large diameter electrodynamic speaker . . . so successfully introduced by Grebe.
- For Superb Reproduction of Phonograph Records—You can play your favorite phonograph records by a mere turn of the tuning dial. This automatically connects the electric phonograph pick-up with its specially wound transformer.
- Cabinets Designed for Lasting Beauty and Acoustic Perfection—The New Grebe is obtainable in a wide choice of selected walnut and mahogany lowboy and highboy models. Furniture of characteristic beauty and dignity . . . and expertly designed for its acoustic properties. In a word, Grebe craftsmanship.

 What is Tri-toned Radio? . . . .*

Every musical sound has three distinct characteristics: 1. Pitch, by which we distinguish the note as being high or low; 2. Intensity or loudness; and, 3. Tone, or character by which we distinguish the sound of one musical instrument from that of another. In Grebe Radio you have reproduction that gives you perfect blending of all three characteristics without unnatural over-emphasis of any part of the scale . . . Tri-toned radio.

Employers

Which Will It Be FOR YOU?

READ WHY YOU SHOULD LEARN BEAUTY CULTURE OR BARBERING AT MOLER'S.

Nearly half a century ago Mr. Moler founded his first school to teach Barbering and Beauty Culture. So great has the success of this business been that now you will find a Moler institution in nearly all the large cities in the United States.

Seventy-five per cent of the Beauty Specialists and Barbers are graduates of SOME Moler College. This is also true of the SHOP OWNER—YOUR future employers.

It does not require a great deal of imagination to understand what this means to any one that possesses the Moler diploma. All boiled down, it means just this: That you will find a job waiting for you when you graduate in one of the better shops. You will be in constant demand—at a big salary—in these big pay fields.

So great is the reputation of Moler's that it will do these things for you. Your future employer has been trained in the same institution as you.

He or she, as the case may be, is familiar with Moler's methods of instruction, they know that the Moler students are unsurpassable.

This is not only true in Chicago, but coast to coast, because Moler has branches everywhere. Perhaps you would like to work aboard a transcontinental train, ocean liner, or have your own shop.

AND YOU EARN $100 WHILE ATTENDING

Write or phone for our beautiful catalog or, still better, come in—visit our school and see for yourself why you should learn Beauty Culture or Barbering at Executives and Managers.

An Open Letter to Executives.

GENTLEMEN:

I am a young man of 20 years who wishes to secure a position with a fruitful future which entails responsibility, effort and original thinking.

I am now a draftsman earning $125 a month but believe to achieve genuine success, and to "drink life's cup to the full," a man should spend his early life in God's great out-of-doors in contact with nature and his brothermen.

I have an excellent record, both in the scholastic and working worlds. My chief interests are mathematics, science and literature, and an interview will prove whether or not I possess the personal qualities your field requires. Address H 236, Tribune.

Manufacturing Executive.

Practical mechanical engineer with a thorough knowledge of designs, foundry, machine and tool practice, the buying of all kinds of materials with the best system of efficiency, planning, routing and cost, with a thorough understanding of labor, of handling a number of men—a man of keen executive and organizing ability, capable of throwing immediate speed and accuracy into production to make things pay; available; might consid. investment. Address G 574, Tribune.

CONFIDENTIAL SECRET'Y SEEKS OPPORTUNITY.

An alert, keenly ambitious young man of good education, initiative, and thoroughly dependable; age 25, having 3 years' unusual experience as confidential secretary-stenographer to the chief executive of a nationally known Chicago corp., desires to make progress and better conditions. Willing to earn promotion by hard work. Excellent references. Address G T 475, Tribune.

A-A-A

Men Working for Us Wrote This "Ad"

IT'S A STORY OF PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.

We are increasing our sales force and want additional men who can do as well.

Men have come to us from all lines of previous endeavor. They had reached their limits of earnings and their earnings failed to provide the comfort, the happiness, the education to which their families were entitled.

In our business these men have found an outlet for their ambitions. Their earnings are dependent on their efforts. They found they were in business for themselves, reaping the rewards of independent business without the heavy investment of capital.

These are all actual experiences of men in the business or profession named. We have their signed statements. Most of them had had no previous sales experience.

MINISTER—M. H. H.: "I was over $1,000 in debt—had a family to support. Within a few months I had earned several thousand dollars, won $500 in cash prizes and an automobile."

MACHINIST—A. P.: "I worked as a machinist, earning $40 per week. Since joining you I have purchased my own home, a new six cylinder car, refurnished my home, and I earn over $6,000 a year."

VACUUM CLEANER SALESMAN—W. S. H. says: "I tripled my income my first year. This year I expect to earn between $6,000 and $7,000—I had 159 sales phoned in or mailed to me my first year."

CARPENTER—W. B. D. says: "I was a carpenter—the best I could do was $45 a week when I could work. I was out of work quite a bit. Now my average income is around $500 per month."

INSURANCE—E. L. W. writes: "I had been in this one line thirteen years; the responsibility great, the remuneration poor. At the beginning with you I set my mark for $7,500 per year, but it will be five figures instead of four."

LAWYER—E. D. S.: "I practiced law fourteen years—I started with you April 6th—my earnings the first month were $600, and they have averaged that figure."

SPECIALTY SALESMAN—R. S.: "After years of experience selling different specialties I was persuaded to join your organization. During the month of August I earned better than $1,200. My family and I are happy in our new permanent work."

SCHOOL TEACHER—F. R. writes: "I am now earning $60 daily. Think of it! This is far more than I ever earned as a professor of languages and as a minister. My family is enjoying comforts such as they never had."

RADIO SALESMAN — R. K.: "I have been with this organization eight months and have averaged $504 per month to date. There is no better proposition. I expect to earn $10,000 this year."

REAL ESTATE—Frank P. writes: "I owned a half interest in a real estate organization—my earnings averaged $5,000 per year. In this new work I made $1,000 in my first full month. I believe you offer the greatest opportunity of any in the country."

BRUSH SALESMAN—E. G. B. says: "My first week, I earned $125 and a short time later I received $300 for a single week's work. For the past several months my earnings have passed $700 per month."

JEWELER—E. R.: "I owned a jewelry store and cashed the weekly checks of one of your men. Some weeks his checks were bigger than my profits. I had a big investment, he had none. So I sold my business and went with you. If I had known about it before I would have joined your ranks long before I did."

ACCOUNTANT—R. C. A.: "I was drawing $160 per month with —— Motor Company. I have realized more than this in one week with you. You have given my wife and three children happiness they could not have received in my other position."

FARMER—Max D.: "I was a farmer in Germany, made $13 per week. You can imagine how little English I spoke with only two months in America. My brother was with you. I joined him in April, 1926. During the past six months I have earned a salary of $6,000 and am the possessor of a fine Whippet car, which I won in a contest."

TRAVELING SALESMAN—W. S.: "Growing tired of the life of a traveling salesman, away from home and family, I quit my $60 a week traveling job and joined your organization. In three years I have attained an income of $10,000 per year."

DIGNIFIED POSITION—E. P. S.: "I occupied a dignified position in a local manufacturing plant. I could see no chance to improve my earnings. I was advised to try your company. I did. I wish I could adequately describe what it means to me. I am now able to maintain a home in the finest residential section and provide for a family of six."

During the slack month of August 190 of our men averaged $40 per week during the entire month.

The above are a few selected from many—we have musicians, painters, clerks, meat cutters, book salesmen, portrait salesmen, toolmakers, grocers, doctors, engineers, iron workers, merchants, and many others who without previous experience fit this business like a glove.

It's a dignified, profitable business for young men of ability, integrity and character. It requires hard work, but pays well for it. We don't ask you to punch a clock, but expect an honest day every day. No matter what you are doing, or why it is not satisfactory, this offer of ours is worth your consideration. Just as the above stories are signed evidence of what other men are now doing, so are they a guarantee that other men can do as well.

We manufacture our own products and are rated in the millions.

Mr. Baldwin will interview men interested in this offer on Monday between 9 and 12, between 2 and 5, and Monday evening between 7 and 9.

GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION

A POSITION WHICH REQUIRES THE SERVICES OF A MAN WITH EXCEPTIONAL ABILITY.

Due to a national expansion program and recent promotions the Bolyn Corporation, Sales and Advertising Counselors, have an opening in their sales department for a man with the following qualifications, experience and background.

Age 30 to 45; diversified selling experience—comprising either advertising, high class specialties, stocks, books or intangibles; must have earned $7,000 per year or better for past three years; must have good appearance and have a reputation for responsibility and integrity.

The position to be filled should be worth $10,000 per year or better to the man who qualifies. We do not wish to interview a man who has a record of failure. We do not wish to interview a man who is financially embarrassed. We have nothing to sell the applicant, but we wish to employ only a man who is accustomed to success. We wish to interview a man who when selected will be available immediately.

Should you feel that you will be able to measure up to our qualifications you may phone for apointment and should you interest us over the phone we will grant you a personal interview. Or address.

A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

The Dartnell Corporation requires a capable specialty salesman who is ready to knuckle down to the development of a territorial business of his own that he can nurse along through the years. The man we engage will not look upon this as "my next job"—nor will he be after a quick cleanup. He will be a solid citizen, ready to build for permanence.

Our plan for distributing organized sales information has gained an enviable reputation among leading executives in 12 years. The men who can sell it are sound young business men with creative minds and a demonstrated ability to sell intangibles consistently.

We will set the right man up in a territory that already has a good volume of running business. He will be given a small salary for the maintenance of this business, for which he will render constructive service to our present customers. In addition he will be paid a liberal commission for new business which he secures.

Our clients stick and renew. Renewal commissions are an important factor in building an ever increasing income. We have sufficient confidence in our plan to sell it on a liberal trial offer which makes it easy for the right man to roll up good volume from the start. If you can really sell ideas, call Monday. DARTNELL CORPORATION. 4660 Ravenswood-av.

TO THE SALESMEN OF CHICAGO

I want to talk to you about this fall's business.

Our summer contest has just closed, indicating a vigorous upward trend in our business.

A new contest has just begun and will close with the end of the year. This contest is the backbone of our Fall Campaign.

Our advertising program will focus the public's attention on our properties.

We are offering properties with all improvements included in the purchase price, such as sewer, water, gas, electricity, paving, sidewalks, street lights, shrubs, and trees.

EXPERIENCED or INEXPERIENCED, if you are willing to work, THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY. Ask for

A MAN OF Exceptional Mentality

A manufacturer, rated AAA1, operating nationally, has an opening for a man of successful selling experience. Prefer one who has met and sold chief executives, although in the final analysis personality will be the determining factor.

We are not so much interested in a salesman as we are in a man with potential executive ability—one who can learn our business and then qualify to direct others. For such a man there is a brilliant future.

This is not stocks, bonds, real estate, insurance, or books—nor is it posters.
Do not investigate unless you feel confident that your services are worth $8,000 per year or more.

We can use a man immediately in each of the following territories: Minneapolis, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and one in Chicago.

We will grant you a personal interview if you are able to interest us over the telephone. Phone Mr. C. C. Below on Monday for appointment, Randolph 4745, or, if you prefer, address S M 331, Tribune.

A 20% COMMISSION will be paid a few reliable and experienced real estate salesmen and managers with cars.

Our property is in the city limits of Chicago and close in.

Our prices are low, and our terms are the best in town.

We advertise our properties extensively in all the large Chicago papers.

We are now starting a big building and expansion program.

Your financial requirements will be taken care of if we employ you.

References exchanged.

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR UNUSUAL MEN WITH UNUSUAL SALES ABILITY.

My job is to find the ten best salesmen in Chicago for an immediate important sales campaign in Chicago and other cities.

It makes no difference what you have been selling, but you must be experienced, capable, intelligent, well-dressed, honorable and industrious. You must be an unusually good salesman.

The concern is highly rated and its principals enjoy an enviable reputation for integrity and ability.

The proposition is of unusual investment nature, appealing particularly to business men of wealth and sagacity. Those are the kind of people you must be able to meet on common ground and sell.

We have many good leads. Our present salesmen are doing exceptionally well, and are making more money than they have ever made before. And they are enjoying the satisfaction of selling a big proposition of unusual merit that does not require high pressure.

Liberal compensation strictly on a commission basis. Positively no advances.

For personal interview call at Suite 1000, Lake-Michigan Bldg., 180 North Michigan-av.

An Executive of a Large International Corporation

Will interview several salesmen Monday, Sept. 9, for the purpose of selecting an A1 salesman with unusual background to represent them in several valuable territories.

We are not interested in any except the highest class men available. The position to be filled requires aggressiveness, initiative, tact, and good judgment. Unless you can make contact with big men and talk with them on a basis of equality, unless you have a record of honesty and integrity and are between the ages of 30 and 45, please do not waste our time or yours.

Should you be able to interest us over the phone we will give you a personal interview.

MARRIED MEN WILLING TO WORK
FOR $25 AND UP PER DAY.
Men who own their own homes or who want to own their own homes given preference. One hundred men have started to work for us in the last few weeks who have made $25 a day or more the first day they worked. Our biggest trouble is to keep men working after they make money. We are therefore looking for married men who want to live in a good home, in a good neighborhood, drive a good car, send their children to a good school wearing good clothes, and who are willing to do a day's work six days a week that will make them $25 a day or more in order to do this. Our business is young, is growing rapidly, and offers unlimited opportunity to men who will work. It is a kind of selling that is easy for experienced or inexperienced men to learn. You can learn our complete demonstration in a half hour. If you are looking for a high class business in which you can make real money and are willing to work steady for it—call at once—1488 Pure Oil Bldg., 35 E. Wacker-dr.

MEN

Waiting list will soon be established for applicants seeking positions with a large international organization; these lists already exist in many of the forty-three countries in which we operate over five hundred branch offices; we are just commencing operations in the United States and our expansion program calls for about forty men in the Illinois territory.

These men will be assured of a splendid income and remarkable future with a financially strong, old company; inasmuch as we are the only ones in our particular field we cannot get experienced men, and the qualifications are loyalty, intelligence, and aggressiveness.

Men who apply for personal interview from 9 to 12 Monday will be able to start work immediately if they are accepted.

CLUB ORGANIZERS.

Adults have had the benefits of clubs for years. At last a most unusual one has been organized exclusively for children under the 'teen age. Its name, the JUNIOR GOOD HABITS CLUB, implies its purpose. Desirable results are assured, for we deal directly with the children, making it an interesting game for them by mailing special awards each month for doing the things they should do, but seldom do; however, enjoy doing as club members. The membership benefits are numerous, the enrollment fee small, the appeal universal. We furnish a prospective membership list, do magazine advertising, direct advertising, pay transportation; give special co-operation and opportunity for advancement. If you are between the ages of twenty-five and forty-five, if you need and are willing to work, have a good education and personality, and are in a position to do some traveling, write fully concerning yourself for an appointment. Give phone number. Address P Y 288, Tribune.

TRIBUNE TOWER

The TRIBUNE TOWER is the coolest building in Chicago.

All the corridors are open to the outside air.

Every office is an outside office.

Every south, east, and west window has an awning.

The building is kept immaculately clean.

Windows stay up. It is quiet. The air is pure and there are no buildings to cut off light and breeze and radiate heat in your office.

Our offices are cheerful, delightful in summer and comfortable in winter.

If you are interested, let us try to meet your requirements.

Let Poultry Profits Help Pay for Your Home.

Over 200 people already live on Elmore's Ideal Poultry Farms. You, too, can keep your present job and let Chicken and Egg profits help pay for a modern home. Each farm is complete and ready to provide you with substantial extra income. Every home insulated with Celotex and has three coats of plaster over lathing. Every modern convenience, sanitary plumbing, running water, gas, electricity, built-in ironing board, shades and screens and Kelvinator iceless refrigeration. Large poultry house, 20x40 ft., has cement floor, electric light, 3 large Jamesway brooder stoves, heating system for winter, etc. Free 1,000 pure bred chicks to spring occupants.

All this, together with the free advice of our poultry expetr and with our co-operative feed buying through our large warehouse, together with the marketing of your poultry products, should earn enough extra money to pay for your home on the Elmore easy payment plan.

Only $100 Starts You!

ORDERS NOW BOOKED FOR FALL DELIVERY.

When you have paid in the balance of $750 you can move in. Yourself and family can enjoy all the conveniences of a city home with country benefits. Fast rail transportation 3 blocks away, only 47 minutes to the Loop, at low monthly fares. Schools, stores, and churches near by. Already 46 of these ideal poultry farms are occupied and making money for their owners. Come out and talk with our customers—learn the truth at first hand. Here is your opportunity to increase your income and to secure land on the fringe of Chicago, which should prove a profitable investment. Start out on the regular unit—later, if you want to give full time to poultry farming, the land is large enough to add additional units to your farm.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

Last week we referred to some of the reasons why our charges on second mortgage loans could be so low, and we mentioned among other things the fact that we limit ourselves to the smaller properties—three flats and less—and we insist upon the owner of the property being able to show his ability to pay out.

There are many other reasons why our rates can be so low:

[1] The project was sponsored by Mr. Julius Rosenwald, who put us in command of a large body of capital at a very reasonable interest rate. Our borrowers therefore have not been obliged to pay higher rates during the last year or two when the general money market has been stiff.

[2] The second mortgage business, though run independently, enjoys the supervision on the part of the officers and directors of the bank, and shares the low rent and low overhead through the arrangement which is in effect.

[3] We do not sell the second mortgages which we make. We hold them ourselves, which means that rates do not have to provide for selling costs.

In other words, we have cut second mortgage rates strictly to the bone. We cannot promise that these rates will maintain forever. But as long as they do prevail the property owner has the opportunity of taking advantage of unusually low rates for this kind of financing.

We charge a 6% interest and a commission which works out as follows:

$35.00 per $1,000 for 1 year.
65.00 per 1,000 for 2 years.
90.00 per 1,000 for 3 years.

HURRY! HURRY! HURRY!

STUDEBAKER WILL BE IN NEW QUARTERS ONE WEEK FROM NOW

We have been 20 years at one location and now we are moving to bigger and better quarters at 26th and Michigan-av. within a few days. Every used car in our stock must be liquidated within that time. This is the chance of a lifetime to make a substantial saving. Five days' free driving trial goes with every used car sold.

FRANKLIN ROADSTER. Now in new car condition. Extras are driving light, bumpers, spare tire, etc. The finish is bright and shiny and the expensive upholstery appears unused. Tires have little mileage. Motor has been carefully checked over and today it's in topnotch condition. $595.

CHEVROLET SEDAN. 1929 Landau, that is in new car condition. By acting quickly you can get this practically new Chev. at a tremendous saving. Equipped with trunk, spare tire, shutter front, etc. Will not remain long at $585.

PACKARD SED., 7 pass. six, equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, driving light, spotlight, bumpers, etc. Was traded in by a wealthy polo player who gave it exceptional care. Has snappy performance and the appearance is unusually attractive. Will not remain long at $685.

BUICK ROADSTER. 1930 De Luxe Model. Equipped with wire wheels, fender wells, driving light, shock absorbers, and many other extras. This car is a beauty with an unusually attractive paint job. Roomy rumble seat. We can sincerely tell you this Buick is like new in every respect. Can be obtained at a substantial discount.

PONTIAC COACH, 1929. Driven so little that now it is merely broken in. The upholstery, finish and tires appear positively in the same conditions as when this car was taken off the showroom floor. Has a wealth of extra equipment. You can make a big saving at our price of $785.

DIANA 8 COACH. We believe it looks and runs better than many new cars selling for $1,000 and over. The general coachwork and interior are excellent and the motor is very smooth. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. A real value at $485.

HUDSON COACH. Late 2 dr. Sedan. At $595 we don't believe there's a new or used car anywhere equal to this Hudson. Like new in every respect. Will give new car satisfaction. Expensive mohair upholstery. Beautiful finish. Snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, and many extras.

CHRYSLER ROADSTER. 1928, with a world of power and pep. Has attractive tan finish and hundreds of dollars' worth of extra equipment. Rumble seat. $485.

CASE SEDAN. It's exceptionally clean throughout. The finish has not a mar on it and the motor is smooth and quiet. Has every essential extra. Removal price, $195.

CADILLAC SEDAN. Very fully equipped. Spirited performance and attractive appearance. $225.

HUPMOBILE COUPE. A str. 8, 4 pass. Only used evenings and Sundays for pleasure driving, and result is it's in marvelous condition today. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $545.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT. Recent 5 pass. sedan that was owned by official of this company and used for a short time. 5 wire whls., fender wells, 4 whl. brakes, Houdaille shock absorbers, Lorraine driving light, bumpers, trunk, etc. $1,285.

LOCOMOBILE SPORT SEDAN. This str. 8 never left the Chicago blvds. Originally cost $2,000 and now it appears in the same condition as when it first left the factory. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, etc. $545.

PEERLESS SEDAN. 1927. Upholstery, tires and finish are in splendid condition. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $585.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. A late model 4 pass. coupe that was just traded in by a Lake Forest millionaire. A trained chauffeur inspected and checked it over carefully every day and now it absolutely looks and runs like a brand new car. The finish glistens like a new dollar. The tires are practically brand new and the motor is in splendid condition. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $745.

NASH SEDAN. Adv. 6. A famous actor owned this car and took care of it personally. He certainly kept it in topnotch condition, for today it appears like a new Nash and the tires have little mileage. The motor has a world of power and pep. Appearance will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Has 4 whl. brakes and a wealth of extra equipment. $545.

OAKLAND COACH. This 1928 was driven so little that today it is the last word for sparkling performance and beautiful appearance. Because of business reasons the former owner told us he wanted a bigger car, and that's the only reason he traded in this one. If you examine it carefully you'll be forced to admit that it's topnotch in every respect. Has 4 whl. brakes and very full equipment. Only $585.

LINCOLN

(AUTHORIZED DEALERS)

For Your Protection

Lincoln Motor Cars are not sold by yearly models and as a result those who purchase used Lincolns from other than Authorized Lincoln Dealers are sometimes confused as to the year the car was manufactured — and ofttimes they pay the same price for a car that is a year or two older than that which they thought they were buying or could have obtained from an authorized dealer.

In order to protect prospective buyers we have inserted under the Lincoln alphabetical classification of this issue and all daily issues of this paper a listing of serial numbers indicating the year of manufacture, also the prices at which reconditioned and guaranteed Lincolns can be purchased from us.

It is unnecessary to pay more or run the risk of getting an older model if you follow these listed serial numbers, as they cover Lincoln production from 1924 to the present current models.

A very complete selection of all models and body styles is on display in our Used Car Department for your inspection and demonstration.

Money Back Guarantee

In addition to the Standard Lincoln guarantee, all reconditioned Lincolns carry our Money Back Guarantee and may be returned within five days from the date of sale if unsatisfactory for any reason and we will refund the full purchase price.

REO REO

Dependable Reconditioned Cars at REDUCED PRICES

REO SEDAN, CURRENT MODEL 1929. This is a de luxe type with 6 wire wheels, fender wells, Lovejoy shock absorbers, and turned back to us for a different body style after having been driven only 4,726 miles. The car is practically as good as a new one and will carry our regular guarantee. A real opportunity to own an almost new Reo at a substantial saving. $1,550.

1927 BUICK 5 PASS. SEDAN. In such superb condition it can hardly be termed the "ordinary" used car. Original finish exactly like new. Has 6 very good General 6 ply tires, much equipment and operates smoothly and quietly. The best one in this model we ever offered. $750.

AUBURN 1927, 6-66, 4 DOOR SPORT BROUGHAM. Has special two tone upholstery, chromium plated bright parts, trunk on the rear, finish like new and a 100% operating automobile. A car you should see to fully appreciate. $625.

HUDSON CUSTOM SPORT BROUGHAM, 4 DOOR. In excellent shape mechanically and physically. Tires very good, many extras. You may wonder why it is so cheap, but that's how big a bargain it is. $425.

NASH 1927 ADV. 6 VICTORIA COUPE. As good as new in every way. Mechanically it is 100%; tires excellent; disc wheels, lots of other extras. Without doubt the finest Nash coupe buy in the city today. $525.

CADILLAC VICTORIA COUPE. One of the sweetest running and cleanest Cadillacs in the city; interior and tires excellent; Lorraine spotlight, etc. Priced to sell to the first person who sees and rides in it. $295.

1928 CHEVROLET 4 DOOR LANDAU SEDAN. Used only 8,000 miles and equivalent to new to the minutest detail. Little or no wear on tires. A chance to save a lot of money on a late car at $465.

AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS IN LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

I am compelled to sacrifice a fast growing automobile business which is well organized, well financed and well established, located in the heart of Los Angeles.

It is a proven business, sound in every respect, and open for the most critical investigation.

Franchise covers Los Angeles county for a fast selling line motor trucks, also have dealership of a popular line light six passenger cars, both built by one of America's largest motor car manufacturers.

This proposition requires $35,000.00 cash, which must be available at time of purchase. This is not a part interest but the entire business. Principals write for further details. Address F. H. CLARK, 902 E. 9th-st., Los Angeles, Cal.

AUTO BUSINESS.

PRINT SHOP—WONDERFUL PROPOSITION Open Sunday 11 to 2. 1464 Montrose-av.

RADIO BUSINESS—THERE IS MONEY IN retailing radios. We supply you with a complete stock of leading makes: Victor, Majestic, Sparton, R C A, Radiola, Atwater Kent, Crosley, and other leaders on consignment. We deliver to your door. We collect your accounts, keep your books, advertise to bring you business and give you the benefit of our name, a national music institution over a half century in the making, all without cost to you.

You provide the location, pay the rent and WORK. You need little capital. $500 is ample as you have no investment but your rent. You pay no money to us. You pay the landlord and we pay you handsomely for your work. You buy nothing; there are no store losses, no inventory losses.

We want several experienced radio salesmen [no others need apply] to open stores and operate successful radio retail outlets throughout Illinois and at our expense. References required in your first letter.
